Dedication

Edmond Augustus Powers

For his many years of unselfish service to his fellow kind and for the inspiration of his friendship, which has made him the most loved man on the campus, this book is sincerely dedicated to Edmond Augustus Powers by the Staff of the 1928 Record.

THE VISION

I.

A memory floats before my mind,
A vision almost real,
Once more I see those loved doors,
And broken rays of sunlight steal
Across the corridors where
Well-known voices fill the air
And friends pass up and down the stair.
I see it all: the gleaming tower,
The old assembly hall—
This is the vision that comes to me,
That answers mem'ry's call.

II.

A lurid gleam in the summer sky,
The roar of engines throbbing by,
Clouds of cinders that upward stream,
And light all things with their horrid gleam—

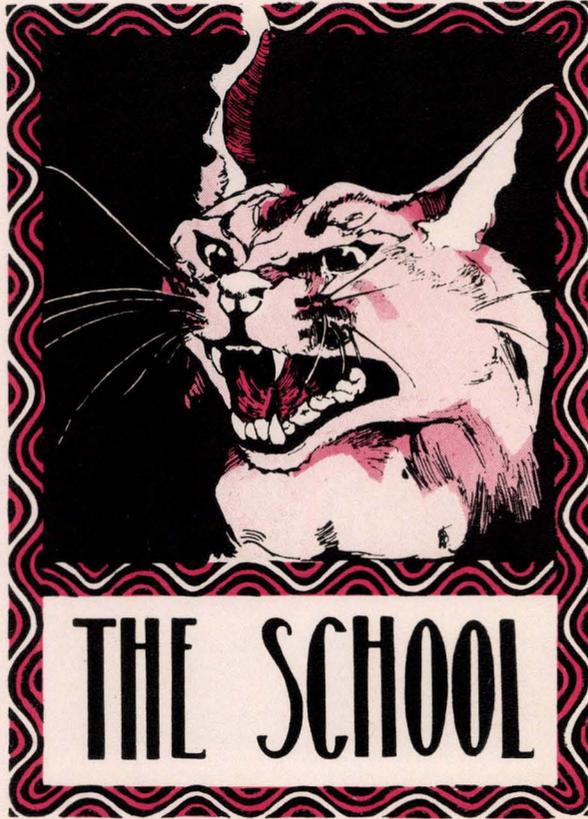

This is the second vision, this
And a scene of awful ruin,
Of gaping windows and blistered trees,
And ashes and cinders thickly strewn.

III.

Vision the third, a scene of peace,
Filled with the promise of future years,
Rises to light us on our way
Where we stumble now in tears.

Rise again, Oh Chico College!
Dear Alma Mater! Chico State!
Till all the West shall sing thy praises,
Chico College, strong and great!

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

SELF-PROPELLED

ANOTHER YEAR of golden opportunity is past and still another lies before you. Never in the history of man has such great progress been made as has been made in the past ten years. If you wish to do your part in the world's mental and material development you must be self-propelled.

Refuse to live merely to eat, to sleep and to pick up a little pleasure here and there. Let not a craven heart or a love or ease rob you of the great benefit of self-culture. Resolve to think and act for yourself, and let your work match your resolves.

If a ship's rudder be removed and the sails given to the wind, there is small chance that it will find a harbor; so also may a life be given over to chance. The only winds that blow for a life of chance are the winds of adversity, and the only harbor that may be reached is the harbor of despair. Let no storms drive your bark from the destined course it should take; let not whim and chance displace the high purpose which should guide your life into the safe haven of high ideals. For without such a purpose your career will only drift aimlessly away from the worth-while things, and eventually wreck itself upon the hidden rocks and shoals of human existence. A life empty of resolves, of high aspirations, of grim determination is tossed about by every whim and fancy; the deeper, better things are never touched.

This thought I leave with you in closing:—The darkest night that ever fell on earth cannot put out the stars in a life self-propelled and in which the love of God is the sustaining power.

THE FIRE

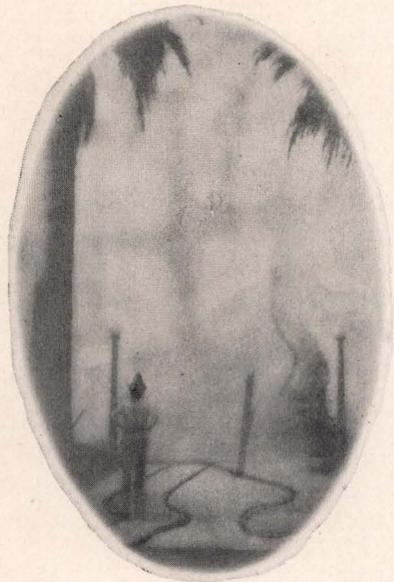

ON THE evening of August 12, 1927, the citizens of Chico heard the fire bells call out the fire department to make a vain attempt to save from flames one of Chico's oldest and most historic buildings, the Chico State Teachers College. The fire was first detected about eight o'clock, and, although the alarm was turned in immediately, it had already gained such headway that it soon became apparent that the building was doomed. Thereafter the main force of the fire fighters was turned to saving the outlying buildings, in which attempt they were entirely successful. All through the night the flames raged, greedily licking from room to room, until at length the entire structure was one huge furnace of roaring flames which sent up a cloud of sparks that could be seen for miles. Gradually, however, the fire burnt itself out, and by the dawn of the following morning nothing was left but the bleak brick walls of the former picturesque building.

Not a thing was saved. The fire department deemed it too dangerous to enter the building even before the flames had got to the front part of the main floor where the administrative offices (in which were kept the records of all the students since the beginning of the college) and the library were located. As a result, a total loss was sustained, the amount in terms of money being close to $500,000. The loss of the library alone was conservatively estimated at well over $50,000. This library, incidentally, was one of the best Teachers College libraries on the coast, many of the books being irreplaceable, some of them having been collected and given to the college by the Bidwells. Many personal belongings of the instructors as well as a valuable sheaf of historical papers were also destroyed in the blaze. Thus, in one night, the building, the equipment and the accumulated data of years were completely wiped out by a fire of undetermined origin.

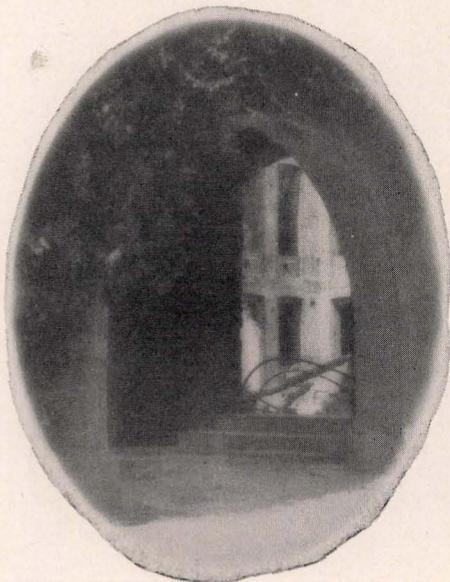

It is interesting to remember that the site on which the old college stood, and on which the new one will be erected, was originally donated by General John J. Bidwell. The corner stone of the building was laid in 1888. In later years, as the enrollment of the college steadily grew larger, some additions were made until finally, just preceding the fire, the building contained twenty-seven rooms, exclusive of the library and assembly hall.

Now our eyes are turned to the future, and we see arising in it a new college, larger and finer by far than the one we have lost, a modern building that will rank with the best of the colleges in our class. But though in the end we will be the gainers and our calamity will have proved to be only a means towards the final realization of more splendid possibilities, it is still with some regrets that we see "the old yielding place to the new." Many of us who attended classes in the old college had come to regard it as something more than just a building. We had worked and played within its walls, climbed its stairs and slid down its polished walnut banisters. In the library and out on the front steps most of us had at some time or other sipped at the cup of romance. In the halls between classes we had laughed and talked with one another. Up in the Wildcat office off the stage end of the assembly hall some of us had put forth the weekly "sheet," while down in the men's locker room there was always a group to idle away a period with. That old college was rich with memories, and though now that college has been burnt and torn away, the memories of it have not died and will not die until Time alone shall have softened them into oblivion.

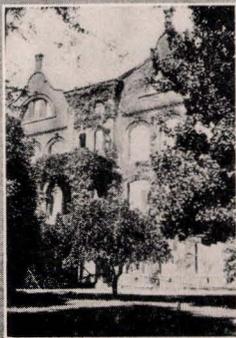

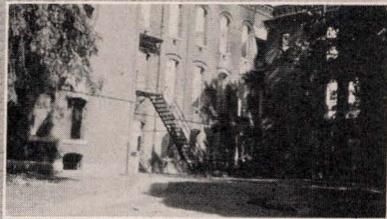

All in all, however, the fire has really placed Chico State in a better position than she was ever in before, for out of her ashes she will rise up in a new glory; the transition from the old into the new will soon be accomplished. Within another year at the most our new building will have been completed and ready for occupancy, and under the State's announced program for reconstruction which will be put into action sometime this July, it will not be many years until Chico State will have as fine equipment as any Teachers College in the State, for the present plans will eventually enable our college to accommodate an enrollment of twenty-five hundred students. It is planned by the state executives to make Chico State Teachers College the educational center of Northern California. And so we see that Chico State is already rising up out of her ruins and looking forward to a greater future than would have otherwise been hers.

THE PRESENT BUILDING

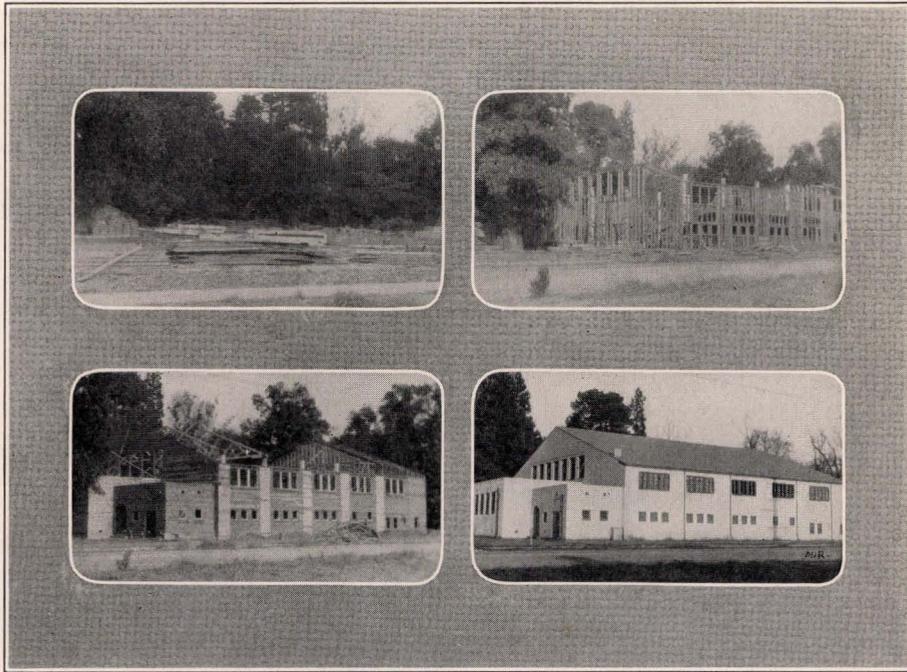

WHILE THE FLOORS of the college were still crashing into the seething furnace of flames, offers of buildings to house the college classes were pouring in to Mr. Studley. One of these, made through the courtesy of Mr. Charles H. Camper, City Superintendent of Schools, and members of the Chico Board of Education, was gladly accepted. The use of the Central Grammar School Building was donated for a period of two years, if necessary, without expense other than the payment of the additional cost incurred by the City of Chico in maintaining the pupils who formerly attended Central School in the Veterans' Memorial and the Oakdale School.

This building, which was originally constructed as a high school building in 1904-05 and used as such until 1922 when it became the Central Grammar School, satisfies the requirements of temporary quarters very well as it has nearly as many classrooms as the former college building. The foods, clothing and biology laboratories have been installed in the annex, with excellent temporary equipment, while the chemistry classes are being given in the Chico High School. The front portion of the assembly serves very well as a library and study hall while the alcove in the rear easily provides shelf space for the present limited supply of library books.

The offices for the administrative forces are all located on the main floor while in one of the rooms in the basement, individual desks for the faculty have been installed.

Chico State owes a deep debt of gratitude to all those who have made the use of this building possible.

RECORD

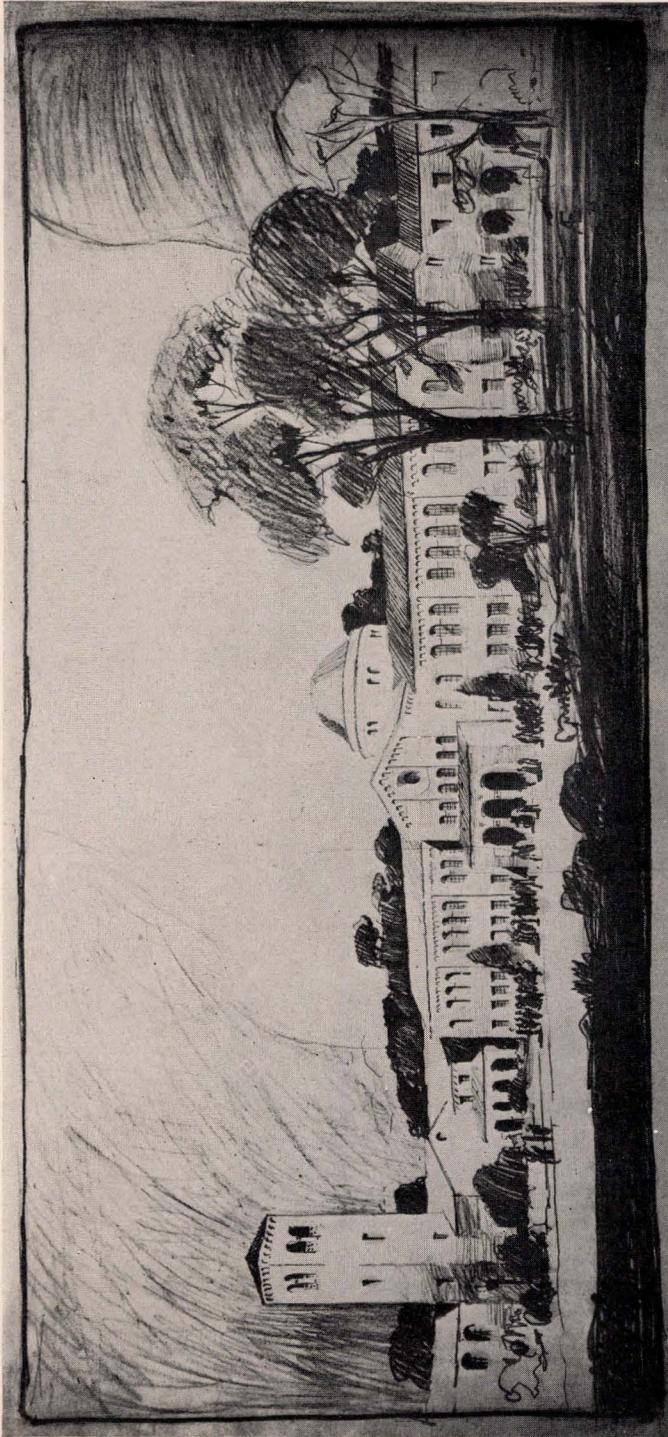

THE NEW GYM

AMONG THE TREES at the rear of Bidwell Hall stands Chico State's new gymnasium, constructed at a cost of $35,000 and comparing favorably with that of any college in our class. Designed by and constructed under the specifications furnished by the State Engineering Department, it contains a full regulation size basket ball court which is rated as one of the best playing floors in the conference. On either side are spectators' galleries having a combined seating capacity of 450 persons, but judging from the attendance at the championship basket ball games these are woefully inadequate, for people were turned away from the door because of the utter lack of even standing room. While the new gym is all that could be asked for in the way of a basket ball court it is not adequate for the physical education department, and the state is expected to include a second gym in its ten-year building program for the reconstruction of Chico State.

