To Live in America Makes No Man an American; but to Serve America Makes All Men Americans

We Bid You Godspeed and Dedicate This Volume to Your Safe Return

They Also Serve

By CORIENE PFAEFFLE

"It can't happen here" . . . It HAS happened here! Now, we the students of today, must be prepared to face the worst. We must be prepared to face disaster when and if it strikes. In the event of disaster all Red Cross activities will center in George Washington High School for this area. Symbolizing the important part the school will play in the darker, as well as the brighter hours, of community life, is a sign at the central entrance:

RICHMOND-SEA CLIFF UNIT
DISASTER RELIEF COMMISSION

But the sign alone does not tell the story. Behind the sign are the faculty, the parent teachers' organization and numerous other groups, who, for the present time, are walking behind the banner of the American Red Cross. The call to duty is answered in many ways. Typical of this is the sign on the door of our principal's home, "Air Raid Warden."

Among the services offered at the Sea Cliff Relief Center are rescue, first aid, surgery and medical care, relief, and child care. This relief center is manned by doctors, nurses, social-workers, teachers, and by your neighbors and friends. Among them is one Heavy Rescue Squad, using a rescue truck, manned by a dozen or more well trained men. On each alert signal at least six of these squadsmen respond to each district headquarters. During alerts the rescue truck, conveniently quartered nearby, is always brought to headquarters.

Rescue has also five Light Rescue Squads of at least six men each, equipped with hand tools, axes, shovels, crowbars, handjacks, rope, stretchers, and blankets. The auxiliary ambulance crews take patients to emergency hospitals. There are two First Aid Station Teams, each consisting of at least twenty women trained in advanced First Aid. Only when hospitals can no longer handle the situation will the Disaster Relief Station's medical service be used, in which event the Medical Aid Committee consisting of a large corps of volunteer doctors and registered nurses, well supplied with equipment, surgical dressing, instruments, and so forth, will care for you.

Although disaster may strike it also may leave many people unharmed physically but in need of help. If so, a social service work staff of professional workers and assistants will provide you with clothing, shelter, food and blankets, or any other emergency relief you may be in need of. A Missing Persons Bureau is provided for persons who become separated from their families. Area couriers (ROTC boys) assist in getting information concerning the safety and health of residents of your district for the Welfare Inquiry Department.

Professional and needed lay groups, organizations, schools, and P.T.A.'s in the district have cooperated to make these units real communal responsibility.

We all know that there is one army which has never admitted defeat. It has been on every battlefield in the world. It is the American Red Cross. They Also Serve.

A Word With You, Mr. Cummings:

Mr. Cummings, it's getting near the end of our three years at Washington and before we leave I just wish to tell you how we feel. All of us have had the opportunity to come in contact with you through the years and have grown to like and respect you.

Many happy days have been ours at Washington, and now we all go forward to repay our country for those happy times; to do something that will make secure similar days for the future. Just as you, Mr. Cummings, joined twenty-five years ago, many of us will go into the armed forces today, some to face the grim realities of war and return as men; some will not come back.

Others will go into factories and offices to do war work—not in defense, but in offense industries. Although we leave George Washington with some reluctance, we go forth eagerly, glad that we may do our part.

Determination is in our hearts so that when we sing, "O say can you see by the dawn's early light, what so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?," it shall never again be with doubt or fear—but shall always be as a cry of new hope!

We graduates of Spring 1942, the second class to graduate during war-times, say not "good-bye" to our teachers and school, but just "until we meet again."

Student Body in Stride With Era

By JACQUELINE THOMPSON

The Student Body of George Washington has been devoting itself to the serious business of aiding in the national emergency during the school term just closed.

Students were found eager to serve in any capacity, to aid as Auxiliary firemen, in the Red Cross disaster relief units, and in the sale of war bonds, a field in which the school led all high schools in the city.

Symbolizing the youth of San Francisco on the birthday of Colonel Andrew Summers Rowan, Student Body President Jack O'Brien, Vice-President Lois Currie, and a color guard from the R.O.T.C., went to the Letterman General Hospital to visit him. Colonel Rowan was the man who carried single-handed a vital message to the rebel Colonel Calixito Garcia in the Cuban jungles during the Spanish-American War.

To start the social activities of the term rolling, the traditional Senior-Soph Reception was held in the girls' gym, and served to acquaint the low sophs with the high seniors.

During the basketball season bigger and better game rallies were held, with President Jack O'Brien officiating. The social activities were very ably taken care of by Vice-President Lois Currie.

One of the big events of the term was the May Fete, held on April 30, and was very successful.

The Senior Advisory Committee under the direction of Barbara Schlegel and Edward Smith was very active during the term.

The last dance of the term was given by the G.S.S. and Eagle Society.

President Jack O'Brien, with his smiling Irish personality, and vivacious Vice-President Lois Currie led the Student Body to greater heights. Hard-working Alice Penna, secretary, took care of the Executive Council minutes, and Treasurer Nat Garibaldi who so ably conducted the sale of Student Body cards, Dick Behrens, custodian, who kept our many trophies in their sparkling condition, and Athletic Manager Ted Harris who so successfully handled the sale of game tickets. Our school spirit was boosted by Head Yell Leader Girard Rhine.

Altogether this term has been one of the most successful at George Washington and will always be remembered by the students.

The December

We Leave George Washington

By BARBARA SCHLEGEL

Here ends the picture and word story of the seniors in George Washington High School for the year 1942. The high seniors will receive their diplomas, ending their school careers here, a few June days after this book is delivered to the students. The low seniors will enjoy the added pleasure of another term of strenuous work and play at the school before they are called up to receive diplomas in January, 1943.

When Mr. Cummings, our efficient principal, bestows the final diploma on the last high senior at War Memorial Opera House, Wednesday evening, June 17, and we go our separate ways, we do not terminate our association with George Washington High School. I do not mean that we shall begin living in the past or making perennial nuisance visits to the patient teachers who have shepherded us through three years of high school. Many of us may never enter the school again. Still it will remain as much a part of our lives and our future as though we were in the classroom. That is as it should be. We all remain a part of George Washington High School.

On the lighter side we wish to leave to the attendance office an assortment of varied, original and unique excuses for cutting, to be used by others who might get caught—(as we did!)

