The 1983/84 Student Council

1. Say "cheese", Amy!
2. Shawna looks peppy as Pep Commissioner.
3. Krista Hardcastle smiles about her position as Vice-President.
4. Gayle Gallagher, Secretary, and Shanna flash winning smiles. 5. Shanna LOVES being Activities Director. 6. So this is what the Student Council members do during their spare time!

7. Teri Pearce as Girls Athletic Director is as sporty as they come! 8. Joelle Bingham and Michelle Neyman pose proudly in their uniforms. 9. Todd Caven takes his job as President very seriously!

Succeeds With Flying Colors!

The 1983/1984 Student Council brought many activities to Rincon Valley Junior High this year. Many students participated in noon activities, activities, dances, the Jog-A-Thon, holiday events, and other things that the people pictured on this page worked hard to make successful.

10. Here are Student Council members all together! Row 1: Shawna Issel, Raya Alexander, Shanna Walker, Amy Sciborski. Row 2: Michelle Neyman, Joelle Bingham, Sarah Rufenacht, Teri Pearce, Becky Powell. Row 3: Jason Duanes, Tim Caudill, Todd Caven, Todd Weitzenberg, Mr. LeLaurin (advisor), Kristy McCall, Gayle Gallagher, Krista Hardcastle, Becky Northen, Julie Wieschendorff. 11. Mr. LeLaurin learned a lot from this year's Student Council.

1. Elizabeth Brandwein finds it hard to be enthusiastic about this photo. 2. Susan Bailey can't wait to go run for an hour at the Jog-A-Thon to help raise money for the school. 3. Mike Evans must have fond memories of the Bearcub Basketball Camp. 4. Perhaps a massage will help Chris Waller's hair grow back again. 5. These Rincon Valley women are ready to take on any competitors at the Jog-A-Thon.

Activities Keep Up School Spirit

6. Rob O'Brien saves his energy for the Jog-A-Thon by not smiling too much. 7. Upon what serious subject do these ninth graders now contemplate? Could it be sentence structure? 8. Jog-A-Thon photographer Josh Evju spots an adversary. 9. Shawna Issel seems to be having fun feeding the bottle of punch to big baby Todd Caven during the first of many noontime events. 10. Kurt Zumwalt concentrates on his work in ceramics.

The Class of '84 Reaches

New Heights

Ninth Grade

The class of '84 moved into the ninth grade with high hopes and new goals. During their last year at Rincon Valley Junior High, the ninth graders worked hard to ready themselves for the challenges awaiting them in high school. Though some say they are glad to leave, many feel otherwise. "We all enjoyed Rincon," said one ninth grader. "Sometimes we just don't realize how great it really is!" Although they leave behind teachers, homework, empty lockers and the rest of the student body, the ninth graders take many memories with them. Rincon Valley Junior High will always be a school to remember, a place where for a little while, the ninth graders could say, "We rule!"

1. Keely Wirth displays her list of Jogathon sponsors. 2. Matt and Jeff work on a camera obscura. 3. Karina, Melinda, Julie, Becky, and Kim are all ready to run for the Jogathon.

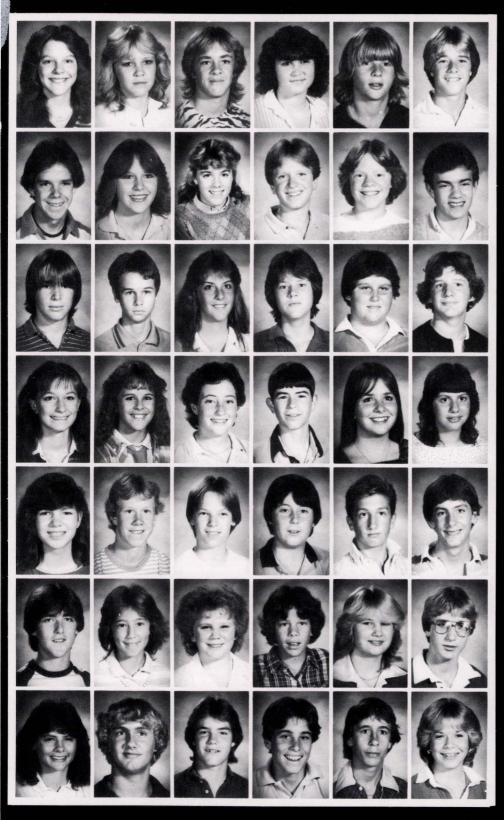

4. Chris Waller and Jason Dahlquist demonstrate what's "in" for this year. 5. Even in the midst of work, Sherry Phillips manages a smile.