Beneath the galleries on either side are lockers, dressing rooms, clinic rooms, showers, and offices for the physical education directors. In addition there is located in the gym a sound-proof band room of ample size for the present number of students taking orchestra and band work.

The equipment consists of a set of removable volley ball standards, boxing ring and mat of the latest design, a horizontal bar and punching bag with an adjustable support.

A SKETCH OF THE NEW COLLEGE

ABOVE THE ASHES of the former building there arises a more noble, more spacious and more serviceable edifice to mark the lines of educational progress of Northern California. Not only is it a monument to the educational pioneers of the section but also a living testimonial to the foresight of the executives of our State.

Since the destruction of the main College building by fire, August 11, 1927, the Finance Department, with the consent of Governor C. C. Young, has authorized the Division of Architecture of the State Department of Public Works to inaugurate a building program which will require a period of ten years for its ultimate realization. The units to be considered are:

1. Administration and classroom unit.
2. Auditorium and music room.
3. Library and six classrooms.
4. Boiler house and four classrooms.
5. Science classrooms.

The above cut represents the first of these units.

THE NEW CHICO STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

THE PRESENT institution dates back to the year 1887 when the legislature, by special act, established a Normal School at Chico. Two years later it was made a separate institution. On September, 1889, it opened its doors to the first class. At that time it required three years for the completion of the course but students who had completed the ninth grade of the grammar school were accepted. In the year 1897 the course was increased to four years. Then in 1906 it became five years, allowing high school graduates to complete in two years. Beginning with September, 1910, the institution went on a purely high school basis. The legislature changed it into a regular Teachers College in 1921.

The State Board of Education, in July, 1924, conferred upon the institution the right to grant the A. B. degree. It also increased the time for the elementary diploma to three years. Those graduating after September, 1930, will have four years of work for this diploma.

For several years the college has maintained a Junior College Department for those who wish to take the first two years of the regular university training here. That department has been replaced by what is known as the Lower Division of the College. It furnishes the same instruction as before and is so arranged that it may be used as preparation for the university or may be used as a stopping place for those who want two years of a liberal education. In short, it functions in every way as the Junior College used to. It is thought that more and more people will come to a realization that it is desirable to go beyond the present high school in preparation for life but in many cases there are good reasons why they are not interested in the professions. Possibly as time goes on this stopping point will be recognized by some sort of a diploma, other than the one granted now, or possibly by some sort of a distinctive degree.

At the present time the college gives instruction in Art, English, Education, Industrial Education, Romance Languages, Mathematics, Music, Physical Education, Sciences and Social studies. As time goes on and the attendance grows it will be necessary to add to the instructional staff. It is also very probable that the scope of the institution will be broadened to meet the changes in the educational demands of Northern California. The college will, however, continue to function as a real college where close contact is maintained between student and instructor—a place where the foundation may be well constructed for a life work or for further endeavor in higher education.

SUMMER SESSION

FROM THE DAY that Doug White began to warble to the strains of "I love the swish of the passing dish" down to the time when the last tent was dragged into the commissariat, the 1927 Summer Session was what is, in ordinary parlance, described as a "howling success."

Of course, there were some who insisted that it wasn't so good, such as those who went fishing and returned with only a bath in some ice-cold stream as a reward for their efforts, or those who endeavored to learn horseback riding in a single afternoon, and then walked in a very undignified manner for some days thereafter; but people like these were far and few between.

The alumni turned out in force and impressed upon several much surprised undergraduates the fact that all of our one-time students weren't dead yet. The pseudo-corpses shortly after their arrival proceeded to put the student body election in their pocket and walk off with it while the aforementioned undergraduates held their breath in holy horror at this walking of the ghost. Russell Croad, '22, was elected president and Adele Marty, '24, was the choice for social leader.

The social season therewith proceeded to blossom forth in full glory, with numerous card parties, dances and similar functions, culminating in the brilliant ball given by the I Soppa Towel fraternity, the annual "Stunt Night" and the dance given following graduation.

The "Flunkies' Frolic" put on by the I Soppa Towels was the feature of the session. The Lodge was bedecked with all of the regalia of that fraternity, such as dishtowels, trays, knives, forks, etc. Under the lights were choice bits of garbage-can poetry entitled, "Sorrows of a Scullion."

"Stunt Night" was chiefly conspicuous by reason of the Spick-and-Span Club, an organization composed mostly of consummate gall, who charged our worthy president with describing its tent as being the dirtiest in camp and demanded damages to the amount of four hundred thousand dollars or five watermelons. Judge Mowatt presided at the trial. Verdict was returned in favor of the plaintiffs, and payment was made promptly.

Summer Session ended with the graduation of the largest class in the history of Summer School. Dr. Dickson of the University of California delivered the commencement address, and he made the occasion one to be remembered. In speaking of graduation we should not forget a kitten that assisted in the presentation of diplomas, and added many comedy effects to the affair until the furry infant inadvertently fell off the stage.

This discourse having opened with one reference to "the Sorrows of a Scullion," it may be advisable to close it with another:

"For the Summer Session is over now,
We part and bid our last wishes;
And down in the kitchen we take delight
In breaking the last of the dishes."

Spring Semester

Chester Kennedy, otherwise known as "Grandpa Kennedy," was elected president of the Senior Class for the fall semester. However, a few weeks after his installation into office he accepted a position on the faculty of the Kerman Junior High School and the task of piloting the Senior Ship of State fell to Miss Evelene Olson, the vice-president, who creditably performed the duties falling to her care.

For the spring semester Miss Rosemary Hopkins was the choice of the Senior Class for president and under her able guidance much constructive work was performed. A distinctive class pin was adopted and a decision reached to continue the custom of holding a baccalaureate sermon, which had been revived by the class of '27 after a lapse of several years.

The members of the Senior Class took a prominent part in all the student activities, there being seniors on both the Varsity football and basket ball teams and many seniors outstanding in track. In many of the casts of the dramatics department, seniors took leading roles while many were active in both the boys' and girls' glee clubs and bands, and upon the staff of both student publications, The Wildcat and The Record.

The Senior Class of '28 leave behind them a proud record of four years of successful, constructive effort and a challenge to succeeding classes to do even better, for with the organization of Chico State upon a four-year basis the Senior Class should be the outstanding class organization of the school.

Spring Semester

From the Junior Class Chico State drew much of her material for the successful year of '28, for the members were active in all the school affairs. Several student body officers came from the ranks of the Juniors while many were prominent in the dramatics department. A representative quota of Juniors were also to be found in the men's and women's glee clubs and in both boys' and girls' bands. Many of the prominent athletes of Chico State were Juniors and as some of them are not returning for more advanced work their absence will be a distinct loss to the school.

On "Nepenthe Day" the members of the class showed their pep and spirit and put their shoulders to the wheel, aiding materially to make the day a success.

A distinctive class pin was adopted by the Juniors in conjunction with the Seniors, since the graduating class of '28 is composed of both the Junior and Senior classes of the school, as the four year basis under which Chico State is now organized does not apply to this graduating class. However, many of the Juniors plan to return next year for more advanced work to obtain their degree.

The Sophomore Class, under the guidance of Roy Lawrence, spent a very successful fall semester. They were active in all student activities and did their part in putting over the enterprises of the school.

During the month of December the Sophomore party was given, under the direction of Annabel Carlin, social leader, in the high school gymnasium which was decorated in true Christmas style with a large Christmas tree in the center of the floor and baskets of holly along the walls. With music for dancing by Dick Terrell's orchestra and card tables for those who wished to play, everyone thoroughly enjoyed themselves and declared that the Sophomores had given an excellent party.

With Wilbur Johnson as president and Merle Crum as social leader for the spring semester the Sophomores continued the excellent record of the preceding semester and planned a dance which was given during May. Every one of the large number who attended felt that the evening was well worth while.

Aside from social events, the Sophomores contributed materially to the strength of the athletic teams of Chico State, there being Sophomores in every Varsity team, each doing his job creditably and to the greater honor of Chico State.

Spring Semester

The Freshman Class contributed its full share to the activities of Chico State, starting the season with a dance given in the Memorial Auditorium November 28. The dance was very well attended and was voted a huge success by all. This was largely due to the efforts of Louis Olker, the president, and Nelsyne Bartholomew, the social leader, who in conjunction with their committees spared no effort to make the dance the best possible.

During the spring semester a costume ball was planned and given on March 23 in the high school gymnasium. This was the first event of this nature to be given at Chico State for a number of years. The evening was a gala affair with the colorful costumes of the gay crowd giving a holiday atmosphere to the function.

Not only in social affairs did the Freshmen show their pep and spirit but in athletics as well, the class contributing some very excellent material to the Varsity while the Freshman football and basket ball teams established an enviable record.

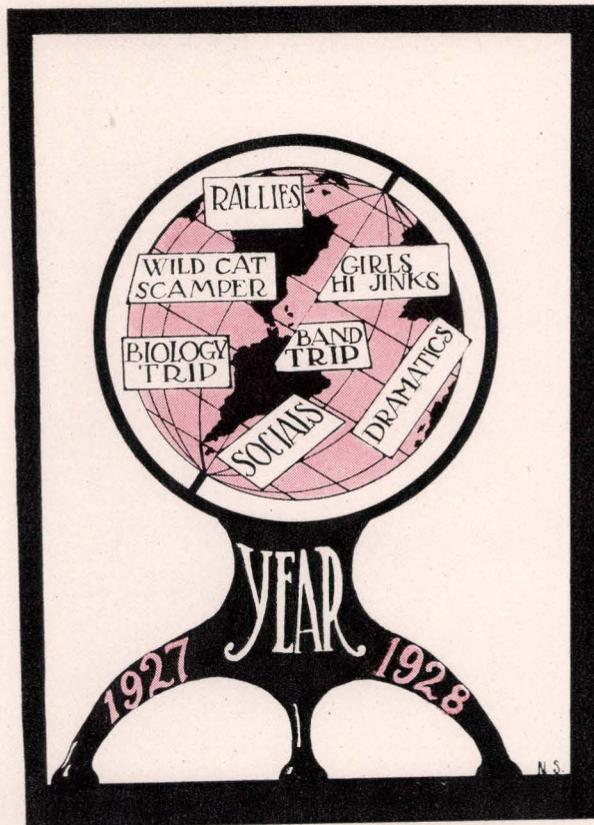

Aside from this the members of the Freshman Class were identified with nearly every student activity upon the campus, contributing their full share to the dramatics, bands, orchestra, glee clubs and student publications.

DRAMATICS

STAGE, drapes, costumes, screens, furniture, floodlights, dishes—all Chico State's dramatic equipment roared and sizzled in one great fire. Of those properties which the dramatic department had labored so hard to accumulate, piece by piece, nothing was left but melted bits of iron and glass and heaps of smoldering wood and paper. The rows and rows of plays stacked on Miss Barney's shelves, and the boxes of new plays she had so carefully selected and purchased were grey heaps of ashes. We had nothing to work with, and the first of the semester loomed up like a huge black cloud, threateningly close. Even when a school was donated for our use, the only room that contained a stage had to be used for a library and study hall, so no practicing could be done there during the day. The only equipment that the department had for dramatic work in the beginning days of the fall semester was a fairly large space at the front of a classroom which served for a stage, a desk-table, two chairs and two screens. On either side of this improvised stage was a screen forming the exits and entrances. If the play needed a window, it was drawn on the blackboard.

Finally, however, the state department replaced some of the movable properties. But the lack of a usable stage made them of no immediate service and we had no room in which to store them. Our big, soft chesterfield was jammed back-stage with boards and canvases piled on top of it. Our desk, chairs and table stood on the stage gathering particles of dust.

Before long, though, a solution for the problem of practice was found. When a class production was ready for presentation, the dramatic students of both sections, instead of going to the regular class period, came to the auditorium in the evening. Students directed these plays under Miss Barney's supervision. She assisted in at least two rehearsals of each play, making suggestions and pointing out methods of improvement. In this way more students obtained opportunity to direct plays and to meet the problems of voice, acting, lighting effects, make-up and settings. Then, too, each student might bring one or two guests to these performances. In that manner students were forced to appeal to an audience critical of the handling and acting of the play. Best of all, this method allowed a larger number of students to appear before an audience made up of more than just the members of the class. When dramatics was in its infancy at Chico State, it was possible for every pupil to appear publicly. But as the classes grew larger and larger, fewer people could be used in public productions. Now everyone, again, has his chance.

Plays given under this system of student direction and evening performance were:

- "The Man Next Door," coached by Antonia Faulkner.
- "The Merediths Entertain," coached by Lois Barstow.
- "A Gypsy Love Moon," an experiment in group production.
- "Rosalie," coached by Margaret Vance.
- "Apartments to Let," coached by Elgin Wigham.
- "The Rector," coached by Raymond Denlay.
- "Twenty Minutes Under an Umbrella," coached by Clara Powers.
- "The Man Outside," coached by Vera Sherman and Louis Olker.
- "Miss Molly," coached by Orva Bybee and Helen Crum.
- "Taxi," coached by Maeola Eastburn.

Two plays with all girl casts, "At the Milliner's" and "The Lady Loses Her Hoop," were given for the regular Tuesday assemblies. "Keeping Him at Home" was also given at assembly. It was directed by Orva Bybee, with the following cast: Mary Todd, Nelsyne Bartholomew; John Todd, La Verne Kesselring; Jean Todd, Lois Barstow; Neal Morgan, Milton Rothwell; Mrs. Harkness, Dora Meline; Mrs. Lethby, Elizabeth Keener.

"FIAT LUX"

Our offering to the Christmas assembly program was a short play of a serious nature. The group of Christmas waiters were students in the music department and were trained especially for this production by Miss Lennon. The cast included:

Azariah	Douglas White
Nellie	Vesta Cory
David	Raymond Denlay
Father Ambrose	James Riley

The productions of the dramatics department have been much in demand among various community organizations. Several times the dramatics students have been called upon to present a play either for the entertainment of guests or as a means of raising money. The plays which have been shown this year for such occasions are:

I. "THE LADY LOSES HER HOOP"

This short play has proved very popular, having been repeated three times after the initial student body performance, once for the American Association of University Women, once for the Training School Parent Teachers Association and once for the convention of Delta Phi Upsilon.

