25th ANNIVERSARY

FOREWORD

In this year of nineteen hundred and sixty-one, we are celebrating the 25th Anniversary of the commemoration of George Washington High School. For twenty-five years it has added much beauty to the city of San Francisco.

Throughout the years, George Washington High School has produced many professional artists in the fields of entertainment, sports, education, and civic affairs.

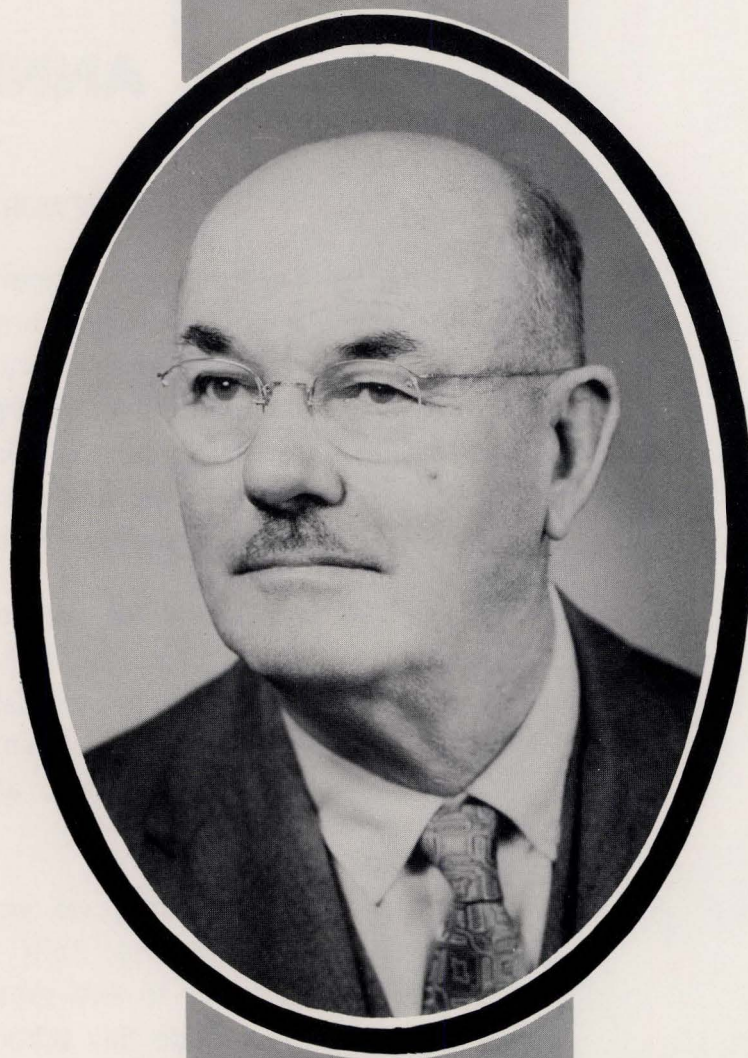

In closing, we would like to dedicate the 25th Anniversary Surveyor to two great men who have made this school what it is today. They are Mr. Ernest J. Cummings, George Washington High School's first principal; and Mr. O. I. Schmaelzle, the present principal, whose pictures are on the pages to follow.

DEDICATION

Mr. Ernest J. Cummings
Principal 1936-1945

Mr. Ernest J. Cummings was the first principal of George Washington High School, having come here in 1936 from Galileo High School. He attended private school and then graduated from Stanford University. He taught at Lowell High School for a time and then went to Galileo High School. There he taught Latin and Greek and was also principal of the night school.

Mr. Cummings served as George Washington's principal until January of 1945. After leaving George Washington High School he went to the Board of Education as Deputy Superintendent of Secondary Schools.

Following his retirement in 1950, Mr. and Mrs. Cummings moved to Santa Barbara where they now live. He is active, still raising lemons and oranges.

Mr. O. I. Schmaelzle Principal Since 1945

Mr. O. I. Schmaelzle is the second principal of George Washington High School, having come here in March, 1945. He attended the University of Illinois and obtained his Masters Degree at the University of Stanford. He went on to do additional work at the University of Chicago and the University of California.

Before coming to Washington, Mr. Schmaelzle served as principal of high schools in Tuscola and Morton, Illinois; and in Fresno and San Francisco, California.

In the years of 1941-1945 he was Director of Counseling and Guidance in the San Francisco School System.

His wife, Dorothy Fair Schmaelzle, is a graduate of Stanford University. He has a son, John, who is a medical student at the University of California and his daughter, Sue, is a senior in Home Economics at Oregon State College.

THE BACKGROUND OF GEORGE WASHINGTON

"The foresight of San Francisco pioneers is reflected in the total investment for a section of the George Washington High School site, as far back as 1861, when 150 x 240 feet was set aside for school purposes under the provisions of the outside lands act. Out of this nucleus the remainder of the site was purchased by the Board of Education in 1925."

The above paragraph, an excerpt from a program of the Ground Breaking Exercises which took place November 4, 1934, at 31st Avenue and Anza Street, shows that our school was considered, planned for, back in the days when the Richmond district was sand dunes, when George Washington High School was a rock quarry. 1961 — cable cars (or their forerunners) were pulled by horses, gold strikes were common occurrences, clipper ships sailed the Pacific; and San Franciscans of that day had the vision to provide for schools, and especially for one particular school, located at what is now 32nd Avenue and Anza Street.

Seventy-five years later, in 1936, financed partly by a bond issue, partly by the Federal Government, Washington High School was erected at a cost of approximately $2,000,000.

GENERAL PLANS, ARCHITECTURE, SCULPTURE

The general plans for Washington called for a main academic unit, shops, an auditorium, boys' and girls' gymnasiums, football field, outdoor tennis and basketball courts, a music conservatory, a baseball field, a running track and and a swimming pool.

Timothy L. Pflueger, architect of George Washington High School, died almost ten years to the day that Washington celebrated its tenth anniversary. Mr. Pflueger was world-famous in his field, having worked on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, and many of the buildings of the Golden Gate International Exposition of 1939. Union Square Garage was designed by Mr. Pflueger in 1942; Alamo and Jefferson grammar schools, and Roosevelt Junior High School were completed by him before 1930. His later projects were George Washington, then Lincoln High School, and the Science building and gymnasium at San Francisco Junior College.

Mr. Beniamino Bufano was originally hired to do the frieze located on the wall of the football stadium, but the work was finished by Sargent Johnson. The ideas of both artists are incorporated in the work.

Former Assistant- Principals For Boys

MR. WILLIAM A. WEILAND, 1936-1940

Mr. William A. Weiland was George Washington's first dean of boys. He attended Oakland High School and then graduated from the University of California. He served as a captain in World War I and stayed in Europe to help set up the Education Program for the army. Upon his return to the United States he went to Mission High as a teacher. He came to Washington as vice-principal when it opened in 1936. He left Washington in 1940 to become principal of Galileo. Mr. Weiland died in 1944 as the result of an injury obtained from fighting a forest fire.

MR. GEORGE M. KLINGNER, 1940-1951

Mr. George M. Klingner, who replaced Mr. Weiland in 1940, graduated from the University of Missouri in 1916, when he received an A.B. degree and a B.S. degree in Education. He completed work for his M.A. degree at the University of California in 1927.

After spending five years at Continuation, one year in the classroom and four years at the attendance desk, he went to Roosevelt Junior High to teach Math and English for three years. Six years of teaching at Commerce followed until 1940, when he became the second Dean of Boys here at George Washington High School.

MR. JASPER A. PERINO, 1951-1955

Mr. Jasper A. Perino graduated from the University of California, where he taught as an assistant for one year. He then became an instructor at the Golden Gate Junior College of San Francisco and at Fresno Technical High School. Mr. Perino first came to George Washington in the Fall of 1938 as a Biology, Chemistry, and Physics teacher.

He left in the Spring of 1946 to become Head Counselor at Commerce High, and following that became an assistant in the downtown office of the San Francisco Public Schools.

After heading the Science Department at Poly High for two years, he returned to George Washington to replace Mr. George M. Klingner as Dean of Boys. He is now principal of Lowell.

