Dr. S. B. Smith's Direct and To-and-Fro Current Electro-Magnetic Machines, for Medical Purposes.

"The arrangement of the Direct Circuit in Smith's apparatus gives a much stronger physiological effect than I have seen from any other apparatus. The Induced Current is extremely intense."—B. Stillman, Jr., Professor of General and Applied Chemistry, Yale College, Conn., July, 1883.

The so-called Six Currents made by different combinations of three distinct helices, were made many years ago by J. Jewell & Co., Bristol, Conn. The Six Currents, so-called, were made by myself some years before Jewell & Co. I called it the Torpedo Magnetic Machine, from its giving out shocks from all parts of it like the torpedo.

"I have had one of Dr. S. B. Smith's Torpedo Magnetic Machines in my possession ten years. Six shocks or more may be obtained from it."—L. V. Newton. (Dr. Newton is proprietor of the "Druggists' Circular.")

I never applied for a patent for this six-current contrivance. All the six currents can be obtained from my Direct and To-and-Fro Current, by means of a bit of small wire, five inches long, attached according to the directions in my pamphlet. Price $18 and $20. Extra office size, $45. Sent to all parts. Payment can be made to Express Agents on delivery of goods. Address,

"I could give the testimony of one hundred physicians, and others, but I adduce that of Prof. Stillman alone, as all-sufficient for my purpose.
