COMMENCEMENT

FOOTNOTES

The College's first commencement exercises were held on June 15, 1901. Thirty-six young women were graduated at that time. The present graduating class numbers nearly four thousand students, with one thousand bachelors and one hundred twenty masters candidates present today. Despite this increase the college continues to recognize each graduate individually as he crosses the platform to receive congratulations.

All candidates for baccalaureate degrees, with the exception of military personnel who are in uniform, wear plain black gowns and black mortarboards. The color of the hood worn by individuals receiving the master's degree and members of the faculty designate the field in which the individual received his highest degree and the institution granting it.

Bachelor's and master's gowns have pointed sleeves. Doctor's gowns have round open sleeves. There are no trimmings on the gowns for the bachelor's or master's degree, but gowns worn by holders of doctor's degrees are faced down the front with black velvet with three bars of black velvet across the sleeves. In some cases this trimming is the color designating the field rather than the black velvet.

Hoods are worn around the neck and over the gown. The hood worn for the bachelor's degree is three feet in length, that for the master's three and one-half feet and for the doctor's degree four feet. The hood worn for the doctor's degree has panels at the side.

The inside of the hood, or lining, is the official color of the institution granting the degree. The color of the outside of the hood indicates the field in which the degree was received. The most common are as follows: arts and letters, white; commerce and accountancy, drab; economics, copper; education, light blue; fine arts, brown; humanities, crimson; law, purple; music, pink; philosophy, dark blue; theology, scarlet; physical education, sage green; and science, golden yellow.

Leading the President's Party is our Faculty Marshal, a position of honor bestowed annually upon a senior member of the faculty. The Marshal carries a mace, symbol of a community of scholars since the Middle Ages. The wooden mace is made in the form of a torch of learning.