II. "GRANDMA PULLS THE STRING"

A repetition of this one-act comedy was given before the Rotary Convention. Because a few of the characters were not in town on the day of the second presentation, a slight change was made in the cast.

III. "THE RECTOR"

Another one-act play that received favorable comment was enacted before a large group of Legion men and their wives at the Legion Convention at the Memorial Hall.

IV. "APARTMENTS TO LET"

A short, laughable, one-act play by Elliot Nugent and Howard Lindsey, after being presented as a student play, was again produced for the Achaean Club Loan Fund Benefit. It was the only student-directed play which was given for an outside audience. The cast consisted of:

Laurel Branch, the widow	Dorothy Brown
Vera Blake, her sister	Maeola Eastburn
Horace Green	James Riley
Clarice Green, his wife	Orva Bybee

V. "THE RAINBOW'S END"

This delightful skit was written by Anna Louise Barney, and produced by the combined efforts of the dramatics, the physical education, and the art departments. The physical education departments coached numerous dances, the art department designed the colorful, fantastic costumes, and four students of the dramatics department, under Miss Barney's supervision, presented the speaking parts of the play. It was given for the Northern California Section of the State Home Economics Association. The characters were:

Pierrette	Clara Powers
Pierrot	Raymond Denlay
Sleep	Orva Bybee
Hunter	Edith Krikac

Two plays were given for the Block "C" Society and the cast was made up entirely of Block "C" members under Miss Barney's instruction.

RECORD

I. "THE CALL OF THE CAMPUS"

In this brief, enjoyable comedy by Richard Melville, the boys took the part of girls making it even more laughable. The characters were:

Ma Burns	Wilbur Johnson
Albert, her studious son	Harold Spencer
Steve, her athletic son	Elmer Allinger
Bunny Cole, Steve's sweetheart	Stacy Wisner
Raymond Reed, football manager	Stephen Vugrenez

II. "A NIGHT IN AN INN"

A striking piece of dramatic composition by Lord Dunsany was the other contribution of the Block "C." The plot is based on the theft of an idol's magic eye by three robbers. The art department again took charge of the costuming and designed the mask for the idol. The lighting effects were created under the direction of Granville Siler. The following members took part:

The Toff	Louis Olker
Albert	Raymond Denlay
Bill	Stephen Vugrenez
Sniggers	Douglas White
Klesh, the idol	Alan Fulcher
First Priest of Klesh	Chauncey Wilson
Second Priest	Roy Lawrence
Third Priest	Harold Thomasson

During the fall semester the greatest effort of the class was focused on the production of two one-act plays, given in our assembly before the general public.

I. "GRANDMA PULLS THE STRING"

The first, a clever comedy by Edith Delano and David Carb, was received with a roar of laughter. The cast included:

Grandma Blessington	Dorothy Brown
Mrs. Cummings, her daughter	Nelsyne Bartholomew
Nona Cummings Beaver	Leona Dickey
Julia Cummings	Lois Barstow
Hildegard Cummings	Helen Crum
William Thornton	Louis Olker

II. "MAN OF DESTINY"

The production of Bernard Shaw's "Man of Destiny" was an attempt of an entirely different nature from anything that has been tried by the dramatics classes, here. Members of the cast were:

Napoleon	Douglas White
The Lady	Pauline Huse
The Lieutenant	Mario Capri
Giuseppe	Stephen Vugreecz

For our big spring program, two plays have been chosen and intensive practice is already under way.

I. "UNDER TWENTY"

A three-act play by L. Westervelt and John Clements was produced by the following actors:

Ida Farnum	Miriam Riley Hitt
Grace Farnum, her oldest daughter	Elizabeth Laughlin
Peeks Farnum, her youngest daughter	Helen Crum
Russel Farnum, her husband	Stephen Vugreecz
Diana Edgerton	Dorothy Brown
Ted Rutherford	James Riley
Donald Brown	Raymond Denlay
Ranny, the maid	Adeline Olmstead
Bill Boyd	Mario Capri

II. "TEA FOR THREE"

By Rio Cooper Megrue, had the following cast:

Doris	Pauline Huse
Philip	Elgin Wigham
Carter	Louis Olker
Draycott	Margaret Vance
Austin	La Verne Kesselring

SOCIALS

FALL SEMESTER

LOIS COLLINS, Social Leader

"STUDENT GET-TOGETHER"

ON SEPTEMBER 14, the first dance of the school year was held in the Odd Fellows Hall. The fact that we had to use a borrowed hall and would never see our own "Social Hall" again didn't seem to dampen anyone's spirits. The whole student body turned out en masse. There was an excellent program before the dance, consisting of readings by Helen Crum and vocal selections by Orva Bybee. Decorations were in college colors and consisted of red and white streamers floating above the dancers' heads. There was a good orchestra, and everyone had a good time.

"BULLDOG DANCE"

After the game with Modesto Junior College, on October 22, a dance was held in the high school gymnasium in honor of the visiting football team. The Modesto colors, blue and white, were used in the scheme of decoration. Everyone came out to welcome the visitors, and had a most excellent time. Dancing was from 8:30 to 12:00.

"STUDENT BODY DANCE"

On November 15, a Student Body dance was held in the high school gymnasium. It was in the nature of a Harvest Festival. Pumpkins, cornstalks, apples and nuts helped to make the affair a big success.

"LEAP YEAR DANCE"

On Friday, the 13th of January, a true-to-style leap year dance was given. The girls had to ask the boys, escort them, and see that they were well treated generally. This included filling out their programs. Strange to say, this was one of the best affairs of the year, the girls taking full advantage of leap year and Friday, 13th. This was the last dance of the semester and a great credit to the social leader. Sororities served on the various committees.

"SOPHOMORE INVITATIONAL"

On December 14, the Sophomore Class extended its hospitality and invited the entire student body to a dance held in the high school gymnasium. A Christmas scheme of decorations was carried out, a large pine tree being the center of attraction. Annabel Carlin, social leader of the Sophomore Class, had charge of the affair.

SPRING SEMESTER

ANNABEL CARLIN, Social Leader

"STUDENT BODY FIESTA"

On March 9, a regular Student Body dance was given at the Odd Fellows Hall. Dancing was from 8:30 to 12. The Rose City Orchestra furnished the music.

"FRESHMEN COSTUME BALL"

March 16 was the date on which the Freshmen gave a costume ball. This was one of the most colorful dances of the year, and the Freshman class deserves much credit for the enjoyable manner in which the evening was carried out. Prizes were given for the funniest, most beautiful and most original costumes.

"STUDENT BODY HOP"

On April 28 the Odd Fellows Hall was once again the scene of another student body dance which was given in honor of the Chico State and Sacramento State College track teams. A good crowd was present and altogether this dance proved to be one of the best of the year.

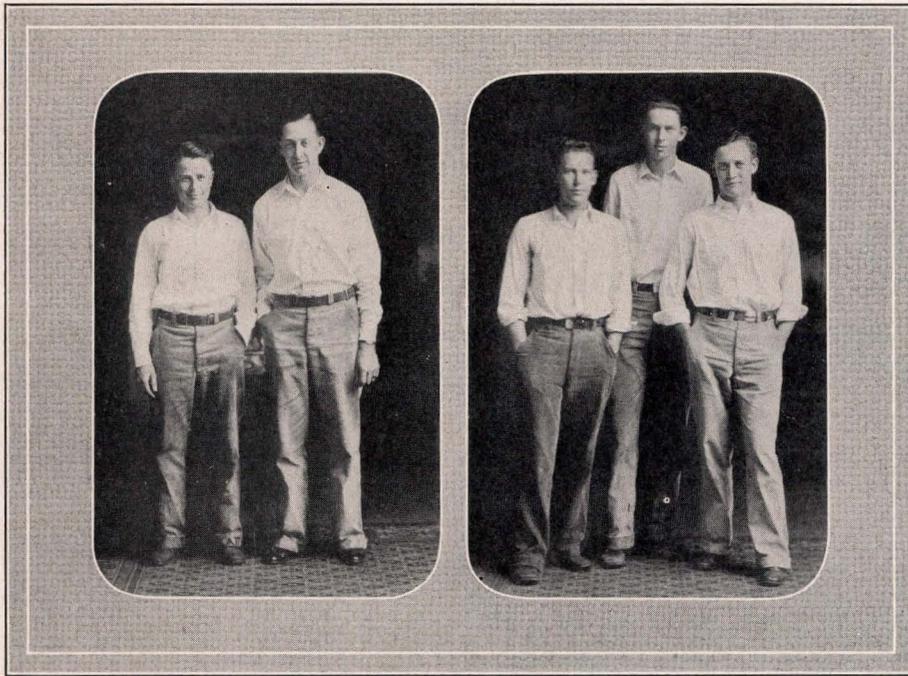

Tentative dances to be given after the date of this write-up:

"THE 'NEPENTHE DAY' DANCE"

On May 18, by far the most outstanding dance of the year will be given as a brilliant culmination of a day given over to fun. In former years this dance was known as the Pioneer Day dance, but due to the changing of the name of the annual day of celebration, this dance shall henceforth be known by the above appellation, or at least until a more suitable one is selected.

"THE COLLEGE YEAR BOOK DANCE"

The Friday following, May 25, the Sophomore Class will give a dance for the student body in honor of the Record staff. The main feature of this dance will be the distribution of the year book just preceding the close of the affair. Miss Merle Crum, social leader of the class, will be in charge.

RALLIES

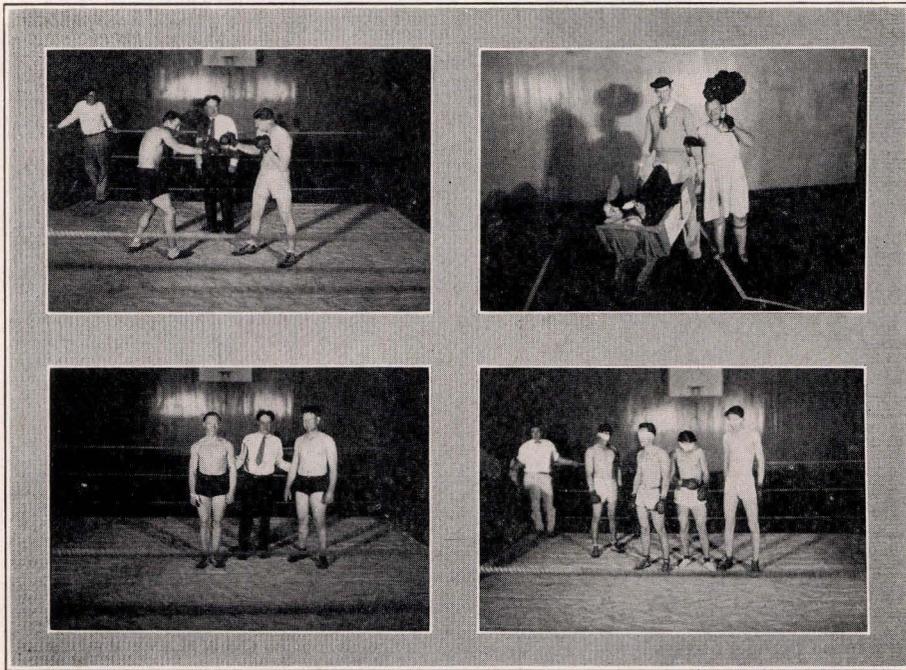

THIS YEAR saw a revival of the old time Chico State Spirit and under the leadership of our yell leaders a large number of spirited rallies were held.

Before the San Jose football game a rally was held between the first and second shows at the National Theatre. Through the courtesy of Mr. Crank two students were admitted for the price of one. Practically the whole balcony was reserved for college students. Hap Miller and his troupe "took off" San Jose perfectly.

Another similar rally was held at the National before the Sacramento championship game, and as on the previous occasions the students tried to hoist the roof with their yells.

Things were pretty quiet until San Jose came up again for two basket ball games, whereupon the college turned out one hundred per cent to pack the new gymnasium and root the team through to two seemingly impossible victories.

Yell leaders for the fall semester were La Verne Kesselring, yell leader, and Milton Rothwell, assistant; and for the spring semester, Raymond Denlay, yell leader, with Francis Truesdale and John Fry, assistants.

THE WILDCAT SCAMPER

TO START OFF like all good writeups, the Wildcat Scamper this year was the "best yet."

The main event, the basket ball game, sans rules, was full of thrills, hard knocks, personal battles and excitement. This battle royal ended in a 10 to 0 victory for the Frosh over their rivals, the Sophomores.

Rockwell Blondin and William Gage put up the best battle of the evening. They were evenly matched and both were in good condition. Blondin, being the more aggressive, won the decision.

The main event was a match between Steve Vugrenecz and Norman DeVol. After three fast and hard fought rounds the match was called a draw.

Nick Stucklin showed his mat artistry when he threw Lowell Nugent twice in about as many minutes. Nick's experience and cleverness overcame the twenty-three pound handicap which Nugent possessed.

Harold Spencer won the decision from Scoop Harrison in three rounds. Crenshaw and Glendinning fought to a draw. Denlay and Johnson gave one of the cleverest fights on the program. The bout between George Leverett and Harry Brown was stopped, as Brown was too highly experienced for "Unk."

GIRLS' HIGH JINKS

ON THE EVENING of December 3, 1927, the annual Girls' High Jinks was held in the college assembly. A varied group of costumed figures, ranging from Parisian Apaches to halooing cowboys straight out of a Western thriller, mingled together, forming a colorful picture of hilarity.

The noise of the laughing throng dwindled to silence, however, as the program opened with the notorious faculty stunt, which cleverly depicted the comic replacement of valuables lost in the fire. Delta Sigma followed this act with a delightful dancing review which was enthusiastically received, as was Bidwell Hall with its clever curtain raisers. Then came Delta Sigma Epsilon and Alpha Chi who amused the audience with a skit of the "good old days," and a troupe of "musicians and magicians" respectively. Next Lantern-light, Candlelight and Searchlight Clubs each in turn provoked much laughter with their humorous productions. After these the faculty wives added much merriment to the evening's fun with their special act. Pi Kappa Sigma closed the program with an elaborate drill of Roman Gladiators before an altar of fire.

An hour of dancing was then enjoyed in the round room, where refreshments of hot coffee, sandwiches, cookies and apples were served at the close of the evening. All who attended declared the 1927 High Jinks to be the greatest success of all.

THE BIOLOGY TRIP

ABOUT five o'clock on the morning of April 20, a caravan of nine automobiles left Chico and headed for Moss Beach. Approximately forty people were in the cars, all of them, with the exception of two drivers, being science students in the Department of Biology. This was the start of the second annual Biology Trip.

Leaving early Friday morning, as they did, the group arrived at Stanford, the first and only stop on the way down, about noon. There they were shown over the university, and especially were they shown the various things of interest in the university's biology department. Later, just before leaving Stanford, most of the students visited the Leland Stanford Memorial Museum.

