At last!

One year of hard work is in your hands. But whether it be 1952 or 1962, you'll never tire of your 1952 Red and White.

In fifty years your children may giggle and say, "What silly styles," but to you each page will recollect some memory of Lowell — the brisk wind swirling about in our Court during lunch; the blasting E-Rah and Ax Yell and the traditional Hymn at Kezar Stadium; the mad pushing and jabbing in our locker rooms; the quick two-minute conversations and the flying dash to the next classes; the choir, singing like angels in the dark halls before Christmas vacation; the screeching and yelling of "come on team!" at our basketball games; and of course, dreary report card days.

Yes, each page creates a recollection. To our Fall, 1951 staff members Bernie Gould (our business manager), Don Kahn (our sports editor), Gary Friedman, Pat Adler, Sue Benjamin, Judy Bechtel, and Martha Krause, our book meant lots of work. Each new idea adopted meant more effort. We tried a new layout for our Senior pages, decided to take a group faculty picture and came up with the idea of pages for classes. Our only hope now is that you enjoy these ideas.

We dedicate this 1952 Red and White to Mr. Libby, who passed away on September 3, 1951. He had been at Lowell over 25 years. Many students always will remember him: gray haired, short in stature and always joking. He is surely a pleasant memory from Lowell's history.

J-Day is here!

When you open the journal, remember that the hopes of the 1952 Red & White staff are within those pages.

We hope you like it.

While it only takes you a minute or so to scan thru these 96 pages, each individual page meant hours of hard work to the staff, and dealings with the photographer, the engraver, the printer and the binder.

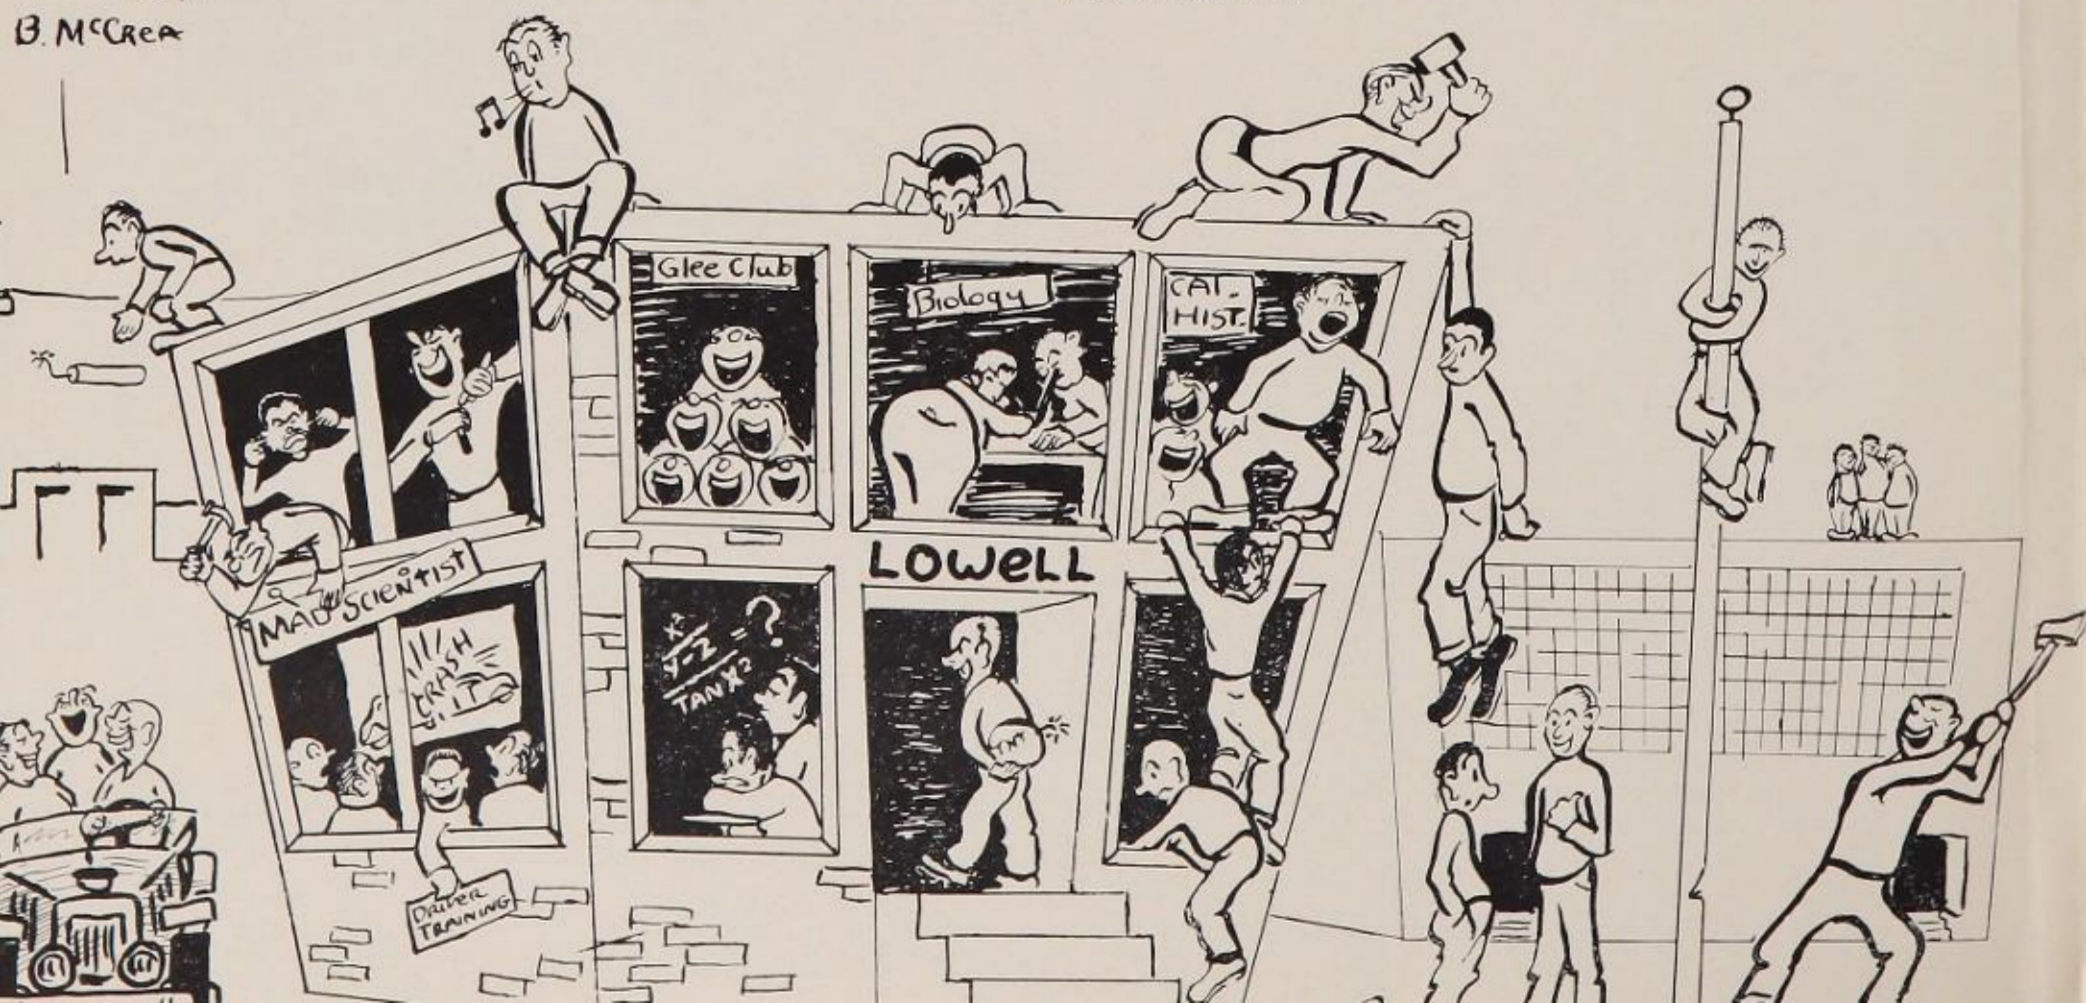

Financial details of the yearbook were handled by "the best business manager the Red & White has ever had," according to Mr. Wurm. He was referring to Barry McCrea. If you don't like the sports section, the one to blame is Gary "Rippling Muscles" Friedman, the Sports Editor.

