Outwardly visible by the projection of modern buildings, Pasadena Junior College is swinging into a new plane of development. In an attempt to meet the demands of an evolving social order, a revisualization of educational principles was initiated. Curricular and student programs completed the cycle offering to the participant a more flexible perceptive of living. The 1935 Campus presents this growing cycle boldly and in broad strokes.

SUPERINTENDENTS

J. A. SEXSON

Entirely aware of discouraging opposition, the Board of Education not only reaffirmed community belief in the junior college as a four year educational unit, but also effected the passing of the $375,000.00 bond issue which assured adequate housing for the elaborate facilities necessary to the institution. Following the acceptance of the most advantageous bid, work was commenced on the old "Jane Addams" and "Louis Agassiz" buildings; at the same time ground was broken for a new cafeteria adjoining the Student Union. Dr. John A. Sexson, superintendent of schools, and Mr. George H. Merideth, assistant superintendent, directed their attention to the maintaining of high standards within restrictions of a limited budget.

Introducing an integration program affording students a broad education in humanities and sciences, Dr. John W. Harbeson also fostered more intimate and permanent community contacts. His persistent discretion has made this year comparable in many ways with those of less chaotic times.

JOHN A. ANDERSON

DEANS

Alive to every need that might demand time, thought, or effort, the deans have responded with efficiency and tact to all calls upon them. Counseling, due to the determined leadership of Miss Ida E. Hawes, Dean of Guidance, was uninterrupted, while vocational education and the introduction of an integration program advanced the effectuality of classroom routine. Mr. John A. Anderson, Dean of Records, centered his efforts in straightening, under strained conditions, the wealth of record material that comes to him with each new semester. Finding a place for the students on a campus with decreased accommodations fell to the lot of Dean of Men James P. O'Mara, who spent his summer executing the change of housing. Dean O'Mara pushed ahead plans for new structures, revamped the school's athletic system, and directed SERA. Miss Catherine J. Robbins, Dean of Women, receiving the adviser-ship of the student body, responded to the task of arranging for social affairs with limited facilities.

DEPARTMENT CHAIRMEN

Moving constantly toward a central goal, the department chairmen massed their efforts in achieving a rounded program to benefit every student. Mr. Murray Hill revised the English curriculum emphasizing the need for students to read. Mr. Bailey Howard, Physical Science, and Miss Mabel Pierson, Biological Science, worked for a constructively practical science course. Miss Lula Parmley skillfully directed the Music Department; and Miss Kathleen Loly maintained a balanced Language lay-out. Mr. Peter Stoner and Mr. Walter Johnson, Mathematics and Technology, endeavored to apply practice to theory. Under Mr. Roscoe Ashley, the Social Sciences will include more three unit courses. Major Geoffrey Galwey and Mrs. Esther Tenison working in separate fields, achieved similar results in R.O.T.C. and Home Economics, while Mr. Archibald Wedemeyer fostered student exhibitions in Art. Mr. Leland Pryor worked for recognition of Business courses by higher colleges. Mr. William Dunn, Physical Education, aided in making changes in inter-school athletics while Miss Winifred Skinner directed the Library, unfortunately housed on the crowded stage.

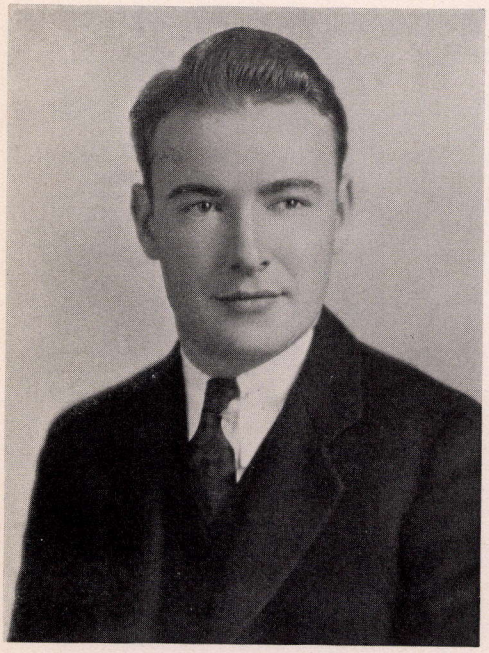

STUDENT BODY PRESIDENTS

ELEANOR NORTHRUP
PRESIDENT FIRST SEMESTER

The first woman to accept the president's gavel in the history of the junior college, Eleanor Northrup accepted as well a campus torn asunder and a student body lethargic and disinterested. Faced with other problems of a severity that would have taxed the ingenuity of the most efficient of her predecessors, Miss Northrup saw support given her seldom afforded women executives, directed the installation of a new student body office, realized her ambition to reestablish interest and enthusiasm in many of the student body activities.

DAVID PATRICK
PRESIDENT SECOND SEMESTER

Realizing that through actual contact with the student body lay the solution to the problem of a static interest in the affairs of the school, David Patrick began a semester fraught with changes both physical and abstract by writing for student publications and by creating a spirit of friendliness in the student body office as well as throughout the entire campus. A projected honor system and a change in athletic policies saw their origin under Patrick's regime as well as the first actual revision of a quake-torn, disorganized school plan.

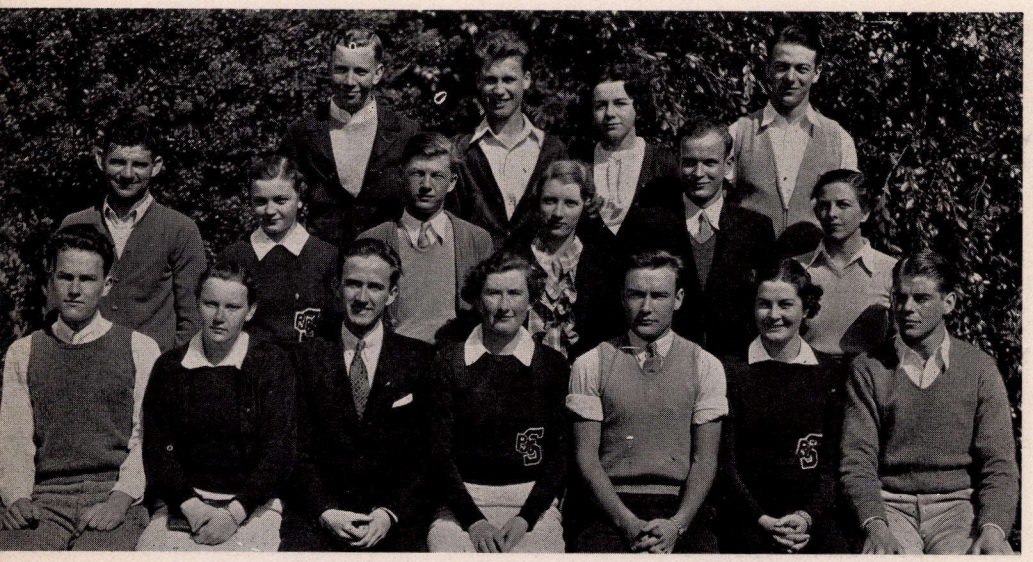

BOARD OF REPRESENTATIVES

Creating two new cabinet positions in the metamorphosis of Publicity and Public Relations from mere committees to full fledged secretaryships, the Board saw the former put publicity in its rightful position on the campus, the latter sponsor the radio programs begun a year ago and write student government articles for local newspapers. The downward revision of the budget, the appointing of cabinet members, and the passing on sub-committees, and other such purely routine duties which passed its way, took further time of the representative group. The new student adviser, Miss Catherine J. Robbins, held the reins of faculty supervision and gave student body officials their first opportunity to actually officiate. A student union building, constructed with student-appropriated funds, was dedicated November 21, housing the bookstore, fountain-lunch, and bank.