Ninth Grade Hall of Fame

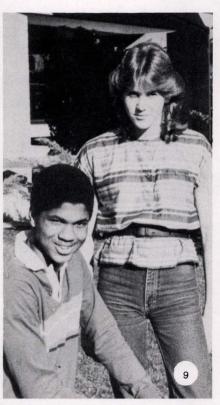

1. Michelle Neyman and Kent Pearson were voted "most likely to succeed," and they may make it to Harvard if they don't keep standing here. 2. Teri Pearce, Mike Stewart, and Jenny Stuart won in the "Most Tasteful" category. 3. Randy Jaynes and Heather Larivee win our laughs as "class clowns." 4. Gwen Christner and Cris Caetano are the best-dressed. Next step—VOGUE and GQ. 5. Kristy Koch and Chris Costanza show their winning charms as the most popular girl and boy.

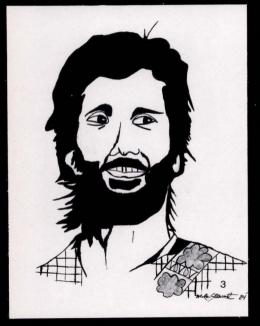

6. Adam Neubauer and Juliet Elias were named the style setters of RVJH. 7. Bobby Loos and Darcy Boulware— aren't they cuuuute? 8. Mike Cann and Marcella Winston, voted "friendliest," welcome friends with open arms. 9. Nate Williams and Gayle Gallagher won "most athletic" for taking their games so seriously. 10. Jeff Davis and Maria Sedam flash those expressive sexy eyes.

Activities

Lunchtime Is Funtime!

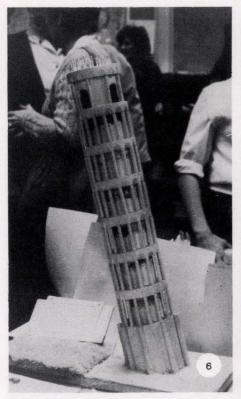

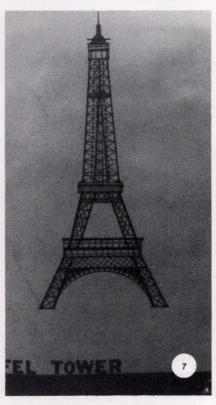

The Student Council put on several noon-time activities this year. 1. Everyone lines up for the egg toss. Luckily, no one's aiming for Mr. Morgan. 2. How could Mr. Tonna resist this cute little piggy at the "Kiss-A-Pig" Contest? He should have been honored to win. 3. Don't be afraid, Darcy; the ground doesn't bite. 4. Nothing beats a great pair of legs! Greg Archuleta and Heather Larivee are the winners of the Legs Contest.

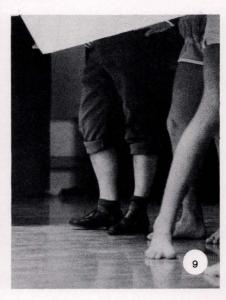

Noontime Activities and Aroundthe-World Night Generate Falcon Spirit

5. The spirit leaders talk back to the audience. 6 and 7. Two of the many projects presented at the annual Around-the-World Night. Reports pronounced the event successful and delicious. 9. Mrs. Van Noy leads the band in a spirited lunchtime special. 10. Who's the mysterious contestant in the Legs Contest??

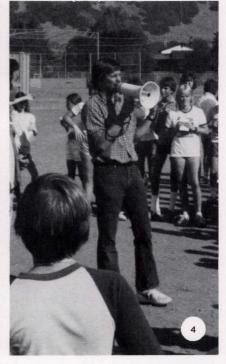

The Jog-a-Thon, dances, and dramatic productions- RVJH students like to get involved when there's a good cause. 1. Shanna Sloan breathes a sigh of relief now that she's earned her share of the Jog-a-Thon money. 2. Gayle Gallagher takes a break while everyone else works hard to sell those dance tickets. 3. Help! The Russians are coming! 4. Mr. LeLaurin encourages the runners to go for as many laps as possible. 5. A member of the band "Flight" helped make the Fall Dance a real success. 6. Julie Wieschendorff gets psyched up for the Jog-a-Thon. 7. School always gives you a chance to be part of the crowd. 8. Carla Savage looks pretty interested in who got the lead in the Spring production of OKLA-HOMA. 9. Gayle Gallagher talks about a typical day at the track. 10. Josh Switzer, Shannon Johannsen, Todd Caven, and Leanne Lorentzen look ecstatic since they all won lead parts in the Spring Production.