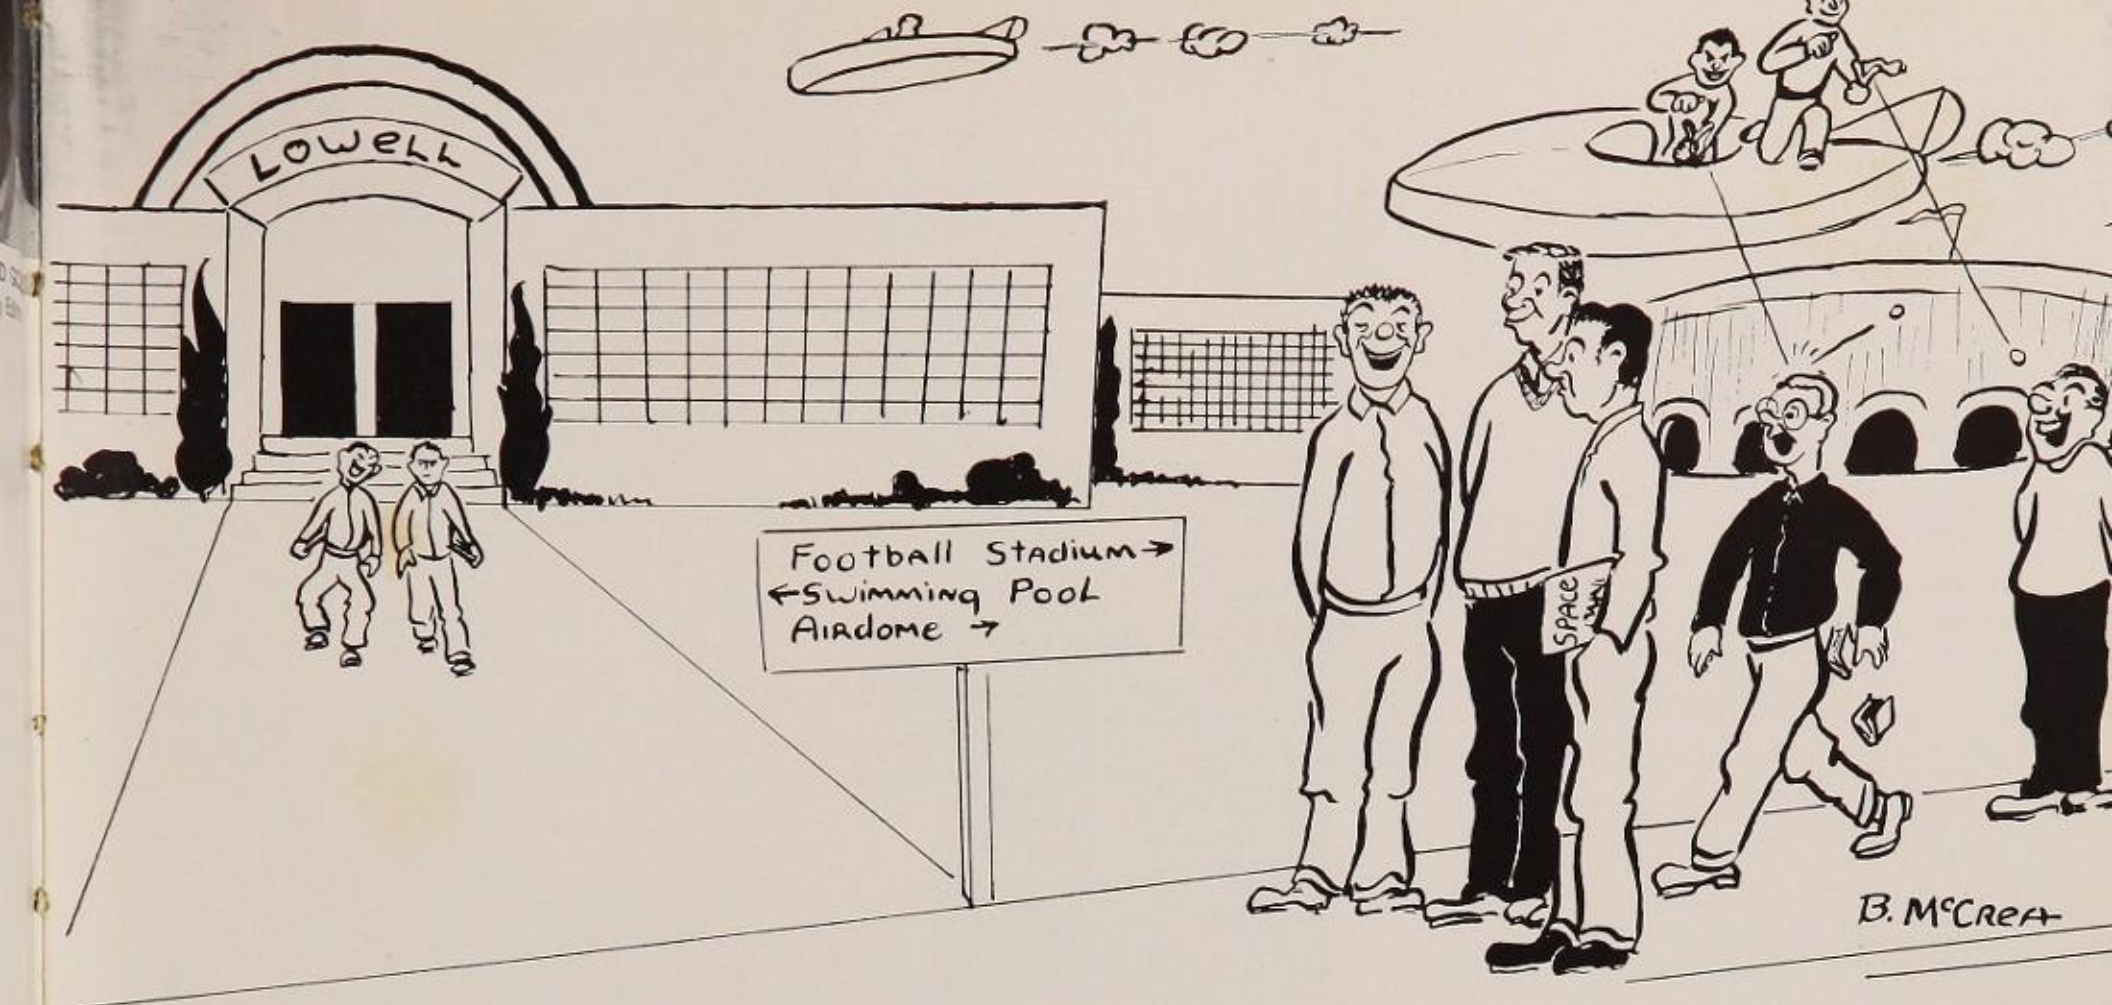

Carl Kress was responsible for nearly all the pictures of dances, rallies, sports, and the Hall of Fame. "Always on time," Jerry Ladar, and an ex-Lowellite also furnished pictures.

The art work, which we think is great, was done by our staff artists, Barry McCrea and Charlie Green.

But the Red & White is not the work of the Fall and Spring editors alone. They could never accomplish the thousand and one details without a dependable staff. And our staff was just that—dependable.

All of us on the staff are tired of looking at the pages of your journal—we've poured over each one hundreds of times—but, we hope you'll get some of the sparkle we've tried to incorporate within these pages. If you like the 1952 Red & White tell the staff; if you don't like it tell me.