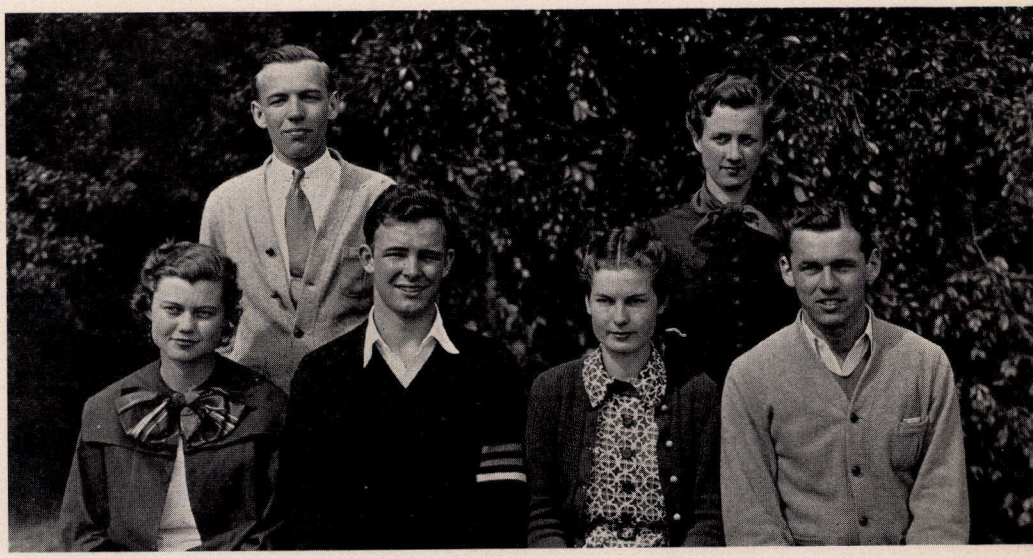

CABINET

Left to right—Top row: Carl Deisenroth, Secretary of Records I, II; Bud Paulson, Secretary of Publications I; Anna Marjorie Loomis, Clerk of Cabinet II; Dick Gorby, Secretary of Athletics I; Second row: James Herbold, Secretary of Athletics II; Alta Paquette, Secretary of Social Affairs II; Joe Phillips, Secretary of Oral Arts I; Ilo Smith, Clerk of Cabinet I; Bruce Winton, Secretary of Activities II; Katherine West, Secretary of Social Affairs I; Front row: Harold Berg, Secretary of Oral Arts II; Kathleen Cartwright, Secretary of Publicity II; Bill Moir, Secretary of Finance I, II; Mary Alice Gianetti, Secretary of Public Relations I, II; David Patrick, Secretary of Activities I; Pauline Stevens, Secretary of Publications II; Fred Good, Publicity I.

With the two newly appointed secretaryships added to their midst, cabinet members functioned as usual, following, in each respective office, the precedent set by former secretaries. Meeting with the board at the beginning of each semester, cabinet members were informed of their duties. Joining with Principal John W. Harbeson for a pot-luck supper and discussion, officers were able to come closer than ever before possible with the administration and general feeling that, with conditions as they were, activity had been surprisingly high. Outstanding were Katherine West, Social Affairs, fulfilling the thankless duties of a social secretary in a junior college hoping for the semblance of a suitable social center, and Bill Moir, Finance, under whose eye funds were effectively revised, downwards.

Opening the year with the hope of eliminating fines and arrests, the court soon found matters slipping into the same old grooves. After numerous violations of smoking and parking regulations, it was necessary to make arrests in order to enforce the campus laws. Following the usual procedure, fines in the case of the first offense were suspended, but with the second, the two dollars were collected and placed in the student fund. Policing the campus, the Parking Commission, the Lancers, and the Spartans were endowed with power to pronounce charges on miscreants. Hailed into court session Friday morning, club period, were students guilty of such offenses as noise—radios and horns — smoking, stealing, profanity, and failure to regard the closed campus ruling. Besides acting in its capacity as a judicial body, the court with a board of thirty was again in charge of the student body election as well as class elections.

In order that efficiency might mark the policy of the junior class, only a small council was appointed the first semester and, since the experiment was successful, continued in the spring. Finances of the class were placed on a carefully planned basis to insure that an adequate gift would be forthcoming for their graduation in 1936. At Thanksgiving a dance in collaboration with the sophomore class celebrated the holidays. Another dance was held in the ballroom of the Civic Auditorium on May 29. Joining further into the festive spring atmosphere, the juniors entered a booth in the Mast and Dagger Carnival. Seemingly music-minded, the class presented a dance ensemble at each of their three assemblies. One starring Bill Carey, crooner, was pronounced among the most popular assemblies of the year.

Confronted as were all classes with the problem of an ever decreasing supply of finances and space, Sophomores held their meetings in conjunction with Seniors and Juniors, sacrificing, as a consequence, the spirit of unity and cohesion that might have resulted had facilities been more favorable. With the Juniors, the lower division graduates danced to the late November strains of a Thanksgiving Hop; and following the re-election of John Benton, a class meeting heard the dulcet tones of Mason Mallery's orchestra from Horrell field. An Easter hop at the Civic preceeded the Rose Bowl graduation ceremony and the prom and buffet supper, customary send-offs for the June graduate.

With the placing of themselves at once in the midst of junior college life and making novices feel at home in the "bigness" of a new situation, the Freshman class officers chose a council large enough to represent students from every incoming school. The annual first semester dance, held in the main dining room of the Maryland Hotel on November 16, flaunted gay yellow and orange decorations while the bids bore the elegance of white suede. On May 11 the Froshies danced in the ballroom of the Masonic Temple; a racetrack theme characterized the dance. An assembly sponsored by the class included orchestra ramblings under the baton of Mason Mallory and his boys.

A. M. S.

To carry out a more encompassing contact with the men of the school, the Associated Men Students established a cabinet which handled all the business. Aside from the usual Friday morning meetings at which faculty members, Coach Nixon of Pomona and well known athletes such as Jimmy Dykes, manager of the White Sox, spoke, three stags were featured as evening entertainment. At the first, September 26, Pat O'Mara, Ellsworth Vines, and musicians from the Bulldog Band furnished the fun; at the second, January 3, Coach Pipal and Student Prexy Hammock of Oxy spoke; and the last, held in May, featured representatives from many different fields of sports. A tennis match took the place of a regular assembly. Matinee dances were given in conjunction with the A.W.S., while the annual boxing tournament swelled the general coffers. Father and Son banquet in the spring aroused its usual good fellowship.

A. W. S.

Left to right—Top row: Hazel Joslin, II; Joan Mitchell, I, II; Helen Morley, I; Mabel Pierce, I; Charlotte Heath, I; Ellen Lombard, II; Annette LaRue, I; Violet Jardine, I, II; Second row: June Mathews, II; Ruth Willard, I, II; Maxine Thompson, II; Kathleen Cartwright, I; Margaret Davis, I; Alberta Anderson, II; Barbara Milliken, II; Front row: Mary Marsh, Treasurer I, First Vice-President II; Alta Paquette, Second Vice-President I; Carolyn Munn, Second Vice-President II; Anona Alexander, First Vice-President I, President II; Pauline Stevens, President I; Ruth Jones, Secretary I, II; Marjorie Bettannier, Treasurer II; Lila Renner, I; Additional members: Leora Luce, I; Eleanor Roobian, II; Eleanor Sisk, II.

Taking their oath of office in a simple, impressive ceremony, the Associated Women Student officers were installed by Miss Ida E. Hawes, and laid out their general plan of activities at a conference at Laguna Beach. Among the scheduled events were assemblies, banquets, parties, and open houses, the last being sponsored in an effort to bring about a wider acquaintanceship among the women of the student body. The tradition of giving the Mother and Daughter, Athletic, and Football banquets was followed. Girls who had shown outstanding service assisted at the latter. In a novel A.W.S. assembly during the first semester, several men students gave their conception of an ideal girl. Along the line of welfare work, baskets were distributed at Thanksgiving and money was given to the charity clearing house; Christmas stockings were filled for Mexican children.

Heeding the call for various odd jobs and general "dirty work" about the campus, the Lancers passed their fourth year as an honorary service organization. With a policeman's watchful eye they patrolled the campus for the maintenance of law and order—being empowered to give tickets to violators—and assisted in the handling of assembly programs and nabbing all possible offenders of closed campus rulings. A regular Lancer committee served at all of the junior college athletic contests, assisting as gatekeepers and guards. Playing the major part in the annual bonfire "pep" rally held before the traditional football game with Long Beach, the black sweatered organization collected and stacked the material for the pyre to say nothing of guarding it through the long cold night against pyromaniacs.