Moss Beach was arrived at between four and five o'clock in the afternoon. This beach is located on Halfmoon Bay, about twenty miles south of San Francisco. Camp was pitched in a grove of sheltering trees which grew close to the edge of a bluff overlooking the ocean. There, for three days, the entire group roughed it, cooking and sleeping in the open. Good luck was with them, for during the entire stay the weather was almost perfect.

On the following day, Miss Holt, the head of the party, took the group to the La Honda grove of redwoods, where the botany students collected many specimens and also managed to secure several cases of poison oak. That evening after returning to camp and eating supper, the group went down to the beach. There they built a large bonfire and sat about it for the rest of the evening telling stories and listening to the ponderous roar of the waves as they broke heavily against the rocks.

Sunday morning everyone in camp rose early so as to be down on the beach as soon as the tide went out. Within a few hours many buckets filled with sea urchins, anemones, star fish, kelp, sea weeds, crabs and a score or more of other varieties of sea life were lugged into camp to be classified, preserved, and packed for shipment home. In the afternoon, excepting for certain of the committees, everyone was left more or less to do as he pleased. About five o'clock all of the members went down to the beach again where they ate their supper, after which they sat about another bonfire fighting smoke, as on the previous evening.

Monday morning, after gathering more specimens on the rocks, camp was struck, and the group started for home. Some of the machines returned to Chico over the same route they had gone down on, but most of them came back by way of San Francisco. In San Francisco many points of interest were visited, among them being the Aquarium, the Academy of Natural Science and the de Young Memorial Museum. After leaving San Francisco, several of the cars went over to Berkeley where they visited the University of California.

By ten o'clock Monday night the entire party of scientists had arrived back in Chico.

It is to be hoped that these biology trips will develop into a regular yearly event. Last year the trip was made to Navarro Head, at the mouth of the Navarro river. About eighteen students made up the party: This year that number was more than doubled. Aside from the fine outings these trips afford the students, they also give them much practical experience by enabling them to actually see many new forms of animal and plant life in their natural environment.

Those who took the trip this year were as follows: Miss Vesta Holt, leader of the group; Hazel Hawkinson, Lucille Murray, Bethel Fry, Beatrice Burrows, Wenda Croissant, Lois Barstow, Elizabeth Tunnison, Rockwell Blondin, Dorothy Black, Lillian Clayton, Pauline Huse, Bernice Black, Keith Sanford, Foster Merrill, Ruth Curl, Irving Cleek, Leona Maxey, A. Williams, B. Jones, Wilma Ball, Bertha Richardson, Olive Bennett, Shirley Hopkins, Luther Stone, George De Wolf, Elizabeth Butterway, Harry Skelly, Milton Rothwell, Lloyd Landis, Louis Edwards, Clyde Peter, Frank Reynolds, Louis Olker, Stanley Tebbe and Mr. Johns.

THE BAND TRIP

THE TRIP taken by the College Band during Easter vacation has become an annual event. The first two trips were uncertain ventures, practically and financially. However, due to the hard work and business judgment of James Elfendahl and Mr. Paul Howard Young they were very successful.

The trips are planned through towns and cities in which the citizens are interested in the Chico State Teachers College. They are a good form of advertisement, showing what is being accomplished in one of the departments of the college, and help to bring more students to Chico. The members of the band are also benefited, for playing before an audience gives them the technique, self-reliance and poise which can be gained only through actual experience.

The program this year contained more novelty numbers than before. The entire band played three selections, "Entry of the Heralds," a march; "In a Chinese Temple Garden," an overture, and "Under the Double Eagle," used for an encore. James Riley played a saxophone solo, being accompanied by the band. Clarence Schott, as a comedian, sang several clever verses about the school and band. He was accompanied at the piano by Allison Ware. A brass quartet played the chorus of "The Winding Trail" from the rear of the theatre, which made it more effective. The members of this group were: Ware and Van Zee, cornets; Hassler and Squires, trombones.

The first performance was given in Chico the night before the boys left. As it was well attended and well received, the boys felt that they had an entertaining program. The success of the band is evidenced by the fact that many theatre managers have expressed a desire that the band come back again next year. Also, the trip financed itself.

The boys started on their trip at ten o'clock Friday morning. The first stop was at Redding, where the most important event of the day had nothing to do with playing. Mr. and Mrs. Glover, uncle and aunt of James Elfendahl, had arranged a banquet for the entire band, which was greatly appreciated by its members.

Dunsmuir was the second stop. Here a window was broken by Huffman. It is said that his undue haste was caused by seeing several Dunsmuirites across the street. Also the effect that a pretty organist may exert on a boys' band was first noted here. There was a dance in Weed that night and those who could remember say that almost half the band was there.

Since the next stop was at Medford it was necessary that the band leave Dunsmuir at five o'clock in the morning. The bus was quiet as a hearse, the good reason being that three-quarters of an hour is not sufficient "after the night before." The Rip Van Winkle powers of Capri and Swanson were discovered in Medford. The curtain was ready to go up and these two indispensable members of the band were not in their places. Suddenly a yawn was heard from one side of the stage and to Mr. Young's great relief they managed to get into their places as the curtain was going up. It was also in Medford that "Sheik" Eiler received the inspiration for composing a new verse to a popular song. It began:

"When the kitchen is warm and cozy,
And the old folks are away—"

In Yreka, the band, with the help of several college girls living there, put on the entire evening program. Bill Van Zee added zest to the program by failing to observe a step. "Big Bill," with a cornet in each hand was going to the rear of the hall for the quartet. Not allowing for the step, he made a flip in the air and landed noisily but safely on his head. After the performance the band members were invited to the Fiddler home, where they had a very jolly time.

Weed was the last stop on the trip. After the program an impromptu dance was held at the high school. The orchestra was made up of anyone who would play, regardless of ability. However, the dancers didn't mind. It was also here that "Don Juan" Glendinning broke up another happy family.

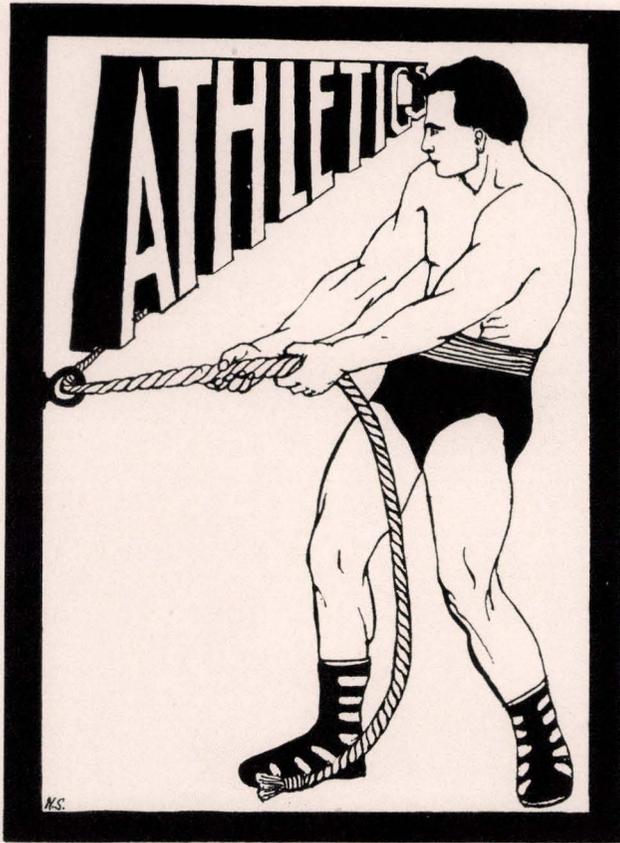

The bus arrived in Chico Wednesday morning, April 11, thus ending the second trip of the College Band. Some of the boys were very glad that there remained a few days of vacation to rest up in, but there is not one of them who will not go on the trip next year if he gets the chance.

VARSIY FOOTBALL

TWO FORWARD PASSES, one in the first game of the season and one in the championship game with Sacramento Junior College, were all that kept Chico State's Varsity football team from turning in a perfect record this year. Both passes netted touchdowns for the opposition, the only two times during the season that the Wildcats were scored upon. Chico's record at the end of the schedule of eight games stood: Points scored, 164; opposition, 14.

One of the largest turnouts in the history of the college greeted Coach Acker in the fall of 1927 when upwards of 60 aspiring gridgers answered the first call for football material. Of this number some eight were lettermen from the championship squad of 1926 and it was not long before a Varsity squad was picked consisting of 28 of the best prospects.

Probably the best lineup the team had during the year consisted of Captain Elmer Allinger and Bob Bankhead, ends; Kenny Palmer and Cliff Squier, tackles; Lowell Nugent, Arvid Pauly and Alan Fulcher, guards; Dan Farmer, center; Harold Spencer, quarterback; Jimmy Thomasson and John Lillie, halfbacks, and Guynne Carey and Leo Barceloux, fullbacks. Other men who looked good in the lineup at different times were Wilbur Johnson and Cliff Bruce, ends; Wes Rumbolz and Paine Dunlap, guards; Ray Denlay, center, and Louis Olker, Alton Cheney and Herb Carey in the backfield.

Although injuries detracted somewhat from the smoothness and teamplay which the squad displayed in its early games, the aggregation on the whole was the best team turned out by Chico State since she has been playing football. Considering that six men, all All-Conference selections, were lost from the 1926 squad, the record of the 1927 eleven is most remarkable. While they did not win the championship, as the three teams which preceded them had done, they were in the game fighting throughout their entire schedule. Their record proves the statement.

CALIFORNIA AGGIES

Although six men were injured in the first ten minutes of play, Chico State's Varsity gave a good account of itself in the opening game of the season by holding the California Aggies to a 7—0 win. A forward pass in the closing moments of the third quarter, thrown over the territory of an inexperienced quarterback, gave the Aggies victory.

The Wildcats, through the work of Jim Thomasson in carrying the ball and John Lillie on the defense, fought their opponents through every minute of the game, however, and a review of the game shows that Chico made nearly two first downs to the Aggies' one.

The men injured in this game included Arvid Pauly, veteran guard, who was out for the balance of the season with a torn shoulder muscle. The absence of Pauly in later games was a large factor in the weakened condition of the defense of the first string line. This was not a conference game.

CALIFORNIA POLYTECHNIC

Chico journeyed to San Luis Obispo for the first conference game of the season and returned victor over the Polytech outfit by a count of 19—0. While victorious, the Wildcat squad looked weak in many places and a good many of the red and white supporters took this game to mean that Chico would be defeated several times by conference opponents during the 1927 season.

The line plunging of Leo Barceloux, freshman fullback, was one of the outstanding features of this game, Leo taking the ball the full length of the field several times. Lillie again loomed up with his defensive work, while the forward wall displayed unlooked-for strength in the absence of several first string men who had not gotten over their injuries of the California Aggie game.

As this was the first conference game the defeat at the hands of the Aggies was forgotten, and the members of the squad felt confidence coming to them over night with a league standing of one victory and no defeats.

MODESTO JUNIOR COLLEGE

The Modesto game was the first of a series of "big games" played on the Chico field during the 1927 season. With Modesto, San Jose, Sacramento and San Mateo all aiming at Chico to even up for defeats of previous years, the local field was a scene of four conquests by opposing elevens.

Modesto, the first of this quartet, was humbled in a befitting fashion by a score of 13—0. Spencer, Chico backfield man, took the ball over for another touchdown in the third period, but he fumbled after he had crossed the line and a Modesto man recovered the ball and carried it out of danger before he was downed.

Thomasson, diminutive half for Chico, displayed some of the ability that afterward marked him as the outstanding ball carrier in the conference in this game. Time and again he took the oval off tackle for yards and yards.

Modesto never threatened the Wildcat goal line once during the game and her defensive game was the only outstanding feature of her play.

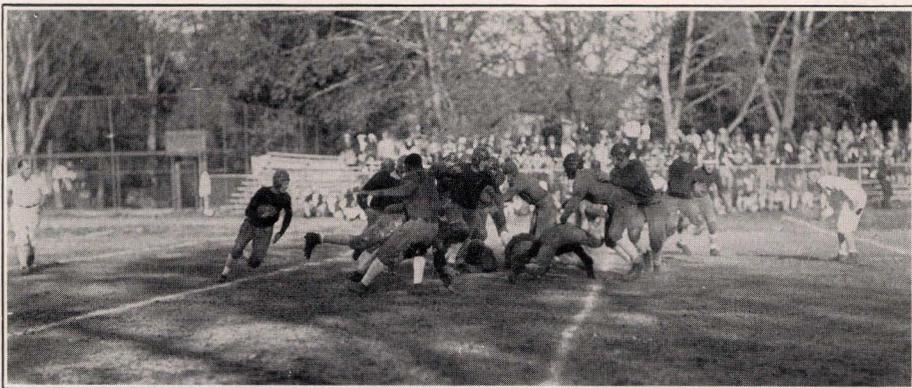

SANTA ROSA JUNIOR COLLEGE

Chico State ran wild over the Santa Rosans on the local field on the weekend that followed, scoring 51 points to her opponents' 0.

After the first few minutes of the game it was only a matter of how much, and the entire Wildcat squad was worked out in both halves of the game. A second string line and substitute backs did most of the work during the second and third quarters with the regulars going back into the rout with the start of the final period.

Leo Barceloux and Jimmy Thomasson had little trouble in galloping around the Santa Rosa wings and the result was touchdown after touchdown until the procession looked like a relay carnival.

The punting of Floyd Talbot was the only redeeming feature of the Rosebud play. This lad averaged close to sixty yards with his kicks.

OREGON STATE

For a number of years in the past the Oregon State Teachers have attempted to get post-season games with Chico State, and as they have won the championship in their section for the last two years it was believed that a game between the two institutions would be a good means of comparing the two sections in football. A two year contract was signed, with the first game played at Chico last fall.

Not once in the game did the Monmouth aggregation offer the Wildcats a semblance of Tri-C competition, with the score at the close of the game standing 55—0. Chico's backs were run to a point of exhaustion making touchdowns while defensively the Wildcats halted the Oregon Staters on every play.

Whether it was the intersectional game that extended them or whether they were just playing with their real ability is not known, but the Wildcats never looked better than they did on that occasion.

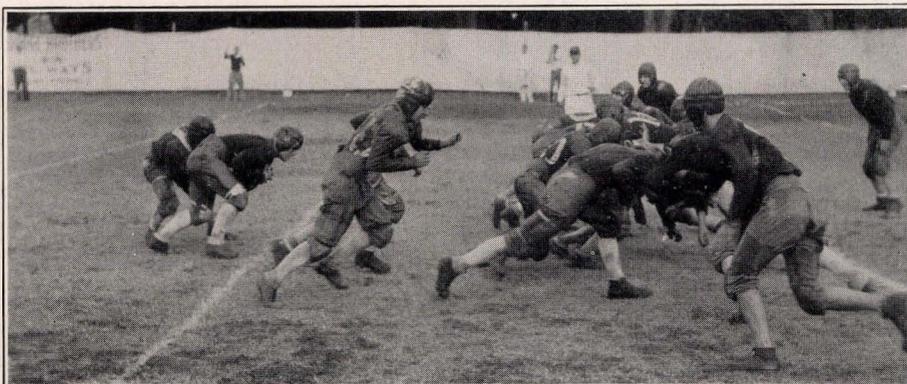

It might be said on behalf of the Oregon team that they were at a disadvantage after their long journey, but the disadvantage will be for Chico next year.