We Can Dream Can't We?

"Tick, tick, tick."

Except for the ticking of the huge machine, the dark, gloom room was dead silent. From the large bay windows the lights of the distant city twinkled gaily. The rest of the world was a serene blue.

Inside the room two men lay sleeping on a divan, exhausted with fatigue. They were both scientists working on a machine which would determine what lay ahead in the future. The machine continued to tick. Suddenly specks of light flashed like meteors on the huge screen connected to the machine.

The ticking ceased.

Dead silence.

Suddenly the ticking resumed, louder and louder. The flash on the immense screen blurred. The ticking stopped again and the screen showed an ultra-modern city! What workmanship! The city was like a dream! Every type of architecture was unheard of. Unbelievable! The roads, the buildings, everything! The cars had nearly every comfort the home had to offer, and they were equipped with atomic power. Statues lined the majestic city hall building.

On one of the statues there was an inscription: TO THE FAIR CITY OF SAN FRANCISCO.

The light flickered twice. Then scenes of the city appeared from an airplane view. Connecting the bay cities with San Francisco were two bridges, which were triple decked and a tunnel ingeniously devised.

Lost in the middle of the city was Lowell High School. The building was large and spacious, and behind it sprawled a stadium. The surrounding trees and large lawns chased away the city atmosphere.

Suddenly the machine flicked off. Then again, as in the previous manner, another scene flicked onto the screen.

There laid the city in ruins—a horrible sight.

There was no sign of movement—all signs of animal life had disappeared completely. From the cracks of the pavements wild plant life grew. Only foundations stood where once tall buildings had reached for the sky.

In the bay the remains of the Golden Gate and the Oakland Bay Bridge lay at the bottom of the deep, murky waters. The coastline was no longer distinguishable.

The tunnel at the Twin Peaks was caved-in, and the Golden Gate Park no longer held its beauty.

The red brick building, Lowell High School, was now a pile of bricks, undistinguishable from other houses surrounding it. Broken glass and remains of cars were everywhere.

Suddenly the machine gave a low rumbling and stopped. The two men sleeping woke instantly. Quickly they examined the machine and discovered it was broken beyond repair.

"I wonder what happened?" they both thought.

Both men had missed the conclusion of their work—the future! But two aspects of the future were shown!

What will happen? Will man continue to live and enjoy the full pleasures of the unknown or will all this be destroyed by man, himself? What lies in the future? The world will never know. . . .

Dedication

Every Lowellite was deeply grieved by the death of Mr. Barnum B. Libby, one of our best-liked teachers, who passed away September 2, 1951.

Graduating from Princeton University with highest honors, he completed his graduate work at Harvard. He belonged to the Phi Beta Kappa honor society and Teachers' Central Council.

As a teacher of mathematics, he came to Lowell from Poly in 1923. Mr. Libby's qualities as a teacher and friend were innumerable.

He took care of our lockers, all 1600 of them. He was always willing to help us when our locks became stuck or we lost our books and mirrors.

He was sincerely interested in his fellow man and was never too busy to help someone else.

It is to the memory of Mr. Barnum B. Libby, teacher of many and friend of all, that we dedicate the 1952 Red and White.

A Final Word

For many years Lowell's graduates have gone forth to their further years of education and then to their life work to meet with a high degree of success.

This achievement has been due, not only to the scholastic foundation laid at Lowell, but also to the qualities that the experience at Lowell has helped the students to build into their characters.

The setting of worthwhile goals, integrity of purpose and effort, the willingness to work hard and to assume reasonably mature responsibility for the results of their efforts — these are some of the qualities that Lowell has always sought to help her students to develop.

The evidences are that members of the class of June 1952 are going forth well prepared for their work in the years ahead and we will look for worthy achievements on their part.

Best wishes to all June graduates for success in all that you undertake.

Edith E. Pence

See Goals High

We have no fear for the future of those who have been guided by the Lowell traditions of good sportsmanship, high scholarship, outstanding leadership, and trustworthy character. With this background you can so live your own lives that you will serve as good examples to others.

May each of you resolve to make this your goal.

The extent to which that resolve is kept will determine the degree of happiness and success which you will enjoy.

Gladys Lorigan.

Defend Democracy

To you, the graduating classes of Fall 51 and June 52, congratulations and best wishes.

You enter an adult world, one of uncertainty, of doubt, of danger.

We oldsters, in our bungling of World War II, are responsible for the muddled state of affairs in which the world and you find yourselves.

Your first, immediate, and lasting duty is to see that Democracy survives.

Your personal affairs are secondary. You will be assisted by those Lowell alumni who have preceded you. "There will always be a Lowell."

The torch we pass to you.

On These Pages You Will See

"Ding a ling-ling boing!"

"Darn that old alarm clock, anyway!"—that is the familiar phrase practically all of us are disgustedly compelled to remark each morning when we open our eyes to face another day of the same old weary grind. After shutting the alarm off, we might roll over and steal another forty winks with the knowledge, "I just know I'm going to be late!"

No, students aren't the only "sufferers" who have to rise — sixty-eight members of the Lowell faculty have to rise and shine, just as you and I, to face the fact that there's a long, important job ahead of each of us.

It is with great pride that we are able to proclaim our roll of honor containing the names of the faculty who graduated from Lowell some odd years ago. Miss Pence, Miss Lorigan, Mr. Anino, Miss Boehm, Miss Mc-Bride, Miss Graeber, Miss Kellogg, Miss Kerner, Mr. Leubner, Mrs. LoForti, Mr. Livingstone, Mr. Milton, and Miss Reston.

Yes, all our faculty, like us, have trudged to the old red brick schoolhouse of fifty four registries, in all kinds of weather.

As you probably have had drummed into your ears ever since your entrance into our beloved wigwam, Lowell is predominately a college preparatory school. We are especially proud of our various departments and fine supervisors of each department. The heads of departments are: English, Mr. S. K. Polland; Mathematics, Miss H. A. Welch; Instrumental Music, Mr. Krieger; History, Mr. Karpenstein, (acting head) and head counselor; Language, Miss Osuna, and our Science chairman, Miss F. Dealtry.

The other members of our faculty who deserve honorable mention are:

A Group That Forms Our Faculty

Miss J. Anderson, Mrs. A. L. Bach, Mr. W. E. Baker, Miss F. Balensiefer, Mr. I. C. Barker, Mrs. C. Bass, Mr. G. W. Bass, Mr. S. F. Berry, Mr. B. Brauer, Sgt. G. Brigham, Mrs. E. B. Catelli, Miss M. Chase, Mrs. M. S. Close, Mrs. I. M. Cooper, Mr. F. G. Driscoll, Mr. W. C. Drysdale, Mrs. V. E. East, Mr. N. C. Fast, Mr. W. E. Feiling, and Miss D. Flynn.

Out of breath yet? There's still more, you know: Sgt. F. Fry, Mr. E. D. Gallagher, Mr. L. S. Gerlough, Mrs. H. A. Haven, Miss M. Heaton, Mr. R. B. Hyink, Mr. D. Jamison, Mrs. E. B. Kallberg, Mrs. A. O. Lennon, Miss M. H. LeSeur, Mr. G. C. Lorbeer, Miss I. Mathisen.

The list continues: Miss U. L. McBean, Mr. C. J. McCarthy, Mr. O. H. McCord, Miss B. M. Mensnig, Miss G. Metcalf, Mr. E. G. Minkwitz, Mr. B. H. Neff, Mr. J. W. Patterson, Miss G. I. Reston, Miss E. M. Schou, Mr. A. Schwartz, Miss S. Cheiker, Miss E. G. Scott, Mrs. L. B. Smith, Miss C. Strauss, Mr. D. Travers, Miss M. Vasilatos, Mrs. A. K. Wallach, Mr. C. F. Walsh, Miss A. Whitaker, and Mr. J. B. World.