These are just some of the activities students experienced in their classes this year. 1. In P.E., these girls practice some new modern dance steps. 2. Meanwhile, in Mrs. Vann's World History class, ninth graders learned the steps to Greek folk dances. 3. These chorus students work towards perfect harmony. 4. Another murder? No, just another art project. 5. Computers bring out the intellect in everyone. 6. Handling the tools and materials in woodshop calls for a lot of concentration and coordination. 7. Guilty or not? The Criminal Justice class proceeds with its mock trial, while (8) Mr. Milkoff's cameraman can't stand the suspense.

The Faces of RVJH Show What Spirit Means

Falcons Fly High By Nature

We Appreciate...

Music and Drama Department

The Rincon Valley Music and Drama Department always puts on plays of the finest quality. I've heard them referred to as almost professional performances. The teachers, Ms. Jennifer Lehman and Mrs. B.J. Van Noy, have never had difficulty producing successful entertainment for people of all ages. Ms. Lehman, the Drama teacher, and Mrs. Van Noy, the Band and Chorus teacher, both concern themselves with improving as many details as possible in a junior high production. These two directors know how to develop great cooperation among all participants and have put on some remarkable spring plays.

Mike Gavlak

Mr. Dowdle

Mr. Dowdle has been an English teacher at Rincon Valley Junior High for about ten years. He has bascially started the curriculum here for many English teachers who have come in to teach after him. He is always doing research to find better ways of teaching. He is willing to try almost anything to make kids understand about reality by giving them assignments about a well-known subject. He uses writing itself to teach punctuation, spelling, and language. When teaching, he gives us comparisons to real life and makes us write about these ideas in short stories, poems, narrative stories, and so forth. By teaching us in this way, I think he prepares for the future.

I have talked to many kids who have had him as a teacher, and some of their responses were: "He uses his new ways of teaching to his fullest extent . . . He's crazy . . . He cares . . . He's sexy . . . I will always remember him . . . He enjoys what he does . . . We love him."

I feel that this good-humored man from Minnesota is a great teacher to have. As someone said, "He has a real sense of writing and language that relates to life in a positive way."

Teri Pearce

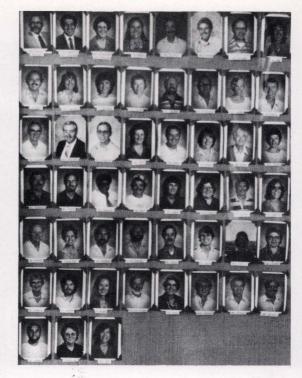

Mr. LeLaurin

We appreciate Mr. LeLaurin for a lot of reasons. He is good-looking and he's a great teacher. He understands all his students' problems. He does great work with the student council. They've been doing really well with his help. We're sure that everyone who has had him enjoys him as their teacher. He takes time out to get things done for special events, like the dance. He comes to help people out in history and most of all he comes in to talk with everyone. All we can say is he's a great person. Not only for his looks, but he has a friendly personality and a real sense of humor.

The Staff and Others

The yearbook staff appreciates the effort of these people for helping to produce the greatest yearbook ever:

Mr. Muhler, Mrs. Haskins, Mrs. Chapin, Mrs. Moss, Jim Gillespie, Dave Rucker and Portrait World, and all of the RVJH staff. Thank you so much!

Reaches For the Top!

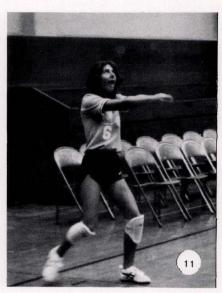

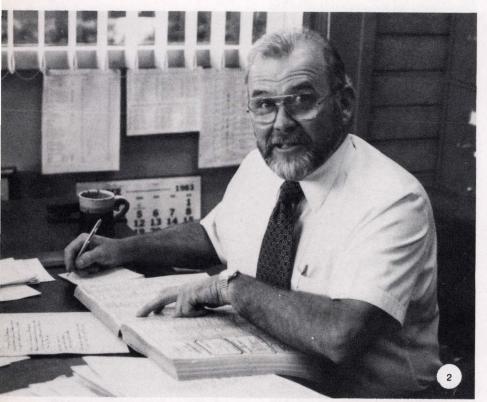

Rincon's Volleyball Team meets the challenge! 6. "Hey, where did that ball go?" asks Carrie Stillman. 7. Ms. Cardoza gives the Varsity team more detailed instructions. 8. Gretchen Payne demonstrates the successful "I've-just-hit-a-good-one" form. 9. "Ha! It's easy— just watch me!" 10. Falcon Form!!! 11. Pam Schleman warms up for the game.

