R. M'LEAN STEPHENSON, ARCHITECT, 129 SANSOME STREET.

ARCHITECT.

JOSEPH BOARDMAN,

ARCHITECT, CIVIL ENGINEER, SURVEYOR, AND MEASURER OF PLASTERING
AND BRICK WORK—LATE OF NEW YORK.

No. 131 California Street. 3 Doors below Montgomery Street, San Francisco.

The importance of employing an experienced Practical Architect, becomes each successive day more apparent, as parties now are rivalling each other in the BEAUTY and GOOD ARRANGEMENT of their BUILDINGS. Many here have employed me to rearrange their buildings. My long experience in San Francisco, New York, and the principal cities in Europe, and having served seven years' apprenticeship to one of the most eminent Architects, qualifies me to solicit a continuance of the patronage from those investing in building. I guarantee to get your buildings put up by contract, however plain or small, 50 per cent. cheaper than by the old expensive system of day's work. You will then know how much your building is going to cost.

L. R. TOWNSEND, ARCHITECT.