Although the following people do not teach, they deserve much credit for keeping the homefires burning: Mrs. A. Barr, Attendance and Book Room; Mrs. G. Cahen, Attendance Clerk; Miss E. P. Harrison, our faithful secretary to Miss Pence; Mrs. I. Nadeau, transcript clerk; and Mr. R. J. Wurm, bookkeeper. We will not forget those who really keep the fires burning: Mr. H. Mindew, chief engineer, and Mr. E. Ward.

"Child, when you grow up and go to Lowell, there'll be a brand new modern building. Lucky you!" This familiar saying was hopefully uttered by those of us who have older brothers or sisters who have graduated from our alma mater when we were going through the "bread and jam" stage.

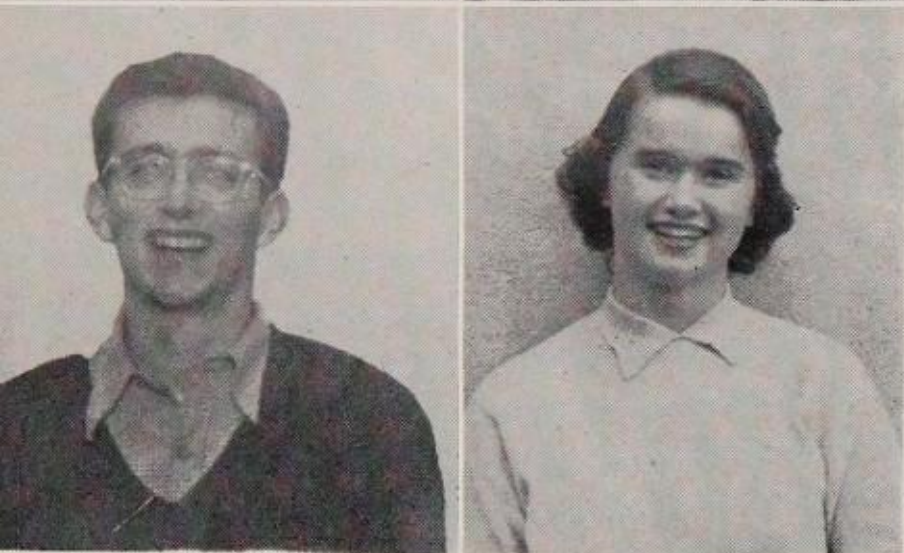

Even though the building may be old, we couldn't be any prouder of a fine high school with its great faculty, lasting traditions, and a standard no other school has yet to equal.

Fall Leaders

The idol of every Freshman — the envy of every Sophomore — the ambition of every Junior — the pride of every Senior.

Who or what is it? A Student Body officer.

Up on the platform during the rallies and wearing a friendly grin in the halls is Pete Kistler, our Student Body President. Pete, as our chief, has participated in many Lowell activities and displays tremendous school spirit.

A member of the Scroll, C.S.F., and Dance Committee, Pete is best known for his ability on the football field.

Blond, blue-eyed Kirsten Dencker was chosen to be head squaw for the Fall. Kirsten's school activities include the Shield, Big Sisters, GAA, and the Rally Committee.

Popular Virginia Ware was elected to the minute-keeping job. Aside from being a Big Sister and on the Block L, "Ginny" was also L-4 Vice President and active in the GAA.

Our former Head Yell Leader and track star, Ray Perkins, was elected to the job of keeping our school's finances in good order. Ray could be found most any time counting money in 143.

Loaded with energy and school spirit, Head Yell Leader, Carter Cohen, was on hand at all the games to give our team the support they needed.

Head Squaw on the Red and White this term is Kay Takakuwa. Besides bossing the R&W staff, Kay had time to participate in the Big Sisters, Shield and the Block L.

From Z to A, Zena Abers adds up as a mighty fine editor of the Lowell. On the Shield and Big Sisters, Block L and Dance Committee, Zena gave many hours of her time to put out six wonderful editions of the paper.

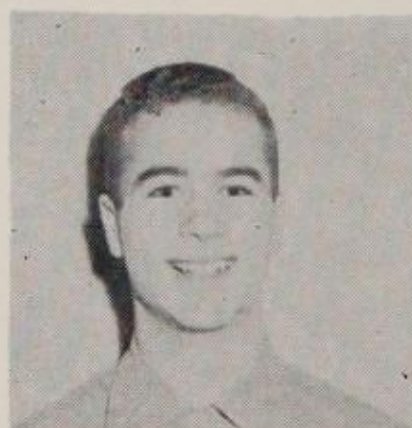

Our Assistant Yell Leaders, Barry Gilbert and Leland Levy, deserve special credit for the fine spirit they showed at games. They helped to keep the Lowell spirit high in the rooting section.

Spring Leaders

This term, after years of hard work, eight people have reached one of their goals in life, that of being a student-body officer.

Headed by President Ray Perkins, our officers have done wonderful work conducting all our student activities and affairs.

Our ambitious prexy worked up to his goal after getting experience from being assistant and head yell-leader and student-body treasurer.

Our Vice-president, popular Jackie Lowrey, as head of the student-body dance committee has worked very hard to make all the dances a success this term. Jackie is also a member of the Shield, the Rally committee, and the Big Sisters.

This term's hard working Treasurer, Chuck Jones, has worked very hard in an effort to keep Lowell's finances straight. He heads the registry treasurers, and is in charge of student body card and ticket sales, etc. Chuck is also a member of the Scroll.

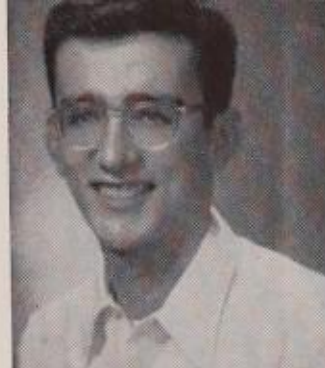

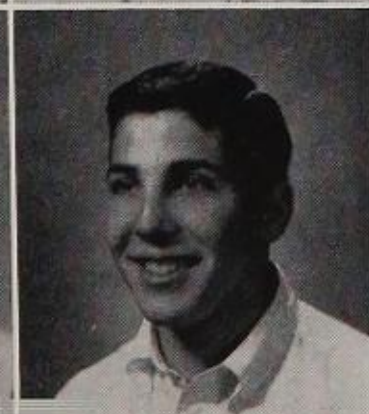

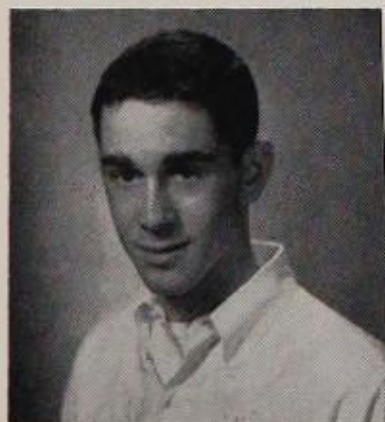

Secretary Jan Polissar has been doing a tremendous job keeping Lowell's business running smoothly this term. Jan is a member of the executive board and an active member of the C.S.F. and Scroll.

The Lowell rooting section has been exceptionally fine this term under the leadership of Bob Bransten, our head yell leader. His assistants, Lloyd Kahn and Leland Levy, should be commended for the fine help they have given Bob at all the rallies and games.

Girls' head yell leader, Roberta Hamilton, achieved the goal of being an officer early, since she is only a junior. Roberta and her assistant, Rosemarie Sauer, have done very well in assisting at the games and rallies and leading yells at all the girls' rallies.

Al Stein devotes much of his time to his work as editor of the Lowell, our school newspaper. The Lowell staff under his guidance has put out many good papers. Even though working hard as editor, Al found time to be on the 130 lb. basketball team, the Big Brothers, and the Scroll.

Our yearbook, the Red and White was edited this term by Bernie Gould. After taking over as editor for the Spring term Bernie and his staff have worked hard to put out this journal which we hope you will like.

Marin Town and Country Club, Fairfax, was the site of the H-4 picnic of October 15. Everyone had a good time eating, swimming, and dancing.