To the cafeteria we leave many unpaid I.O.U.'s for 1 cent that was made possible by the 6c cost of hot dogs.

To the library we leave our hushed and much-covered-up whispers.

Phillip Markinson leaves footsteps for three others to follow.

The Harris twins leave the Hindleys to keep the teachers confused.

Bob Amore leaves—at last!

Charles Loesch leaves the campus speed limit for someone else to observe.

Jackie Thompson leaves an empty seat on the 10th Avenue bus.

Jean Lasher leaves her red hair, if it hadn't left her. If Stanley Narin leaves anything, it will be because he forgot it.

1942 Graduates

But It Remains With Us

Albert Kipnis leaves his mustache to any sophomore who wants to be manly.

Barbara Beck, Eloise Wright and Mary Parker leave their lovely red locks to junior girls unsuccessful with henna.

Jack Voegtly leaves in his supercharged tomato can.
Ed Slade leaves by request, so he refuses to leave anything.

Marilyn Coleman leaves her natural platinum curls to those who have to spend money on peroxide.

Eunice Wirthinger leaves her wad of gum under the desks.

Bill O'Leary leaves with a sprained ankle from winking at the sophomore girls.

George Dulik leaves his excuses in the office to be bound and published as short stories.

George Schaffer leaves without an argument.

Dick Behrens leaves for—well, you've heard the story of greener pastures.

Don Spier leaves his brilliant ideas to anyone who can make them work.

Arnold Taddeucci leaves everything to the last.

The "Hollywood Boys," Ken Ford, Ray Wertheimer.

Paul Wall and Ken Litz, leave their mania for long bobs to anyone who is willing to spend as much time in front of the mirror combing theirs.

Gordon Diard and Al Malouf leave only a part of the ceiling in the chemistry lab.

Dorothy Burrell leaves and bequeaths her "blush" to some innocent junior.

Ralph Meyer leaves in a cloud of dust.

Norman Stone leaves everything in an upheaval.

Robert Jakob leaves the halls for someone else to haunt.

Larry Deutsch leaves his yen for passing girls into the show free of charge to his successor.

Ross Guidice leaves, but will probably be back.

Norma Davidson leaves without delay.

Bob Hansen leaves before they change their minds.

Faye Strugnell leaves in Jack O'Brien's car.

Lorraine LaCava leaves the chem crocks—full of gum.

Thomas O'Brien leaves in the nick of time.

Barbara Schlegel leaves—no, by golly, she's going to take it with her!

ACTIVITIES

By LIEUT. EDWARD BLAIR

George Washington students looked at the R.O.T.C. here as a source of high pride and satisfaction to the entire Student Body during the Spring term of the war year 1942. The students did not have to look far for evidences of major successes in two different fields of military endeavor.

The winning of the coveted second prize in the National Rifle Championship matches in competition with units throughout the United States brought joy to every man in the organization. The victory reflected the training of Sergeant Ferdinand Feliciano, in charge of the Washington Battalion, himself an expert rifleman for many years.

Appointment of Colonel Robert Jakob as regimental commander of the R.O.T.C. cadets in this area was in itself a highlight of this term's activities.

The R.O.T.C. Rifle Team is basking in glory this spring after breaking all previous records in the Ninth Corps Area, and winning over all high schools in nine western states. After this triumph the team placed second in the entire nation, and broke records as being the school to win both the Ninth Corps Championship and place so high in the National standings. Cadet Lt. Col. Louis North, commander of the George Washington Battalion, heads the list of "hot-shots" after being awarded a fine gold watch as the highest individual marksman in the San Francisco high schools. Following by only one point Albert Malouf is next in line, with Bill Childers, Gail Mountford, James Harvill, Ed Blair, David Haskell, Robert Kincaid, Albert Kipnis, Myran Close, Alan Regan, Ed Hoffman, Al Tuckey, Bill Van Steenburg, and Donald McDermott completing the championship team. Cadet Kincaid is now a member of the tank corps in the regular army.

The Hearst Trophy Match was fired by the first five members of the team and third place medals were presented to these highest marksmen.

Actual award of the Hearst Trophy occurred on a day long to be remembered by the Cadets at Washington High. The sun shone down on the North Court upon the entire battalion and the members of the rifle team lined up before Principal Cummings who presented engraved medals to Louis North, Albert Malouf, James Harvill, Gail Mountford, and William Childers.

Mr. John Stalker, representative of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin, presented the trophy to Louis North, captain of the rifle team, who received it for the R.O.T.C. and student body. The plaque was engraved as follows: William Randolph Hearst National R.O.T.C. Rifle Match—Won by: George Washington Team No. 1, San Francisco, Calif., High Schools—9th Corps Area—Third Place 1942. The plaque was also engraved with the names of the members of the team. It will hang in the trophy case of the school, a reminder to future generations of marksmen that they must aim high if they are to maintain the standard set by the present generation.

More important than the Hearst Trophy award was the National R.O.T.C. High School Championships in which Washington won second place. Out of all the high schools of the entire United States and its territories, the Washington Rifle Team took second place, an achievement attained only once before in the Ninth Corps Area.

On June 10, in the Kezar Stadium, Superintendent of Schools Joseph P. Nourse presented to the members of the rifle team all the medals and trophies won by them during the term. This ceremony, one of the largest held this year by the cadets of the R.O.T.C., was the official ending of a very successful year of training for the future soldiers of the United States.

All the credit for building up this championship rifle team and coaching them to victories goes to Sergeant Feliciano who instructed the marksmen in all the four stages of rifle firing—prone, sitting, kneeling, and standing, or off-hand positions.

At a banquet given for the members of the rifle team by Major Rudolph Scholz, in charge of this regiment of R.O.T.C. cadets and instructors, Corps Area championship medals were pinned on the riflemen. A cup, engraved with the names of the members of the rifle team, was presented to Sergeant Feliciano by the team in appreciation of his leadership, without which no trophies could have been won.

Instruction in marksmanship was given to one-hundred Army Nurses and an additional hundred members of the Women's Auxiliary Ambulance Corps by the R.O.T.C. rifle team, in accordance with National Defense requirements.

Jakob received the official flag of the city from Mayor Angelo J. Rossi, in honor of the Washington Cadets and the championship rifle team. Lieut. Col. Thomas G. Bond, P.M.S.&T., arranged the ceremony. Three other downtown parades have been held this term, two of which have been held on Sunday holidays.