FIRST YEAR AT WASHINGTON

George Washington High was the pride and joy of the students and faculty when it opened; everyone admired the magnificent view and the handsome building, and the faculty and students were filled with enthusiasm in spite of the fact that they were sadly lacking in facilities. These pioneers realized that the responsibility for Washington's coming through the first year lay on their shoulders. Only they remembered all the difficulties that had to be overcome; but we, today, know that they emerged with flying colors.

The enrollment of the school in its first year consisted of the new low tens and students who had transferred from other schools. These students had to stand up or sit on the floor because of the lack of chairs and desks; the gym classes met in different classrooms, and the library was completely empty, save for one set of encyclopedias. These handicaps seemed minor, however, as compared to the terrible noise caused by the new gymnasium. This construction work, accompanied by the noise, lasted for two years. Despite these difficulties, at the end of the term there were 57 students on the honor roll.

The first student government at Washington was organized in the fall of 1936 with David Cunningham, president; Lois Samuels, vice-president; Jane Mayer, secretary; Howard Nelsen, treasurer; Richard Cohn, custodian; and Gordon Mailloux, head yell leader. The spring 1937 officers were: Hal Mendelson, president; Betty Hill, vice-president; Nancy Glaser, secretary; Richard de Graf, treasurer; Phillip Waxman, custodian; and Robert Kahn, head yell leader.

The first social event of the term was the Inaugural Ball, held on October 30, 1936 in the school library. The lack of a gym did not stop the students from having social affairs. The rallies were held outside on the courts. The first indoor rally was at Presidio Junior High School. At the first indoor rally held at Washington in 1940 in the newly built auditorium, the speakers had to stand on chairs. The platform had not yet been completed.

The first commencement took place at Commerce High School on December 16, 1937. Miss Kirwin had charge of the first graduating class consisting of 148 students. Five students completed their required course six months earlier, in June, but since there were so few eligible for the Spring '37 class, the graduation exercises were not held. These students came back in December to graduate with the Fall '37 class.

There were three girls and two boys in the first official graduating class: Marjorie Astredo, who had entered the school at its opening; Lois Samuel, Washington's first vice-president and one of the originators of the Girls' Service Society; Frank Hultman, Tod Saylor, and Eleanor Worken.

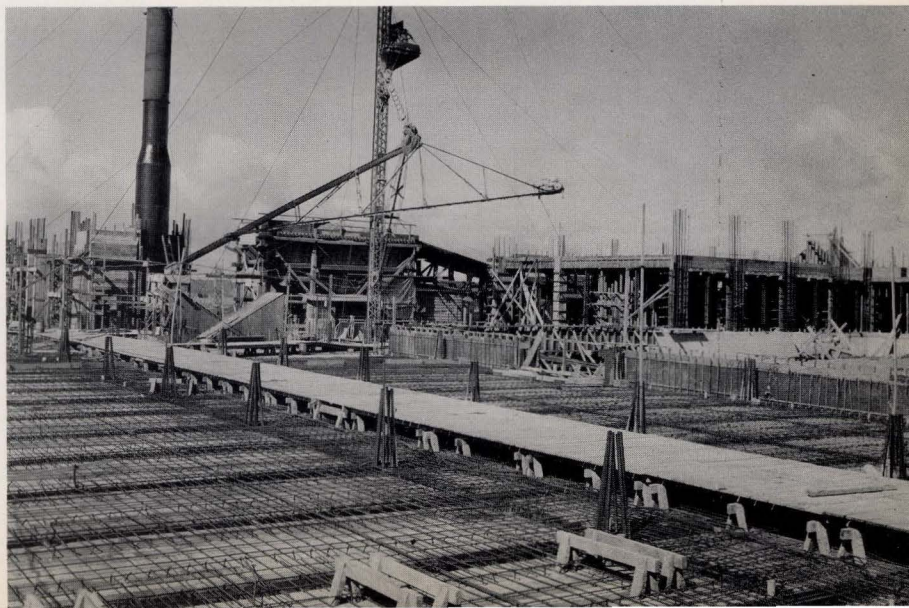

During the Fall '37 term the Senior Advisory Board was established, and the Senior-Soph Reception, which is now so popular, was first held in the school library.

On November 23, 1937, the Senior Luncheon was held in the school's cafeteria. December 11, was the date of the Senior Dance, now known as the Farewell Dance.

MURALS

Over 1,300 square feet of murals, scenes depicting phases in the life of George Washington, cover the walls of the lobby. Victor Arnautoff, painter of these murals, did much research before starting the work to get the color and feeling of George Washington and the days in which he lived.

Southwest wing, first floor, under construction April 4, 1935.

The murals are done in what the artist calls earth colors, which are made from oxides. For instance, green is made from chrome, red from iron, and black from coal. The base of murals is lime, a very ancient method of mural work.

George Harris and Gordon Langdon were the artists who assisted Mr. Arnautoff. Since murals have to be painted on a wet surface, Mr. Arnautoff had to follow right behind the plasterers, and a scene, once begun had to be completed that same day, in order that the walls did not dry. Carpenters and plasterers worked all around the building, while Mr. Arnautoff was high above on a scaffold.

The artist was so rushed for time that he had to improvise as he was painting. Covering about nine feet of wall a day, he sometimes worked from ten to twelve hours a day to finish a given section. The murals took ten months to complete; ironically, the school was not opened until a full year later.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

As in any well-organized government, George Washington High School has its written laws vested in a constitution. The completed constitution was adopted in 1941.

Under this constitution, the student body offices of president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, custodian, athletic manager, and yell leader were created. Recently established, the office of second vice-president was recorded in the constitutional amendments.

The Principal's Cabinet, an advisory board to the principal, and the Student Council, the legislative branch of the school, were also created. The Student Council consists of the elected class officers, plus necessary representatives to make the total representation six for each class.

The constitution may be amended by proposal and two-thirds vote of the Student Council, and the majority vote of the members of the George Washington High School.

WAR EFFORT, SERVICEMEN, PTA

George Washington High School students, as one of their first contributions to the war effort, bought a bomber. Other activities, while not so momentous, were carried on faithfully and successfully by those who were "too young to fight." Washingtonians procured blood donors for the Red Cross (some students donated blood themselves); they learned first aid and home nursing; they collected clothes, food, and tin cans; they bought war bonds and stamps, and sold them to others; Washington students graduated and went into the armed forces; the girls became nurses; and when the war ended, they did not cease their efforts to help stricken people in all parts of the world.

Fifty-five servicemen who at some time had attended George Washington High School were killed in World War II. On all the war fronts, in all branches of the service, Washingtonians, 1,700 of them to be exact, fought for their country. And fifty-five, in losing the personal side of that fight, helped assure the real cause—and gave their lives for the freedom of the people of the United States of America.

WASHINGTON'S COAT OF ARMS

General George Washington's Coat of Arms has been adopted by his name-sake school as its official seal. It is used on official letters and documents and on the school book covers. A full color sketch hangs in the principal's office.

Victor Arnautoff designed and painted George Washington's beautiful murals on wet plaster as the building was completed.

The Parent-Teachers Association, established in 1936 with Mrs. Carl Hallford as the first president, has supported many projects of the students of George Washington (in fact, that swimming pool is still on their "as yet unaccomplished" list). The principal objective of the PTA is to promote understanding among parents, teachers, and students.

FIRST FACULTY

Still on the faculty are: Mrs. Bernice Gates, Mr. John J. Burke, Mr. Cecil J. Carroll, Miss Kathleen G. Cauley, Miss Catherine Counihan, Mrs. Margaret Denny, Miss Eleanor Parsons, Miss Margaret Poole and Miss Florence M. Shearer.

TRADITIONS

In the twenty-five years of Washington High School's existence we have established a number of traditions, some have survived the tests of time, others have faded, and still more are yet to be made . . .

The Dead Indian, meeting place for the whole student body, was the sleeping guardian of the Washington lobby back in 1937; and in 1970 students will still part with a reminder to friends—"Meet you under the Dead Indian." How this mural depicting a prostrate Indian (nobody is positive he is dead!) of George Washington's day became the Grand Central Station of the school is not known. But the D.I.—as it is abbreviated in the hectic, rushed days of 1960—has come to symbolize the entire lobby; any school day at 3:10 almost every Washington student can be found "Under the Dead Indian."