H-4 Class had waited for — the Block L Rally and Senior Day. It was their last rally and it was terrific.

Graduation Day was held at George Washington High School at 2 o'clock on January 22. The graduating class climaxed four of the best years of the Fall 1951 Class. Although it was not a large class, it proved to be one of the best.

Spring Seniors

It was already spring, and time for the Spring '52 Class to elect their class officers.

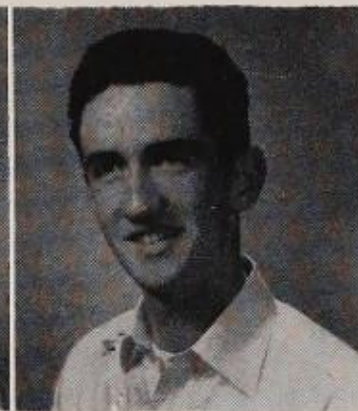

Bernard Haas, who was truly an outstanding student while at Lowell, was chosen president. Popular Bev McDowell was elected vice-president. Dick Herrerias, who was a stand-out in basketball and track, served as secretary. Well-liked Jim Fleming was elected treasurer.

The many senior activities began with the Senior Exclusive, held at the Room of the Dons at the Mark Hopkins Hotel on March 21. Music was furnished by Dick Saltzman.

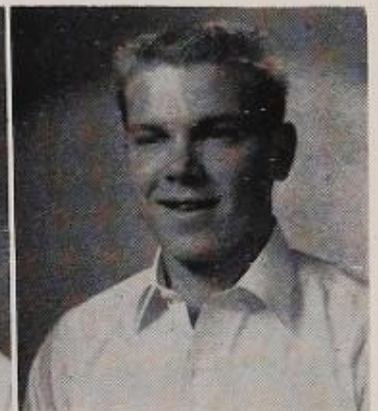

On May 21, the H-4's boarded buses for a day of fun. The picnic was at Fairfax, and was enjoyed by everyone.

The remaining days dwindled down until at last June 11 came, graduation day. The graduating exercises were held at the Opera House.

Now alumni of Lowell, the Spring H-4 Class will look back on many happy memories of the years at the Hayes Street brick pile.

As I walked up the rickety attic stairs, I stopped to catch my breath; I was no longer a youngster. I started the climb again; soon the attic door was before me.

Entering the attic, my eyes wandered to a large trunk, in which I found a 1952 Lowell year book. The pages were yellowed with age. I came across an exceptionally wrinkled yellowed page — page 12.

As I glanced over this page, my mind filled with memories: the L-4 election and the Picnic.

I remembered the election was close. Final winners, were: president, Ken Berry; vice president, Bobbie Koppich; and secretary, Don Thayer.

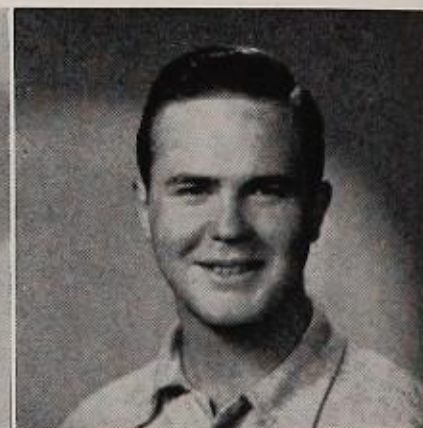

On the Dance Committee were Al Greene, Bob Hutchins, Mike Barnato, Penny Fletcher, Joanne Fulton, Roz Schwartz, Gary O'Brien, Mike Laskey, Judy Setzer and Gail Hurley.

Most of all, I remember the wonderful picnic we had at Sigmund Stern Grove on November 14, 1951.

My mind came back to reality as the door bell rang. I laid the book down, opened the door, and went slowly down the rickety stairs.

"Only a year to go!" exclaimed the small group of less than 100, as they began their L-4 term. They determined to make it the most terrific, memorable year of their lives, and their first term has lived up to these expectations.

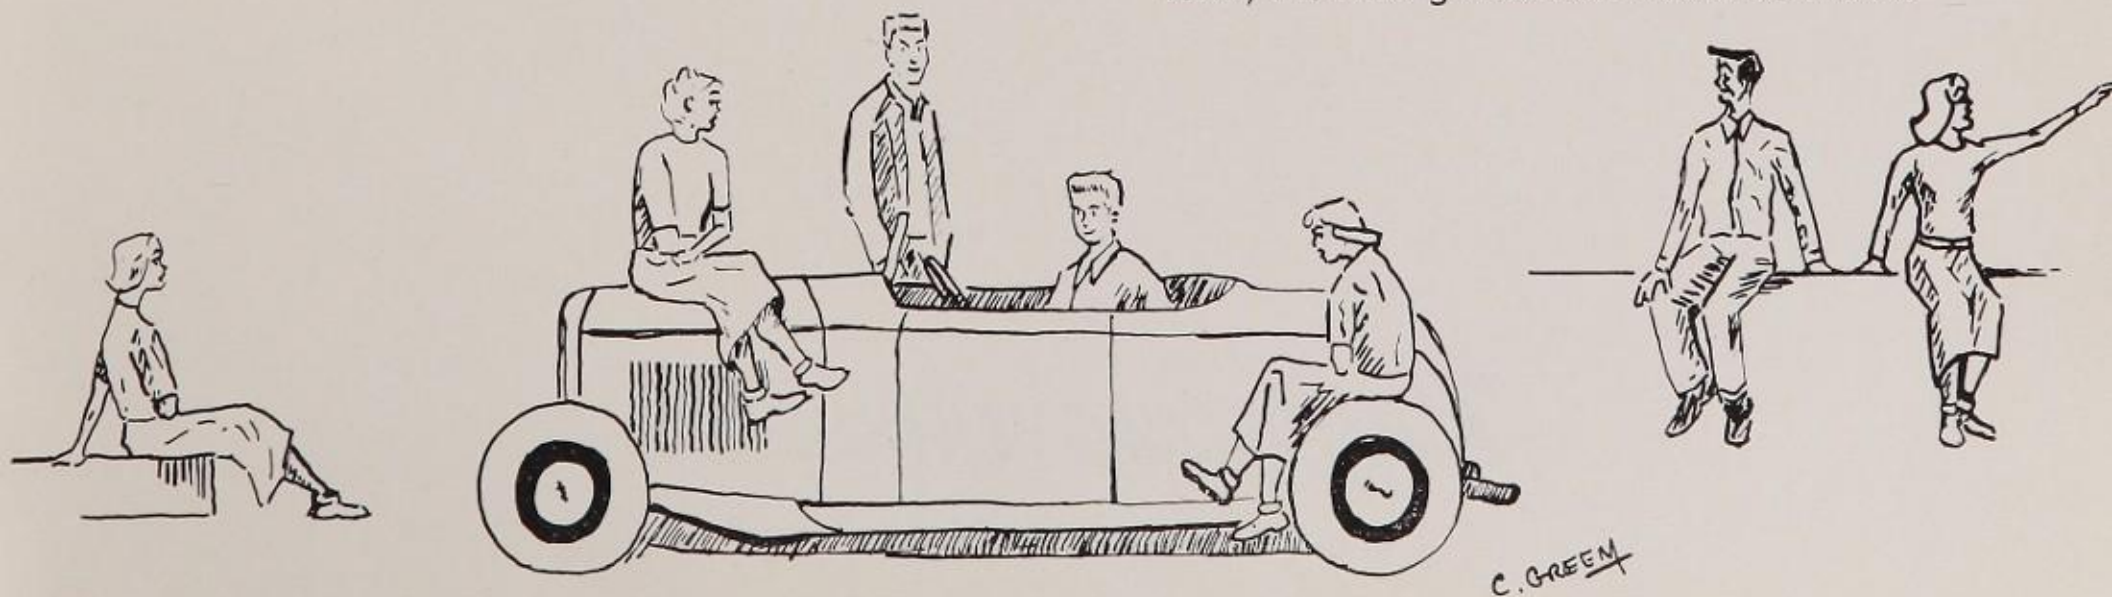

The vitality of the members of the L-4 class, more than made up for the small number.

