this country, and residents of New York, San Francisco, New Orleans and Alaska may find information concerning San Jose and everything in Santa Clara County as easily as those who live within the city limits. The publishers maintain offices generally throughout the United States; it is their intention to provide all their offices with copies of these directories and to apply them to every Directory Library in the United States, which will make a very valuable advertisement for Santa Clara County.

POPULATION.

It is quite an important matter to know whether the city is growing or decreasing. It is like the merchant's annual trial balance; it shows exactly the political and business condition and the future prospects for the people of the community.

Nothing in life remains stationary; everything goes forward or backward. If the community grows, success, prosperity and happiness will follow; if it does not grow, it will decrease in population and all the elements of hard times will be present. It is, therefore, a matter of vital importance that a proper census be taken at frequent intervals, and the Directory canvass affords infinitely the best method, and the statistics which the Directory presents to the people annually are fully recognized and appreciated by the Government of the United States, which spends annually millions of dollars for the same class of information, for it shows clearly and definitely the actual condition of the city and the county, the people and their institutions, and suggests what the future may bring forth.

The San Jose portion of this Directory, contains 23,128 names, which multiplied by 2 1-2, the figure which is generally found to accurately represent the names of women and children who are not included in the directory canvass, represents a population of 57,820.

The publishers take pleasure in returning thanks for the patronage bestowed upon this publication, and assurance is hereby given that the work will appear promptly hereafter at regular periods, and that each succeeding will be better than the one before.