SAN JOSE STATE

Chico met and defeated her old rivals, the San Jose Spartans, on the local field after the second of the "big game" series had been played. The score was 19—0, and though the Spartans gave the Wildcats her hardest battle of the season thus far, the records again credit Chico with keeping San Jose scoreless. In the history of the two colleges San Jose has yet to score on the red and white.

Chico scored once in the opening period and then watched the Spartans carry the ball the entire length of the field to stop them within the shadows of their goal posts as the half ended. In the second half the Cardinals looked like a new team, and then speedily succeeded in scoring two touchdowns to insure victory before the third quarter ended.

The game was played on Armistice Day with a large crowd of rooters from both institutions looking on.

SAN MATEO JUNIOR COLLEGE

The third of the "big games" was played on the Chico field on Thanksgiving Day and fans assembled saw another team's hopes for conference vanish before the fighting Wildcats. The final score was 7—0, with the Cardinals scoring their only touchdown on an off tackle plunge by Jimmy Thomasson.

San Mateo, reputed as one of the tricky teams of the conference, lived up to her reputation when trick plays and sleight of hand ball carrying was attempted galore. However, the straight plunging of the Wildcat backs, and the airtight defense of the Wildcat line were enough to offset the deceptive formations of the San Mateans and the winning score is recorded above.

This game gave Chico a record of five conference victories and no defeats, a record which was similarly held by Sacramento Junior College. As the conference ruling states that the two highest teams must play for the title, a championship game was arranged for the Chico field.

SACRAMENTO JUNIOR COLLEGE

The championship game was played at Chico after some little debate on the part of conference officials and authorities on both sides. It was supposed that the game was to be held on the Sacramento field until a few days before the date upon which it had been scheduled. The change of the place had little to do with the outcome, however, for the Sacramento team won after the greatest game played on the Chico field in years.

Both teams battled evenly throughout the first and second periods, each feeling the other out for line strength and neither opening up with much of a varied attack.

In the third period the break came and after a series of short bucks which carried the ball to midfield the Sacramento quarterback called for a long pass which eluded Chico's safety and went for a touchdown. The entire play netted close to fifty yards, besides producing the winning score. The touchdown was converted.

Throughout the balance of the game the Wildcats battled their opponents to a standstill, but they were unable to put over the winning or tying scores. Several bad breaks went against them, but in all justice to Sacramento they were unable to get within the Sacramento thirty-yard line. Outside of her touchdown Sacramento in turn failed to get within Chico's thirty-yard marker.

And thus was the curtain rung down on a highly successful season in football at Chico State. Winning six games out of their schedule of eight, besides entering the final playoff for the championship, and all accomplished with a supposedly green team, Chico has nothing to be ashamed of in the work of her 1927 gridmen.

Prospects for next year are bright. Captain Elmer Allinger was reelected to lead the squad next season when the entire squad, with the exception of two men, will be back for another year of the sport. The two men lost through graduation are John Lillie, who played four years at halfback, and Robert Bankhead, a linesman for three years and an end on last year's team. Both men will be sorely missed, but their places can be filled from men of the 1927 squad.

Chico State's record in football for the last four years has been a record of which any student or alumnus of the college may justly feel proud. Winning three California Coast Conference championships in a row and being runner-up for a fourth is a feat which no college in the conference has ever equalled. The very fact that four of Chico's games this year were marked as "big games" by her opponents is sufficient proof that to defeat the Wildcats has become the ambition of every California Coast Conference college.

The record of Chico State's grid teams in these years of plenty has been made largely through the efforts of her athletic coach, Arthur L. Acker. Mr. Acker came to Chico when a football turnout meant fifteen men going out to play with a football in overalls and tennis shoes. He has built up the sport in four years to a point where Chico State's turnout consists of 75 athletes, all fully equipped.

FROSH FOOTBALL

FOR THE first time in the history of Chico State the Wildcats had a real Frosh squad this year. After the Varsity squad had been picked in the early part of the season the remaining men, providing they were first year students, were given positions on the babe squad. Seventeen men finished the season playing on this team, which had six regularly scheduled games.

Out of their six games the babes were successful in winning five of them. Their only defeat came at the hands of the Oroville High squad, one of the strongest prep squads in this section of the state. Oroville defeated the Frosh by a score of 13 to 12 in a last half rally.

The Frosh string of victories included wins over Orland High, Willows High, Yuba City High, and two victories over Chico High. All were won by decisive margins.

While the success of the Frosh eleven was entirely due to the coaching of Art Acker, two former pupils of the head coach enabled the Frosh to receive instruction on the fine points of the game whenever the Varsity was away from home on the date of Frosh games. These men were Carroll Bailey and Granville Siler, who took over the business of coaching the yearlings in the absence of Acker.

The squad's main purpose was to build men for next year's Varsity, and from all appearances it has fulfilled its purpose. Outstanding stars on the babe eleven were Nick Stucklin, Paul Huber, Walt Wattenberger, Clarence Jensen, Harry Skelly, Red Herbert, Art Strong, Chance Wilson and Tom Ross.

THE SEASON

With the completion of the new gymnasium at Chico and return of five letter winners from the 1926-27 squad, prospects for a winning quintet at Chico State looked bright at the outset of the 1927-28 season. Approximately forty men were out at the first call and a first squad consisting of fourteen men was rapidly whipped into shape.

However, before the practice schedule had been completed the rosy outlook became somewhat tarnished and before the conference schedule was half over it appeared as though the Wildcats were in for a number of setbacks. Two lettermen were forced to leave the squad because of injuries and outside activities and Captain Bill Metteer was forced out of the game for three weeks with a sprained ankle.

How the Wildcats came back and got into the championship series by defeating the San Jose State aggregation, previously undefeated and holding a verdict from Stanford, would be a story for "believe it or not." With untried substitutes filling in for regulars and veterans playing as they had never played before, the Wildcats came through to give the champions the hardest fought series ever played in the California Coast Conference.

SAN JOSE GAMES

Chico entered her first tilt with the Spartans decidedly the underdog. The Spartans, with a string of twelve straight wins had swept through everything in the conference and were thought by many to be on their way to an undefeated season. Captain Metteer was out of the game and Kenny Palmer was out of the game the week previous with a case of poison oak. The morale of the team was wrecked, and Chico was doped by all to lose by more than 20 points. However, the Chico gymnasium was packed by spectators who desired to see the conquerors of Stanford.

At the outset of the game the Cards jumped into a two-point lead which was soon after tied when the Spartan forwards collected two long baskets from mid-court. Then Rockwell Blondin, substituting for Captain Metteer, started a rally by tossing in three baskets in succession. The Cards were off, but no one dared believe they would stay out in front. At half time they clung to a two-point advantage.

The second half was a replica of the first, and try as they might the vaunted Spartans were unable to master their unheralded and unsung competitors. Gradually the Wildcats began to increase their lead, until the game ended with them in front by nearly 10 points. The game was won, and Chico State had fought her way into the final series.

The second game was a walk-away for the Spartans, but the Wildcats were due for a letdown. They had won their game the night before.

CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

The first game of the big series was played at San Jose and it resulted in a hard luck defeat for the Wildcats and gave the Spartans the first hold on the championship. With the score tied at 15—15 with minutes to play, a Spartan rally netted six points and assurance of victory.

The second game was a duplication of Chico's first victory over the Spartans. Although Captain Metteer was back in the game and Chico had won one game from San Jose, few thought that the Wildcats would ever be successful against the smooth Spartan attack again. But again the unexpected happened, and with Chaunce Wilson looping in baskets from all angles Chico emerged victorious.

The third game was played on a neutral court, at Sacramento, and every fan who jammed into the Sacramento gymnasium on that memorable occasion witnessed the most heart-breaking defeat a team would ever hope to meet.

Chico jumped into a 12-point lead before the Spartans even scored and at half time the red and white quintet was holding a 21—11 advantage. But gradually the lead was cut down in the second half until with twenty seconds to play the score was 28—27 in Chico's favor. A basket gave the lead to San Jose for the first time in the game, but it proved long enough. The game was won.

Chico's best lineup of the year was composed of Captain Metteer and Chauncey Wilson, forwards; Kenny Palmer, center, and Steve Vugreecz and Dan Farmer, guards. Other letter winners were Rockwell Blondin and Denzil Huffman, forwards, and Irving Elliott and Jim Elfendahl, guards. Chauncey Wilson is captain-elect for next year's five and Vugreecz, Elliott and Captain Metteer will be the members of the 1927-28 squad missing from the team next year.

Outstanding features of the 1927-28 season were Chico's high scores of the conference against California Polytechnic and Denzil Huffman's high point score of 28 in a single game against California Polytechnic. Palmer led the scorers for the season with a total of 234, while Captain-elect Wilson was but two points behind. Chico State was the only team in the conference to defeat San Jose State. In her practice games Chico scored an overwhelming victory over the fast Yuba-Sutter Legion five, considered one of the best club fives in Northern California.

Palmer at center and Farmer at guard were named for All-Conference honors in several selections.

FROSH BASKET BALL

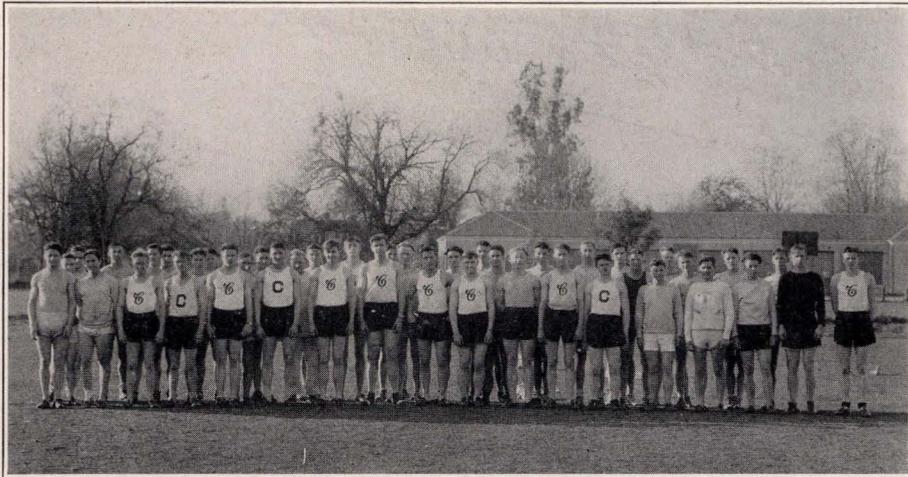

THE SAME plan inaugurated in football this year was tried out with the yearling basket ball prospects. After the first few weeks the first year men who were unable to make the Varsity squad were placed on the babe squad and a schedule of ten games was arranged for them. Hugh Harrison assisted Coach Acker in handling the Frosh.

The main purpose of the Frosh squad was the same as that of the yearling football outfit, to develop men for the Varsity. However, the babes afforded the Varsity a good deal of competition in scrimmage and before the end of the season several men were promoted from the yearling outfit to the first squad. Denzil Huffman and Dan Farmer, who afterward made their letters on the first squad, started the season by playing a few games with the Frosh.

The Frosh had a very successful season as a whole, going through their entire schedule up until the last two games without defeat. Some of their victories include wins over the fastest prep aggregations in this section, while they also have wins over the Gridley Pirates and the Redding Tigers, two teams met and defeated by the Varsity also.

Teams defeated by the Frosh were the Gridley Pirates second team, the Gridley Pirates, Redding Tigers, Redding High, Corning Independents, Chico High, Biggs High and a team from Orland. The two games lost were a return game with the Redding Tigers and to the Marysville All-Stars.

Men who played throughout the season with the Frosh were Smith, Manford, Mealiffe, Strong, Nixon, Eiler, Olson and Parsons. Smith, Mealiffe and strong all looked likel Varsity material at times and next year should find them fighting with the first string Wildcats. Nixon, a late-comer, also looked good.

Men winning letters were Captain Thomasson, Captain-elect Olker, Allinger, Johnson, Wattenberger, Farmer, Stucklin, White and Lillie.

A new track is in construction and Chico State cinder men will have an oval of their own on which to compete next year.

WOMEN'S VOLLEY BALL

EARLY in the fall semester volley ball teams were organized in the girls' physical education classes. Volley ball is a game for all the girls and they may play it as vigorously or as leisurely as they wish. The girls took up the sport enthusiastically. Captains were elected and a first and second team were chosen from every regular physical education class. Many hours outside of class were spent on practice so that there might be good teamwork.

As the players became more efficient they planned a tournament, which inspired them to harder and better playing. The two teams of each class played off a game to determine the "A" teams for competition with the "A" teams of the other classes. Most of the games were played on the lot back of the temporary college building during the noon hour or after school at four o'clock. Excitement ran high during the games as a good many of them ended in ties. The finals were played on the football field one morning while the entire assembly watched and cheered from the bleachers.

This interclass tournament was only the second of its kind for the girls and they enjoyed themselves greatly in such keen competition. "Bigger and better" volley ball can be expected in the new gymnasium, where there will be greater interest, if possible in girls' athletics for the coming years.

Volley ball is not only a favorite sport here at college, but it is one of the main pastimes at summer school, where the teams are selected with both women and men players.

WOMEN'S BASKET BALL

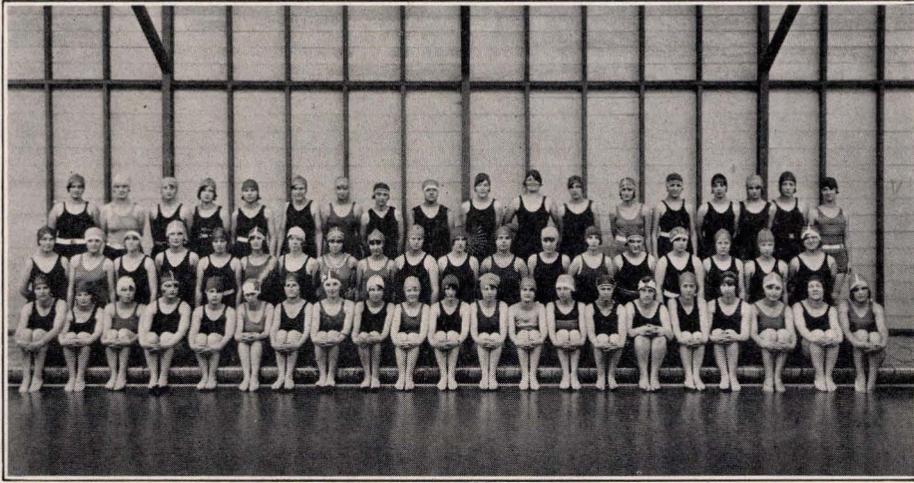

BASKET BALL, always a favorite sport with girls, is coming to the foreground here at this college since the opening of the new gymnasium. With the new floor and equipment the girls are proud to take an active part.