They got off to a good start by electing Bill McCubbin president, Judy Bechtel vice-prexy, and Carol Reideman secretary.

Then came the night of "Our Very Own" Senior Exclusive. Why was this evening of March 21 at the Room of the Dons, Mark Hopkins Hotel, so tremendous? Could it have been the L-4 dance committee consisting of Grant Cook, Sandy Coplin, Sonya Cranston, Sharon Friedman, Eugene Hawkins, Eleanor Jacobs, Mike Lenschau, Elwyn Raffetto, Janet Schweifler, and Darlyne Trevor?

And of course, there was the picnic at Glen Park, marking off another memorable event.

As the successful term ended and the members of the L-4 class attended the graduation exercises, they knew that after another terrific term, the next graduation would be theirs.

Summer Fun In Many Places

Summer vacation is here!! For three months Lowell students can leave the old brick building in darkness and set out for a summer of fun.

Lake Tahoe and Russian River, the mountains and the seashore, will see a lot of Lowell students! Adobe Creek and Fairfax will see Lowellites on Saturdays and Sundays. And China Beach will be crowded all summer long.

Kids from Lowell can have fun, no matter what they do. The "crew" up at Lake Tahoe or the "gang" at Russian River have no more fun than the groups of Lowell students that gather at Fairfax on Sundays or who dance at Adobe Creek on Saturday nights.

Some believe in suntans in their own backyard. And when the weather is nice, Lowell inmates gather to have their own picnics and suntan oil parties.

Summer vacations can be fun, and Lowell students make sure they are!!!

Then There's Work, Too

Where do students work the hardest, study the longest, and complain the loudest? Why, in each and every one of Lowell's 61 classrooms, naturally.

As the pictures on this page show, most Lowellites do have a serious side, and are usually pretty earnest about their studies. This is proven by the high record Lowell graduates maintain in their college work.

Lowell has always had a well-rounded diet of academic, social, and athletic activities. This is due, no doubt, to the careful planning of the chief cooks, our teachers, and to the healthy appetites of the students.

1—Some happy freshmen in Miss Schou's class. 2—Turn off that charm, Bixby. Miss Kellogg's physiology lab is no place for it. 3—Mr. Barker's mathematical geniuses take time out for our photographer. 4—Future Republicans in Mr. Bass's Senior Civics Class. 5—Some serious students learning the meaning of "QUO VADIS" in Miss Whitaker's Latin class. 6—"Posture Perfect" is the theme of another one of Mr. Bass's Senior Civics classes.