Air-raid duty was the first war-time innovation for all cadets. The need for the rapid clearance of the building of home-going students and the direction of those staying was answered by the members of the Washington Battalion as posts were assigned and non-commissioned officers placed in charge. These cadets were given special buff cards to enable them to reach their posts before the main body of students were in the halls.

The outside traffic squad, this term, has been especially good and under the direction of First Sergeant Ford it has kept a clean record of no traffic accidents.

Another added duty for the R.O.T.C. has been the sugar rationing detail during the week that the population of San Francisco registered at the various schools throughout the city. Cadets were assigned posts as extra duty before and after school. This project was carried off very well by the cadets concerned and they were congratulated on their splendid service.

The annual Federal Inspection was held this year on the 14th day of May. Lieutenant-Colonel Malone watched the Washington High School Battalion perform through a three-hour parade, field inspection, and theory class and commented on the excellence of their training. Lt. Col. Malone stated that he was surprised to see a high school R.O.T.C. drill like cadets from a military academy.

On the 85th birthday of Colonel Andrew Summers Rowan, who carried the famed message to Garcia at the start of the Spanish-American War, a color guard and other school representatives called at Letterman General Hospital at the Presidio to pay tribute to him.

Sergeant Feliciano received tentative orders to report to Salt Lake City for a period of two and a half months. It is not yet known whether he will be ordered to return to Washington High School next semester but all the cadets who will be here in the future are hoping for the best.

As this term ends and another class graduates, Mr. E. J. Cummings, principal, expresses that in his opinion in this school the R.O.T.C. has lived up to its motto, "Oro en Paz, Fierro en Guerra," "Gold in Peace, Iron in War."

Eagles Flying High

By ALAN TIMMONS

The Eagles are flying high again. After a stormy flight in the Fall 1941 term the boys took advantage of the excellent weather during the spring term to go places and get things done.

Based on a broader field for selection of membership, the reorganized Boys' Eagle Society under the sponsorship of Mr. George M. Klingner began the spring term with a somewhat new policy of electing members to the organization. Under the new policy diversified activities are represented—ranging from the many boys' sports to ranking officers of the R.O.T.C.

First organized on October 13, 1936, the society has played a large part in school activities. Their official insignia is a cap of alternate scarlet and gray sections, which may be seen at all school activities as the boys follow their duties of maintaining order at school rallies, on the school premises and being at the service of all faculty members at any time. It is their duty also to protect the school banner and the school colors.

Membership in the organization consists of two general divisions. Ex-officio membership (those who are in the society because of the school office or position they hold) and the elected membership (six boys from the athletic department).

The ex-officio members include student body officers, the highest ranking boy officer, usually president, in each class, and the six highest ranking officers of the R.O.T.C. The radio announcer and the two highest ranking boys in the school publications, the Eagle and the Surveyor, are eligible to membership.

Always living up to their constitution, the members of the new society are ever ready to help the student body in any way they may, following their grand tradition of the past in service.

Bob Durnal is the president; Bill Rose, vice-president; Nat Garibaldi, secretary-treasurer.

Girls' Service Society

By BEVERLY DORAN

The dictionary defines the word service as the performing of duties to benefit. Such a simple definition is used to cover all the activities of the Girls' Service Society. Such is the main basic principle on which the society was founded. The services are not always those of importance but are the type essential to the smooth running of the functions of everyday school life—duties such as keeping order in the halls, at rallies, keeping the school grounds clean and lending any other possible service to our school.

The term was opened by the traditional initiation ceremonies. This was held at Sigmund Stern Grove and consisted of a general initiation of the girls, a good dinner, and the formal initiation.

Jeanne Wallace, as president, led the society this term and proved herself a very capable leader. She was ably assisted by Barbara Schlegel and Pat Bradley as vice president and secretary, respectively.

The girls of this society are chosen on the basis of meritorious service to the school, high scholastic records, good citizenship and the approval of the faculty. It is the ambition of every girl in Washington from sophomore to senior to become a member of this society. Means of accomplishing such an end are through the channels of service.

With Miss Eleanor Jackson, dean of girls here at Washington, the society has had a highly successful term. An alumnae tea and the annual dance co-sponsored by the G.S.S. and the Eagle Society are just two of the highlights of this term.

It is unfortunate that so many fine girls are graduating this term. The following members are graduating: Sheva Braunstein, Fay Brierley, Beverly Doran, Charlotte Helmick, Alice Penna, Marie Robert, Alice Sargent, Barbara Schlegel, Jacqueline Thompson, and Jeanne Wallace.

However, with the election of the new members before the end of this term, the society will continue to perform all possible service to the school in the succeeding years.

The Eagle and Surveyor

By ALICE SARGENT

Always with the belief that their job was to present accurately to the school and the surrounding community a true picture of the activities of the student body, the Eagle, school newspaper, this term endeavored to broaden its coverage of the news and reach every group in the school.

The second issue of the term was an eight-page one and proved so popular that over three-fourths of the students bought copies resulting in a complete sell-out.

The editor for the term was capable Alan Timmons. As news editor, Ed Blair, who dabbled in humor on the side, found himself doing everything from reading proof to sharpening pencils. As the business manager there was Gladys Wenger, while the advertising manager was Barbara Weikel, and Jean Lasher, circulation manager. Bill Rose was sports editor and Marilyn Coleman was girls' sports editor. Feature editor and author of the popular chatter column of fashions, Suzie Subdeb, was Pat Bourne. In charge of the streamlined humor page was skillful Beverly Doran.

The Eagle staff wishes to acknowledge assistance given during the Fall Term by Mr. Onni Wilson, faculty advisor. A coveted first place award was won by The Eagle in a national contest in which the judges were Miss Catherine McKenzie of the New York Times and Bruce Barton, famous advertising copy writer. A second award came from the Eighteenth Annual Contest conducted by the Columbia University.

Chief of publications was Alice Sargent, who was to supervise the Eagle and the Surveyor. The editors of both publications were responsible to her.

With the theme of "Blackout" for this Surveyor, the staff found plenty of inspiration from the actual blackouts and air raid alerts which occurred throughout the term and from the defense activities of various clubs and groups in the school.