SPARTANS

In the role of chief aides-de camp to the Dean of Women, the Spartans found numerous duties to occupy spare hours during the past year. Serving at teas, ushering at assemblies, and officiating at open-houses were minor activities compared to the hundred-and-one other responsibilities thrust upon the rust-sweatered twenty-five. In accordance with a newly passed ruling, Spartans now find themselves at the beck and call of needing instructors, ready at a word, to assist in any manner. Counselors were assisted during the mid-winter rush by Spartans, as were others officiating in the hustle and scurry of programming. In short, Spartans have proved themselves one of the most active of service groups, and certainly the most willing. Under the presidency of Joanna Pupis, they engaged in social work during the holidays, and arranged a St. Patrick's dance.

Realizing that the whole of education is aimed at the choosing and mastering of a vocation, Vo-Mag has striven to bring the students material concerning widely diversified fields. In seeking articles from authoritative sources, it has hoped to bring a keener insight into the prerequisites and trends which vocations are taking. Rising above the high standard set last year, Jean Backus, editor, saw the completion of three issues with a secondary theme in each, featuring special essays and poems. With articles ranging from those of the most technical nature to essays to be read for sheer enjoyment, Vo-Mag met the challenge of universal appeal. Balancing the interest of the articles, outstanding photography and make-up characterized the three numbers of the third year of the magazine. Under the sponsorship of Miss Ida Hawes, Vo-Mag was published by the Department of Guidance.

CAMPUS BOARD

Coinciding with a theme that shows the new cycle of development in recent educational trends, the 1935 Campus stresses accuracy in putting forth a record typical of the year it represents. Under the direction of Ben Ludden, editor, and Marjorie Barmettler, associate editor, the book projects a true portrait of the school, reflecting a pervading spirit of optimism and achievement in contrast with one of dejection and worry prevalent last year. Lay-outs by Mary Lou McConnelly, art editor, and unusual division page photographs by Sherwood Mark, staff photographer, are the result of the editorial board's desire to produce a book illustrating the informal atmosphere on the campus. Though guided by a limited budget, the business manager, Ellsworth

Providing a major highlight of the year was the presentation of the California Press Association award, a large silver loving cup, which was won by the 1934 Campus under the editorship of Dick Dewey. The book was printed in the junior college printshop for the first time after an interlude of several years with a cooperation of departments that has been lacking before. Mr. John Ehlen and Mr. Ned Stirling, faculty advisers, provided the conservative hand that guided the book to a successful conclusion.

CHRONICLE BOARD

Celebrating, this year, its twentieth anniversary, the Pasadena Junior College Chronicle looked in retrospection over two decades in which its columns have brought current news to the student body. Guided by a policy of constructive cooperation, the inquiring reporter has followed his nose for news. In an effort to bring the news hot off the press, publication date was changed this year from Friday to Wednesday. Keeping abreast with the times politically, the sheet sponsored a student vote campaign to incite the enthusiasm of the student body as well as conducted a poll of campus opinion on the gubernatorial situation. An open forum initiated a more general expressing of collegiate thought than has hitherto been permitted on the editorial page of the sheet. Under the able editorship of Maxine Thompson, "If This Be Treason," a general man about the campus column, by Carter B. Cordner was the outstanding feature of the first semester, while James Parsons' editorials aroused considerable comment in the spring. Editorial positions were created and staff offices were revised to distribute the work more evenly and to allow a longer development period for potential editors to exercise their abilities. Dr. Glenn Lembke and Mr. Ned Stirling acted in advisory capacity to the paper.

SPEECH ARTS

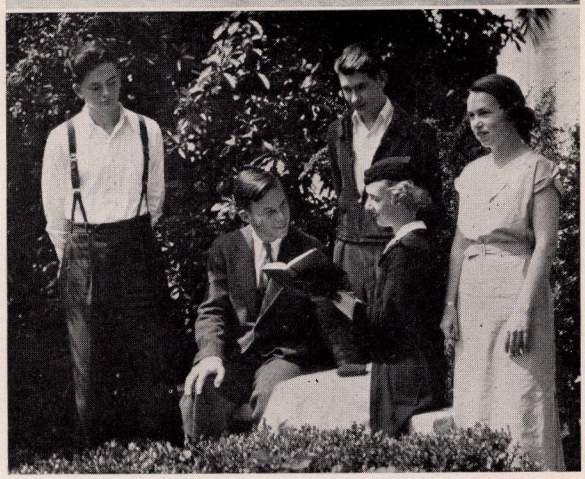

ONE-ACT PLAYS

Can you imagine a husband taking friend wife's place in the home, working his fingers to the bone sewing and washing? Or a wife traveling to the office every day, writing the checks, and assuming family worries? The topsy-turvy world "In 1999" presents this picture in an amusing play which Players Guild staged with Roy Burr as the hubby who stayed home, Elinor Brown as friend wife and Doris Clark as the apex to a modern triangular situation.

"In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." She was a lovely book agent who found janitors difficult in the selling of her wares, and he was a young business man. She sold her book and he lost his heart. The janitor was just a janitor—tired of playing detective to keep out undesirable people. Bauble and Bells sponsored "When It's Spring"; members of the double cast included: Natalie Graverson, Murray Huss, Kenneth Cartzdafner, Peter Prouse and Bancroft Nelson.

Gettysburg, the historical battlefield of the Civil War, where men fought and died in the struggle for freedom. Filled with the determination to march with the boys once again in the Decoration Day parade, and asking the help of the Almighty, he goes to join the ranks of his old comrades. Using "Gettysburg" as their vehicle, Pasadena Junior College entered the one-act play contest at the Community Playhouse. Through the combined efforts of the cast, with Norbert Bundschuh as the disabled veteran and Severine Callahan as his niece, and Miss Elizabeth Keppie, director, this junior college entrant placed second in their division of the contest. Norbert Bundschuh received honorable mention for acting.

DICKENS AND SHAKESPEARE SCENES

At the request of the Dickens Fellowship of Pasadena, three troups of players from Miss Katharine Kester's drama classes presented scenes from the works of Charles Dickens. The scenes which were from "The Old Curiosity Shop," "Great Expectations," and "Oliver Twist," were entitled "Swiveller and the Marchioness," "The Convict in the Churchyard," and "Mr. Bumble's Courtship." Figuring in the excerpts were Francis Sinnette, Gertrude Garrett, Leona des Plantes, Helen Fergueson, Gerard Janssen, Laura Langford, Anna Sussman, Newell Barrett, and Virginia Sydnor.

STACIA CAUGHT IN THE SPELL OF THE KINDLY STRANGER WHO CHANGED SELFISH PUPPETS INTO HUMAN BEINGS

Out of a misty square in old London, through the tawdriness of boarding house existence, a stranger quietly passes; but the boarders will never forget him, for the life of each is remodeled by his short visit. More than the others who feel the glow of the Stranger's magnetic individuality, Stacia, workhouse slavey, finds dormant qualities within her awakened; from a mean, snappy illiterate, she becomes a charming girl. Following in the wake of her transformation, others of the household change from shrews and cads to lovers and altruists. Responsible for the atmospheric development in "Passing of the Third Floor Back," modern miracle play by Jerome K. Jerome, were Miss Elizabeth Keppie, adviser of Players Guild, and Nancie Jean Allen and Judith Gibson, student directors of the elaborate production.

"Psmith will do anything provided it has nothing to do with fish! Crime not objected to!" Fleeing life in a fish factory, Psmith gains entrance into Blanding's Castle impersonating a poet. Under contract to Freddie Bosham to steal Lady Middlewick's famous diamonds, Psmith meets Eve Halliday. True love is almost stranded on the rocks when she penetrates his disguise. Another guest, Aileen Peavey, is revealed to the audience as a crook and Eddie Cootes as her dumb accomplice. Baxter, super-efficient secretary, turns detective and succeeds in proving—nothing. Taking matters into his own hands Psmith rescues the precious stones from the pair of crooks . . . and so the happy ending. From the pen of P. G. Wodehouse and under the direction of Miss Katharine Kester, "Leave It to Psmith" snapped and crackled with staccato repartee and a barrage of sharp puns.

