STATE DEAF AND DUMB AND BLIND INSTITUTE.—The California Institution for the education of the deaf and dumb, and the blind, one of the most interesting and deserving of our State charities, was originally located on the corner of Fifteenth and Mission streets, in this city. It was established in May, 1860, under the auspices of an association of benevolent ladies, and for a time was supported by charitable contributions. State aid, however, was soon obtained, and two buildings, designed as the wings to a main edifice, were erected at a cost of $20,000. In 1863 the management was intrusted to a Board of Directors, five in number, and an appropriation, for the center building, of $75,000 was made, which was subsequently withheld, the Legislature foreseeing the necessity of removing the institution at a no distant day, to more extensive grounds. During the legislative session of 1865-6, an Act, re-organizing the institution, was passed, and a Board of Commissioners was appointed to select a site and erect suitable buildings thereon. The Commissioners, under this authority, purchased a tract, consisting of one hundred and thirty acres, adjoining the grounds of the College of California, about four miles from Oakland, and have erected thereon a stone edifice, admirable in design and execution, which was ready for occupation in October, 1869. The total cost of building and grounds has been about $200,000. The pupils number at present about one hundred, of whom thirty are blind, the remainder being deaf and dumb. The schools, under a corps of competent instructors, are in a flourishing condition, and the results obtained compare favorably with the attainments made in the long established institutions of the Atlantic States. The blind, by ingenious apparatus devised for their use, are taught reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, grammar, history, etc., to which is added, as a solace in their great affliction, the art of music. The deaf and dumb are instructed in the same branches, substituting drawing for music. By the Act of 1865-6, all deaf and dumb, or blind persons, residents of this State, between the ages of six and twenty-five years, and of sound mind, may be received free of expense, except for clothing and traveling expenses. Pupils from other States and Territories are admitted on payment of $300 per annum. The institution is open to visitors every day, except Sundays, from nine o'clock A. M., till three o'clock P. M.