Due to lack of a court in the first months of the season the basket ball periods lasted until quite late in the year. For several weeks Miss Kotsch put the girls through their paces, perfecting their passes and basket throws. With her assistance four teams were selected and a captain for each chosen. The four captains elected were: Verdie Miller, Ruth Gehrson, Mary Sinigian and Elizabeth Keener, each of whom played very creditably.

After a few weeks' practice, games were scheduled and played off at noon, some physical education major girls acting as referees. Others assisted as time-keepers, scorekeepers, and linemen. The games were witnessed by small groups of girls, all cheering lustily for their own class team.

The final game, between the teams of Captains Gehrson and Sinigian, was played in the gymnasium one evening before a good-sized rooting section. Little satisfaction was gained as to the superior team because the score ran even point by point. The two teams were quite speedy in action, with clean, accurate playing. Miss Kotsch refereed, and was very pleased with the spirit in which the girls entered the game, and with the outcome, which was a score of 13 to 13. It was decided to let the score stand and not play off another game, as vacation was coming and other sports were to be taken up.

Since interscholastic athletics have been forbidden for girls it has become the custom to play many interclass games and so keep up a well developed interest in girls' sports. The girls who are majoring in physical education, led by Eleanor Sellick, have done much to foster interest in basket ball and it is felt that the basket ball season has been a very successful one.

GIRLS' SWIMMING

ONE OF the athletic units that does an interesting piece of work, without any other organization than that of a class is the group of girls who take swimming. This year, on Nepenthe Day, under the direction of Miss Covey and Miss Kotsch, they put over a large meet with all the girls in the classes taking part.

Among the contests there were those for form in side stroke, crawl, back stroke and breast stroke. Diving contests were for height, diving for objects, plunge for distance, running start and standing dives. The races were many and varied, there being free style, bookworm race, candle race, balloon race, obstacle race and the three-legged race.

Stunts and games were also an important part of the meet. Stunts, besides the group of original ones were: the submarine, backward and forward somersaults. The most interesting games were the underwater tag and partner tag.

The girls who took part in the meet were: D. Allen, B. Bair, M. Barnes, C. Beauregard, S. Bennett, E. Beskeen, A. Bihler, B. Black, D. Black, A. Brown, D. Brown, T. Brunt, H. Burkharte, C. Daly, M. Davidson, C. Dixon and Z. Duncan.

ADVANCED DANCING

FOR CENTURIES rhythmic movements of the body and limbs known as dancing, with or without music, have been a source of pleasure, not only for those who take part, but also for those who watch the dancers. With the development of music and musical instruments there has been a parallel development in the art of dancing until now there is a whole field of dancing for those who wish to specialize in that line.

However, dancing makes one of the most delightful avocations, so to speak, and most of the girls interested in the Advanced Dancing Course offered here, take it to round out the other and more special line of work that is to be their profession.

During the year the advanced dancing class has appeared before the assembly and presented two charming programs. Members of the group have also entertained at various functions outside of school under the direction of Miss Kotsch.

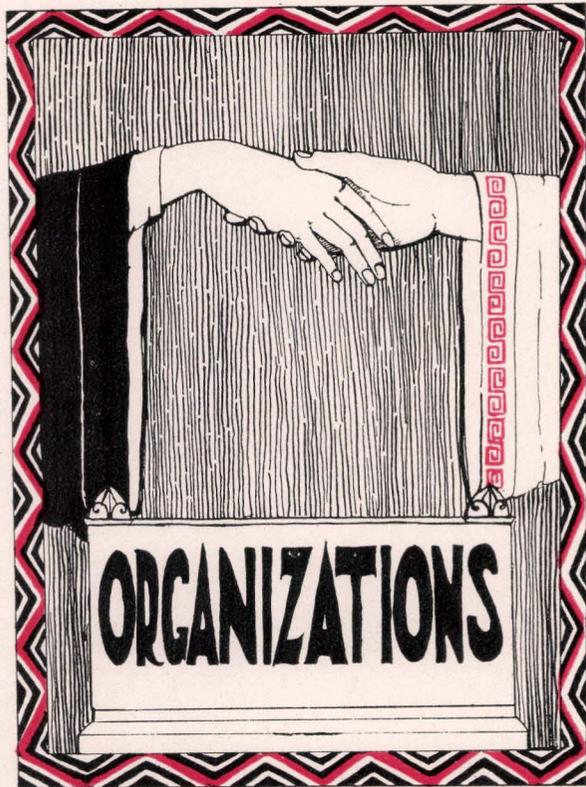

Members of the class were: Sarah Bennett, Laura Bosworth, Ruth Boyles, Barbara Clendenning, Vesta Cory, Wenda Croissant, Dorothy Crum Harrison, Marjorie Englefield, Judith Foster, Bethel Fry, Estelle Guill, Virginia Hayes and Ila Kirk.

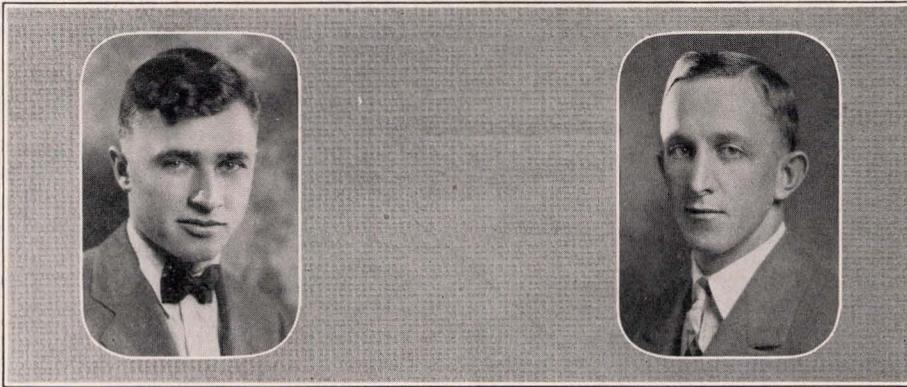

Edith Krikac, Gertrude Luehning, Catherine Middleton, Dorothy Orendorff, La Verne Owen, Hattie Pillsbury, Clara Powers, Mrs. Osenbaugh, Phoebe Jane Sallee, Vera Stolp, Elizabeth Tunnison, Leone Walker, Alma Wilkinson and Rachel Wilson.

Ruth Wilson, Doris Wood, Helen Wood, Lena Yank and Ellen Graves.

Life? and worth living?
Yes, with each part of us—
Hurt of us, help of us, hope of us, heart of us;
Life is worth living.
Ah! with the whole of us,
Will of us, brain of us, sense and soul of us.
Is life worth living?
Aye, with the best of us,
Heights of us, depths of us,—
Life is the test of us!

The year 1927-28 has proved to be a somewhat exceptional one in the history of the Student Body. Under President John Lillie the business of government went along smoothly enough. The budget for the year was adopted, and the various departments were given financial life. Later on in that semester, Rosemary Hopkins, vice-president of the Student Body, was selected to go to the annual convention of student presidents. Many valuable ideas were brought back by Miss Hopkins. However, the most important thing accomplished by President John Lillie's administration was the putting into action of the new governmental machinery which was adopted in the revision of the constitution during the previous semester. It was shown by the end of the semester that the executive committee, the most important provision in the revised constitution, although far from being all that was originally expected of it, could function more or less efficiently. But whether or not it is a feature of our government which should remain as it is, is a mooted point. Many students believe that it is too large a committee. Ten members, they contend, cannot do business as effectively as half that number.

The election which carried the new set of spring officers into power was perhaps the most tempestuous one that this college has ever weathered. Charges and denials relating to that election flew about rather thickly. For once the entire Student Body was worked up to a pitch of real interest. They solidly evinced this interest by soundly squelching the minority uprising with an overwhelming vote.

In the second semester, under the leadership of President Oscar Hollenberg, a good deal of constructive work has been accomplished. With him, as with his predecessor, however, the most important work done was the continued testing of the executive committee. This committee during the spring semester passed upon a number of important plans and measures. Although the editor of The Wildcat originally started the idea, the executive committee conducted a contest for the best design for an automobile sticker which would advertise Chico State and had a quantity of stickers made up from Nicholas Stucklin's winning drawing. A small safe in which to keep certain of the Student Body files and papers was purchased out of money voted from the emergency fund. The various requests for larger apportionments were passed upon by the executive committee. Additional sums of money were voted out to both the social leader and to the editor of The Record. But the finest piece of work done by the executive committee was the formulating of a measure providing for a rally committee which would have charge of and conduct all rallies and affairs of a like nature. At the date of writing, the Student Body has not yet adopted it, but is almost certain to do so as soon as some of the minor points have been settled.

During the latter half of the fall semester, the Student Body voted out the necessary money with which to purchase two Wildcat pelts and to have them mounted so that they may be used in our rallies and in the stunts put on at our games.

At the present time there is an amendment to the constitution pending which would provide for the awarding of numerals to the freshmen playing upon both the frosh football and frosh basket ball teams.

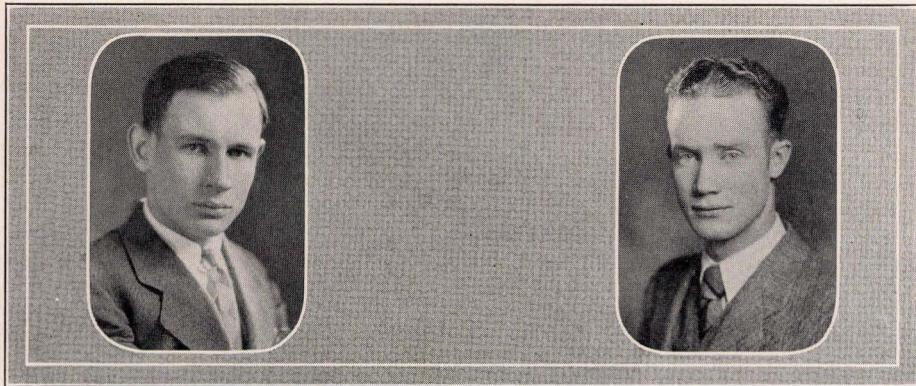

This is only a brief summary of the Student Body history at the most. It makes no mention of those heated discussions which so enlivened our meetings, nor does it pretend to treat any more than just a few of the many important things actually accomplished, either directly or indirectly, by the Associated Students.

Everything considered, there is no question but that the Student Body is the most important organization in the college, for only as long as it remains may the many subsidiary organizations, which make up such a large part of college life, exist.

A FEW WORDS

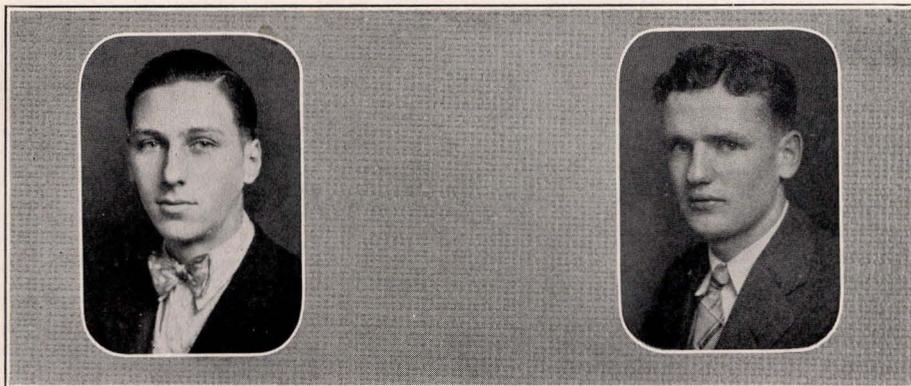

As this page is being prepared for the printer, the book is almost in its final shape. Little can now be done to change it one way or another. Much labor and at times a considerable amount of non-printable expletives have been expended on the production of this annual, but on the whole the task of editing the book has been more or less enjoyable.

The editor takes this opportunity to thank all those members of both the editorial and business staff, who have given him faithful service throughout the year, but especially does he want to thank Leo Cain, the picture editor, for the exceptional cooperation he received from him at all times and for the creditable way in which he performed a difficult task.

THE WILDCAT

MOST magazines and periodicals judge their success partly, at least, by the amount of their circulation. Since our paper is sponsored by the Student Body and every member of that organization is entitled to a copy, circulation in the school is no criterion of success. However, this year the circulation outside the school has increased greatly, and many of our alumni have found this a very desirable way of keeping in touch with the school.

A peppy feature section has characterized the "Cat" this year, and has lent much interest to our weekly. The well being of The Wildcat has been largely due to the untiring efforts of the two editors and the cooperation of their respective staffs.

MEN'S BAND

THIS YEAR the band instigated and put over a new type of rally, the "theatre rally." They have shown their school spirit (and no organization has more of it than they) by responding cheerfully at any time when they could be of service.

The personnel is as follows:

Director—Paul H. Young.

Cornets—E. J. Elfendahl, William Van Zee, Lawrence Curtis, Allison Ware, Denzil Huffman, Walter Swanson, Glenwood Bockman, Wesley Rumbolz and Kenneth Johnson.

Clarinets—Alwyn Amerman, Robert Eiler, Leo Cain, Henry Inns, Donald Glendinning and Kermit McKenzie.

Altos—James Riley, Herbert Winterstein, Lloyd Cook, Jacob Schmidt, Gerald Crenshaw and Beverly Mason.

Saxophone—Reuben Bond.

Baritone—Kenneth Stolp.

Trombones—Errol Hassler, Clifford Squier, Gordon Nixon and Ward Bennett.

Basses—Clarence Schott, Irving Cleek and Ira Shadwell.

Drums—Mario Capri, Lewis Tingley and Dan Farmer.

THE GIRLS' BAND

THIS is the first time in the history of the school that Chico State can boast of a marching Girls' Band. We can well "boast," for the Girls' Band may be numbered among the most enthusiastic organizations on the campus.

The officers for the first semester were elected as follows: President, Artie Clendinen; vice-president, Viola Ward; secretary, Alison McClard; social leader, Grace Dennis.

In the spring semester officers were appointed by the director, Paul Howard Young, on a military basis. Under this scheme the officials are composed of a sergeant-major, three sergeants and five corporals. Insignias have been awarded the girls to designate their rank in the band.

The membership and instrumentation are as follows: Sergeant-Major, Catherine Gates, clarinet. Sergeants: Evelyn Perigo, cornet; Clarice Philips, alto; Artie Clendinen, clarinet. Corporals: Grace Dennis, baritone; Dorothy Perigo, alto; Esther Bygum, cornet; Rosemary Hopkins, cornet; Ada Behler, trombone. First Class Privates: Alison McClard, flute; Dora Meline (drum major), trombone; May MacMahon, cornet; Dorothy Shock, clarinet; Florence Kaiser, clarinet; Blanche Fidler, bass drum; Goldie Fidler, sousaphone; Dorothy Albright, cornet; Edna Mae Will, snare drum; Hazel Burkhart, clarinet; Hazel Yarger, clarinet; Shirley Hopkins, clarinet; Iila Hitchcock, saxophone; Verna Snodderly, saxophone; Viola Ward, clarinet; Hildreth Kotsch, clarinet; Margaret Kopplin, clarinet; Alice Wadsworth, clarinet. Rookies: Dorothy Dean, snare drum; Anna Scott, cornet; Marild Powell, cornet; Hannah Meyer, cornet; Mary Sinigian, clarinet; Ann Picknell, saxophone, and Dorothy Opsal, alto.

