

NORMAL COURSE

WE make a specialty of training teachers. In a single month, this school year, thirty students from this school received teachers' certificates.

As in the Commercial Department, a special study has been made to reduce all expenses to actual cost, and to fit the student for his professional work in the shortest possible time.

TEACHERS' DEPARTMENT

The constant demand for well-trained teachers requires that we make a specialty of this department. The most prominent objections, urged by teachers, against the course pursued in most of the Schools and Academies, are: 1st They are held back in their classes on account of those less advanced and less interested in their studies. 2nd They have not the privilege of selecting their own studies. Our large attendance enables us to have a much greater variety of classes than can possibly be had where the number is small, hence students can select their own studies, and advance as they may desire.

We have such arrangements as will enable those teachers, who have but a short respite from their schools, to spend their time and means to the best possible advantage. Beginning, advanced, and review classes are formed in all the branches, not at the beginning only, but at different periods during the term. This accommodates teachers whose schools close before the opening of the regular term. Such may enter at any time, begin their studies just where they wish, continue in school as long as they can, and then drop out, teach a term, return and take up their studies where they left off. Many are familiar with certain branches, but desire to review them briefly. It is a well-known fact among teachers that WE DO FORGET, and become unfamiliar with those branches which we do not constantly teach. It is too true that GRADUATES, generally, are not so well prepared for examination for a teacher's certificate at the CLOSE OF THEIR COLLEGE COURSE, as they were when they began it, simply because they have so long neglected the common branches. They need a BRIEF REVIEW. No one is held back on account of students less advanced. This course, we have found, accommodates a large class of students and teachers.