Covering themselves with glory at the Pi Kappa Delta meet, three of junior college debate teams won twelve out of the eighteen combats. These results automatically placed them among the highest competitors at Stockton February 28, March 1 and 2. The debate season formally opened with a meet held in Pasadena, Harold Berg and Dow Parkes placing second to Glendale in the final round. At Redlands February 9, Joe Phillips and Trevor Gardner were given highest rating. Mr. Davis coached the debate teams. Taking honors both in the Davis-Hall and Arnold Extemporaneous contests Carl Deisenroth placed first, leaving Jesse Harvey the lower division winner of the former.

GLORIA

HEAVEN'S BRILLIANCE REFLECTS IN VISION OF CHRISTMAS

With an atmosphere of deep devotional uplift, the choral-drama "Gloria" was performed for a second season before two capacity audiences at the Civic Auditorium, constituting Pasadena's most elaborate Christmas production. The combined Glee Clubs, A Cappella Choir, Nysaeans, and Euterpeans composed the music ensembles under the direction of Miss Lula Parmley. Leading a cast of 400 persons, principal roles in the drama were played by Virginia Vail (Madonna), Pauline Stevens and Helen Stone (Heavenly Messengers), Stanley Meacham, Stanley Taft, and Charles Davis (Three Wise Men), Larkin Williams (Joseph), Winthrop Thompson (Judah), Frederic Warriner (Saraden), Natalie Theisen (Elizabeth), and Norbert Bundschuh (Prophet-Priest). Dramatic scenes were directed by Miss Katharine Kester, author of the play, which is popular with audiences in the Southland.

Forced to turn down numerous engagements in the face of a mounting activities calendar, the Bulldog band carried its standards into new fields of triumph. Under the direction of Mr. Audre Stong, the official Tournament of Roses band represented Alabama at the New Year's game, and traveling to San Diego, opened the exposition in that city. Small instrumental and vocal groups added novelty and zest to the numbers of the group.

As mentors of song typical of male choruses, the Men's Glee Club entertained often outside of school in addition to regular assembly appearances. Among the engagements were those at junior high schools, the Masonic Temple and Monrovia. With Miss Carrie Sharp as leader and Priscilla Fox as accompanist, the club contributed its talents to "Gloria," Christmas production, and "Elijah," which was substituted for the usual spring opera.

Robed in purple gowns and white surplices, the A Cappella Choir filled its calendar with numerous engagements in nearby cities as well as over the radio. The chorus of 50 carefully chosen voices, trained by Miss Lula Parmley, sang in Gloria, the spring oratorio, Elijah, and entertained the Western Music Teachers Convention in a program broadcast over a national hook-up.

Varying from the usual procedure of presenting an operetta, the music department, under the guidance of Miss Lula Parmley, produced Mendelssohn's oratorio, "Elijah," as its major project. Drawing from student talent with the exception of George Garner, guest artist, as Obadiah, leading roles were interpreted by Stanley Taft as Elijah, June Spear as an Angel, Elsie Fredin as the Widow, Constance Orozco as an Angel, Eunice Throne as an Angel, and Howard Christopher as the Youth. Making use of all the music students possible, supplementary groups including the A Cappella Choir, Men's and Women's Glee Clubs, and the Oratorio choruses were trained by Miss Carrie Sharp and Mr. John Lyons. "Elijah," the most widely known of Felix Mendelssohn's oratorios, was written by request as the feature of a special music festival. The production was given May 24 at the Civic Auditorium with three hundred students participating.

LIFE SECTION

REFLECTIONS

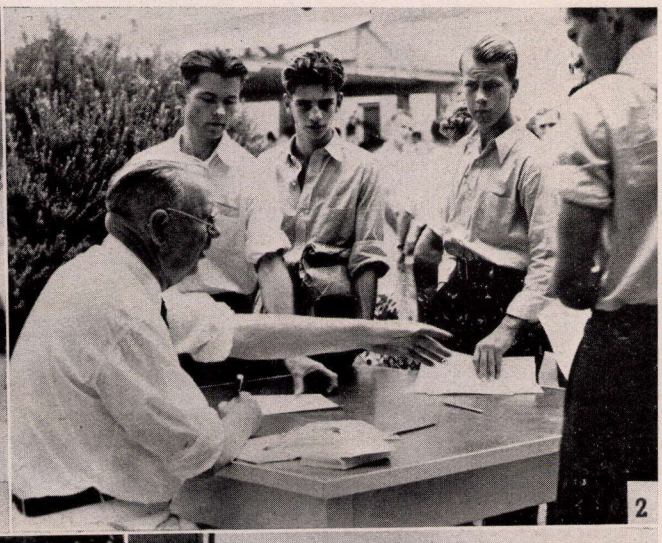

Collegians filling out forty'leven programs, dating up with new profs. Plunging into the year, a parade of class and club dances. Rushing and bidding of starry-eyed girls, and eager lads. You've got to be a football hero—and all the mud that goes with it. Rain that drizzles on the tent tops and makes the sputtering radiator seem futile, and in the background bare bony ribs of buildings. Christmas—a mad whirl. Hopeful prayers fulfilled, and a sunny New Year's Day to exhibit the pride of college femininity. Back to school with a vengeance. More rain—rain and the War of 1812, rain and modes of social behavior, rain and chromatic scales in G minor, rain and the intricate anatomy of a fish eye. Groans, puzzled brows and February finals. Tossing books in a corner—spring vacation. Lazy days of sun-tanning and some burning. Back brown as a gypsy with best of resolutions. Hard work and term reports for six weeks. Finals. Dreamily we slip out for the joys of vacation.

RECOGNITION

As a nucleus of students talented in the fine arts, exhibiting a capacity for scholarship or R. O. T. C., and those who have given unselfish service to the school, the honorary clubs reward outstanding accomplishment. With the formation this spring of an honor society for technology students, Theta Gamma Sigma took its place along side of Alpha Gamma Sigma and C. S. F. in complimenting those who excel in academic pursuits. Pi Delta Kappa and Beta Phi Gamma open their fraternal doors to those who have distinguished themselves by means of the pen. The R. O. T. C. confers honor by membership in Shield and Eagle, while Delta Psi Omega, Phi Rho Pi, and Zeta Gamma Phi respectively recognize students who have been picked for exceptional contributions in the fields of drama, speech, and art. Mast and Dagger, whose members have earned this highest recognition for service, sponsored a Chinese New Year's carnival on May 17, and in that festive dress, played host to the school.

Restrictive clubs improved their general character on the campus and within the city by promoting a much friendlier feeling between club members and non-organization students; Enforcement of the "no freshman rushing" rule and the abolition of downtown newspaper publicity were factors contributing toward this end. Through their efforts to develop social poise and discretion they offered companionship of undisputed value. This year, more than ever before, outside activities endorsed by the junior college experienced the support of the clubs.

UPPER DIVISION FOOTBALL

CAPT. TIM HOLABIRD

Coach Frank Baker's upper division gridders, although managing to tie with Long Beach, Santa Monica, and Ventura for the nether position, could not cope with the heavier, faster, and more powerful teams from Glendale, Compton, and Los Angeles. Except for a few bursts of spirit and badly needed "fight," the upper division did not have the ambition of former years. The Long Beach skirmish furnished the needed enthusiasm which enabled the locals to tie the traditional game 6-6. Bowing to the Mastiffs, Santa Monica fell 6-2 and Fullerton 3-0. "Teeny" Casserly drop-kicked a field goal in the closing minutes of play to beat the Yellowjackets, and Duncan caught a pass from Erickson for the other last minute score to beat the Beachers from Santa Monica. Captain-elect Duncan was the mainstay of the Baker eleven with Captain Holabird and Burby being picked for important all-conference teams. Coach Frank Baker and his squad are given credit for the most flashy and consistent scoring play of the conference. Reverses to Ward on receiving kick-offs accounted for touchdowns against Long Beach and Fullerton.