Tillie Mieseles, one of Washington's first students, wrote the school hymn in 1937; but it was in the year 1947, that the new ending was added by Mr. Knott, making that hymn more impressive, powerful, and complete. "Hail, Washington, Hail!" Mary Trussell, in 1936, wrote "Fight on You Eagles," and the song was presented to the school for the first time over the radio, sung by Mr. Knott's registry.

Mr. Lloyd Leith, former physical education teacher here, and now at Mission High School, taught the "tricks of the trade" to the first yell leaders who, in turn, passed on their knowledge and pep to those who followed them.

The first family dinner in Fall, 1945, was in the cafeteria. Once repeated, events are well on their way toward becoming traditions.

The Spring Concert, when the real talent of George Washington High School is displayed, was first started in 1941 to raise money for choir robes. Classical music and folk songs are played and sung by the orchestra, girls choral, mixed chorus, and soloists.

The Christmas season is observed with three traditions: a beautifully decorated tree stands in the lobby, carolers in choir robes stroll through the halls imparting the Christmas spirit to all who hear, and a Christmas pageant depicts events in the life of Christ.

May Festival Drives For Charity

All those cans at the right represent just one of the tremendous efforts which the students of George Washington High School have made during the past years in order to earn a May Festival Day.

The drive, took place in 1947. Over 15,000 cans of food were collected and shipped to Kentucky to a school in need of aid.

Other drives through the years included collecting paper (by the truck load), enough soap to wash half the world, empty bottles of very kind and size ever made, and blue-berry muffin mix for Dr. Tom Dooley last year.

Past student body officers have lived through these drives, but just barely. In spite of all the work and problems, however, the drives draw everyone together in a common cause.

George Washington Is Completed

HISTORY OF BACKFIELD

The most recent addition to George Washington High School is our new backfield, located on the south side of the school. Kezar Stadium has nothing on George Washington for size, because our backfield is as large as the one at Kezar. It includes the football field which is large enough so that it can be used for soccer. At the ends of the football field, and on both sides are high-jumping, polevaulting, and broadjumping areas. There is also a quarter-mile track, and on the sides, the track has extra-wide straight-aways so that it can be used for hurdle races.

The field is fenced and the sides and ends are terraced and beautifully landscaped.

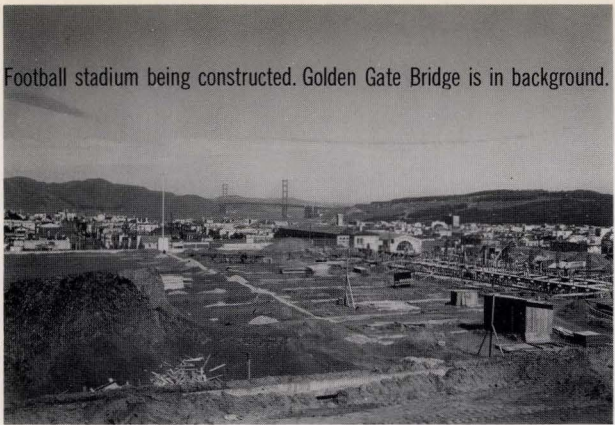

Plans have been made to build new bleachers near the Veterans Court entrance. This will then complete the campus. It turned out to be a twenty-five year job.

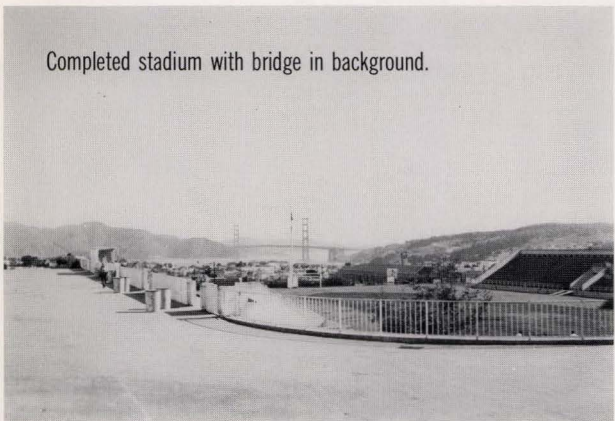

Dr. Herbert C. Clish, left, former Superintendent of Schools and Mr. O. I. Schmaelzle are shown at the ground-breaking ceremony for the music unit on April 16, 1951. This music unit completed the main building.

Mr. Schmaelzle's Anniversary Message

Twenty-five years ago George Washington High School was founded by men and women who believed that one of the prime responsibilities of a school in addition to scholarship, is to instill loyalty, high ideals, and determination in its students.

Through the years the administration and faculty of this school have tried to teach its students to have loyalty to others and to themselves and to have high ideals and the firm determination to work towards them.

The faculty and administrators realize that a school can only teach these values and the actual learning and applying of them is the responsibility of the students. The real test of these teachings will come when you, as graduates, decide whether or not to live as human beings dedicated to these ideals.

So, as this Twenty-Fifth Anniversary year draws to a close, I offer my heartiest congratulations to the teachers, students, graduates, and alumni of this great school.

Classes

I'm Afraid to Talk

"I just can't get up in front of the class and say anything. I'm so scared that my teeth chatter and my knees knock together."
 First, remember the comforting fact that nervousness is natural to a speaker, actor, singer, or athlete and usually improves his performance. Before a World Series, Billy Jurgens of the Chicago Cubs said, "Sure I'm nervous. And anybody who says he isn't is either a liar or crazy." To do his best an athlete who says he isn't is either a liar or crazy.
 Next, analyze the situation that faces you when you are asked to talk in class. You must rise, face your classmates, and say something to them for a period of two or three minutes. The problem of talking is not really a problem. You're used to speaking in front of groups of people. Every day in the hall, in the gym, in the lunchroom, you talk to little groups of your friends. A short talk in class is only a variation made a little more formal and addressed to a larger group.

Right Topic

Any time that you talked out in public, you were talking about something. What were you talking about? Were you talking about something you feel so intensely about now?

audience
 me you feel panicky at the thought of speaking in front of your classmates. There's Bill in the front row trying to get away. There's Betty two seats back, so terrified at the thought of speaking that she hopes you talk all period. There's Jean and all the others whom you know. They are hoping you'll make a speech that will make them feel grateful if you don't act so nervous. At the thought of making a speech you're all in the same boat. You do. Relax. You're all in the same boat. It's not as hard as you are that you're afraid, but it's hard as you are that you're afraid.

Make Them Listen

Facing your audience is just a start; you must make them listen to you. At ten o'clock Tuesday morning when you stand in front of your English class, all the students will be thinking about their own concerns and will be only vaguely aware of you and your speech. Wake them up. Pull them out of their daydreams and make them listen. Start your speech with a first sentence that startles, surprises, challenges, or amuses them.

Not this. The coach and the manager would like to have more fellows come out for the football team.
 But this. Last year Central High won the city championship by defeating Jefferson High in the most thrill-packed game of the season. We can repeat this year — but only if every fellow who is big enough and strong enough to play football comes out for the team.
 You can capture audience interest by beginning your speech with an amazing fact, a story of a famous person, a challenge, or an illustration.

calm and poised, your class-butterflies are fluttering and deep breath, it'll make you feel less time. Look over your audience; try to talk to them. Speak slowly and dis-

Activity 3 Facing an Audience

1. Walk to the center front of the room. Pause. Take a deep breath. Look at the class in a calm and friendly way.
2. Walk to the center front of the room. Pause. Take a deep breath. Look at the class. Say to them, "Good morning. The time is now —." Walk back to your seat.
3. Walk to the center front of the room. Pause. Take a deep breath. Look at your audience. Pick out one student; look right at him. Ask him, "What club do you belong to?" or "What subject do you have next period?" Keep looking at him while he answers you. Turn to another student; ask him a question. After you have questioned three students and have heard their answers go back to your seat.

George Washington's ROTC Battle Group started the fall term by winning a first place for excellence in marching in the Columbus Day parade. Our rifle team won the city championship. The Drum Corps and Drill Team won awards for their showing in the Halloween parade. The term ended with a Military Ball for ROTC cadets

The Spring Term began in a flurry of activity with the Drill Team, Drum Corps, Rifle Team, and the 91st Platoon practicing before school.