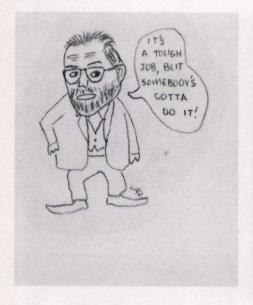

They Guide With Pride

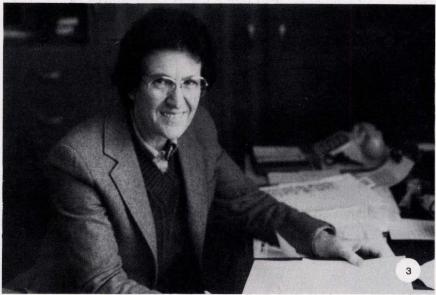

Our busy administrators somehow always manage to find time for a smile. 2. "But can't I stop smiling NOW?" asks vice-principal Mr. Tonna of this young hopeful photographer. 2. "When all else fails, I use a telephone book!" advises our principal Mr. Woodke. 3. Even though Miss Malkovich works hard as a vice-principal, she doesn't take EVERYTHING seriously.

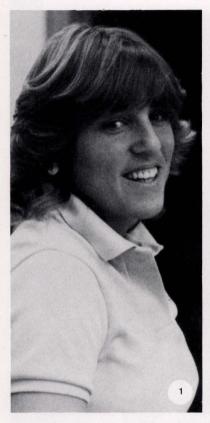

Staff

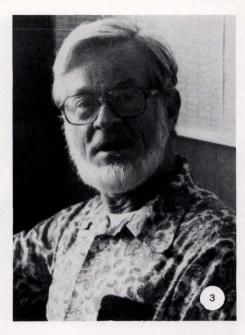

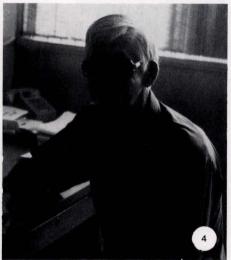

These People Seem To Know All the Answers!

From re-admits to stomach aches to research papers— these staff members do it all! What happens when we've lost a watch, had problems with our schedule, or needed a book? These people are always ready to help us in any way they can.

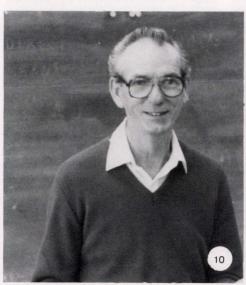

1. If you ever feel sick, Becky Basque, Health Technician, will come to the rescue. 2. Mrs. Ashmore, (3) Mr. Reinhardt, and (4) Mr. Hardy, our three counselors, are people we couldn't do without. 5. Mrs. Rossman keeps our library and our brains in shape. 6. "Oh, Susan! This telephone doesn't work!" says Mrs. Chapin, but (7) Mrs. Haskins is concentrating on having a good picture taken. 8. Mrs. Kelley, attendance office secretary, knows how to organize!

English Excellence

Our English department— what a great bunch of people! They teach us literature, sentence structures, how to write a proper letter, and how to say what we think. 9. What's Mrs. Clark laughing about? 10. "You see, English is basically very easy!" laughs Mr. Elliott. 11. Ms. Burzycki not only teaches English but supervises yearbook and other publications too. 12. "Oh dear, not another paper," sighs Mrs. Doris. 13. Mrs. Hogan just LOVES being an English teacher. 14. Mrs. Larson does too, but some days are harder than others.

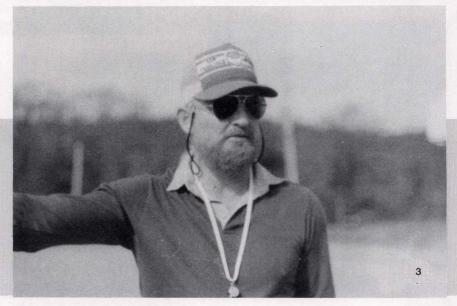

P.E. Teachers Know All About Teamwork

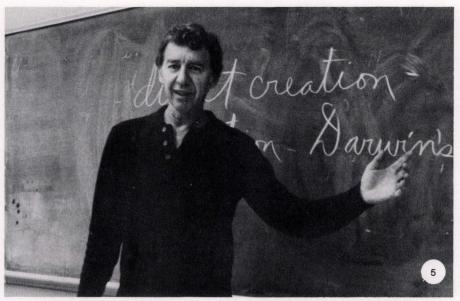

1. Mr. Diegelman and Mrs. Pecore proudly watch their students run the track. 2. Ms. Cardoza is glad to see that everyone made it to class today. 3. "That way!" commands Mr. Deibert.

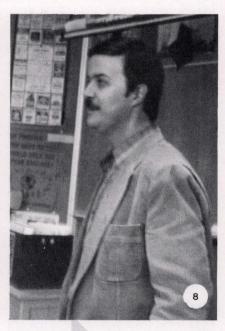

Gotcha! Photos of Elusive Teachers

4. Ms. Lehman closes her eyes to the loads of work for Drama and Latin that surround her. 5. Mr. Dowdle prepares his class to write on another controversial topic. 6. Resource specialist Mrs. Hammond grins at the thought of payday. 7. "I'd rather by playing piano," thinks Mrs. Van Noy as she waits for the copy machine.