LOWER DIVISION
FOOTBALL

Lower division football prospects appeared promising at the beginning of the season for Coaches John Thurman and Carl Metten due to the fact that six returning lettermen, a number of outstanding gridders, and a wealth of material from junior highs were on hand. As the fatal season drew on, the Bulldogs did not seem to click, winning one, tying one, and losing eight games in the season. The South Pasadena Tigers, habitual football enemies, tied the lower division 12-12 in their first game of the season. Although outmaneuvering the Glendale Dynamiters, first downs being in the Bulldogs' favor 13-1, the game was lost 9-6 by Pasadena. A blocked punt by Ralph Riddle and a safety were the only scores made by Pasadena when they lost their second league encounter 21-9 to Alhambra. Walt McGowen and his Southern California champions from Long Beach were the next to spell disaster for the locals when the long-hated Jackrabbits won 26-6. For the mythical city championship with Muir Tech there was a hectic battle with many long passes and runs. The Northside Terriers finally licked the Bulldogs 15-13 after two disputed scoring plunges by huge Wright. This was the only time in the entire season that Pasadena seemed to find itself. Long runs and kicks by Schindler accounted for the 27-0 defeat by San Diego and although the Bulldogs again reaped more first downs, they suffered their worst defeat of the season. Santa Ana won the most spectacular game by a score of 18-14. Hawkins featured in all the Saints' scores, running for two and passing for the others. Passes from Wright to Lansdell and Wright to Riddle scored for the Pasadenans. Riddle made both conversions. A practice tilt with Lincoln High ended in the win for the local aggregation, the score being 16-13. Riddle was unanimously nominated the most valuable member of the team and received the Elks' trophy while Captain McDonough, Pastre and Wright were the other outstanding players for the Crimson squad.

LIGHTWEIGHT FOOTBALL

The pre-season outlook of Coaches Leland McAuley and Nor Jaqua was depressing this year but it didn't brighten up as it has in previous years. Busik and Tajima were the only lettermen to return, yet out of nearly fifty green but willing gridders, the coaches developed an eleven that lost two and tied two Coast League encounters. The Bullpups outplayed both Glendale and Long Beach only to lose 7-6 and 6-0 respectively. Glendale pulled the old but workable hide-out play and the Long Beach Bunnies won on a lone pass. Alhambra and Santa Ana gave the Pasadenans their toughest battles but both tilts ended in ties

Yuji Tajima averted possible defeat at the hands of Santa Ana when he blocked a punt, picked it up and scooted the remaining 35 yards to a touchdown. The line with Tajima, Fricke, Gardner, Cort, Paquette, Fletcher, and Wing was the outstanding section of the local eleven. An inadequate pass defense may be blamed for most of the defeats of this season.

UPPER DIVISION BASKETBALL

CAPT. DAVE McNEIL

After winning and losing spasmodically, Coach Frank Baker's upper division basketeers ended the 1935 campaign in a two way tie for fifth place with Long Beach. With forty-three men answering the first call, the upper division began an intensive practice season which gained only fair results. In the conference opener the Samojacs from Santa Monica sunk a 31-22 victory over the locals, but the following evening a vastly improved Pasadena five managed to eke out a 29-27 win over the loudly touted Glendale Buccaneers. The locals went under both Los Angeles and Compton's Terrible Tartars with 35-25 and 25-21 scores. Long Beach was the next in line for the Bulldogs and lost 39-30. The Ventura Pirates finished the first round of conference play with a 44-39 win over the uppers. Santa Monica and Compton were the only teams to make double wins while the Bulldogs pulled a surprise in an overtime game with L. A. J. C. Cubs and took a 28-27 win. The Ventura defeat was also revenged in a decisive manner as the "weak sister of the Western

BASKETBALL

With a team composed of four returning lettermen from the lower division and three lettermen from the lightweights, Coach William Dunn molded a casaba squad which gave all opponents a hectic battle and ended the season in a second place tie with the strong Long Beach five. Opening the season to the tune of a 29-20 win over the Glendale Buccaneers, the Bulldogs began their climb for titular honors; but the Alhambra Moors proved to be the proverbial "monkey wrench" when they downed the locals 32-24. Coach Dunn's squad shared top honors with the Moors, who wound up the season as Coast League

The Long Beach Jackrabbits, under the smooth-working forward, Captain Maher, proved the real undoing of the Pasadena quintet. Captain Crossan Hays, Sid Johnson, Ralph Riddle and Bill Bartholomew were returning lettermen with Rich Bucheister, Fred Fitzpatrick and Johnny Taylor, all members of last year's Coast League champion lightweights. Sharing first string honors with the veterans, Johnson led the herd of league sharpshooters by 26 points to take the top rung of the scoring ladder, with Hays and Bucheister also high. In the San Diego tilt they won 50-31, but they seemed to draw their "off nights" against such teams as Alhambra and Long Beach.

CAPT. AL WING

Unlike their brother lightweights during football season, the Bullpup cagers, under the guiding hand of Coach Leland "Mac" McAuley lost two league games, reaching the Coast League playoff with Long Beach only to be humbled by a 44-33 defeat. In the first league encounter with the Glendale Firecrackers the Bullpups met a superior early season squad and lost by the decisive margin of eight points, the final score being 29-21. From then until the return game played on the local floor with Long Beach Bunnies, the "Macmen" went on a scoring spree. After losing the first game 21-19 in a see-saw battle, the Beachers came to life and sent a much improved team to nose out the Pasadenans 32-29. With only these two defeats on their record the Pups went into the play-offs, which were held on the neutral court at Whittier College only to lose again clinching their place at second spot. The Pasadenans won the city championship from Muir Tech in a two-game series with the scores of 22-20 and 37-8. Al Wing, elected honorary captain at the end of the season, Jack Page, Morgan West and late in the season, Dick Lusk were the lettermen returning from last year's more successful team of Coast League champs. Callier again starred, collecting two firsts and a second as the "Nidaymen" lost the final dual meet to Los Angeles 82 2-3 to 48 1-3. Captain Sinnette established a new meet record by running the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.9. CAPT. VAN ETTEN

Coach Carl Metten pushed his lower division track team to a third place in the Coast League finals held at Glendale, although the Bulldogs did not fare so well in dual meets. The Pasadenans started with wins in their practice meets, but fell before Glendale, their first conference foe, 72½-42½. Tommy Nelson scooted the century in 9.9 to win his favorite race. Alhambra lost the second cinderfest and Long Beach won the final track contest between the schools by the fairly close score of 62-51. San Diego won a lopsided 71½-41½ score over Pasadena. The 1935 dual season was wound up with a win for the locals when they beat Santa Ana. For the city championship the Bulldogs lost 52 2-3 - 48 1-3, although Tommy Nelson, who has not been beaten, ran the 100-yard dash in 9.8, and Captain John Van Etten heaved the shot 51 feet 4 in. While waiting for the league meets to start, the Bulldogs grabbed fourth place in the San Bernardino Orange Show relays. Five lower division cindermen placed in the Coast League finals to put Pasadena in third place. Clark Mallery pulled a surprise in winning the high jump, Nelson won the 100-yard dash, Payton Jordan placed second in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes, Johnny Eikenbery nabbed a second in the half-mile, Howard Bachman, rejuvenated sprint man, got a second in the 440, and Van Etten heaved the shot put 51 ft. 11 in. to win his event. Out of the five Pasadena trackers to place in the Southern California prelims, only two men won places in the finals held in the Coliseum. Nelson, Captain Van Etten, Bachman, Jordan, Eikenbery and Mallery were the Bulldogs to shine in the prelims. Nelson won the 100-yard dash from his local rival, the highly touted Brainard Worrell, from Muir Tech, in a 9.8 race. Howard Bachman, former 100 and 220-yard dashman, who has made the most marked progress of the lower division track squad, won fifth spot in the 440-yard dash.