The Drill Team, Color Guard, and Drum Corps all participated in the Chinatown Parade. The most important event of the term was the 91st Platoon competition held in the Civic Auditorium on April 27. On April 29 the Drill Team and the Drum Corps performed at the 25th Anniversary Invitational Track Meet. In accordance with this meet, the ROTC sponsored an invitational rifle match, inviting the rifle teams of six other Bay Area schools.

The Federal inspection and awards ceremony culminated a highly successful term

THE EAGLE

The first edition of the Eagle was issued on November 19, 1936. It contained messages from the two vice principals, and news of debates, traffic squads, school colors, new yells, and officers. The Eagle's policy has remained the same throughout the years: "All the news of all the school."

Lowell Oct. 7

Making good Lowell's seven fumbles, the defensively strong Eagles edged their traditional rival 7 to 6, and a second season victory.

Ernie Montgomery made good the ever so important conversion in Washington's lone but decisive touchdown by Claude Shipp.

Unable to penetrate deep in Eagle territory, the Indians finally went all the way in the final quarter.

Deciding to run for the PAT, the Indians fumbled the ball—and the game.

Polytechnic Nov. 4

Washington, in a repeat of the Bal game, trounced the Poly Parrots for the first time in 22 years.

The Eagles began the scoring on a 71 yd. pass from Jones to Mike Gridley. The Eagles again carried the pigskin downfield for a third quarter tally. The Parrots later scored their one and only T.D.

Washington bounced back with three more touchdown drives to down Poly 32 to 7 and record their 4th season victory.

Mission Oct. 13

In their third season game the Eagles were knocked from the unbeaten ranks by losing to the Mission Bears.

The Eagles scored early in the game by making good a Bear fumble, with Jerry Jones throwing the touchdown pass to Bob Morris, and Ernie Montgomery converting.

The Washington defense, however, with fine tackling by Rod Someya could not stop the Bears who marched on to take it, 14 to 7.

Galileo Nov. 10

The Eagles, recording another victory, downed a strong Galileo team 47 to 20.

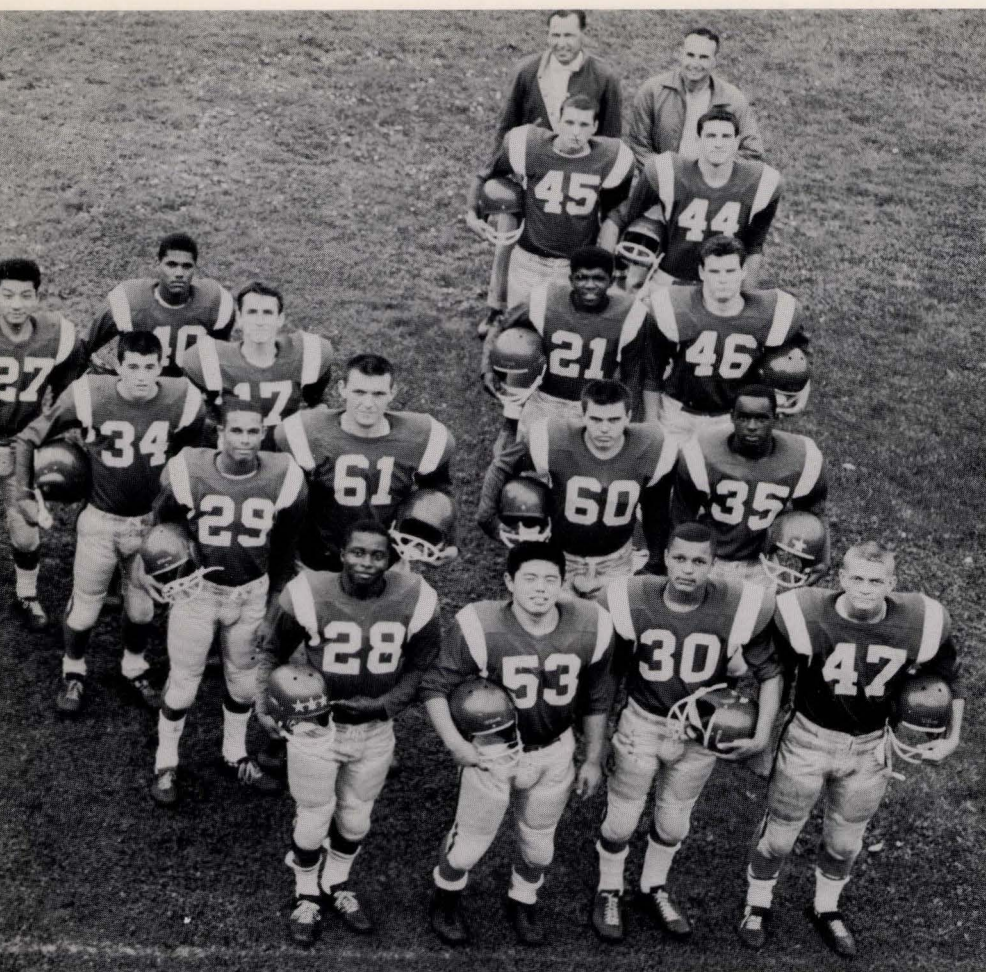

Washington's outstanding quarterback, Jerry Jones, tamed the Lions with four touchdown passes.

The Eagles scored early in the game to lead at half time, 33 to 6.

The sturdy Eagle defense kept the Lions from catching up, while the offensive team kept hammering away.

The other Eagles who played good ball were Morris, Shipp, Gridley, Baylacq, and Kitano.

Balboa Oct. 21

In their third season game, the Eagles walked all over Balboa in a 32 to 6 victory.

The Bucs were obviously no match for the Eagle offense, which racked up a 14 to 0 lead by the end of the first half.

The second half saw Shipp score with Winslow passing to Gridley and Hollman to make it 32 to 0, Washington.

Bal was finally able to score on the last play to end it, 32 to 6.

Sacred Heart Nov. 18

In their last season game and second place clincher, the Eagles dropped a weak SH team 20 to 0.

With the Eagles looking like the top team all the way the halftime score was Washington 13, SH 0.

As the game wore on the Eagles looked more like a defensive team, stopping all of the Irish drives. The Eagles scored again in the last quarter to sew up the game—and the season.

St. Ignatius Oct. 27

In a critical game with the SI Wildcats, the Washington Eagles lost a heartbreaker, 26 to 22.

The Eagles scored quickly, ending the first half with a 15 to 6 lead. The hilltop boys came back with another TD in the 3rd period.

The strong SI team, however, bounced back with three touchdowns to finally edge the fighting Eagles and take the game.

Playoff Championship Nov. 24

The Washington Eagles, making their bid for the city Co-Championship whipped SI in the turkey game 27 to 13.

The first half saw SI jump off to a fast 13 to 0 lead. Washington closed the gap, however, and led at the half 14 to 13.

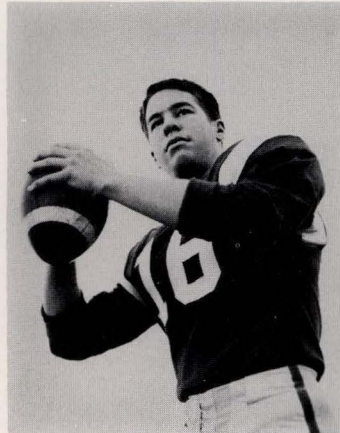

In the second half, the Eagles came to life to score three more times with the help of Ron Coleman, Willie Hollman, and Quarterback Jerry Jones.

Bell in 19-0 Victory

Ben Winslow, Co-Captain, Ilana Girard, Bell Queen; and Ron Coleman, Co-Captain.

A season of many firsts for Washington began in the traditional bell game, with the Eagles defeating Lincoln by more than one TD, and preventing them from scoring throughout.

The ball began rolling for the Eagles in the second period when Jon Shaskan returns a Lincoln punt 31 yards, setting up Claude Shipp's first 6 yard TD.

Ernie Montgomery converting for the 7-0 count.

