DEDICATION

The Mistletoes of past years have been dedicated to outstanding persons, but this year's staff has chosen as its theme "Football."

Since football is again being played in this school after many years and since the football team made such a good showing this season, we feel justified in choosing "Football" as our theme.

1950

Education, at any level, looks two ways. First, it looks to the past and attempts to bring into a young person's life the heritage of the race, whether that be the skills of reading, writing and arithmetic, or a knowledge of how races and people got along, or failed to get along, in the days that we look back to and call "historical." Secondly, education looks forward and attempts to project both the youth and the race into the foreseeable future and prepare both, as well as the schools can, for that future.

Historically, it amazes us now that only three or four hundred years ago did men invent and learn to use decimal fractions and percentage and that, at about that time, only the priesthood and the wealthiest of men (not women) could expect to learn to read, write and "figure." Likewise, at that time, human slavery was still practiced, war was regarded as quite normal, women were little better than serfs, and serfs were little better than cattle. Now our whole civilization is based on decimal fractions and maintaining clearances to the thousandth of an inch. Percentage is in use constantly in all of trade and industry. Every child in America expects not only to learn to read, write and "figure," but also expects quite casually to learn many things which would have amazed his grandparents in their youth. War is now abhorred, for it might destroy the race, women are the equals of men and actually expend and control over 80% of the nation's wealth and income, there are no slaves nor serfs, and even cattle are protected by laws and by vigilant humane societies, and all this developed in less than five centuries.

So, as pupils and teachers of Willits High School, we must work together to build a better future, both individually and racially, on the heritage of the past. We need badly the capabilities of reading, writing, and "figuring," but we also need to be ready to live tomorrow in an age of complex machines and atomic energy, and to bring to every task, whatever it may be, the best preparation we can achieve.

As this year's Senior Class goes forth from Willits High School may we all build our lives and our world still better, building all we do (as indeed we must) upon the past, but building gloriously for the future and into the future.

FRED LEONARD
Principal

In this book you have recorded the activities of one year of your high school life. For many many years to come I hope you may thrill at the sight of these pages.

When you have finished high school, you have finished the foundation on which your life will be built. For most of you, the record made here will send you far along the road to success. May you all reflect with pleasure upon your high school days and know that you built well and gave those days your very best.

Looking back over the past four years that we have spent together at Willits Hi, I recall many happy occasions and also many long hours of study in preparation for that day when we, as men and women, must take our place in this ever advancing world.

As this year, our last at Willits Hi, draws to a close, many of us feel uncertain of the future and the part that we must play in it. There will be many that look to the past for a solution to this problem, but we cannot live in the past. We must look to the future and meet its challenge with an open mind.

Senior Class History

Our high school days are over,
Yet none of us can tell
Whether we feel joy or sorrow
In making this farewell.

The hours that we spent with you,
All sped away too fast.
Now friends and loyal teachers too
Are memories of the past.

Your ideals and spirits
We'll spread through the world of men.
And now farewell dear Willits High,
Until we meet again.

Yet there shall be no grieving,
No idle tears in vain;
Ours is a joyous leaving,
For we shall meet again.

So now goodbye to Willits High,
From the graduating class.
May you always be successful,
'Tis the wish of lad and lass.

Off the Track

"Lead on MacDuff!"

"She said go jump in the lake—a good deep one!"

"I'm in men's underwear."

"You let all my white mice get out!"

Do these lines recall anything to your memory? They were spoken in the auditorium of Willits High School on the night of December 9, 1949. On that night under the direction of Mr. John Burke, the Senior Class presented to the public, "Off the Track."

When a strange mixture of peoples are thrown together in a small wayside railroad station, a funny situation could arise. A train wreck, stolen pearls, and a court scene all helped make this funny situation funnier.

CARNIVAL

THE MARDI GRAS

The Junior Class of 1950 presented to the public The Mardi Gras instead of the traditional Junior Play. In making this decision the Juniors felt that more members of the Junior Class could participate and also that a larger profit could be made.