Ballentine, sprint star from McKinley Junior High, running second in the 220, and Green, finishing fourth in the 1320-yard run were the only other Bullpups to enter the C. I. F. finals. Wells, in competition with tracksters from every Southern California school, placed third in the 100-yard dash with Dave Ballentine winning fourth in the furlong. Clarence Wells' win over the flashy Muir Tech sprinter, Eddie Arnold, was the most brilliant performance as the Bullpups won the mythical class "B" track titles 53-41. Wells' time was 10.1. Long Beach was lucky to win its dual meet from the locals. Had the Bullpups not dropped the baton in the relay, which was the deciding event, the Bunnies would not have won 49½ to 45½. In the Glendale meet the locals, by not placing in the discus throw lost the meet 55-49. Second and third place points won the Santa Ana meet for the locals, although they won five first places. The lightweights were completely lacking in discus and shot put material, which may account for the fairly low standing in the Coast League and Southern California finals. Johnny Breyer, pole vaulter, and Johnny Trowbridge, pole vaulter and shot putter, were the only "Cee" tracksters to make their letters; Breyer tied for fourth to place in the Coast League pole vault.

Fourteen errors were totaled by both teams as the uppers won 14-12 over the Glendale Buccaneers at Brookside Park. Augie Hess again stood out for the locals, getting three hits at four times at bat. Coach Thurman scored the biggest upset of the season when his nine won a surprising 6-5 win over the Los Angeles Junior College Cubs. CAPT. C. HARRIS

Coach Nor Jaqua's lower division baseball team, composed in part of five veteran diamondeers, was on the up and down all through a mediocre season. Captain "Swede" Harris, first baseman, headed the returning list made up of Ski Herbold, 2nd base, Shig Kawaii, shortstop and 2nd base, Vernon Lief, and George Bodenschot, southpaw outfielders, and Bill Schuelke, shortstop and pitcher. Promising junior high stars filled other positions. After winning over Muir Tech, finalists in the Pomona 20-30 Club Tourney, Cathedral, South Pasadena, Monrovia, and Oxy Frosh, and winning their league opener against Glendale's Dynamiters

4-3, the Bulldogs hit a slump that stayed with them until the final against Santa Ana, with a short rise while at the Pomona baseball confab. Schuelke's home run with the bases full was not enough to beat the Alhambra Moors in the second game. With the aid of costly errors the Moors won, 8-5. For the third tilt the lowers traveled all the way to Long Beach only to take a 16-3 shellacking. Ocheltree, southpaw chucker for the locals, was the victim of bats swung by the San Diegans in the next encounter, which was dropped by the locals 7-0. Bodenschot copped individual batting honors with three hits as Coach Jaqua pushed his nine back to early season form to blank Santa Ana 8-0 in the final game. Schulze, regular Pasadena hurler, gave the Saints four scattered hits. The "wrong-armed" outfield squad which was composed of Vernon Lief, George Bodenschot and Bill Feasley, proved itself to be the strongest section of the local team of nine and gave them the opportunity to reach the quarter-finals of the 20-30 Club Tournament. Exeter High was squashed as the first victim of the local boys by a 6-2 score and Pomona dropped the next game with a goose egg, 7-0. Long Beach again eliminated decisively the hard fighting Bulldogs, 9-3. Some say "practice makes perfect" but as far as the lower division baseball squad goes it did not make perfect—only caused the Bulldogs to go stale. Coach Nor Jaqua, team-driver Jaqua, as he might easily be called, had the boys playing ball every day of the week but Sunday and during Easter vacation when a few of the team would rather have slept. Although practice is what has been badly missing from most of the local teams, P. J. C. will probably need to be initiated to it little by little.

Although losing three valuable men through ineligibility at the first of the season, a well balanced upper division team of pill-chasers under Coach Frank Baker went through the season defeating Compton Junior College on the home course and Glendale Junior College at Glendale. However, the local divot-diggers dropped tilts to Santa Monica, Ventura and a strong Long Beach team. The first week in June the team played in the inter-collegiate golf tournament at the Fox Hills Country Club in Los Angeles. Outstanding among the members of the team were Palmer Kise playing in first position, Elmer Enstrom, manager, playing in second position, and Marshall Benedict, who played in the third position. Los Angeles Junior College was the next to lose to the local aggregation, 15-8. Bill Bailey, former Bulldog, defeated Norman Buck, local first man, with Ed Barker and Bill Hull losing their first intercollegiate match. Hardey's proteges blanked the Compton Tartars with 23-0 for their one-sided score. Glendale was humbled 21-2. With Long Beach also put out of the way, the Mastiffs defeated Ventura, cinching the Western honors for the second year.

A green and inexperienced lower division tennis team, tutored by the tennis playing maestro, Francis Hardey, represented the Pasadena Junior College during the 1935 season. The lower division team wound up the opposite of the crack upper squad, landing close to the bottom of the pile when the season drew to a close. The Bulldogs, however, pulled an upset to win over the Franklin High School Printers, 7-4. The absence of Bobby Riggs, former national boys' singles champion, and Roy Clark, his doubles partner, somewhat weakened the Angelenos, both competing in the Ojai tourney. With many matches lost by default the San Diego Hilltoppers won 8-3 over the Hardeymen. All other Coast League matches were won and lost depending greatly on the current ambition of the players.

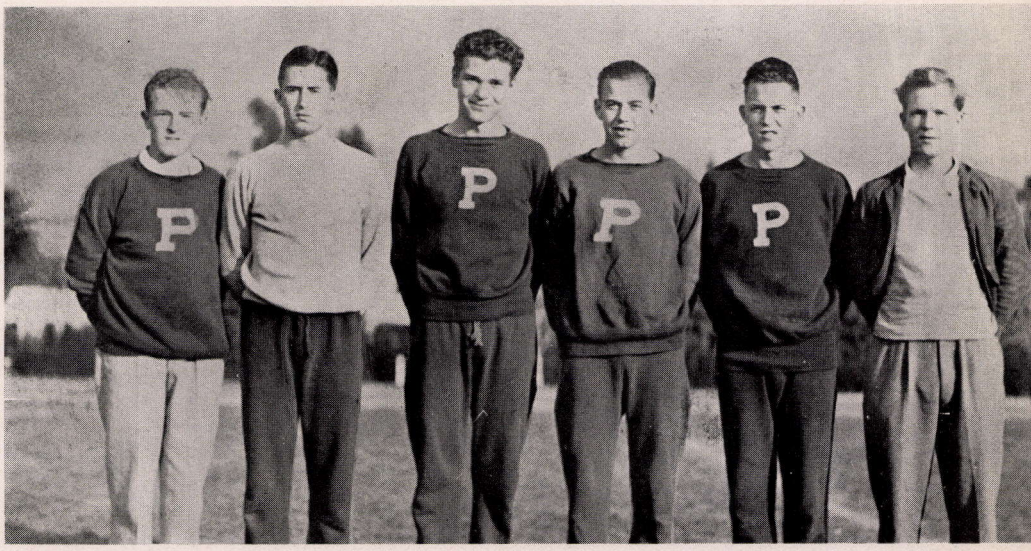

U. D. CROSS COUNTRY

Running through rain and mud, handicapped with a cold, Captain Homer Pownall, veteran and rated foremost in the Western Division cross-country racing, ran in fifth place during the Western Division championship meet on the three-mile course at Westwood. Compton junior college's Tartar leather lungers retained the championship with Captain Rice, Zamperini, and Mounday finishing for Compton in a three-way tie. Acevido of Los Angeles junior college was fourth. Homer Pownall and Claude Joiner were the only lettermen to return to Coach Niday with the resultant green squad of harriers. Pownall set a new record for the Altadena course with the fast time of 15.44.5. Although Coach Everett Niday had a wealth of material to work with, the harriers could not compete with the classier squads.

After completing only a fair season of dual meets, the lower division cross country track team came back to win a third place in the Southern California C.I.F. championships held at Long Beach. Besides this third place, the Bulldog leather lung runners won the city championship, defeating Muir Tech. Montebello was the other victim of the Pasadena team. Close matches were lost to Pomona and the first meet with Montebello. This year's team was handicapped a great deal with nothing but green material. However, with the fine tutoring of Coach Jack Niday the team came along in great style to finish the season with a good all-round team. John Winn proved directly responsible for the winning of the third place in the Southern California meet by placing third over a host of good runners.