John Limneo's fumble recoveries again return the pigskin to the proper owners, only to have Claude break loose 79 yards to Paydirt, and a 13-0 scoreboard.

Looking as if the score was final with two minutes left, co-captain Ben Winslow intercepts a link pass, giving "Prep of the Week" Shipp his third td and a final 19-0.

Championship Game

They said it couldn't be done, but George Washington High School added another notch to its list of triumphs this school year by celebrating its silver anniversary with the first football championship in our school's history by defeating the round-robin victors of St. Ignatius in a Turkey Day Tilt, meant to be remembered.

Once a coach told his team, "It's not if you win or lose that's important, but how you play the game." It can be well said that the Eagles could be this team, for they played with the spirit and sportsmanship of true Washington tradition plus winning the top spot of the San Francisco Prep Football League.

As it is said, "You can't have a team without a coach," but Washington has more than is said. We boast two coaches, two men who have waited a long time for this day to come; Chad Reade and Adolph Lubamersky.

Who can you thank for this Washington first? Our two great coaches? Our four all-city players; halfback Claude Shipp, tackle Joe Ross, end Bob Morris, and Center Rod Someya? Could it be our two quarterbacks Ben Winslow and Dorn Cranert, credited for much leadership in our team's spirit? Maybe Ron Coleman, our invincible back of 435 yards this season, or Mike Gridley, all-star end, who got us out of many tight spots with those impossible catches? Could it be Willie Holman, "Washington's secret weapon" according to St. Ignatius' coach Larry McInerney, concerning the championship game, our quarterback Jerry Jones, the Eagle pilot selected to the first Annual National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame?

Space limits the naming of all our great players, but to pinpoint our gratitude for this honor, I think most will agree the thanks go to the George Washington High School Football Team as a whole. Like wheels on one mass axle, one cannot turn without the other. Maybe it was best said in the conclusion of the Thanksgiving Day game, when Willie Holman, winning the Examiner game football for his outstanding performance, turned the pigskin over to the Coach Reade explaining that it belonged in our school trophy case—"Where everybody can see it."

Probably many were disappointed with the season opening due to the elimination of the Football Pageant, but this did not damage the spirit nor playing of the Eagles starting game against the Lincoln Mustangs, in which the traditional Bell was once again returned to Washington. Game number two drew quite a crowd at the Washington field, as Washington battled its classic rival Lowell in a nip and tuck game throughout. Mission was a heartbreaker, but most was made up in the following week as the Eagle eleven showed Balboa they were on the march again. Game number five against St. Ignatius might have destroyed Washington that Thursday afternoon, but then again it could have very well been the day the Eagle fuse was lit, for Washington's drive uphill began.

The Polytechnic eleven, feared gridders as Washington history goes, didn't give the Parrots much to talk about that day, as did Galileo, who probably was sorry they ever came to the game. Sacred Heart put up a strong but useless battle, and the finale against St. Ignatius, witnessed by a record crowd of 22,500 was the last step to the top.

In conclusion, if this writer could pick the top squad from our Eagle team, it wouldn't be impossible, though probably a mite bit impractical. Anyone ever hear of 36 players all in the game at once?

You're a pretty good artist coach!

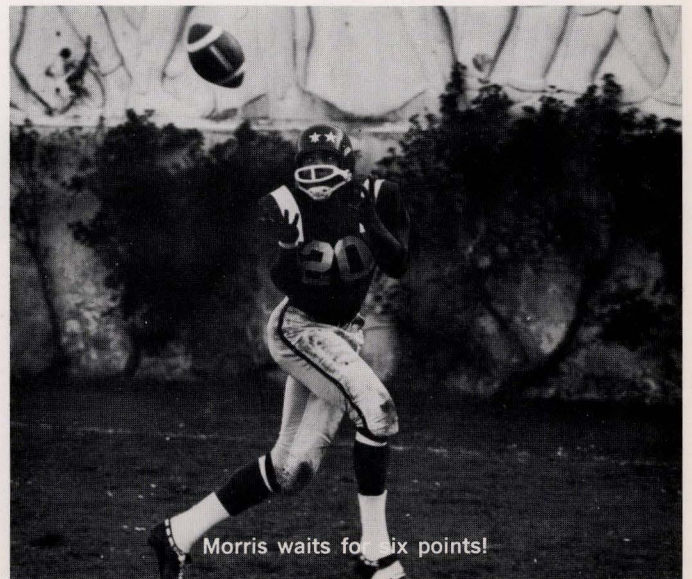

Everybody wave to the nice man

Sitting down on the job, boys?

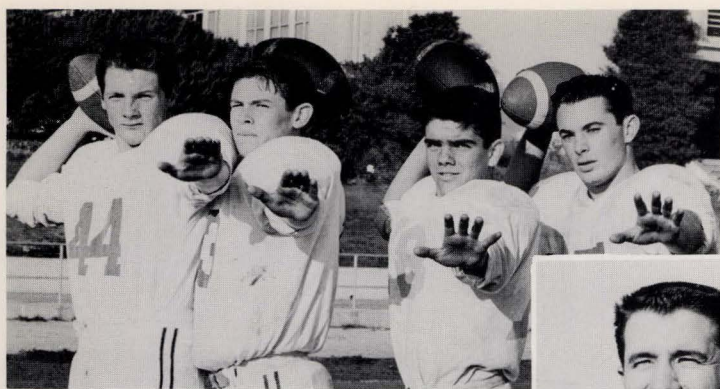

One out of every four Americans catch a cold during winter!

Having a very poor season, though learning to play a good game of football, Washington's Junior Varsity Football team ended their season in 6th place, winning 3 and losing 5.

Losing against a mighty St. Ignatius eleven 38-0 the determined Eagles revenged in a victorious battle against the Polytechnic Parrots, 12-6, winning their second season victory.

Preparing for their varsity season, under the coaching of Mr. Ernie Domecus, the team practiced and played on our new backfield as well as our front stadium.

Word is out the boys to watch next season are: Robert Kiyota, Little Gridley, and Tiny Storey, a good quarterback who has a strong arm and very good speed.

Washington's sophomore football team, under the coaching of Coach Ruane, ended against a tight schedule in a proud second place also held by Lincoln, due because the Eagles never had the chance to play and beat the rival Mustangs.

The toughest game for our gridders according to Coach Ruane was St. Ignatius, which the Eagles could never get started toward the one-sided score of 33-0.

The breeding-ground for tomorrow's football stars produced quite a number of boys who are expected to see plenty of action next season. Top spot in the backfield goes to Art White, halfback, a fireball responsible for about half the total season points.

Linemen recognition aims to powerhouse guard, Jim Shaw, and end Vic Aissa, a boy that knows how to catch.

Coach Domecus gives the word.

Morris stretches for the out.

Burke is out at first.

Concentrating on developing and building up a stronger team, Coach Domecus' Varsity Baseball team is having a rather unsuccessful season as far as games won goes. There is no reason, however, to degrade the team's efforts, for the coach is trying to develop his younger boys for the future seasons.

Some of these newer men are Basil Drake, Fred Johnstone, Nick Autonomoff, and Darryl Zapada. Pitcher, Jerry Cann, although one of Washington's two top starters, is still a Junior and has many games yet to play.

As the Yearbook went to press the Varsity team endured losses to Lincoln, Balboa, Galileo, Sacred Heart, Saint Ignatius, Poly, and Lowell. Although, a searing record the Eagles are still a spirited team.

Coach Domecus depends on his seniors for most of his power. These blasters are Ron De Leon, Jim Burke, and Bob Morris, who will add more strength when he cuts down on strikeouts. Washington's other starting pitcher is Tom Godley.

Track Teams

The George Washington Trackmen were at the start of the season a championship team, with only S.I. giving stiff competition for the championship.

On the Varsity, the strong men who may bring Washington the crown are Waterfield in the 100 yd. dash and 220 yd. relay, Robinson at the discus, hurdles, and shot put, Ritter, who is considered the fastest man in the city, in the 100 yd. dash and the 220 relay, Melton in the high hurdles and the pole vault. Gridley in the shot put, Coleman in the 440 yd. relay and broadjump, Henderson in the mile and the 880, Adams in the high jump, and Stewart in the 440 relay and the broadjump.