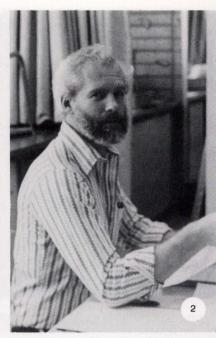

8. Mr. Mouat's class will help students deal with French restaurants and bottles of wine in later life. 9. Mrs. Peppit spends another afternoon reading seventh grade geography students' diaries. 10. Mrs. McCue is thrilled to receive so many flowers from her English students on Valentine's Day.

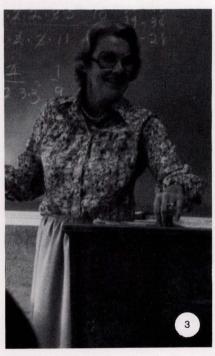

We're sorry . . . we were unable to get photographs of some special people: Mrs. Rossman, our wonderful librarian; Mrs. Fowler, who teaches clothing and home survival; and Mrs. O'Kelley, who teaches agriculture. You'll have to go meet these people on your own— they're worth the visit!

Let's Be Rational . . .

Math and Science Departments

6. Mr. Farmiloe doesn't seem very upset as he corrects these tests. 7. Mr. Wilcox, arriving with the new semester, takes on the challenge. 8. "You're really going to love disecting these beef hearts," Mrs. Lunsford tells her Health class. 9. Mr. Bennett, Science teacher, runs away with the "Artist of the Year" award. 10. "Let's see, what can we do next?" wonders Mr. Huseman in the middle of a science class. 11. "Well, do you want your science tests back or not?" questions Mr. Bailey.

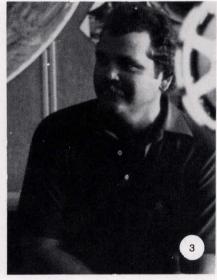

Social Studies Teachers Give Us the World

If it weren't for our history teachers, we wouldn't know where Albania was, or what "Renaissance" means, or what farming methods were used in ancient Greece! Here are the people who do it all. 1. "What's that student doing over there?" wonders Ms. Reagan. 2. Mrs. Vann takes pride in her classes' exotic cooking abilities! 3. Mr. Lance rests calmly now that the film projector rolls smoothly.

4. Mrs. King-Claye not only teaches history, but manages P.E. as well. 5. "Well class, are you ready for the trial?" asks Mr. Milkoff of his Criminal Justice class. 6. "Ummm . . . Let's see, that took place in 1807," Mr. LeLaurin recalls. 7. Mr. Gash can't help but smile about his job as a History teacher.

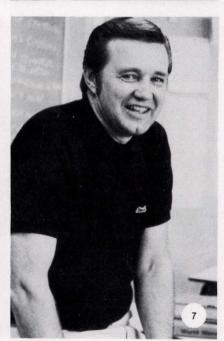

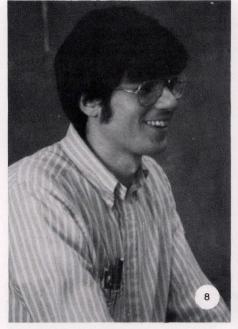

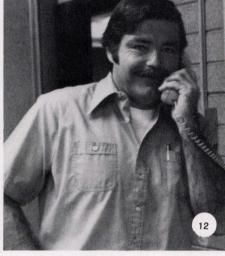

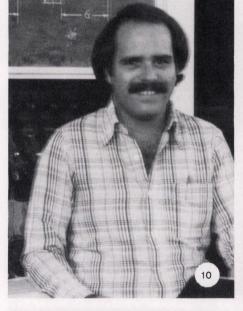

Here Are

Teachers

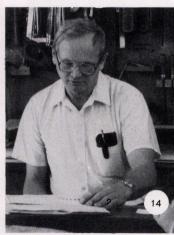

Some Very

SPECIALized

The teachers of these classes allow students to develop skills in many different areas. 8. Mr. Muhler is the art and photography teacher this yearbook staff couldn't do without! 9. "It's 'voy', not 'soy,' see?" says Mr. Tarango to his Spanish class. 10. Mr. Brew smiles about the joys of woodshop. 11. Mr. Schultz looks like it's been "one of those days" teaching crafts and dramatic arts. 12. "I think I'll try the parents one more time . . ." says Mr. Hurthere. 13. Mr. Embleton takes a break from his work as a Resource Specialist. 14. Mr. Lockhart carefully checks a student's metal shop grade. 15. Ms. Titus worked with Mr. Tarango, teaching Spanish the first semester.