BAND ACTIVITIES

BEGINNING with the striking and clever marching stunt which the Combined Band put over at the Armistice Day game, they have continued to appear on many occasions and have at all times been a credit to themselves and to the school. Also on Armistice Day the Men's Band and the Girls' Band made up two attractive parts of the parade by playing as they marched.

Again, at the championship game the band was out to support the team. Even without the peppy numbers that they put on between quarters, they would be an addition to our bleachers because of the section of uniform color their Cardinal sweaters add to our rooting section.

The bands supported the Chamber of Commerce in welcoming Governor Patterson's caravan from Oregon. This is enough to show us that outsiders are beginning to value our college organizations and to show their appreciation by asking them to perform at special occasions.

During Governor C. C. Young's visit to Chico on May 15, the Girls' Band did a very excellent piece of work in playing several pieces as a part of his welcome. At the luncheon given the governor at the Hotel Oaks, mention should also be made of the orchestra which furnished the music for the occasion.

Even the theatres are beginning to realize that Chico State's bands are capable of good work and have requested them to play. The Girls' Band is already booked for a concert at the Senator and the Men's Band has appeared at the National. The men's group did an especially commendable piece of work at the theatre rallies which were held there. After their return from the band trip they put on a program at the Oroville theatre.

As our bands become better known, so our college becomes better known and Chico State owes the bands a vote of thanks for the splendid advertising they have given us under the direction of Paul Howard Young.

ORCHESTRA

NO ORGANIZATION in school has been more generous with its time and efforts than has the orchestra. Besides entertaining the student body on several occasions, it has played at several outside affairs, thus giving the school, as well as itself, a little publicity at the Rotary Club Convention. The orchestra entertained at the banquet which was held at Richardson Springs. It also appeared at the Student Loan Fund program which was sponsored by the Achaean Club.

The largest piece of work undertaken by the orchestra is always the Commencement Concert on which they are now working.

The group which makes up the orchestra are talented students who are especially interested in music and their work has been an inspiration to themselves, as well as to those who have heard it. Much of its success has been due to the efforts of Mr. Young, its director.

The personnel is: Ward Bennett, Helen Howland, Margaret Triplett, Donald Glendenning and Clarence Schott.

Ila Mae Hitchcock, Dorothy Crum, Viola Ward, Catherine Gates, Edna Mae Will, Alison McClard, Leo Cain, Henry Innes, Ruth Powell Boyles and Ruth Howell.

Alwyn Amerman, Robert Eiler, William Van Zee, Gordon Nixon, Marjorie Matthews, Alda Bihler, Ira Shadwell and James Riley.

THE MEN'S GLEE CLUB

THE SIZE of the group of fellows who turned out for glee club (and it really means turning out, too, for it's an eight o'clock class) is due probably to the fact that the men of Chico State are either very modest lest their voices are too small to be of any use, or perhaps because some of them feel that they are budding Carusos and cannot waste their super voices in anything so ordinary as a glee club.

However, in spite of their small numbers the Men's Glee Clubs of both semesters have done exceptionally good work this year and have entertained the student body on several occasions. Some of the selections that they sang with unusual charm are "Sailors Chanties," "Caroline," "The Old Road" and "Send Out Thy Light."

Tenors for the fall semester were as follows—Irving Cleek, Charles Alexander, Lloyd Cook, Vorus Roulston, Douglas White, Dean David and Joe Lemen.

Baritones—Henry Stephens, Milton Rothwell, Wallace Mace, La Verne Kesselring and Clarence Schott.

Basses—Herbert Winterstein, Maurice Forman, John Fry and Harold Spencer.

Tenors for the spring semester were—Lloyd Cook, George R. Lytte and Vorus Roulston.

Baritones—Alwyn Amerman and Forrest Potter.

Basses—Beverly Mason, Jacob Schmidt and Norman Foster.

THE GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

IN SPITE OF the changing groups of each semester, the Girls' Glee Club has succeeded in doing some very constructive work in both groups. In conjunction with the Men's Glee Club they have appeared several times before the assembly. One of their most entertaining numbers was "Come to the Fair." Other pieces which were sung in the assembly were as follows: "To Thee O Country," "Allah's Holiday," "Happy Day," "Tally Ho!", "Music in the Air," and "Like as a Feather."

The glee clubs were among the other organizations which lost heavily when the college burned. Music which Miss Lennon had been collecting for years and which is impossible to replace rapidly was destroyed in the blaze.

The sopranos for the fall semester were: Elva Ash, Laura Bosworth, Hollis Childs, Helen Crum, Bernice Black, Kathryn Graff, Ruth Stamper and Venita Vaughn.

Second sopranos: Lurline Childs, Katherine Smith, Pauline Huse, Hope Lewis, Dorothy Crum Harrison, Elizabeth Klier and Madge Foster.

Altos: Mary Sinigian, Marild Powell, Dorothy Dean, Dorothy Black, Vera Jeffery and Roberta Blanchard.

For the spring semester sopranos were: Elva Ash, Bernice Black, Ethel Larson and Helen Rutyloff.

Second sopranos: Dorothy Black, Bethel Frye, Alta Hufford, Elizabeth Klier, Deborah Parker and Hope Lewis.

Altos: Mildred Gallatin, Clovys Haynes, Hazel Kirkuff, Vera Jeffery, Margaret Kennedy and Elaine Sallee.

Letter winners of 1928 are: Basket ball, E. Elfendahl, D. Huffman, D. Farmer, R. Blondin, K. Palmer; track, W. Wattenberger, W. Johnson, Olker, Thomasson, Allinger, White, and Stucklin.

The Block "C" Society has just finished its second year of activity since reorganization. The members have bettered their record of last year and have taken an active part in all school affairs. With the added requirements for graduation now taking effect and others to be added later, the membership is steadily increasing.

To be eligible for membership in the Block "C" Society a student must fulfill the rules set down by the constitution of the student body relative to winning a letter in major sports. The standards set up by our school are very high—higher than those of most of the other colleges in the California Coast Conference.

Any player who shall have played in three-fourths of the total quarters played in intercollegiate games, meets the constitutional requirements for a letter in football. In basket ball a player must have played in one-half of the total halves played in intercollegiate games. Any fraction of a quarter or half counts as a full quarter or half toward the playing time necessary for the winning of a block "C."

Baseball was discontinued this year because of the lack of interest in the sport displayed by the student body at large and the financial loss resulting from previous seasons. To earn his letter in track a student must have earned an average of five points per meet for all intercollegiate meets, or take one point in the conference meet. In unusual cases, the coach may authorize the presentation of a "C" for special merit, even though the regular requirements may not have been met.

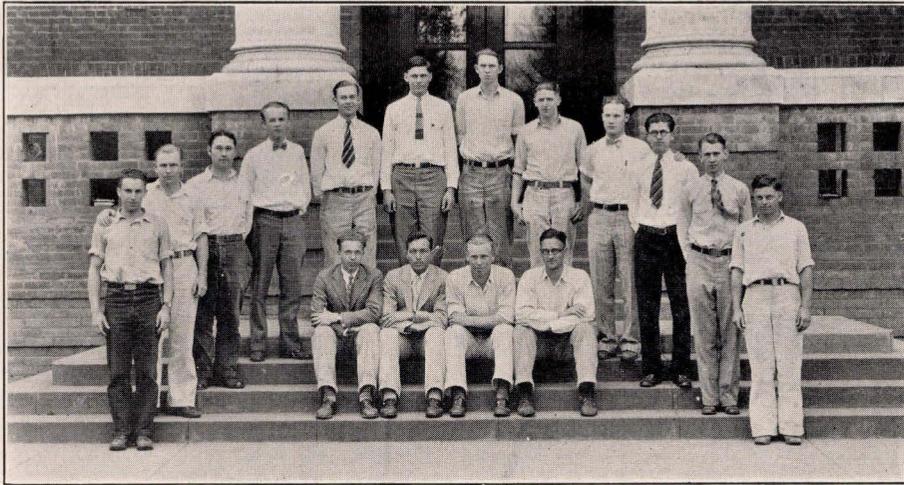

Last year the society started the custom of presenting each new member with a cardinal sweater, having the white block letter of the sport in which the student participated on the front. This gives a distinctive and uniform appearance to the club members. Instead of taxing the members for the money necessary to purchase these sweaters the club has undertaken to promote several shows and plays to raise the amount.

The Wildcat Scamper was promoted by the society in the new Bidwell Gymnasium. It was the most successful jazz party that has been held from the point of real entertainment.

In April two plays were presented in the college auditorium. The feature of these plays was the all-clubmen cast. They were, "The Call of the Campus" and "A Night at an Inn." The cast of the first consisted of Steve Vugreecz, Wilbur Johnson, Elmer Allinger, Stacy Wiser and Harold Spencer. Two of the men took feminine parts which added greatly to the worth of the entertainment. The latter play by Lord Dunsany, "A Night at an Inn," was full of mystery. The cast was composed of Louis Olker, Raymond Denlay, Steve Vugreecz, Douglas White, Harold Thomasson, Chauncey Wilson, Roy Lawrence and Alan Fulcher. This play was repeated at a local theatre for the benefit of those who were unable to attend the college presentation. The plays were under the direction of Miss Anna L. Barney, head of the dramatics department of the college.

A pin has been adopted for use in cases where the sweater cannot be worn. It is a small red enamel block "C" trimmed with gold. In future years this pin will mean much to the men when other articles reminiscent of their college days are lost or forgotten.

The Block "C" Society believes in promoting clean athletics, in boosting the spirit of Chico State College and is willing to assist in all events attempted by the college.

The Campus Y. M. C. A. of Chico State is an organization affiliated with the National Y. M. C. A., and is composed of a group of college men whose purpose is to serve their school in any way they can.

It strives to link up the college students with the various local churches, to unify the Christian spirit on the campus, and to raise the moral tone of our college. It plans to aid incoming students in their college problems and to foster Chico State's warm spirit of friendship.

The "Y" was just formed this spring, but is, nevertheless, well under way and actively working. Some of the best assembly speakers of the year have been secured under the auspices of the "Y," and some of the very best men on the coast will be brought to Chico State next year to discuss various topics before the student body.

This is an active, growing organization, and it is hoped that more of the college men will take advantage of the opportunity to serve Chico State.

The College Girls' Christian Association was organized to meet a need which has been felt from time to time by various members of our student body. It began with a visit by Bruce Gray, Y. M. C. A. Field Secretary, when the students interested in him, undertook to send a delegate to the International Student Volunteer Convention at Detroit, held from December 28 to January 1. Doris Woods, who was chosen by the interested students as a delegate, brought back enthusiastic reports from the convention.

The club is greatly indebted to Mrs. J. B. Wilbur of Oroville for her valuable suggestions and inspiration.

Members: Dorothy Allen, Bernice Black, Dorothy Black, Claire Beauregard, Lorene Breese, Hadassah Cleek, Imogene Conley, Dorothy Dean, Anne Enloe, Bethel Fry, Vivian Hitchcock, Bertha Hughes, Margaret Hughes, Vivian Hauser, Thelma Jones, Margaret Kopplin, Orma Kramer, Elizabeth Klier, Louise Motter, Laverne Owens, Cassie Phelan, Myrtle Roohr, Elizabeth Squires, Katherine Smith, Eleanor Simonet, Rachel Wilson, Lillian Clayton, Lena Yank, Ethel Hufford, Alta Hufford, Marild Powell and Eleanor Sellick.

CANDLELIGHT CLUB

THE CANDLELIGHT CLUB is a service organization to which only members of the Kindergarten-Primary Department are eligible. During the spring semester this year they have attained the highest goal possible for membership—every member of the department is also a member of the club.

During the six years of its organization the Candlelight Club has established two activities that have become almost rites, the Christmas Sing, and the Candleglow, or the launching party in honor of the graduating members. No true Candlelighter ever misses either of these and many an alumnae always return to help launch the graduates.

Officers for the fall semester were: President, Winifred Bradt; vice-president, Vesta Cory; secretary, Margaret Kennedy; treasurer, Wilda Huntley.

For the spring semester officers were: President, Margaret Kennedy; vice-president, Catherine Convery; secretary, Helen McKillop; treasurer, Mae Howland, and Alma Mater, Ivadel Eich.

LANTERNLIGHT CLUB

THE LANTERNLIGHT CLUB grew out of the group meetings of the student teachers working in the primary grades and was organized along with the Candlelight Club in 1922. Since its organization it has broadened out and now accepts as members any students in the General Professional department who are interested in primary teaching.

Besides their regular activities the organization sponsored a cookie sale this spring to help Delta Phi Upsilon put over their convention.

Freshmen members: Hazel Chandler, Nettie Gosling.

Faculty advisor: Clara Kaps.

SEARCHLIGHT CLUB

THE SEARCHLIGHT CLUB has been thoroughly reorganized. All offices are now elective, and meetings are held in the evening twice a month. One meeting is for a social time for the club's own members, the other for club business. Four such meetings were made very interesting by talks from Mr. Merrill, Captain Brunton, Mrs. Willits and Mrs. Brown. The club has taken part in all Girls' Council activities, staged a mock rally at Hi Jinks, put on a small play at the joint Light meeting and, its most important work, has made covers for the furniture in the girls' rest room and Miss Barney's office. With a large membership of wide-awake people the club expects to take even a more active part in school affairs next year.

Officers for the fall semester were: President, Lucille Murray; vice-president, Viola Ward; secretary, Clovys Haynes; treasurer, Margaret Cooney; social leader, Catheryn Gates; stunt leader, Ruth Watterson; Wildcat reporter, Rosemary Hopkins; Girls' Council representative, Della Balderson.

MAJORS IN PHYSICAL EDUCATION

THE MAJORS in Physical Education Club is a new organization but is making rapid progress. Those eligible to membership are all girls who are majoring in physical education.

The purpose of the organization is to assist the physical education directors in all girls' athletic events which take place on the campus. Some of the girls helped in the coaching of the volley ball and basket ball games. The majors also took part in the swimming meet which is an annual event held in May.

This year, largely due to the efforts of Mr. R. C. Merrill, director of teacher training, there has been established in Chico State an Education Club, to which all students doing practice teaching are eligible.

The club meets every other Tuesday at 4 o'clock and, with the exception of a few business sessions, the meetings have been turned over to entertainment and lectures.

The students have been greatly benefitted by the talks of well-known educators who have come from various parts of the state in response to the invitations issued by the Education Club. Mr. Rinn, instructor in agriculture at Chico State, gave a very interesting lecture to the members of the club on the various phases of agriculture which was illustrated with pictures. Besides the lectures the programs consisted of vocal selections, instrumental solos, humorous readings, etc.