The first Surveyor, published in December, 1937, gave thanks to the following teachers for their aid in compiling the book: "To Miss Marie Kirwin, our senior advisor, for her patience and untiring efforts"; "Mere words cannot express the gratitude of the staff for the valuable work done by Miss Eleanor Parsons in finances and circulation"; "The salesmanship and advertising classes, under the direction of Mr. Rufus Balaam"; "Miss Haidee Tobriner is to be thanked for her kind cooperation." Just as five years ago these teachers gave their time and assistance, so they have again. In addition there was the work of Mr. Rufus Balaam's and Mr. Thomas Gates' salesmanship classes and Mr. Walter Mills' photography. Photo editor was Phil Kemp and assistant editor was Ed Hoffman.

Guiding both publications was the sponsor, Mr. George Mullany. The editors wish to extend thanks to him and to Mr. Howard Watson of the Lexicon Press and Mr. Joseph Reily of the Graphic Arts Engraving Co.

Heading the staff was the industrious editor Alice Penna, assisted by the art editor Borden Rosenbaum and graduate editor Barbara Schlegel. On the business side as manager was Bessie Snead, who assisted in all departments. Advertising manager was Burton Edelstein and the sales class ad representative was Dorian Goldman. As boys' sports editor was athletic Bill Rose and covering girls' sports was Faye Pasch. Organization editor was Jean Maples and arts editor, Don Siegel.

The Surveyor staff bows to Mr. Walter Mills, shown in the next picture while he was making class photos for the publication. On the right-hand page is shown the circulation staff of the Surveyor. The faces shown are those of the girls Barbara Henshaw, Eleanor Stein, and Pat Monahan. The men with handsome heads are Paul Wall, Paul Kadden, Dick Behrens. CALIFORNIA SCHOLARSHIP FEDERATION

Scholarship High at Washington

By JEAN MAPLES

Membership in the California Scholarship Federation is an honor accorded to the school's brightest minds. They must have ten points on their report cards, and may have nothing below B. Three points are allowed for an A; one for a B. Those who maintain this high standard for four terms, one term in the senior year, become life members.

Under the leadership of its sponsors, Miss E. Parsons, and Miss Bilafer, the CSF carries on many activities, including the coaching service. The federation greatly serves George Washington High School by supplying coaches to assist other pupils in their lessons. This has been proven a very satisfactory method of helping students.

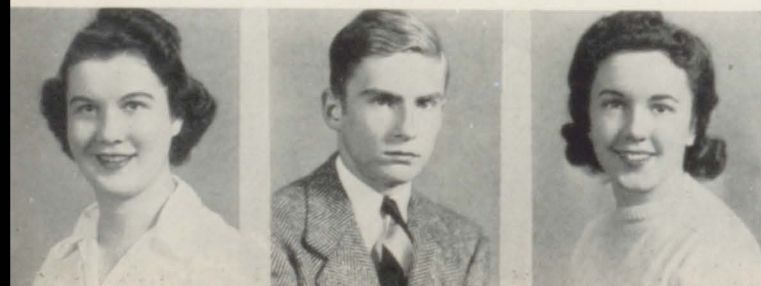

From the CSF also come many members of the Program Committee, headed by Mr. Bruce Bartholomew. These students assist in making out programs.

This semester's installation of new members was highlighted by a talk by Mr. H. Raphael on his trip to Mexico. At that time he had just returned from sabbatical leave.

The officers are: Jeanne Wallace, president; Robert Jakob, vice president; and Charlotte Helmick, secretary. These are the students who lead the CSF in its work.

New life members of the CSF for this term were Barbara Schlegel, Marie Robert, Russell Posner, and Paul Kadden.

Each term the group participates in a convention, which is attended by many other high schools. This time it was held at the Sequoia Union High School at Redwood City. In addition to discussions, including one led by Jeanne Wallace on the subject, "What the Next Peace Will Include," there were refreshments, swimming, and dancing. There was a similar convention at Balboa High School in this city.

A flaming torch is the symbol of the federation, illustrating its unending efforts to extend knowledge and culture wherever possible. Its aim is to keep aglow the precious light of intelligence and education, the only means by which we can know the truth and so be free.

Another of the federation's emblems is the Roman torch, which is the particular sign of the life members.

In times such as these, even more than in normal days, the CSF becomes one of our most valuable organizations; for it is only through the efforts of such groups as this one that we are able to sustain the nation's standard of education and learning during a period when so much time is devoted to other things.

Drama and Music

By DON SIEGEL

The cast was as follows: Cavendish, Jack Voegtley; Miss Groze, Barbara Schlegel; Mrs. Wragg, Nannette Hieman; Jimmy North, Arnold Kohn; Beatrice, He'ena Mitchell; Mrs. Arthur, Eleanor Redell; Jasper, Merton Bercowits; Mullins, Alec Ross; and The Woman, Dolores Corlin. Miss Helen Archer was the coach of the cast. The highest of credit is due to her for creating these performances.

Notable was the formation of a club within the dramatic group called Mike-Masquers.
The club was organized to handle all radio performances that need a compact group with a wide voice range. The first officers of the club were: President, Don Siegel; vice-president, Helena Mitchell; secretary-treasurer, Dolores Corlin.

The creation of music in Washington falls into two groups, vocal and instrumental.

Music lovers here were extremely conscious of the absence of Mrs. Myrtle Swanson during the Spring term but are pleased to know she will return next fall. Meanwhile, this term's classes were under the direction of Miss Natalie Zisser.

Paramount in this year's histrionic activities at Washington was the presentation of the pageant, "This is My Land," a radio musical story of San Francisco, before the annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators last February.

One of the most successful of the undertakings of the Senior Class of June 1942 was the annual Senior Play, "A Murder Has Been Arranged," held on May 29. Done in three acts, it concerned the efforts of one Maurice Mullins to do away with and so come into the fortune of Sir Charles Jasper, washing powder magnate.

Six Out of Nine

By BILL ROSE

Coach Lloyd Leith's quintet finished the season with a fine average of six out of nine starts. This, however, is the lowest percentage that the Eagles have had in the past four years. The last two years the team has finished first but close games and bad luck finally overtook the Eagle squad.