The Mardi Gras was held in the gym, which was decorated to resemble a carnival, with concessions along the side, and dancing was held at one end of the gym where the floor show was presented during the latter part of the evening.

Bingo, with its many prizes, Darts, Tin Can Alley, and The Roulette Wheel are some of the many concessions which will be remembered by young and old. Delicious hot dogs, ice cold soft drinks, buttered pop corn and home made candy were sold to many throughout the evening. And who can forget our mysterious fortune teller with his fabulous tales of the unknown?

The Junior Class would like to thank its sponsors, Mrs. Schraeder and Mr. Menesini, for without them The Mardi Gras would not have been the huge success it was and worthy of all the effort and hard work put into it.

1. "Blow hard!"
2. "Squash!"
3. "All tied up."
4. "Shinin' the car?"
5. "Atta-way Jeanie."

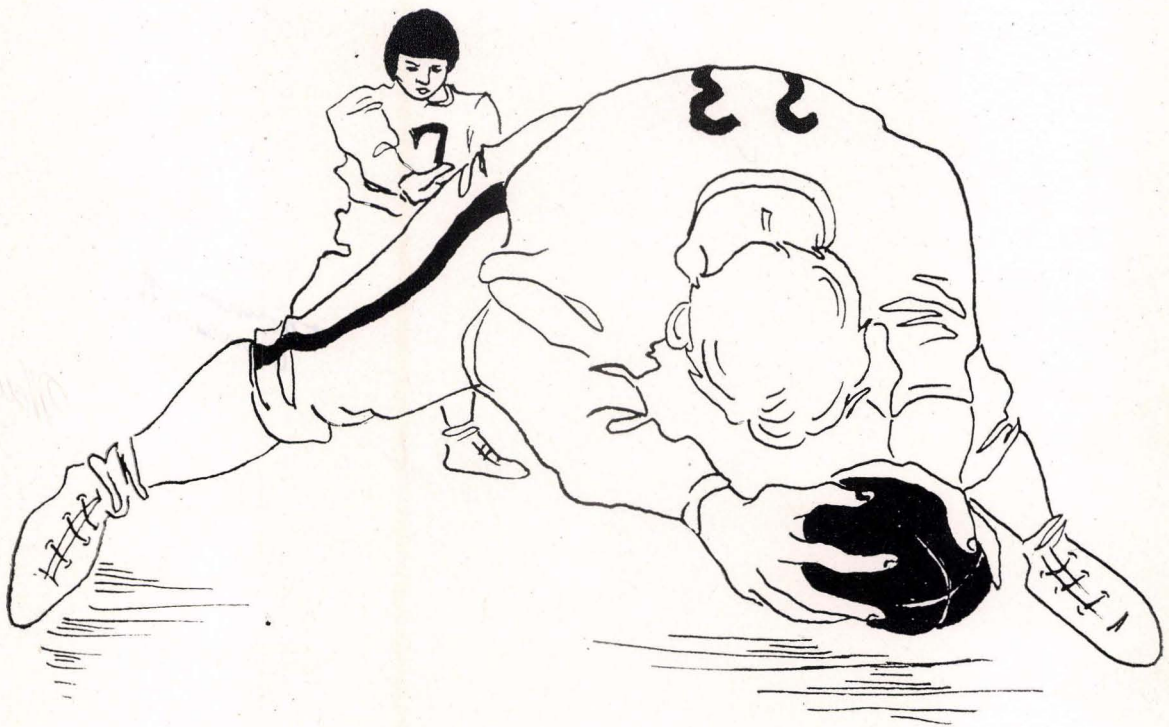

6. "Oh, that Senior sweater."
7. "Ship Ahoy."
8. "Three bags."
9. "Mechanic?"
10. "Madame Editor."

11. "Quiet Shirt?"
12. "Just Standing."
13. "Loafing."
14. "Trivial matter."
15. "Coy."

16. "New Fad?"
17. "Smarties."
18. "Goin' my way?"
19. "Gab session."
20. "More Fun!"

21. "Last Mile."
22. "Cave Women."
23. "Happy Birthday, Dorothy."
24. "Pepsodent."