SWIMMING

Upsetting the annals of school history, the upper division natators defeated the Long Beach team. The score of 50-30 proved the prowess of the Bullfrog team. Glendale fell next victim to the Pasadena mermen, losing 48-27. Santa Monica journeyed to the local school for the sole home meet of the season, only to have the P. J. C. paddlers splash their way to the long end of 49-29. Came the downfall in which the Cubs of L. A. J. C. easily walked off with the dual meet championship, 52-27. The lower division lost all of its meets with some of the strongest teams in the Southland as its foes. Fullerton, Long Beach Poly and Pomona freshmen were the teams that proved too strong for the Bullfrog squad. Many meets have been scheduled as the Campus goes to press, with hopes for a successful season.

WATER POLO

Handicapped by a closed swimming pool during the entire season, Pasadena was forced to play on enemy territory; and because of the number of teams dropping out of the league, they staged a return act in every case. In the first contest the local mermen made the poorest showing of the season, falling before the Los Angeles Poly seven 14-2, but in the return game the local team completely surprised itself by taking a 6-2 lead at half time. Rising to the challenge, however, the Romans nipped the invading squad 9-6. Long Beach easily won the first contest 13-4 and rang the gong a second time, 10-3. Fullerton, the league winner, climbed over the Bullfrogs 10-4 and 9-3. Long Beach Wilson won both games, 8-4 and 7-4, proving Pasadena's closest tussles. Inglewood tore into the Bulldogs 9-3 and 8-4.

Revealing marked improvement in playing ability over previous years, Pasadena Junior College's R.O.T.C. rugby football team made an excellent showing during the 1935 season by turning in four wins, one tie and five defeats against strong opposition. Under the able captain-coaching of Herschel Howard, the Majors defeated Hollywood in the season opener, 5-0, but dropped the second conflict to Santa Barbara, 5-11. The initial game with Santa Monica ended in a 3-3 deadlock, however, the beach city ruggers swamped the locals 11-0 in their second appearance. The army fifteen's most creditable victories were a 9-0 walloping handed to the battling U.S.C. Spartans, a decisive 15-0 victory to scallop the Vandals, and a 12-3 licking which they gave to the the Golden State team.

RIFLE

With an altogether new squad in 1935, the Pasadena Junior College R.O.T.C. rifle team was unable to uphold the old-time record of winning the Hearst National R.O.T.C. championship shield, but made a good bid for the distinction considering the circumstances. No last year's riflemen taking the gun up again, Sergeant Morgan's squad finished approximately one-third of the way down the list of 55 secondary school entered in the Western sector of the tournament to drop back of its usual mark. It was to the credit of the high scores of Frank and Paul Reichert and Alfred Einstein that the local sharpshooting unit placed as near to the top as it did. The Pasadena riflemen were captained by Alfred Einstein through 1935. Returning members expect to recapture the old standard.

INTRA-MURAL

Athletes, with competitive ambition, find a special interest in their school and educational ratings which results, in a large measure, are responsible for the maintenance of public standards. School athletics, however, are taken by the students during their free time and many of the athletic type students are not able to practice after school hours. The many "not ables" are forgotten; those remembered are the comparatively few seen each day practicing their respective games and events. These are accepted as the whole number of school athletes. Since the inception of intra-mural sports, there has existed a strong bond of common interest, effective cooperation, and strengthened comradeship between club-members and other organized playing groups of students unable to take advantage of school athletics. Because the school has taken the interest to establish intra-mural sports there exists a keener interest in school, and higher standards are established. The proper function of intra-mural sports is to embed high ideals of sportsmanship and play in student minds. Since these teams do not have the assistance of faculty coaches another important function lays the foundation for intelligent, independent thinking in clean competition, which in turn results in freedom of individual judgment as well as team play.

By defeating the Forestry, C. D. Y., and Areopagites, the O. S. F. team annexed the football, basketball, and volleyball intramural championships. For the first title they defeated the Areops in the 3 o'clock division to go into the playoffs with the highly touted Forestry team. The score was tied 0-0 until the last four minutes when the O. S. F. gang completed a 20-yard pass for the winning touchdown. They battled it out with C. D. Y. to win the basketball title 54-6. Although the score would indicate a lopsided game, it had its tight spots. By defeating the Areopagites the O. S. F. annexed the third title to their string. With the help of the Eastman brothers they defeated the Areopagites in two straight sets 21-7, 21-16. Next intra-mural season the O. S. F. will badly need the outstanding Eastman twins.

Coach Jack Niday's track brainstorm for this season consisted of a decathlon. Husky Dean Griggs totaled 779 points to win the individual blue-ribbon and aid his brother Areopagites to win the club track honors with 3430 points. Bunny Hanson, 761¼; Ralph Haver, 766; Nat Moreland, 728; Orv Erickson, 713 1-3; Johnny Sandidge, 710½; Bob Hanson, 709; Frank Holbrook, 704; Art Curry, 677 2-3; and Gordon Eby, 666½; followed the winner to take other ribbons. The Areop five was composed of Griggs, Sandidge, Eby, Parsons, and Winton. Such events as the javelin, football, and baseball throws for accuracy substituted stock track events in order to give more fellows a chance. Lettermen were not allowed to participate as usual this year, opening chances of competition for more men.

TENNIS

To win the all-campus tennis championship, Jimmy Halverson upset the pre-season favorite, Bob Hinshaw, 8-6, 8-6. Halverson, only an eleventh grader, displayed some fine tennis to win the singles championship. Freeman Ingledew defeated Henry Gregor 6-4, 6-1, to cop the consolation tourney finals. Upper division cross country runners were fronted at the tape by Elwood Temte, leather-lunged upper division harrier, who won the upper division intra-mural race. Temte covered the two-mile distance in fourteen minutes and twenty-one seconds. Coach Metten's lower division distance pet, Johnny Eikenbery, won the lower cross country. Eikenbery ran the distance in fourteen minutes and forty-two seconds. Eighteen teams were entered in the tennis doubles, which was won by the Phatians.

PASADENA CAMPUS

WOMEN'S SPORTS

ATTAINMENT

All women students whose interest turns to athletics strive for the attainment of membership in the Women's Athletic Association, open to those who have participated in one after-school sport, and Big P, selected group of P.J.C.'s finest women athletes. Seven hundred W.A.A. points, which may be earned by participating in after school sports, are necessary for election into Big P. Trophies for prowess in sports—letters, pins and blankets are presented at an annual spring banquet. Sports for after-school recreation include basketball, archery, speedball, hockey, swimming, rifle, baseball, riding and tennis. Competition, although mostly between the class teams, features playoffs for individuals, novices, and a series of Saturday playdays with neighboring schools. Student coaches, elected by the popular vote of fellow teamsters, assist faculty leaders in shaping raw early season material into form for active competition.

HOCKEY

WILL IT BE THE BALL THEY WIN OR A FEW SORE SHINS?

In spite of the contact between the shins and hockey sticks, P. J. C. had a large turnout for shinny. Although being a popular sport during the winter season, there were no inter-school games played this year. Martha Larkin, Thelma Westling, Mary Hendrickson and Helena de-Waard were selected by the various classes to instruct participants on the points of hockey and to help choose the class teams. Hockey practice was under the direction of Miss Jean Young and the supervision of Leora Luce as student coach. Girls who proved themselves able to guide the hockey ball and stick down the field to win varsity awards were Nettie Ready, Kathleen Bowers, Betty Willmarth and Stella Norton. Honors went to the Seniors who put a successful snatch on the extremely elusive top slot.