The aim of the Education Club is to help the student teachers much in the same manner that the California Teachers Association assists the teachers already working in the field of their profession. It brings a closer feeling of cooperation between the students and their supervisors. Through the medium of the superintendents who talk before the club many of the customs, professional ethics, and relationship with superiors have proved beneficial to the students.

Formation of the club did not take place until near the middle of the fall semester. It is still in the development stage but it is hoped that in another year the club will be in such a position to make the student teachers appreciate the principles back of its foundation.

THE GIRLS' COUNCIL

THE GIRLS' COUNCIL is probably the strongest organization of women students taking an active part in student body affairs. Primarily its purpose is to further school spirit among the girls, and to aid them in getting acquainted with one another. However, it does not limit itself to these endeavors, but actively cooperates whenever its assistance is needed.

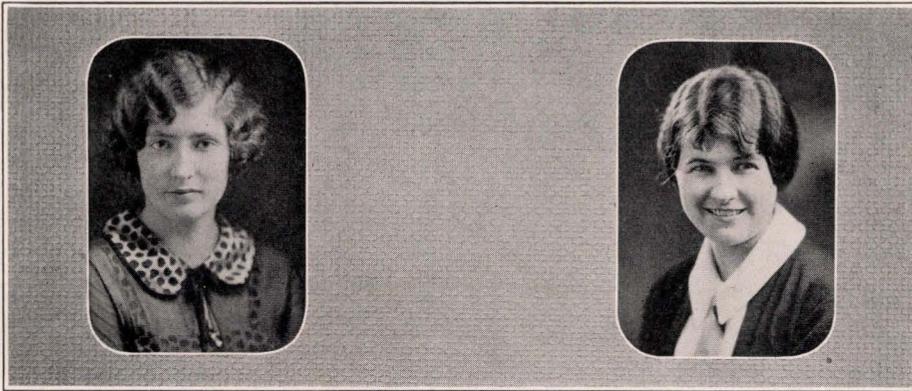

The membership of the Girls' Council is made up of representatives from the various women's organizations on the campus. The student body social leader is its president. Members for the two semesters are:

LO! THESE TWENTY YEARS

LARGO

of The Class of June 1908—"Twenty Years : After"

THE CLASS OF JUNE 1908, perforce of its abiding identity (unique, perhaps in the roll of the classes), effected by permanent organization at the time of graduation and maintained by the publication of class letters—upon occasionality—throughout the years—thinks "Twenty Years : After" with an humble triumphancy. Achievement has not been aggressively assertive with the Class of June 1908—neither has Achievement held itself altogether aloof. Achievement has been artfully adequate. Inquiry is invited into the cordial considerable-ness of this classic class.

Free-swing gates led Yester-year unto pleasant paths of cordial companionship, lighted by the sunshine of common experiences—paths which now have become darkened and dimmed by the insistent insolence of Isolation—and its intrigue of the exceptional of Experience. The constituency of the Class of June 1908—"Twenty Years : After"—scattered now to the Four Winds and their whiledom whimsicalities, seldom see each other, and in seeing each other, have little to say to each other of each other—having lost the common denominator of petty personalia together with the integral of a commonality. From out of their Experience, however, they aspire to indicate their ideas interpretative of the colorful conceptions and radiant realizations which have become co-incident within their lives by virtue of Lo! These Twenty Years.

"Out of the Harbor into the Sea" was the motto selected—then (1908)—as indicating the conception of the Class that a beneficent beginning was to be found in the cordial completion—of Preparation.

Anticipation was—then—the ample animation under which the Class set sail.

Actualization is—Now—these "Twenty Years : After"—the—the adequate animation under which The Class—keeps—Sailing. Forsooth, the co-ordinate consciousnessness of the Class of June 1908—"Twenty Years : After"—is—that "LIFE—IS—IN—THE—SAILING!"

* * * * *

TIME'S DYNAMIC IS CHANGE

(Life's constancy is in its constancy of change.)

SEEKING—IS—SERENITY

(On! Sail On!)

which—defines!

—destines!

These—perhaps—are a few sparks of Fire which the Class of June 1908—Lo! these "Twenty Years : After"—would bring as its Token—as its Treasure—as its Truth—discovered—as a derivation whilst adventuring upon Life's Several Seas—gazing the Stars the whilst—for Lo! these Twenty Years.

THE UNORGANIZED ALUMNI

TO GIVE anything like a full list of the "old grads" would be next to impossible, and even for the past two years would not be any snap. They're here, there, and everywhere. There are mobs of them at U. C. and quite a few at other institutions of learning on the coast; some have become engineers, doctors, they're in the forest service, and almost any other type of work you can mention without getting down to the superintendents of schools, principals, and teachers that have flung the name of Chico State halfway across the continent.

No attempt has been made in this annual or the one preceding it to give an accurate list of alumni, with their present occupation and addresses. Many of them, probably most of them, are married, yet the remainder of their classmates live in ignorance of their change in status. If for no other reason than the protection of poor wandering bachelor alumni who happen to find themselves in a town where resides a one-time flame, and who, when the nomad calls upon her immediately turns to friend husband to—well—, and then the poor transient has another black eye or similar ornament to account for.

But, the alumni of this school have reached the point, both in numbers and interest, where an active alumni association is not only desirable but imperative. After the fire, had there been such an organization, much of the confusion that came with the destruction of our records could have been avoided. Such an organization would have been in a position to replace in the school many of the files, trophies and other items of interest destroyed at that time. The activity of the "organized" Class of June, 1908—"Twenty Years : After" is to be cordially commended in this respect.

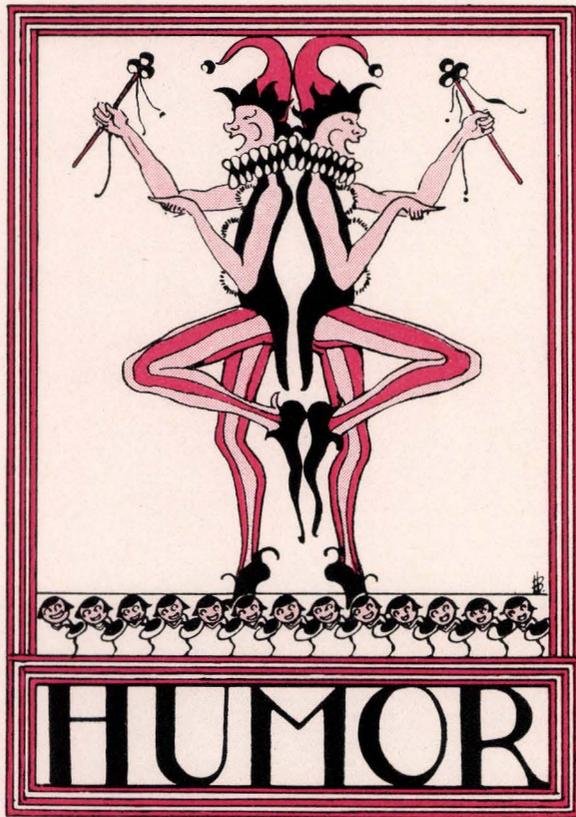

As a memorial to their class teacher, Alva W. Stamper, deceased, a file of "Records" in its first fifteen volumes, 1896-1910, first issued as a monthly, then latterly as a quarterly, has been presented to the library. As historical document these have become unique "since the fire," and from them immediately upon their presentation was compiled the lists of ten of the missing fourteen graduate lists, and with rich reference to them is Emma A. Wilson compiling her history of the school in its "Normal School" era. The inclusion of an "Episode Esthetique" in the commencement program, and the arrangement of an "Alumni Assembly" of the Associated Classes of January 1905—January 1912 (inclusive) following the commencement exercises—its greeting in this "Record"—(other activities of the Class of June 1908 "Twenty Years : After")—is toward that cordiality which is creative of a collegiate esprit d'corps—an active appreciation of an amiable "Alma Mater."

SATIRICAL GEMS

DEDICATION

Ergo:—The editor of this department, being in a somewhat satisfied and complacent state, wishes to dedicate this section of scintillating wit and subtle satire to: The censor (may his scissors forever be dull); to the excellent collection of Mexican athletes who hold forth in daily philosophical dissertations; to the faculty which yearly becomes more presumptuous; to our beautiful college (irony) resting so serenely amidst the unlovely bustle and turmoil of a restless metropolis (more irony); and, lastly, to the Editor-in-Chief of this annual—whom I confidently predict will be remembered longer for his choice of cravats than for his untiring efforts in producing this year book.

The editor of this section is also in a position to extend his heartiest thanks to the Collegiate Publishing Company for their unselfish cooperation and to wish the college at large an interesting Christmas and a humid New Year.

LOVE IN OLD CLOTHES

"Why so melancholy, old man?"
 "Miss Brown rejected me last night."
 "Well, brace up; there are others."
 "Yes, of course; but somehow I can't help feeling sorry for the poor girl."

"There is nothing that women cannot do as well as men."
 "Of course," assented Mr. Harrison earnestly. "But I hope, Dorothy, that none of you insist on pitching for the Colts in a close game."

Said Rockwell to Lois: "Where is my fraternity pin?"
 Said Lois to Rockwell: "I left it home, Rock. The boys complain that it scratches their hands."

THE CALENDAR

*A calendar may measure a day,
It may measure a month or a year,
But when it starts to measure a school—!!
We'll see what we have here!*

September 12—The big day! Here we are again, fire or no fire.

September 14—The "Jolly Up" goes over big but we miss those bumps in the old social hall floor.

September 26—Dempsey-Tunney fight and Charley Cunningham shows us "what the well dressed man doesn't wear" during betting season.

October 8—The Wildcats get going with the pigskin at Davis.

October 13—Pan Hellenic entertains with a tea—that great institution where for once the all-powerful male is conspicuous by his absence.

October 21—We turn out to show the town what the Wildcat will do to Modesto.

October 22—Did we show 'em—and How! Who got those thirteen points—ask Modesto.

October 22—The Student Body throws a party to celebrate and the Modesto Pirates are honor guests.

October 29—Members of the team vie with one another to see which can make the most touchdowns. Santa Rosa is noticed bashfully lingering in the background.

November 5—The bleachers collapse, Acker faints, and the old building turns over in its grave when Palmer, the darling of Oroville, kicked a goal!!!

November 10—The Wildcats growl themselves hoarse at the theatre rally and the Spartan trembles.

November 10—Pi Tau Rhos show how it's done.

November 11—Armistice Day—and Chico meets her ancient rival on the gridiron. The Wildcat gnaws at the Spartan's entrails and the game ends 19—0.

November 21—Cinches come out to cheer us up. These fond notes from the faculty are short but not sweet.

November 24—Thanksgiving day and the San Mateo game. The Bulldogs go home with the worst of a 7—0 deal.

December 2—Big theatre rally to scare the Jellow Jackets 'cause "it won't be long now."

December 3—The Big Game! The Wildcat gets stung when the Sacramento Yellow Jackets break through for a 7—0 victory. Beware, next year Scheuttner.

December 3—Hi Jinks is bigger and better than ever, regardless of the tragedy.

It's not always fair weather

December 16—Christmas Vacation. Everyone departs and Chico becomes the "deserted village" for two weeks.

January 3—Vacation's over. We all come back with Christmas presents, new resolutions and "hang-overs."

January 13—So this is Leap Year! The men are escorted to a dance, proposed to, and all the girls appear in new dresses.

January 17—Everyone waxes political. The only thing lacking is the old torchlight procession and "free-for-all." Hollenberg emerges from the fray victorious.

January 27—Ex Week ends and "it's all over now."

The Spring Semester now begins,
And so we will relate
What next befalls to those within
The realm of Chico State.

February 1—The Frosh learn what's what at the "get-together."

February 3—The frenzied scramble of the Maenads, known as Rush Season, begins.

February 12—The Wildcats Scamper not wisely but too well and beef-steak is in great demand.

February 17—The I. Q. of our sororities—and why? Delta Sigma Epsilon, 1.66; Pi Kappa Sigma, 1.65; Alpha Chi, 1.29; Delta Sigma, 1.24!!!

February 22—Carrol Bailey, otherwise known as "the answer to the Old Maid's Prayer," and the proud possessor of that "indefinable something," is declared "Sheik Par Excellence" at the Bidwell Hall Carnival.

March 2—San Jose cagers get a slap on the wrist when the Wildcats win 31—23. That handsome guard becomes the idol of the fair sex.

March 3—"Revanchi!" The cry of the Spartan and the series is split—so are numerous rotten oranges.

March 9—Student Body Dance to calm the harried nerves of basket ball fans after Chico loses to San Jose in the last minutes of play.

March 10—The Wildcat shows the Spartan where he gets off by again making a meal of the well known entrails.

March 13—There ain't no justice—we meet our Waterloo for the last time at Sacramento and San Jose wins the championship by one point. Anyway, we had lots of fun.

March 23—The Freshman Masquerade and Adonis, the heart breaker of Olympus, leaps to fame. Mythology becomes quite the rage.

April 2—The donkeys bray, the berry horns berry, the rabble shouts, the Frosh squeak—and, what have you—The Student Body Meeting.

April 5—The band leaves for parts unknown and we begin our vacation.

April 20—Our aspiring young scientists aspire to find out if there is really moss at Moss Beach.

April 28—Student Body Dance—Whata life! This social whirl is getting us down,—and, furthermore, half our budding and blooming romances were frostbitten and everyone steps out with one another's boy friends.

May 4—Tennis made a major sport! Maybe the student body will buy a new net now.

May 11—The Wildcat comments editorially on that "college student who holds himself aloof from school affairs, refuses to pay student body dues, and thrusts upon others a burden he should help to bear." Amen. "But please don't wash your dirty linen"—etc., ad infinitum. Yeah!

May 17—Election Day! The ballot box is guarded by the arm of the law. It must have been legal this time.

May 18—Nepenthe Day! Hootch, wine o' the gods—or what have you!! But the Editor of The Wildcat says it is "a noble, invigorating draft which puts the recipient on a higher plane of esthetic mobility." (Please emphasize that word "mobility.")

May 21—Norman Hansen lectures to the assembled members of the honorable order of The Sewer Club on the topic of natural laws—and revolutionizes all of our scientific theories.

May 23—The Girls' Band (our tooting co-eds) appear at the Senator. And then next day—

May 24—They leave town. No! Not run out, just stealing the Boys' Band thunder and taking a trip of their own.

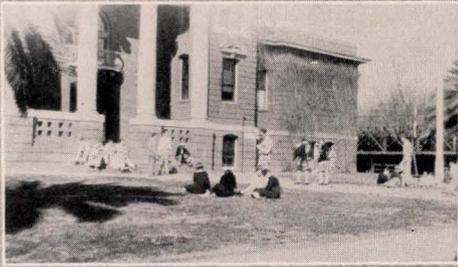

May 25—The Record Staff is honored by the Sophomore class with a dance.

May 29—Someone discovers his name got left out of the Year Book. Shh!—don't tell anyone—but there's lots in the same fix.

June 7—Graduation Day—even the best of friends must part.

June 8—Vacation is here—the "well used" (?) books go into retirement behind the piano—and America becomes the land of the free for three months.
