

S. B.—The student who has satisfactorily pursued all the prescribed course, except the Ancient and Modern Languages, and whose correct deportment is certified to by the Faculty, shall be entitled to the degree of “Baccalaureate of Science.”

All successful candidates for either of the above degrees will receive a diploma of the same grade, with that which confers a like degree in other Colleges.

OAKLAND SEMINARY.—This Institution was commenced in the City of Oakland on the 8th of November, 1858, by Mrs. G. M. Blake, its present Principal. Mrs. Blake on that day commenced in a private parlor on Broadway and Sixth streets, with a class of four young ladies. On the 1st day of April, 1859, the school was so much increased as to require a larger room and was removed to the corner of Broadway and Eighth streets, now occupied by a building owned by Dr. Sanford. On the 1st day of March, 1860, it was again removed to the corner of Fifth and Jackson streets, to the house of J. Rosss Browne, where it remained nearly four years. A new building was commenced in June, 1863, and completed on the 24th day of October of the same year, at which time the school was again removed to the spot where it now stands, and was there permanently established. There are three separate departments in the school—Collegiate, Intermediate and Primary. The School affords the advantages of a thorough English course, the ancient and modern languages, music (vocal and instrumental), and all the ornamental branches. Connected with the School, is a Board of visitors, composed of the following gentlemen :

Rev. Samuel H. Willey, Hon. Sherman Day, Rev. Benjamin Ackerly, Hon. O. L. Shafter, Rev. Henry Durant, Dr. W. Newcomb, Rev. Martin Kellogg, Rev. George Mooar, Rev. Isaac H. Brayton, William K. Rowell, A. M.; Rev. Dr. Pierson, J. E. Stevens, Esq., Dr. H. Gibbons, George C. Potter, Esq.; Rev. E. G. Beckwith.