SPEEDBALL

PLAYERS PLUNGE FOR CONTROL OF FAST MOVING SPHERE

Soccer, fieldball and basketball continue to make the popular game of speedball played by the girls during the fall sport season. Old man winter played havoc with the weather, consequently speedball season was short with no inter-school games. The Juniors surprised the speedball enthusiasts by winning over the Seniors in the interclass games. The Sophomores beat the Freshmen in a close game. Head coach for speedball was Miss Mildred Margadant, student coach, Kathleen Bowers. Varsity winners were Sara Ellen Andrews, Kathleen Bowers, Evelyn Cerney, Mary Hendrickson, Martha Larkin, Retha Rousseau, Roberta Vail, and Betty Willmarth. Pupis and Fildew grabbed honorable mention. Managers for speedball this season were Pupis, Willmarth, Morley and Swanstrom.

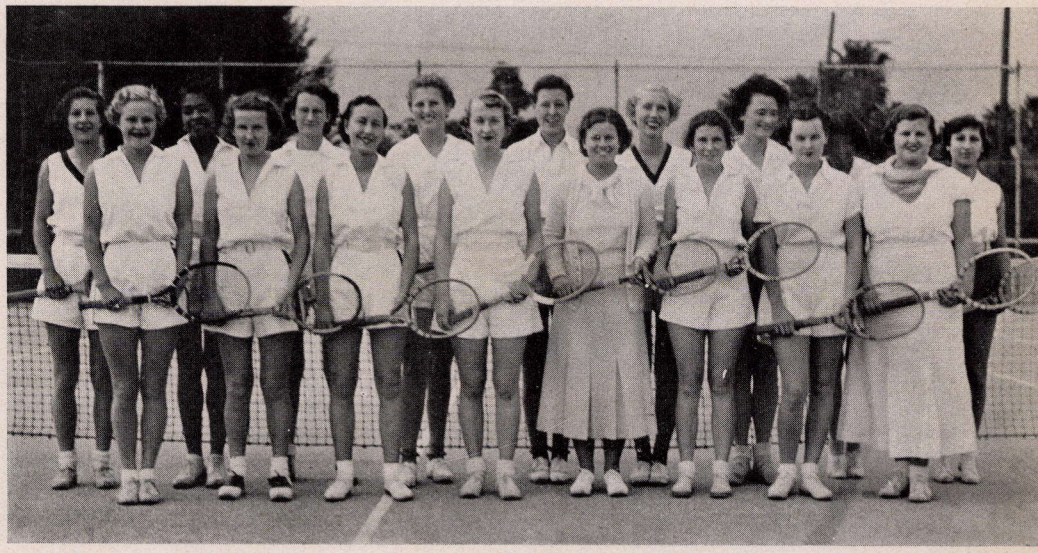

BASKETBALL

COEDS REACH HIGH TO SWAT AT FLOATING CASABA BALL

Casaba ball proved a popular sport at P.J.C. when 136 enthusiasts turned out. Whipping the raw material into shape, Pasadena met Fullerton for a hard-won fight, taking the large end of a 34-21 score. L.A.J.C., however, knocked the locals off their pedestal with a sweeping win. Within the school, the Senior first team walked off with first place, leaving second and third to the Senior second team and Junior first team. With Stella Norton, Tubby Sanders, and Retha Rousseau, and Alyss Greer as managers, the sport was directed by Miss Elizabeth Jensen, and Marjorie Bettannier, co-ed coach. Varsity winners were Kathleen Bowers, Margaret deHaan, Charlotte Heath, Mary Hendrickson, Stella Norton, Nettie Ready and Carolyn Rough. Larkin, Rousseau and Willmarth took honor mentions.

Swinging a mean racquet, feminine jayseeites strove to emulate the form and technique of Queen Helen. Dividing up the co-eds with Rosa deWaard as manager for upper division, and Alyss Greer leading the lowers, tennis thrived as an after-school sport. Directing the would-be net champions in the intricacies of lobbing and backhand drive, Miss Elizabeth Jensen was aided and abetted by Eugena Sanders, student coach who supervised the play. Rosa deWaard and Eugena Sanders, doubles combination, kept up a barrage of shots that won them second place among the Southern California junior colleges. Those Amazons who clambered the rungs to varsity standing were Hendrickson, Parrish, Sanders, Rosa deWaard, and Wenz. Jean Darsie and Carolyn Rough placed with honorable mention.

The hard and consistent batting of the seniors kept all other team scores down to a miserable low. Seniors captured first place among the team ratings by winning from the Sophomores 18-3 and forcing the Frosh scores downward with a 21-6 plastering. Juniors were not far behind the Seniors to capture second, Sophomores third, with Frosh bringing up fourth place. Miss Loreta Henrichs coached, assisted by Martha Larkin, student mentor. Varsity awards went to Bowers, Bumstead, Hendrickson, Larkin, Luce, Martin, Pupis and Ready. Andrews, Deley, Westling and Willmarth received honorable mention. Although being an inter-school sport at P. J. C., baseball was only played among the classes and not among rival schools as in previous years. Temporary diamonds handicapped players.

RIDING

EQUESTRIENNES ENJOY COOL SHADE OF THE EUCALYPTUS

Under the coaching of Miss Proud, riding instructor, the junior collegians were initiated into the mysteries of the sport of kings, and spent their afternoons in mastering the technique of mounting, dismounting, trotting, and cantering as well as some simple drill formations. Five of the thirty equestriennes were girls who took the sport to swell their W. A. A. points; while the remaining horsewomen came from physical education classes. With the Altadena Riding Academy and its trails as the scene, the enthusiasts came out Tuesdays and Wednesdays after school. Late in the semester a horse show was held, giving this group an opportunity to put their mounts through their paces, over hurdles and hedges, besides trying for the two prizes offered for fine display of horsemanship.

Fifty girls flocked to the call of King Neptune, who was impersonated by Miss Elizabeth Turner. Pasadena, turning out some real material, captured second place at the upper division playday swimming meet against L. A. J. C., Kellogg taking first place for the side form, Larkin third place, racing back. Diving was won by Sibley placing second for P. J. C. Larkin, Kallshian, Sibley and Gillice were the mermaids who swept L.A.J.C. off her feet by capturing first place in the relays. Student head for the successful season was Betty Ravey. Varsity winners for swimming were Sibley, Ravey and Larkin. The novice meet was held at P. J. C. between classes, with seniors winning with a score of 26. Diving exhibitions were also staged as an added attraction with Ravey and Sibley taking first places.

ARCHERY

Giving William Tell some keen competition, forty-one girls took up bows and arrows to test their skill at archery. Running Bill a close second by shooting a score of 374, Stella Norton won the gold arrow and the title of the best marksman in form and in the piercing of "ye olde bull's eye." Helen Kallshian, last year's winner, carried off the blue arrow with a score of 323 while the red arrow was presented to Kathleen Bowers for scoring 345 points. Managers were selected, as customary by popular vote and included this season: Ruth Willard, Evelyn Cerney, Eleanor Roobian and Alyss Greer leading the frosh. Coaching was done by Miss Elizabeth Turner and the student coach, Norton. Those girls who proved their superiority by copping varsity awards were the leaders, Norton, Kallshian and Bowers.

NURSES

"Forward always" is the keynote of the curriculum for nurses. The completion of a year of scientific background at Pasadena Junior College is but the first step in an increasingly well-rounded program of classes which run parallel with the practical experience obtained at the Pasadena Hospital. The basic course covers 28 months, individualized for each student, including service in medical, surgical and obstetrical wards and general nursing care; for three valuable months the operating room is the focal point. In the diet-kitchen, the nurses plan and prepare special diets; and in the surgical dressing rooms, wound dressings receive attention. An introduction to public-health nursing is experienced at the Pasadena Dispensary, experience in communicable diseases at the Los Angeles General Hospital, and in pediatrics at the Hospital for Children.

Off duty, student nurses discard cap and uniform and turn to lighter pleasures. Early fall brought a jolly treasure hunt with ingenious clues and hiding places. While ghosts walked abroad, popcorn and apple-ducking held sway at a fireside Hallowe'en party; after sewing and shopping for a needy family, the nurses gather on Christmas Eve around their own tree to watch for the visit of St. Nick. In January, at a candle-light service, the probies made their customary pledges and recieved their caps. St Valentine's day was the occasion for a spring formal and with June came the usual series of social affairs which culminated in the solemn ceremonies of commencement.