RVJH-Times to remember...

Everyone has something special to remember about the 1983/84 year at Rincon Valley Junior High. 1. Heather Larivee can remember the "massive thrill" of cheerleading. 2. "Well, I certainly enjoyed my studies," says Wendi. 3. Mr. LeLaurin had a friend to depend on during his "trauma." 4. Chris Orcutt found friends he could lean on too. 5. For some people, lunchtime socializing was their favorite activity. 6. Herraj Sihota breathlessly recalls the exciting games she's played.

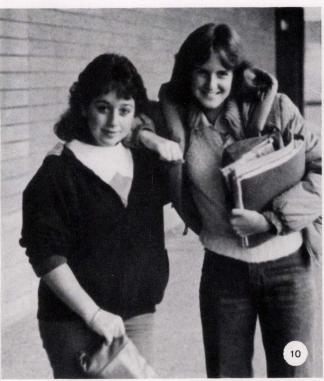

7. "Stomach in, chest out, chin up, Amy!" Perhaps she won't remember P.E. quite so fondly . . . 8. All Christian Caetano can say is, "O.K. people, . . . Where's the beach?" 9. Some people learned what friendship is all about. 10. Christy Clark and Heidi Meier seem to know! 11. But forget the photographs, the memories— it's time to go!

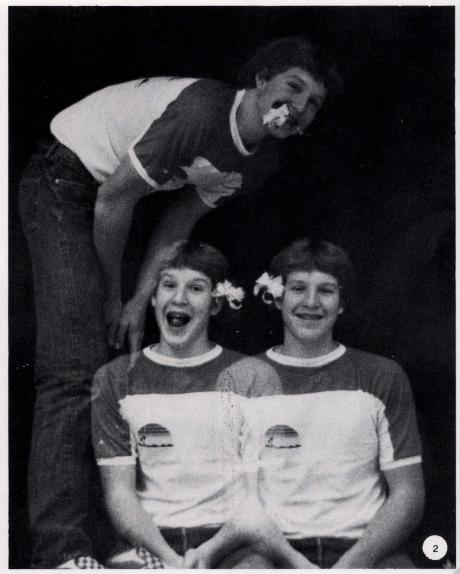

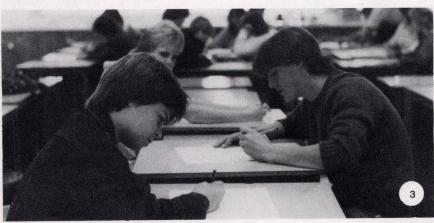

As the year closes, people contemplate the past and the future, with various conclusions. 1. Steen Wagner finds that he is beside himself with joy. 2. Cindy Maynard just counts the minutes. 3. Mike Cann and Mike Stewart say, "Leave us alone — we're artists, and we need complete silence." 4. "What? You mean I can stop working for awhile?" asks Becky Harris.

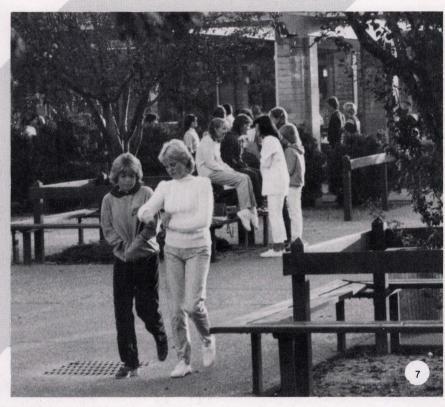

And Memories To Share...

5. Christian Caetano and Deanne Oldfield just say, "Laugh much!" 6. Jennifer wonders if this will mean the end of "candid" photographs. 7. Remember those chilly fall mornings? 8. Obviously, Billy Anton has something besides algebra on his mind.