Phil Harris and Bob Durnal copped the All-City honors for Washington. Harris was All-City and Durnal second string. These boys were supplemented by Ed Smith, Ken Diercks, and Bob England on the first team and Cliff Gerstner, Bill Rose, Al Reyff, Morrie Flynn, Jack Connell and Ed Schneider rounded out the squad. Reyff is the only boy returning next season.

Harris was high point man with 50 points followed by Gerstner. High one game total for the Eagles was 12 points held jointly by Gerstner and Rose, both 6 feet 3 inches.

Washington beat Lowell for the third consecutive year and has finished in the first division in every season that it has been in the A.A.A. This record is a reflection of Mr. Leith's fine coaching. On the above-mentioned squad not one boy played as a regular the season before.

The Hilltoppers opened the season by licking Lincoln in a fast game. Gerstner got his 12 in this fracas. Next came the tall Lions from Galileo. They also met the Eagles' wrath and dropped the game 12 to 31.

The next game was with Sacred Heart. The encounter was marked by a six-minute stall. The Eagles lost this game 12 to 11. Washington bounced back into the win column with a great victory over the long-shooting Bucs of Balboa. Billy Rose threw in 12 points and Bob Durnal played an exceptional game with 8 markers.

Commerce and Mission fell before Washington's victory onslaught before the Eagles were stopped by St. Ignatius 23 to 20 in a riotous game. Harris chalked up ten. Bad sportsmanship on the part of the Wildcats played an important part in the victory.

Lowell Indians played a rough game but were unable to beat our valiant five. Washington traded blow for blow and won by two points. Harris came through with another ten points. Bob England played a swell game and Ed Smith held the team together by his floor-play. Poly came next and they were forced to play overtime before they could overcome the fighting Eagles. Phil Harris and little Bob England both tanked ten points and almost turned the tide for the Eagles. Al Conti threw in four quick markers to tie up the game and then the Parrots piled up the points in the overtime to win 32 to 24. It might be noted that Ken Diercks was the only player to start every game for Washington, practice games included. Ken has been an inspiration to the team and his fight, hustle, and courage led the team to a fine season. He, by the way, finished second in a free-throwing contest held at the Civic Auditorium. He tanked seven for ten charity tosses.

Champions All

By BILL ROSE

Led by Ross Giudice and Harry Myers, All-City men, Washington's 130-lb basketball team tied for the championship of the A.A.A. with Poly. In past years Washington has finished second, no better, no worse, and this season is the highest that they have ever been.

With Giudice's exceptional play as a spearhead the Eagles captured seven straight games and were destined to finish undefeated but ill-luck overtook our boys on the hardwoods and we lost to both Lowell and Poly in the last games of the season. They were the highest scoring outfit in the league, however, with George Vogiatzis, Pete Constantine and Richie Franks filling out the quintet. Tom Elliott played guard and forward in reserve and his services were invaluable.

Giudice, Vogiatzis and Elliott have played their last basketball for Washington and the rest of the team will be trying for varsity berths next winter. Adolph Bacigalupi, Bill Winter, Lou Dito, Jim Theodorellis and Lloyd Hughes were also on the squad. Of these boys, only Winter and diminutive Bacigalupi will be gone. High one game total was by Harry Myers, who tanked 18 points against Lincoln. This was high for the A.A.A. season.

Forward—Richard Franks is a lanky rebounding player with a fine eye for the long ones.

Forward—Here we have the push-shot artist of the squad and victor over Mr. Leith in shooting contests, George Vogiatzis.

Center—Handsome Harry Myers, the team's high scorer is a good rebound artist and a clever shot.

Guard—Pete Constantine shines when the going is tough. He came through with a second team All-City.

Guard—The best player in the city, the "Loop's" fanciest dribbler and its best shot, Ross Giudice.

Substitute—Tom Elliott's name could not left out of the story. He filled in at any position and he threw in many points at crucial times.

Eagles Defeat Lowell

A 5 to 4 victory over the Lowell Indian was the only bright spot in this season's play for the Eagle baseball team. They lost 7 encounters and won but the one mentioned. Mr. Hunter, however, turned out a good hustling team and deserves a great deal of credit.

Two of the losses were by one run and the others were a little larger. Those who played the most were Bob Smith, Ganem, Bacigalupi, Homsey, Dito, Ordiquehandy, Kaplan, Maganaris, Keropian, Duffy, and Anker. Kaplan led the team in batting with an average well in excess of .400. Dito, Ganem, and "Mike" Keropian had five averages in the three hundreds.

On the mound for Washington was either Felix Ordiquehandy or little Lou Dito. Both boys had a lot of stuff and both will return for another season. Ordiquehandy and Dito were supplemented by Anker and Frank McCauley. Frank also played third base and he sometimes caught.

Our victory over Lowell was the second consecutive one and both times it was the Eagles' lone win of the season. This shows that Washington can rise to heights on certain occasions.

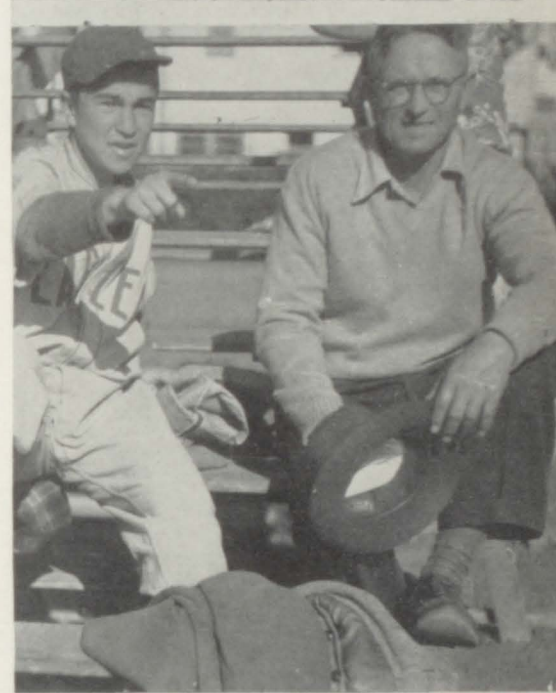

A veteran team will be fielded next season by Mr. Hunter as only Maganaris, Bacigalupi and Frank McCauley are graduating.