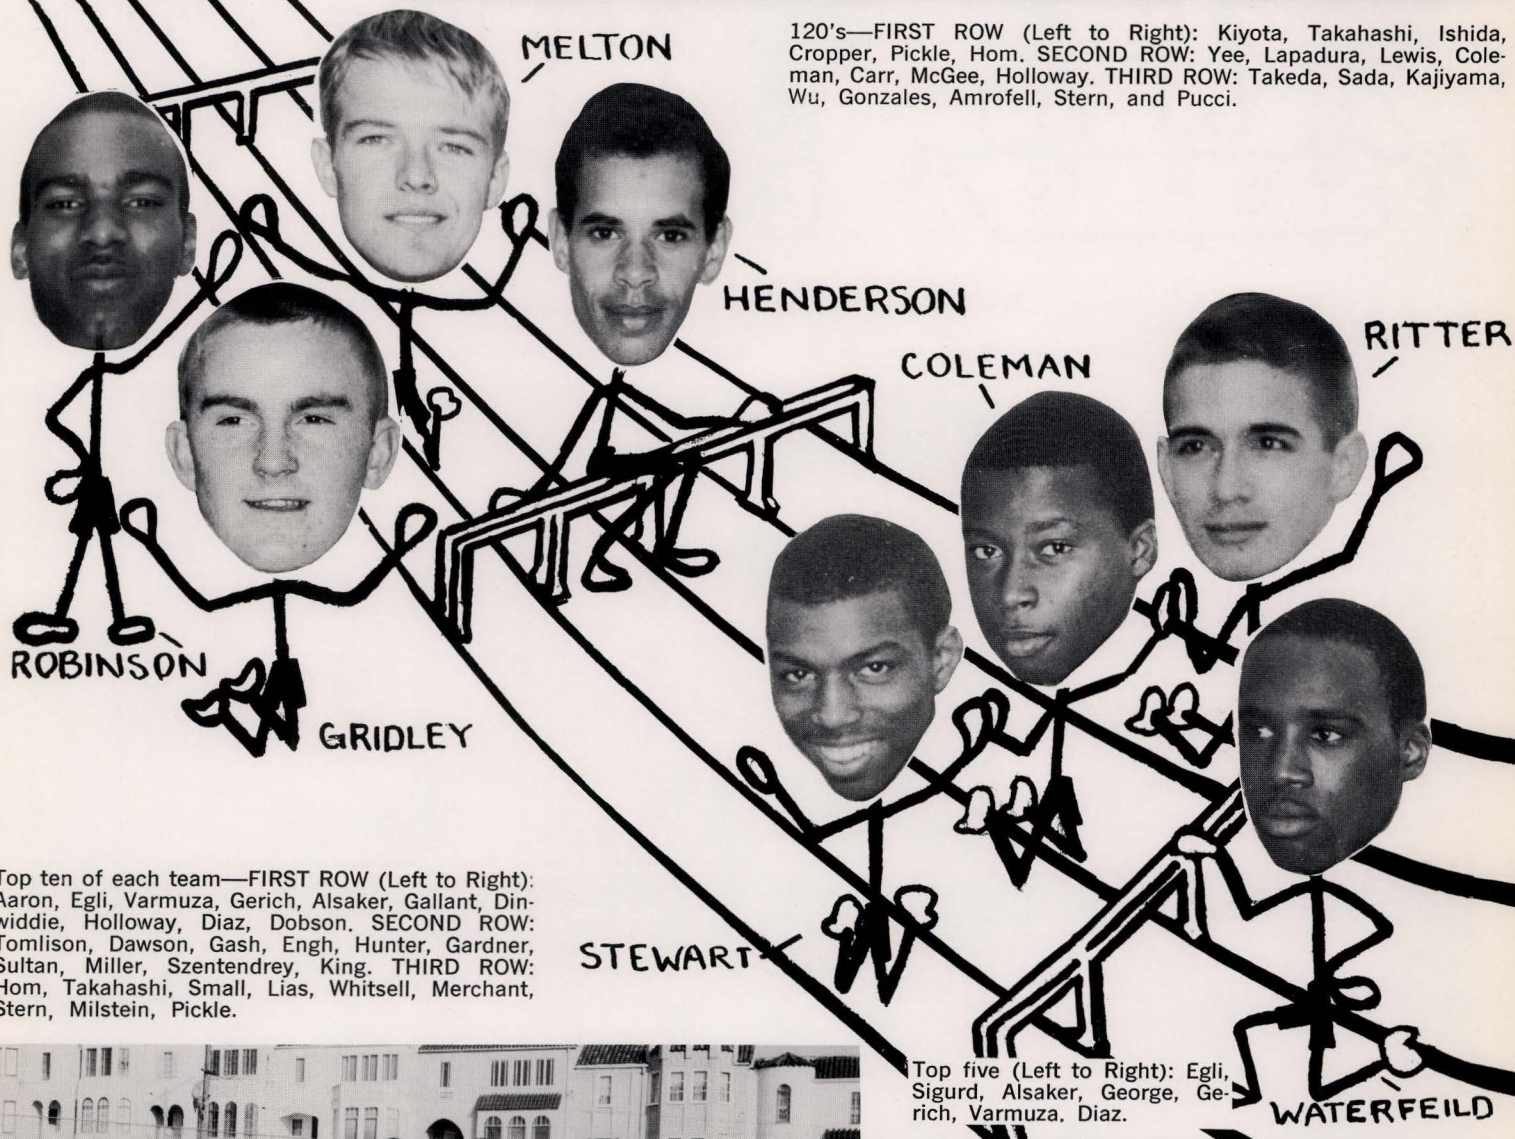

The lightweights were one of the weakest Washington has had in many years. But sparking the team were Rod Coleman in the 330 yd. and 150 yd., Elliot Wu in the high jump, White in the 330 yd., and Lias in the sprints.

Due to the deadline, coverage of the meets was not possible.

Finishing a well-earned third place in the A.A.A. rank last year, this spring's tennis team stands high in the hope of earning the appealing city crown, which hasn't been at Washington since 1956.

Soccer

The George Washington Soccer team did not have its usual good season this year.

The Booters showed promise and that old Washington spirit with six first stringers returning from last season. They missed the finals, however, by one costly loss in the semi-final game with Mission.

The Eagles started off the season with a bang by dropping Poly 9-0. Washington tied Mission 3-3, and in their next game were edged by Galileo 1-0. The Booters then stopped Bal and Lincoln with identical scores of 2-0. The Eagles were beaten by Lowell 2-0, but came right back to bury SI 6-0. In the semi-final playoff Washington drew Mission, and lost by the heartbreaking score of 1-0 with a 4-3 and 1 record the Eagles ended the season in fourth place.

The Booters All-City men were: Gene Russell and George Didrich.

Unlimiteds Make Play-offs

The Eagle varsity cagers went into the 1960-61 season with much anxiety. The Eagles were at a sizeable disadvantage since many of its first stringers were new arrivals from the 30's. Their fears proved to be unfounded, however, as the season progressed.

Washington's first league game of the season was with its rival across the park, Lincoln. The Eagles whipped the Ponies 48 to 34. The Eagles lost their game to a strong Irish team 35 to 28.

The Eagles next faced Balboa's Bucs who handed Washington a heartbreaking defeat of 43 to 36.

After a costly defeat at the hands of the Galileans, a determined Washington five edged a sturdy S.I. squad 37 to 36.

The Eagles set a new high-scoring record in the A.A.A. competition when they walked over Poly 85 to 40.

Washington lost a close one to the Mission Bears which faded the Eagles' hopes for a playoff berth.

In their final game, however, the Eagles clinched a fourth place playoff berth by scalping the Indians 50 to 32. Washington's final season record was four wins and four losses.

Sacred Heart, in its bid for the Championship, defeated the Eagles 35 to 22. The Eagles fought hard but could not match the Irish, led by Russ Gumina.

The Varsity's top players for the season were Everette "Goose" Adams, Jim Pandell, John Carter (a mid-term graduate), Ken Scalmanini, Tomio Hamai, and Coach McGrath's tall boys Bob Morris and Mike Gridley.