Falcons Fly High Anto the future

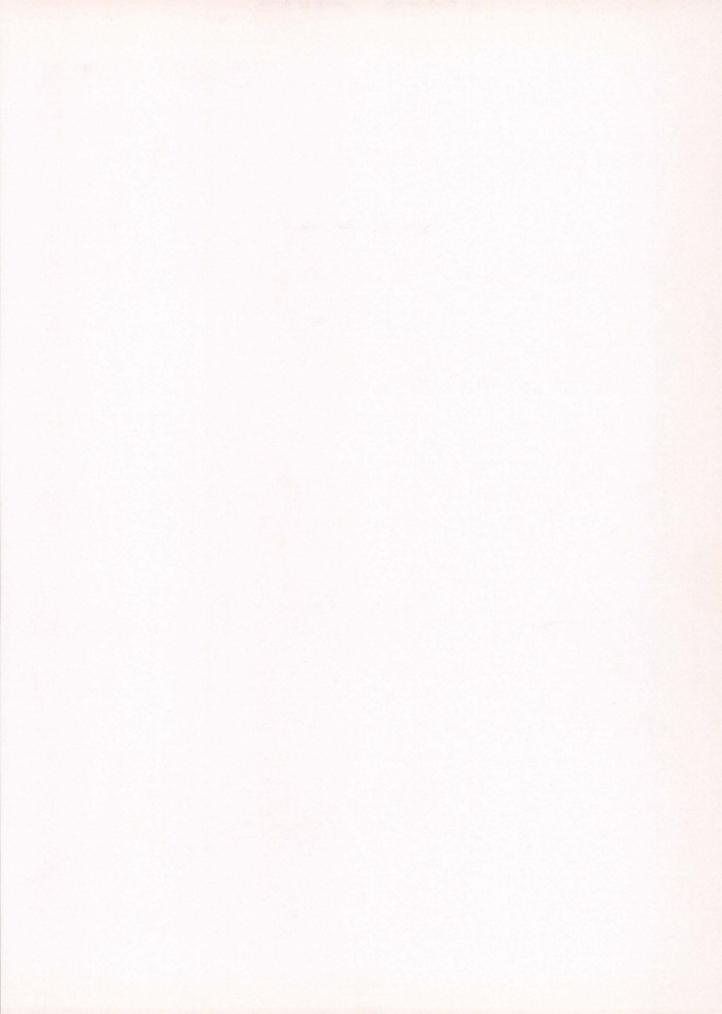

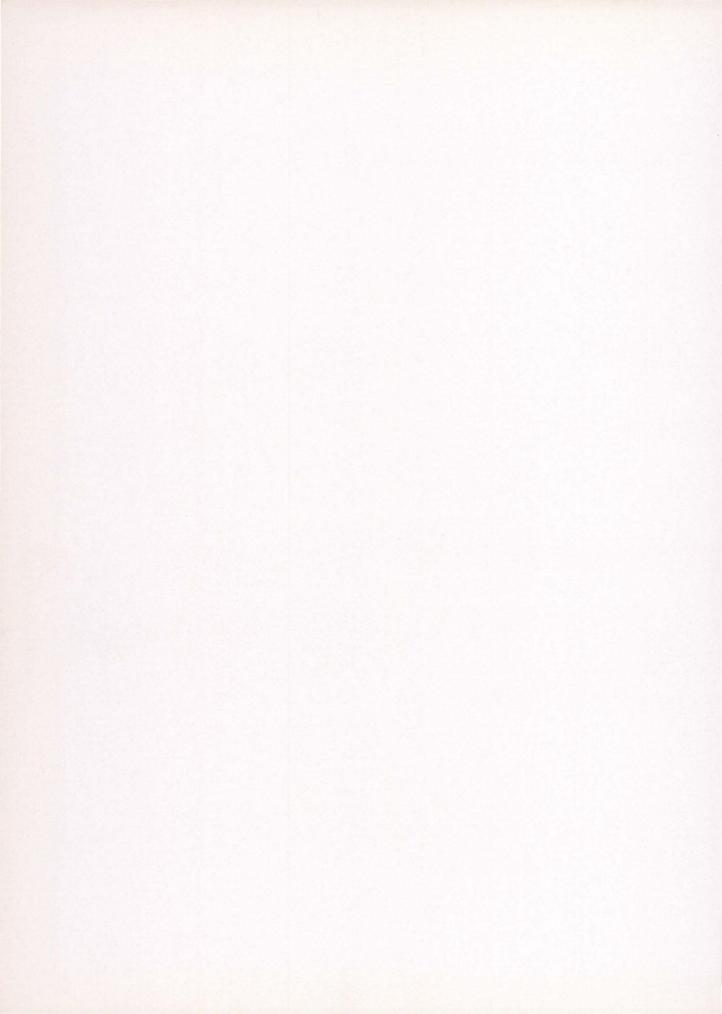

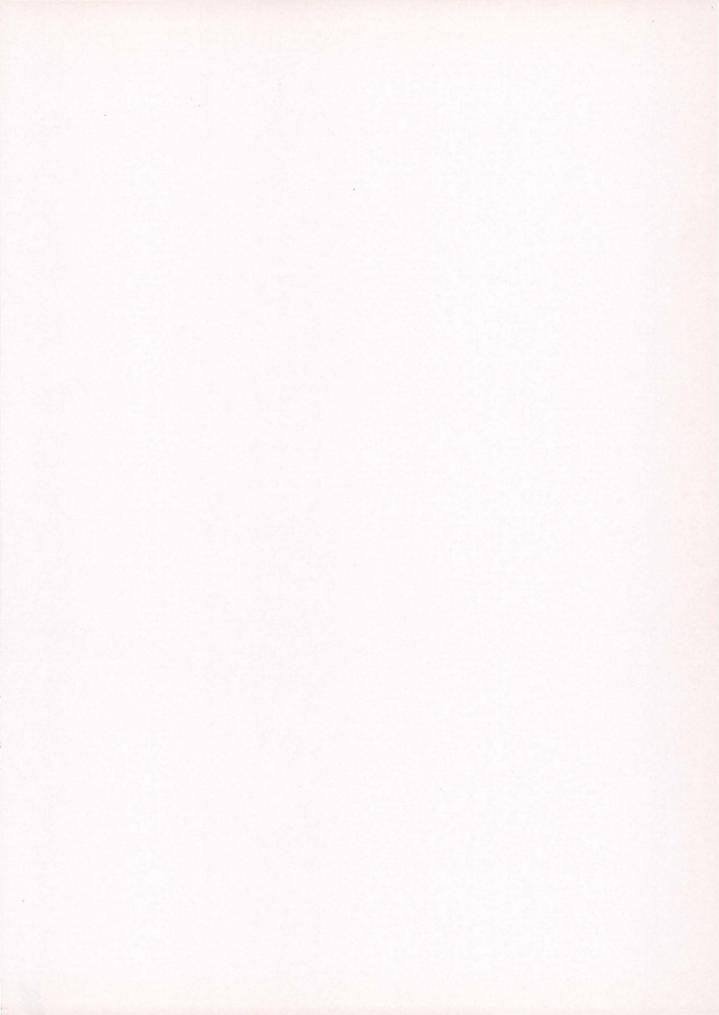

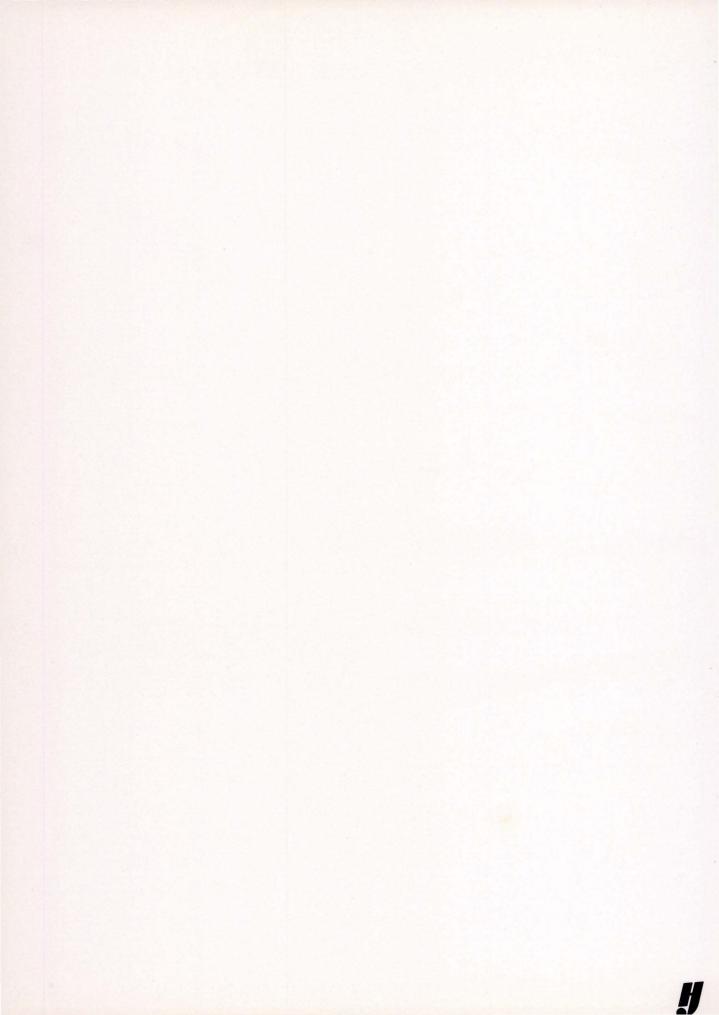

A few thoughts to leave with you ... 1. "We put in quite a performance this year, didn't we?" 2. Kerrie Stillman wishes you Merry Christmas, happy birthday, and good-bye, among other things. 3. Sherry Phillips: "I spy with my little eye . . ." 4. Rishann Rapp sighs, "It's so easy to catch someone's eye, and so easy to lose it." 5. Elizabeth Brandwein, Jenny Stuart, and Teri Pearce say, "No problem; we can handle the summer!"