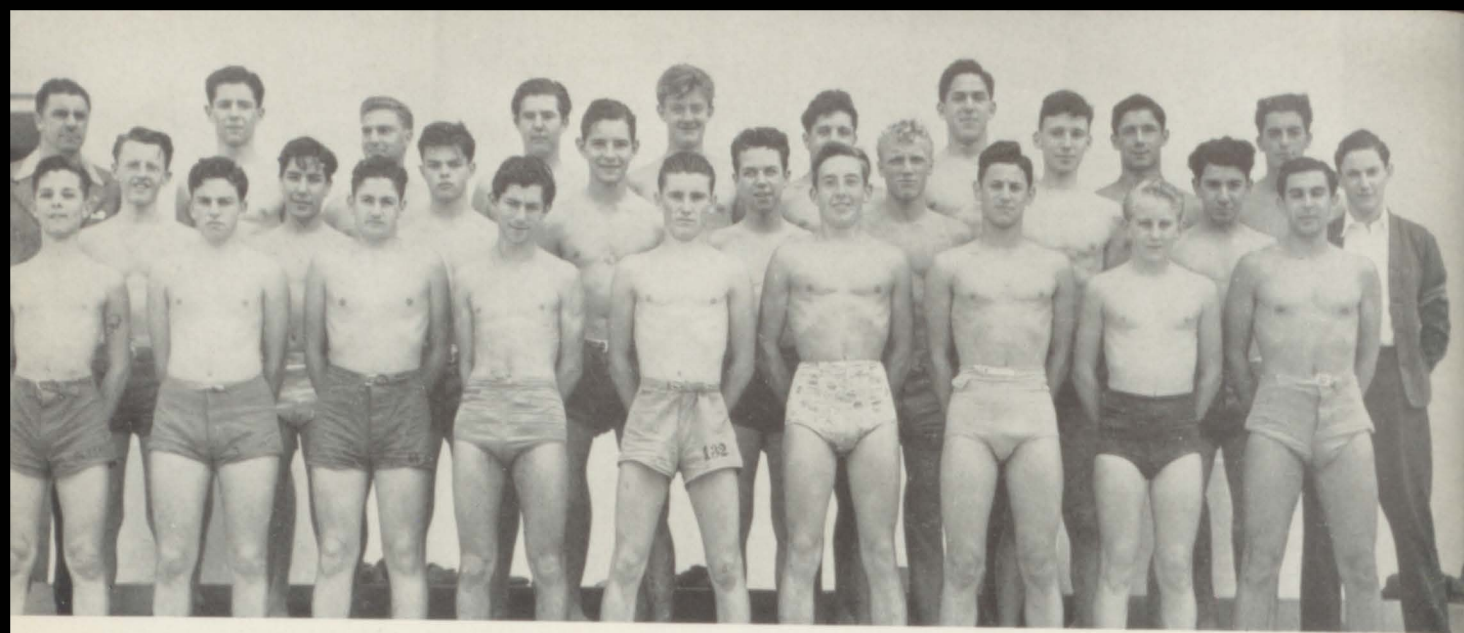

Despite the enthusiasm displayed by both the baseball squad and the Coach one wonders in watching a high school game whether or not interest in the great national pastime is on the decline. The St. Ignatius-Washington game offered a fair opportunity for reflection. A seven inning game played as far away from both schools as it is possible to go without crossing county lines—a playground located near the Bethlehem Ship-building Yards in the Potrero District, the game attracted a group of local residents; many who were not members of the alumni of either school. The entire bleacher section did not total more than 100 persons and the rooting section did not reveal any of the fine spirit that comes to the surface when either school turns out in force at a football game.

Swimming and Tennis

SWIMMING

Finishing third in both the Varsity and the Lightweight Division, Washington again secured a place in the All-City swimming meet. Coach Lloyd Leith said in praise of the boys, "They did the best I've ever seen any Washingtonians do."

In the 120 lb. class, the Medley Relay, composed of Nicolas Ivanoff, Stacy Mettier and Jack Holland (who also won third place in the 50 yard free style) came through to finish third.

Wallace Hillstrom (also placed fourth in the 50 yard free style), Richard Levin, Al Stoff and Nicolas Ivanoff added a few more points to our score when they finished second in the Freestyle Relay. Mettier also finished third in the 50 yard Breast Stroke.

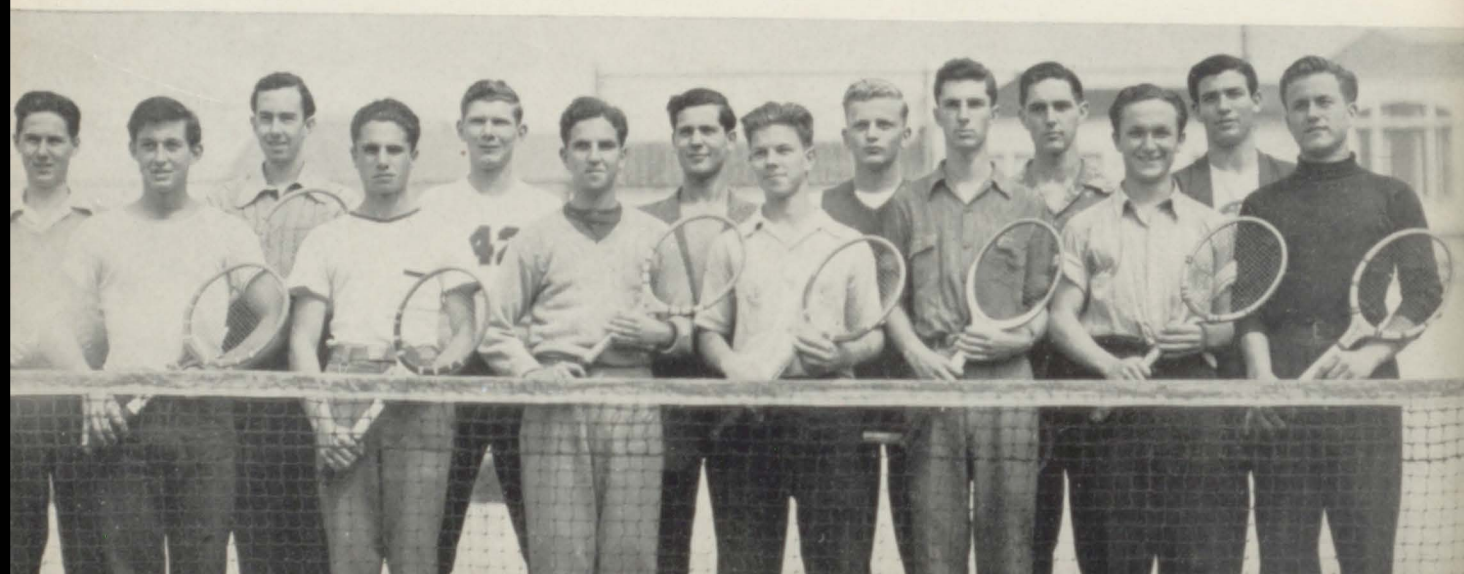

The Varsity had such outstanding swimmers as George Elwell, John Pruett, who finished fifth in the 50 yard Free Style, George Bodaracco, and Corsta Afarasief, who, when teamed together, finished third in the Free Style Relay.