The Scroll

GEORGE SHELDON
Fall President

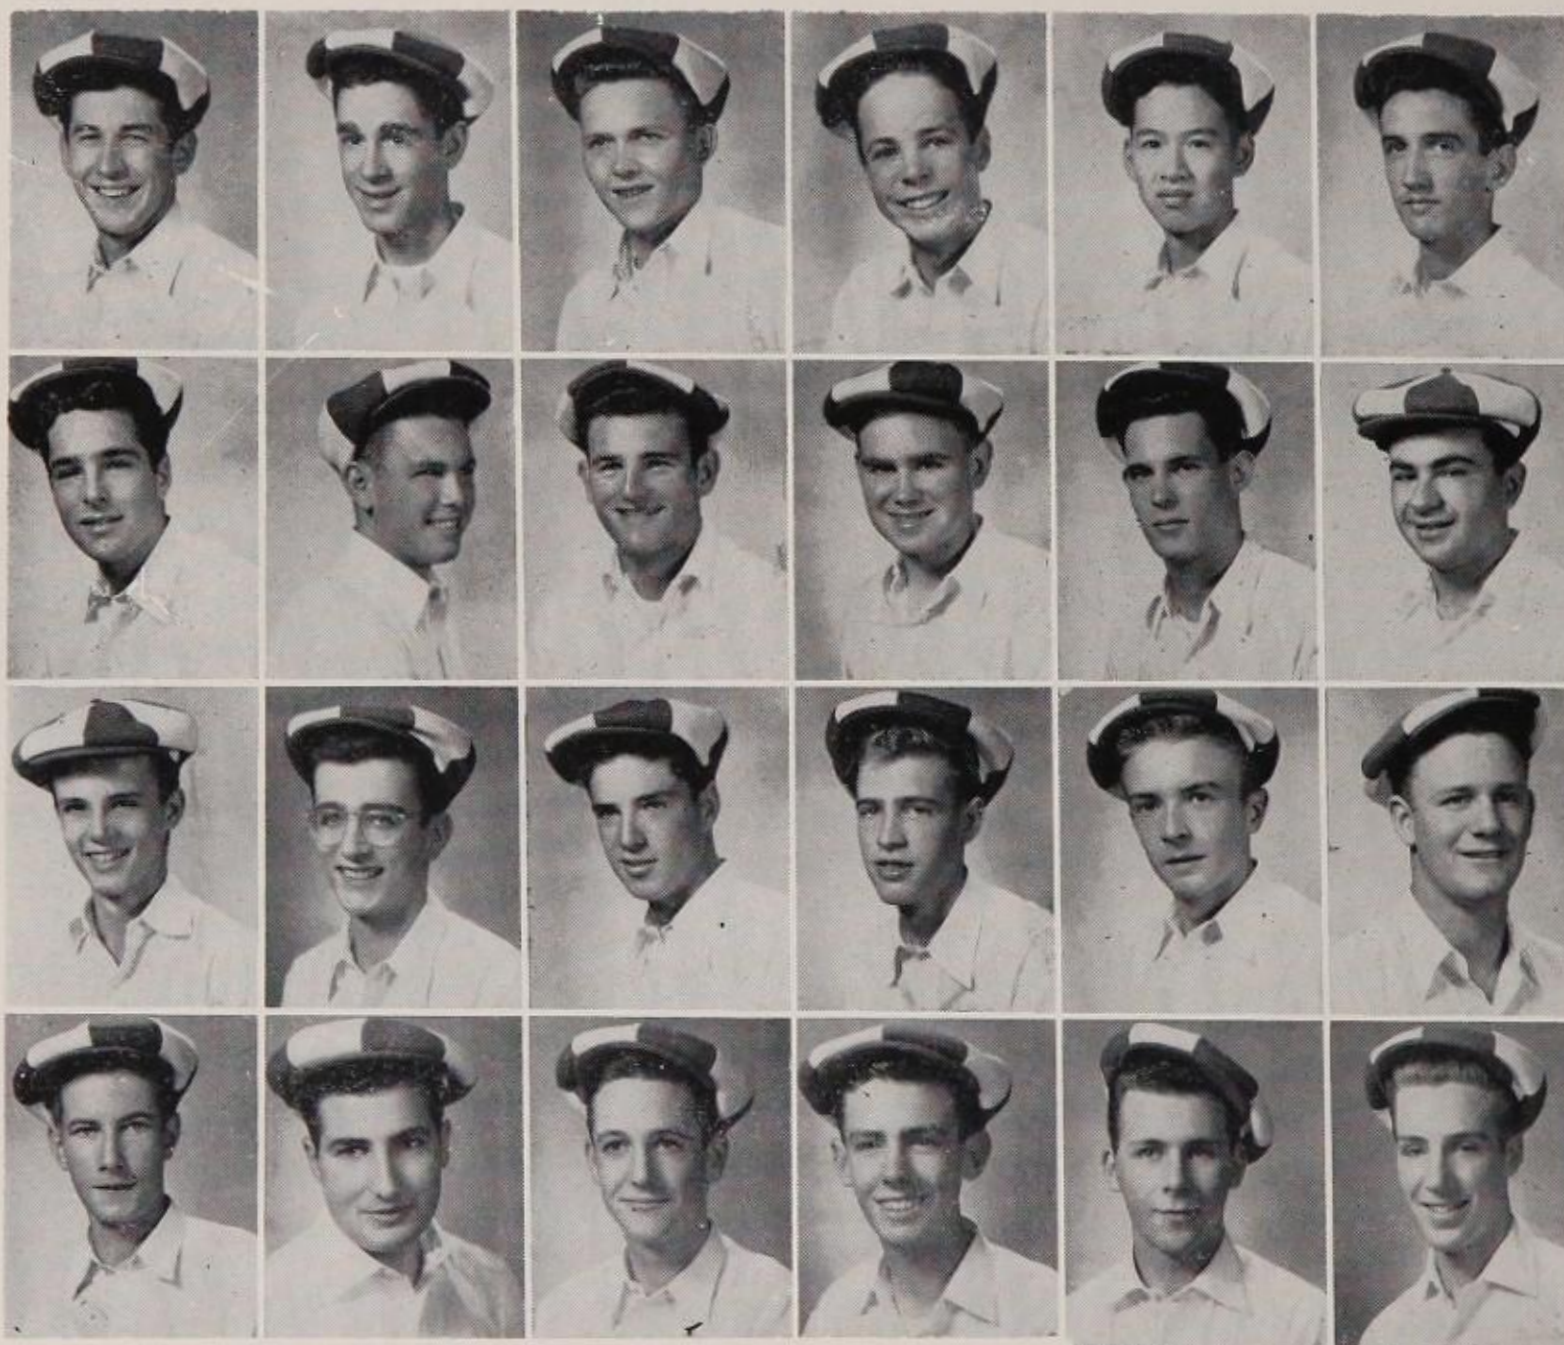

CHARLES ROSEKRANS
Spring President

The Scroll and L is the boys' honor society at Lowell. Their duties are to keep up the tradition of past Scroll men. They help to plan the Freshman's reception with the Shield & L. At the reception they give their version of the Can Can.

Every spring the Scroll combines with the Shield to give a skyrocketing dance in the Girls' gym. They serve at the rallies by maintaining order and also help out at P.-T.A. functions.

Officers of the Scroll last Fall were president, George Sheldon and secretary, John Scarborough. In the Spring, Charles Rosekrans was elected President, and James Lester, secretary. The Scroll's president joins the Block L president in carrying down the axe at the beginning of every rally.

Because of their outstanding service to Lowell, these boys, pictured above, with red and white caps and radiant-looking faces, are members of this honorary organization.

The Shield

Have you seen these girls with the red and white hats? They are Lowell's service society, the Shield & L.

The Shield sponsored the Newcomers' Reception which was highlighted by a fashion parade, Patsy Speer's baton-twirling, refreshments, and dancing in the Armory afterwards.

Another activity was sponsoring the H-9 picnic at Sigmund Stern Grove. A terrific time was had by everyone with softball, volleyball, dancing, and feasting on hotdogs, milk, potato salad, and ice cream.

Joanne Axelrod, President; Patsy Speer, Vice-President; and Mary Ernst, Secretary, headed the Fall activities. The Spring officers were Martha Hoaglund, President; Barbara Batistich, Vice-President; and Pat Connolly, Secretary.

R. O. Grows Under Able Leaders

The ROTC, under the guidance of Instructors Sgt. Brigham, Sgt. Fry and Captain Cuniffe, has had an outstanding year.

Commanding officer for the fall term was Cadet Colonel Frank Piro, Regimental Commander of four schools. Cadet Major Alan Wickens, Executive Officer, and Cadet Captain Charles Fuller, Adjutant, were his staff.

For the spring term, Cadet Lieutenant Colonel Charles Fuller was Battalion Commander, also Regimental Commander, and his staff was Cadet Major Robert Herndon, Executive Officer, and Cadet Captain Bill Bixby, Adjutant.

Main events of the year were two parades, Columbus Day and St. Patrick's Day; Parents' Night, when Cadets showed their families varied phases of ROTC training; Federal Inspection and Sixth Army Competition.

In all of these, Lowell Cadets and Band conducted themselves in their usual outstanding manner. Under able leadership, the Corps is growing and has an enviable record for efficiency and achievement.

Indians Dance And Chant

It's tops!

That's the only way the Lowell Choir, under the supervision of Mr. Berry, can be described.

And no wonder!

Anybody who heard them sing "Across The Wide Missouri" at the 1951 United Nations Varieties, will agree that this high school choir is one of the best.

Among its best representatives are Bob Thein and Suezane Cardinal, who performed both singly and together at the Varieties. They have won top honors elsewhere.

In addition to singing at the Varieties, the Choir also participated in the Christmas program at the Emporium, and, as always, sang at the graduations.

It's tops!

When you were strolling by those sacred piles of wood known as "the shacks," did you notice the wonderful, mellow music that was coming from the same direction?

If you did, the chances are that it was either on a Monday or on a Thursday, because these are the days that the Lowell dance band rehearses.

This past term, the dance band has been under the leadership of Darrell Bloom, and has played not only at many of the school and class dances, but has also entertained at the Freshmen reception, the rallies, and played for various other outside groups.

Musicians Carry on While Boss Away

"Maestro" Krieger of the renowned Lowell Orchestra, was on sabbatical leave for six months.

But this didn't stop the Orchestra (under the leadership of Mr. Shaff), from playing at the Varieties, at the Emporium on December 17, or at the Graduation, under the baton of George Sheldon, when Jack Katz played a violin solo.

When the maestro returned, the Orchestra went on to play a three-night stand at the term play, and to take part in the Northern California Music Festival on May 2, and the Bay Counties Festival May 17 and 24.

When you were at the rallies and sports events, didn't you notice something terrific.

You did!

This was our Band, led in '51 by George Sheldon, and the past term by Jan Polissar, which took first place at the football pageant.

In addition to this, it demonstrated its expert talent at the Civic Auditorium on April 18, when it played for the California P.-T.A. at the Northern California Musical Festival on May 3, and at the Bay Counties Festival May 17 and 24.

Lots of credit should be given to George Sheldon and Jan Polissar, for helping to make our Band one of the best in the city.

"Lowell" Stands For Scholarship

From out of the Lowell Indian Reservation comes the 1951-52 story of Chapter 273 of the California Scholarship Federation.

This year, through the studious work of ambitious Lowellites and Miss Scott, the CSF advisor, Lowell High School led the city in nin, Treasurer Jan Polissar, and Secretary Morelle Lasky, the "Brains" held a joint picnic with the Library Staff.

Near the end of the term they took time off from their studies to elect Herb Hymans, Leslie Gottschamer, and Morelle Laskey to the Spring posts of the CSF.

having the greatest number of students belonging to the CSF. A total of 170 Indians were members of this "three A's and one 'B' organization!"

Last fall, under the leadership of President John Schwabacher, Vice-President Betty Kasa-

During the month of March the "council" visited KPIX. Around May Day a successful picnic was again held at Sigmund Stern Grove.

And, as the term ended, so came to a close, another year in the life of Chapter 273 of the CSF.

An Indian Trait Is Service

The strangeness of your new school, Lowell High, has hardly worn off by the time you find yourself in a huge room full of people. This is your Newcomers' Reception. All of the Big Sisters and Brothers of Lowell have gathered here to welcome you.

Yes, that's your Big Sister or Brother who finds so much interest in your report card, willing to help you with your special problems.

Only girls with high scholarship and citizenship records and a nice personality are selected to become Big Sisters.

Fall term officers were: Chairman, Christina Sutti; Assistant Chairman, Barbara Zorobai; Secretary, Pat Lamb; Social Activities Chairman, Pat Speer. Nancy Davis was her assistant.

Kay Breslauer was the Co-ordinator in charge of coaching the Little Sisters.

Spring term officers were: Carol Wallace, Chairman; Janice Morgan, Assistant Chairman; Eva Wald, Secretary; Joan Maness, Co-ordinator; Marian Crampton, Social Chairman; Bobbie Koppich, Assistant Social Chairman.

The Big Brothers are selected from the boys on the Block L. The Colonel of the ROTC automatically becomes a member.

Fall term officers were: Jim Stone, President; Ek Mahl, Veep; Denny Glafkides, Clerk.