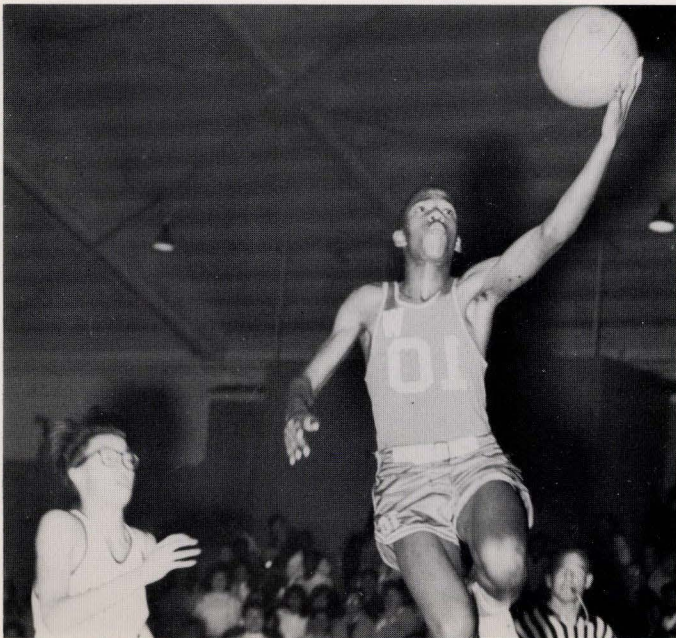

As my friend Plato once said . . .

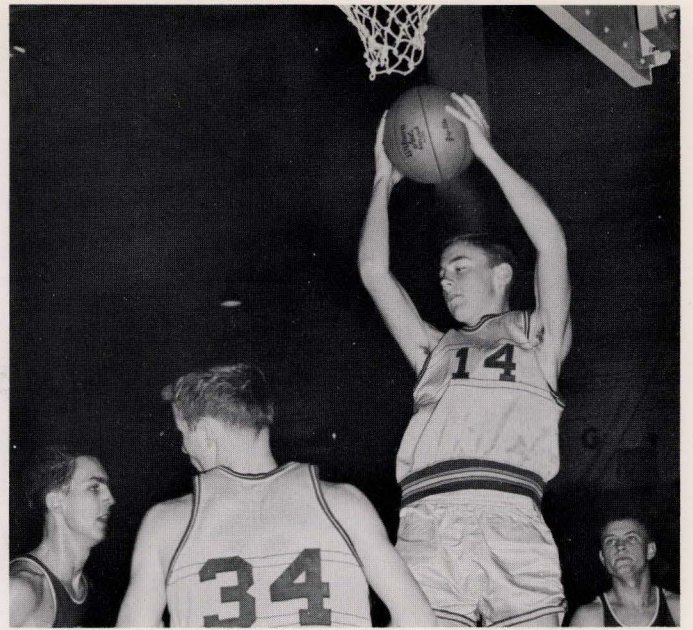

If you can't fight 'em, join 'em.

130's Have Good Season

Almost, but not quite, was the sad tale of Washington's 130's basketball team. Into the finals for the fifth consecutive year, everything seemed to go for the Bucs of Balboa as they made it their day with a 56 to 49 win.

Matching with Lincoln in the season opener, the Eagles easily dribbled away with a 63 to 44 victory. Gene Kitano was high scorer with 19 points.

Losing their long A.A.A. reign, the Eagles were defeated by Sacred Heart by a pitiful 37 to 36 score.

Their second defeat came in their third game of the season as the Eagles sank into fourth place after a loss to Balboa with the score of 51 to 46.

On the trail again, the Eagles came alive by defeating Galileo with the scoreboard showing 58 to 42. Rich Curtaz, high man with 21 points. The Saint Ignatius Wildcats were skinned next as "Mr. A's" boys scored a 47 to 32 win. Kitano and Walker were game standouts.

With Kitano, Curtaz, and Cann leading the pace, the Eagles dumped Poly with a score of 65 to 38.

Mission was next, losing by the score of 65 to 55, Curtaz brought home 29 points.

Lowell was wiped up next by the ridiculous score of 62 to 36.

The Eagles again defeated Mission 54 to 44. As the season ended with the final game loss to the Bucs, the Eagles finished with a league record of seven wins and three defeats.

120's Basketball

120's ended 5th in strong city battle playing the season with competition one of the strongest in league history. Washington's 120's basketballers broke even with a four-win four-loss record.

The first half of the season spelled tragedy as the Eagles stayed on a four game losing streak in which the Mission Bears won 18-15, the Poly Parrots finished us off 37-10, Sacred Heart edged us 27-26, and Balboa made the seven difference of 42-35.

Finally St. Ignatius, probably over-confident, gave us our first win with the score of 39-36. After the Wildcats, Washington's eleven went on and gave Lowell a good scalping of 36-11. Still going, the Eagles defeated Galileo and finalized with a satisfied win over rival Lincoln.

112's Basketball

Wrapping up the season with five well-earned wins and three sad losses, Washington's 112's basketball team, under the coaching of Saul Madfes, stood a strong 5th place in city ranks.

In the first game, the Eagles beat Mission 42-27, and defeated a poor Poly team by the score of 39-9.

They might have gone on and won the Championship if Sacred Heart had not beaten them in the closing seconds of play to win a thrilling game, 32-31. The following week our Eagles faced Balboa. The Buccaneers made almost every shot they took to wrap up a 45-32 win. Our team came back and defeated St. Ignatius 39-37, with Elliott Wu making the game-winning basket. We beat Lowell and Galileo, but lost to Lincoln in our final game.

Mike Gridley
President Fall 1960

The Letterman Society has been quite active this year. Among these activities they have made, for the completion of the bleachers in the back field, the selling of sweat shirts of the gym classes with reasonable success, and the participation of the society in the 25th Anniversary invitational track meet and also in the May Festival where once again Dunko was a great success.

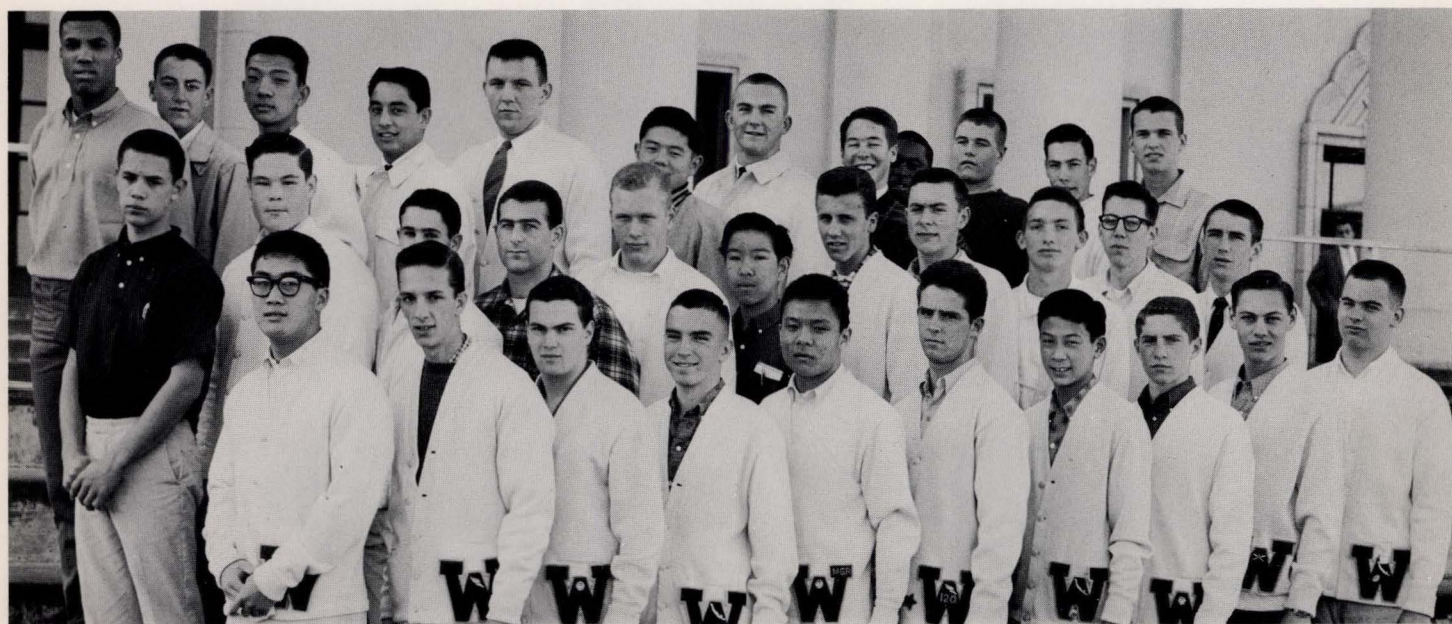

For the first time in the history of George Washington High School the Letterman Society took over the patrolling of the interscholastic basketball games. The use of the Letterman Society in this capacity has brought about a more active part for the Society in Student Government.