TENNIS

Dick Grenfell and Ted Harris both went into the quarter finals only to meet defeat at the hands of two of the top seeded players in the big tennis championship. These were the only points the Washington players gained in the swatfest. Grenfell lost to Jack Chichester of Lowell 6 to 3, 6 to 4. Chichester was the top seeded player in the meet and Dick put up a grand battle. Harris lost to Bill Beale of Lowell, 6 to 1, 6 to 0.

FRED VENKER GOES OVER THE TOP

Cindermen Score High

Dick Behrens and Jim Billings paired for Washington's top tennis doubles team although they were unable to place in the tourney. This year's turnout was the biggest in the school's history and most of the players will be back for a second season under the fine coaching of Mr. A. J. Fagin, head gym instructor.

TRACK

Washington's cindermen in the lightweight division finished the highest in the history of the school last spring when they battled their way to the third spot in the standings. Coach Saul Madfes' initial season with the tracksters brought success and a higher goal is looked for next season.

Fred Venker, for the second season in a row, took the only points for the Eagles in varsity competition although Vas Arnautoff finished fifth in the 880 yd. run.

Dick Fraenkel sped to a victory in the 100 yard dash in the exceptional time of 10.3. Other firsts were Laurent Soules, with a 20 ft. 3¾ in. broad jump, and George Kapkin in the high jump. Other point winners were George Mirando, Harland Hoffman, John Trautman, Charles Turn and two relay teams composed of Dapkin, Dick Mallett, Dick Harris, and Fraenkel, and on the other Hoffman, Mirande, Minenna and Soules.

The lightweights scored 24½ points and were close on the heels of Commerce with 29 points and Balboa with 32½ markers.

DICK FRAENKEL WARMING UP

Time Out for Fun

The second photo is of the basketball banquet. Phil Harris is giving the lowdown to the highups at the speakers' table. Harris gave Mr. Leith a fine pen and pencil set from the team as a token of remembrance. Left to right are Harris, Mr. Madfes, Ken Diercks, Robert Durnal, Mr. Leith, Ross Guidice, Ted Harris (manager), and Mr. Klingner. Mr. Klingner, Mr. Leith, Mr. Hunter, and Mr. Madfes were the speakers at the dinner.

The next snapshot was a quickie of some of the other boys at the banquet in the midst of Morrie Flynn's joke. It must have been very funny for glance at Bill Rose and Pete Constantine giving it a hearty laugh. Left to right, are Bill Rose, Jim Theodorellis, Peter Constantine, Richie Franks, Al Reyff, "Gipper" Connell, Bill Winter's hair, Ed Schmeider, Morrie Flynn and Bob England.

The coaches here at Washington are portrayed in the lower picture. Mr. Hunter, on the left, coaches baseball in the spring and soccer in the fall. Mr. Leith is busy with basketball in the spring and fall and swimming follows. Mr. Madfes has two sports also, football and track. To the right is Mr. Fagin, the head of the boys' gym department. He coaches tennis in the spring.

Girls' Athletics

By FAYE PASCH

The increasing popularity of the feminine sports program at George Washington is reflected in the heavy sign-up made after a Girls' Athletic Association rally in the gymnasium on March 2. Girls attending George Washington were given their choice of seven sports: riding, softball, badminton, ice skating, golf, volleyball, and bowling were offered as G.A.A. sports of the Spring term.

The sponsor of the G.A.A. for the past term was Miss Margaret Poole. Elected officers were Florence Lindsey, president; Lucille De Lu, vice-president; Phyllis Frates, secretary; Jane Grigorieff, historian; Pat Bradley, head yell leader; and Helene Horwich and Isabel Katchian, assistant yell leaders. These officers and the managers of the various sports comprised the G.A.A. Board which met at 7:45 o'clock bi-weekly on Tuesday mornings to decide on the sports program.

The Block W, society for girls who have been members of the Association for at least four terms, was influential in promoting the different playdays that were held with other schools. Various badminton and volleyball playdays were held on May 13, 18, 19 and 21 with Lincoln, Lowell, Mission, Commerce, Balboa, Presidio Junior High School, and San Francisco Junior College. On June 1 the candidates' rally was held and June 4 marked the final G.A.A. social event of the term, usually a tea or a dinner.

The sports schedule for Spring '42 claimed Monday afternoons for horseback riding, under the sponsorship of Miss Margaret Poole, beginning badminton sponsored by Miss Dorothea Forcade, and bowling under the supervision of Mrs. Lillian Clayton. On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Margaret Denny sponsored a class in intermediate badminton, Miss Poole supervised advanced riding, and Miss Forcade sponsored a group in bowling. Mrs. Clayton sponsored softball on Wednesdays, and Miss Florence Shearer supervised a group of girls in advanced badminton. Ice skating with Miss Poole as sponsor was also held on Wednesday. Thursday was the last day for sports, and both golf with Miss Poole and volleyball with Miss Shearer as sponsor were held. Thus was the G.A.A. week for Spring '42 observed.

Girls' Athletic Association

From the sophomores to the seniors, the Girls' Athletic Association is as popular as outdoors with girls of high school standing. Starting from the moment they enter these portals of learning, the new Washingtonians find themselves in a whirl of activities for the duration. To round up the program all types of athletics are offered, from horseback riding to badminton. These sports afford healthful recreation and lots of fun.

Each term new sports are offered and all the favorites are represented. During the three years at George Washington girls may take as many as six different sports. At the conclusion of four active terms in the G.A.A. they may become members of the Block W, one of the most popular societies at Washington. Before becoming a member the girls must fulfill the grade requirement that call for a "C" average to win an award at the end of each term.

The president of the Block W is Sheva Braunstein, who besides her other activities, edits the "Block W Banter," which is a newspaper concerning sports news of the term. Alice Sargent, because of her experience as a newspaper woman, is advisor for the publication.

To participate in the sports offered at Washington, to receive the awards offered, and to become a member of its honorary society are three achievements which every girl at Washington hopes to someday attain.

Introducing the Junior Class

With the intriguing title of "Old Hats" the Junior Day show staged April 17 in the school auditorium proved to be one of the most entertaining rallies of the whole school term. Co-masters of the ceremonies were Bob Smith, high junior president, and Bill Van Steenburgh, acting low junior president, who wore a concoction of a hot water bottle decorated with a fruit orchard.

Leading the class in its activities was Bob Smith assisted by the vice-president Nick Udalloff and secretary Janice Hindley. Serving on the Executive Council were Jo Anne Mitchell and Richard Serensky.

In the yell-leading class this group led the school for the girls' head yell leader, Pat Bradley, and assistant Helene Horwich, and the boys' yell leader Girard Rhine came from this class. Busy announcing "You may now return to your third period class" and "Alert Signal number one" was the school radio announcer Michael Khenchelian. Working to keep the school paper "out of the red" was Gladys Wenger, advertising manager, while a busy reporter was Boris Romanoff. Going from Senior Play rehearsal to writing dramatic copy for the Surveyor, of which he was drama editor, were the activities that kept Don Siegel busy. Also in the Senior Play was Dolores Corlin as "The Woman." Basketball stars included Dick Franks and Harry Myers.

The school was a riot of color on Junior Day and all the color came from the sky pieces worn by the entire student body. Talk about picture hats! While they were supposed to be old, some of the creations worn by the girls would have done credit to a Hollywood designer.

Miss Cullinan graciously chaperoned the late afternoon dance given in the girls' gymnasium. 'Twas here that the riot of color represented by the hats came together under one top for a display that was at once artistic and dazzling. Right now is a good time to get in a word of appreciation for the part Miss Cullinan played in the arrangements for Assisting the high elevens with the Junior Day show and promoting attendance throughout the school were the two main activities of the low junior class led this term by acting president Bill Van Steenburgh, and Alice Jorgensen, secretary. Members of the Executive Council were Martha Heide, Christine LaMont, and Richard Levin.

Miss Laurette Cullinan was the faculty member who sponsored and assisted the class in their activity of providing posters and publicity for the attendance project.

The reference to spare moments reminds all persons who are identified with the development of the Surveyor that it is a job requiring work early and late, mostly out of hours, but the joy of the accomplishment far outweighs any of the work involved.

body, was in on the successful show from the beginning to the end and his part in the program was, as always, tops.

Considering themselves "mellowed old members" of the school by virtue of the fact that they had been here one term already, the high sophomore class this term plunged into activities and made a name for themselves as being the "entertainingest" class in the school.

When a school class is able to devote itself to the luxury of entertainment this activity is doubly significant. It is a guarantee that all members of the class who engage in such activities must first satisfy their counsellors and sponsors that they have maintained an academic rating sufficient to guarantee scholastic success and before they go in for play around George Washington, the teachers must be shown that they, the entertainers, are good citizens in all that the words imply.

After they had given up hope of finding the coke bar in the skyroom, discovered that there were no escalators, and that the elevators were private, the low sophs settled down a little and got well-acquainted with high school life.

Popular president for the term was Maurice "Bud" Davis, while always willing to assist him were the vice-president Gilbert Morgan, and the "scribe" of the class, Beverly Gross. Executive Council members were Bill Secor, Donna Mooney, and Corinne Gitzes.

Two of the most popular entertainers for the rallies came from this class—petite Rosebud Springer, versatile dancer, and Donna Mooney, accomplished warbler. In the sports world there were Bob Smith who made first string on the baseball team, and Laurent Soules, who made first place in the broad jump in the 120-pound division of the All-City track meet. On the reporting staff of the Eagle was George Pallviny.

Something New Has Been Added

The low sophs may have been amazed at first to see the patriotic zeal of the students in bringing paper for the paper drive and buying defense stamps and bonds, for which the school is noted. Doing their bit, they helped collect the names of brothers, cousins, and friends, in all the branches of the service, making it a special project to send them letters, books, and magazines. The class showed its high I.Q. by landing twenty-one students on the California Scholarship Society as associate members.

Miss Edith Browning, who was the class sponsor, helped them much in their task of keeping the school clean, a traditional project for the low ten classes. Activities included a dart booth at the May Carnival, April 30, and the senior-soph reception held February 13, when the "high and mighty" seniors danced with the shy sophomores, who felt when the dance was over that George Washington was "Gee, swell!"

REGISTRIES 227, 301

THIS YEARBOOK is made possible by the support given to it by our merchant friends throughout San Francisco. They think enough of the graduating class at George Washington High School to place their names in this book and to pay us for the privilege. That's one reason the Journalism Class is able to give us such an excellent book. So when you thumb through the pages of this memory book, remember our advertiser friends by patronizing them.

EDWARD SMITH, President

George Washington, Class of June 1942

Balancing precariously on the railing of the stadium, George Desalernos seems to be thinking some mighty serious thoughts. Maybe it's that test he didn't study for—or the one he flunked.

our gratitude to the Journalism Classes of George Washington High School for their earnest work in producing a very gratifying issue of the Surveyor, we, the Salesmanship Classes, offer this half page ad in addition to our work in securing $500 of ads from firms who are our friends. We ask students and their friends to patronize these firms when possible. Tell them you are from Washington. It will make it easier to get ads for the next issue.

Some of "the boys" are having a little fun during lunch period. "The boys" include Ed Slade, Louis Bacigalupi, Jim Billings, and Jack O'Brien. Now don't get too rough, fellows.

In spite of the glaring sun, Helen Shahan and other students seem to be enjoying the rally immensely. It must be that one of Washington's funny (and we do mean funny) men is "struttin' his stuff."

Martin Becker seems to have found some particularly juicy item to talk over during a rally. How about letting us in on it, boys?