The officers for the term of Fall 1960 were Mike Gridley, President; Rodney Someya, Vice-President; Roger Fong, Secretary; Rich Horwitz, Treasurer; Fred Webster, Historian.

Class History

Led by their sponsor, Mr. Frank Power, the graduating class of Fall 1960 will be remembered for its many contributions to George Washington.

As low-sophomores they collected money for shrubs to be planted around the school grounds, and as high-sophomores they planted these shrubs. In their high-sophomore term they also sent Eagle newspapers to servicemen overseas who were once Washingtonians.

At last they became high-juniors, and after much hard work and planning, the class presented their Junior Day and Junior Day Dance, "Deep In The Heart of Texas." The Terrace Room of the Fairmont Hotel was the scene of the Junior Prom, "Misty."

The class worked many hours to make their Senior Day and Senior Day Dance, "Music, Music, Music," a great success. The Senior Prom was held at the Franciscan Room of the Sir Francis Drake Hotel on January 28.

Commencement exercises on January 31 brought to a close all of these memorable experiences.

Spring History

When we humbly walked into George Washington High School as Low Sophomores, we had great plans for our future three years here.

As High Soph's we earnestly mailed our Eagles to servicemen.

As Low Junior's we planned the P.T.A. Dinner which was very successful.

With the Happy Wanderers as our theme for our High Junior term, we had lots of fun and problems in planning our Junior Day and Dance. Our prom, Heavenly, was a complete success and we all shared memories of our Junior year.

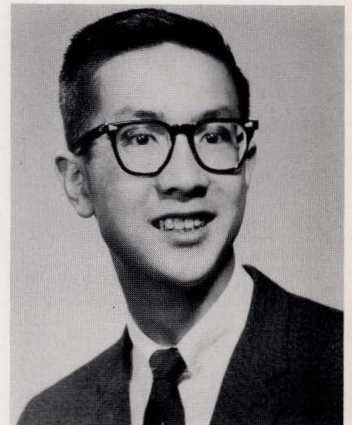

When we finally hit our Senior year we were all proud and happy to receive our Senior rings. We successfully planned the P.T.A. Drive.

"Throughout the Years" was our theme for our Senior Day Rally and Dance.

Our last activity was the prom on June 10, and finally on June 12 we graduated and left a wonderful school with a lot of wonderful memories.

Put a little fun in your life, try dancing!

Couldn't be thinking of that party tonight—could you?

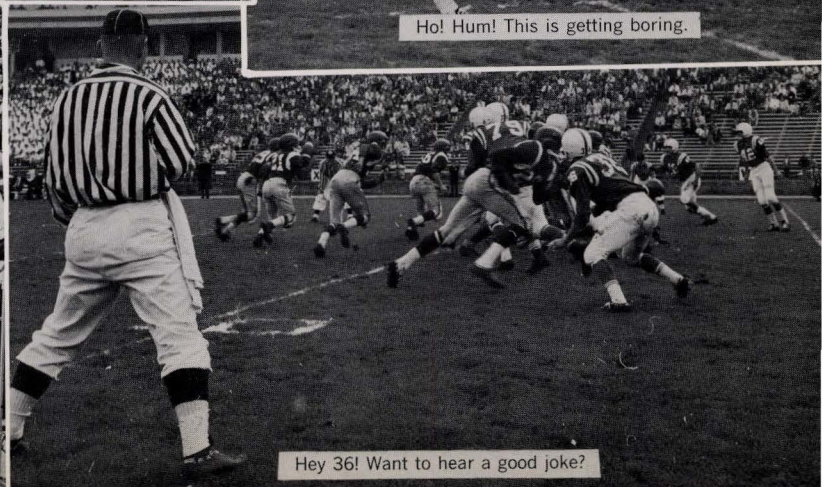

Move your foot—pretty please.

Ho! Hum! This is getting boring.

I wondered why it was on sale!

George Washington is one of the four northern California high schools to win the University of California Award of Merit for the academic year 1959-60.

The University of California Award of Merit was presented to George Washington on Tuesday, March 21, at the Award of Merit Assembly in Washington's auditorium. The assembly began at 10:30 a.m.

During the 1959-60 year, 38 University of California freshmen from George Washington earned a 2.76 average in the university scale. 4 is an A, 3 is a B, and 2 is a C. The all university average of the year was 2.36. Only 3 of the 38 freshmen, or 8 per cent made less than a C average, whereas 27 per cent of the whole student body fell below a C. This school was the only one in the city to earn the award this year.

Dr. Joel H. Hildebrand, formerly chairman of the Chemistry Department of the University of California, was introduced at the beginning of the assembly. Dr. Hildebrand introduced Dr. Frank L. Kinder, Dean of Education Relations at the University of California, who presented the Award of Merit to the school. Mr. O. I. Schmaelzle, Principal of George Washington High School, accepted the award for the school.

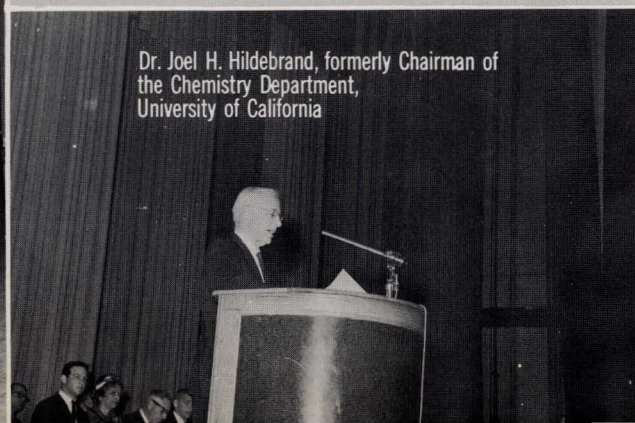

The reading of the names of the 39 alumni at the University of California was done by Mr. Morris Bobrow, former president of George Washington High School, and newly-elected president of the George Washington High School Alumni Association.

Dr. Robert West, vice provost of Stanford University, also presented a commendation from Stanford. Stanford University reports that the grade point average of George Washington High School students now attending Stanford was 3.02, which was higher than any private, parochial, or public high school with ten or more students now enrolled at Stanford.

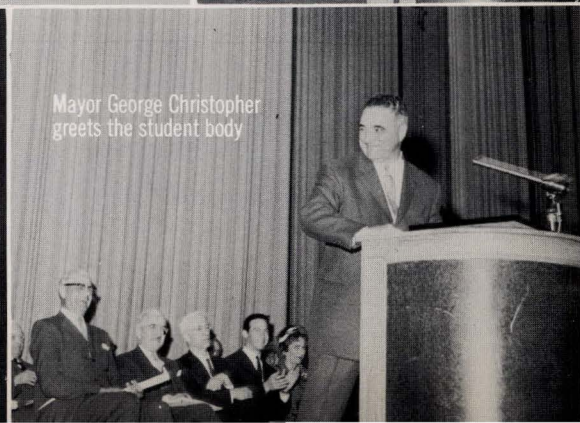

The reading of the names of the 13 Alumni at Stanford was done by Mr. Jerry Jones, president of the California Scholarship Federation, George Washington Unit.

George Washington High School has won the Award of Merit for eight years. These years are: 1949, 1952, 1953, 1954, 1955, 1957, 1959, 1961.