Spring term officers were: Gary Friedman, President; Mike Barnato, Veep; Denny Glafkides, Clerk.

Lowell Is Famous For Spirit

"With heads bared we stand . . ."; yes, these familiar strains have been the touching climax to many enjoyable games and rallies. Through victory and defeat the Lowell Hymn still remains a symbol of proudness and commands almost unanimous respect.

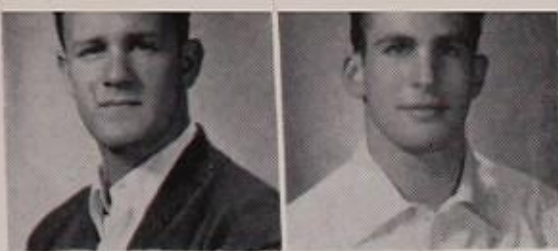

With the rush and flurry of students into the courtyard to the beating of "tom toms" these rallies begin. The opening song, which is usually, "On Cardinals," inspires everyone to display his school spirit; classwork is temporarily forgotten.

For many years high schools have had rallies preliminary to various sports events.

For many years, also, the Lowell Indians have been rated as leaders in school spirit.

The Lowell rallies will long be remembered with a smile or maybe a tearful sigh when these joyful and memorable moments are recalled.

A Proud Group Wears The Block L

It takes hard work to make the Boys' Block L, composed of those who have won a Block L in some sport—which usually means they have played at least two years. The main purpose of this group is to act as "Big Brothers" to new students, and to be generally helpful around the school—to help at rallies, bring up the Ax, perform a hundred other duties no one else will or can do.

Officers of the Block L for the Fall Term were Jim Stone, President; Ek Mahl, Vice President; Dennis Glafkides, Clerk of Awards. For the Spring Term, Gary Friedman was President, Mike Barnato, Vice President, and Dennis Glafkides succeeded himself as Clerk of Awards.

The Block L personifies the great athletic tradition which is so much a part of Lowell. The glory of Lowell has been augmented by such former Block L members as Doug Scovil, former president of the Block L, now quarterback at C.O.P.; Jerry Coleman, infielder for the New York Yankees; Bob Feerick, former professional basketball star, now coach at Santa Clara; Howie Dallmar, former All American basketball player at Stanford and professional star, currently coaching at the University of Pennsylvania; Kenny Flower, now starring for U.S.C.—called the greatest dribbler in collegiate basketball today; and many other athletes, as well as successful men in other walks of life, such as Bill Joslyn, now Marine Corps Captain, whom Mike Voyne called the "greatest football player I ever coached at Lowell," and Ray Milton, now teaching at Lowell.

Men like these not only have added to Lowell's athletic standing, but have brought stature to the academic standing and high character of Lowell student bodies.

The Girls Block L had a very successful year under the leadership of its capable spring and fall officers.

Kay Breslau was the fall president, assisted by Olga Zaharine, secretary.

Judy Setzer was elected spring president and Lotti Cohen held the office of secretary.

Members of the Block L do not believe in all work and no play because each girl has taken a sport for two or three years.

These girls usher at rallies and receptions and also help out on the cleanup committee.

The girls were helpfully guided under Miss Flynn, their advisor.

Our G.A.A. Offers Varied Sports

How can we make new friends, keep our figures, and become excellent in a sport, all at the same time? Why of course by being a member of the G.A.A.

Under the guidance of our capable managers, Eva Wald—riding manager, Jackie and Patty Mascarelli—bowling, Cynthia Stearns—modern dancing, Claudine Claussen — volleyball, Sandra Werdesheim—tennis, Paula Bakalar — swimming, and Morelle Laskey — folk dancing, there is fun in store for everyone who participates.

Our helpful officers are, Sigrud Mahl, president; Margie Kay, Secretary; and Martha Kloster, Clerk of Awards.

The G.A.A. is looking forward in seeing you all again next term.

NATIONAL FORENSICS LEAGUE PARTICIPANTS

Forensics League Famous In Field

"It is with great pleasure that I introduce as our next speaker . . ."

Time: Wednesday morning, first period.
Place: Room 131.

The last meeting of the Lowell High Forensic Society is now in progress. Last term's President Yvette Montano, Vice-President Kim Malville, Secretary Cynthia Stearns, and Treasurer Elaine Berke are seated among the many members as this term's officers, Dick Kitzlitz, President, Nancy Herchberg Vice-President, Liv Stearns Secretary, and Elaine Berke Treasurer, preside.

The primary topic under discussion seems to be this last year's achievements of the Lowell public speaking society.

Recalled are such winners as Yvette Montano, second in the nation in Oratorical Delcamation; Cynthia Stearns, first in Dramatic Declamation in Northern California; Dick Kitzlitz, first in Oratory in Northern California; (Dick represented Lowell in the Nationals in Boston, but results were not available at press time); Elaine Berke and Leland Levy, second in Oratorical Declamation and Oratory, respectively.

Silence prevails, as Coach Lorbeer rises to speak. He asks them to remember, not only the winners, but, also, the workers — such as, Jim Mitchell, Stuart Pollack, Don White, Dave Heilbron, and Ed Bordin, debators; John Vlahos, and Catherine Wehren, extempores; Roland Perraca, Gary Graham, and Carmen Dorich, orators; and the many, many members who have taken part in over 15 different speech contests to bring glory and fame to their school, Lowell.

As the meeting draws to a close, there seems only one tribute left to be paid. That tribute is directed to a counselor and friend of every public speaker at Lowell, a man who has molded the careers of many lawyers and speakers in the past, a man to whom all members of the society owe a great deal, for their knowledge, and a year of great fun and good times — Coach George Coe Lorbeer.

THE LOWELL CHAPTER OF THE NATIONAL FORENSICS LEAGUE

Small Organizations

How many of us realize that there are many small clubs and organizations existing in our own high school?

Not many, I assure you.

But such clubs as the Writers' Club, Chemistry Club, Slide Rule Club, Chinese Club, and organizations such as the Public Address, and Stage Crews, are continually helping and serving Lowell High School everyday in our school life.

Not only do these clubs serve us, they also afford an opportunity for making new friends, discovering new things, and really having a lot of fun.

1—Always up in the clouds was the Astronomy Club. 2—Receiving credit for the weird and good sounds in the court was the P.A. Crew. 3—Working behind the scenes of the school plays and other activities was the stage crew. 4—Future Einsteins of the World, experimenting diligently, are known as the Chem. Club. 5—"Check Mate" one of the favorite expressions heard in the Chess Club. 6—The Writers Club was continuously thinking up brilliant ideas for new stories. 7—The Choir and Orchestra could always be seen entertaining at all times.

1—J. Polissar, J. Sartori, B. Masonek. 2—J. Setzer, E. Walsh, B. Bixby. 3—J. Hughes, E. Walsh, J. Setzer. 4—J. Sartori, B. Bixby. 5—Mr. Polland. 6—J. Sartori, B. Masonek. 7—J. Pollissar, E. Walsh.

"The Boomerang" Term Play Comedy

Another year, another play, and another hit was presented by Mr. Polland and his thespians.

This year the play was a three-act comedy titled "The Boomerang," and was held on May 9, 12, and 14.

As the play unfolded, it told in a hilarious cure a patient, Budd Woodbridge, of being love-sick, disappointed, and jealous over his girl friend Grace. Although doctor scoffs at love, he is sympathetic with Budd and tries to cure him by keeping him away from Grace. As this attempt failed, Dr. Sumner feels the only thing to do is make Grace fall in love with Budd, and this attempt was a success.

After this situation had been straightened out, the doctor suddenly realizes he has fallen in love with his lovely young assistant, Virginia. Upon this delightful turn of events the players all came out to take their well deserved bows.

A few of the fictional characters that helped make this a successful comedy were Mrs. Woodbridge, the doting mother of Budd; Preston De Witt, the man about town with an eye out for the ladies; Hartley, the dignified English butler; Emile, the doctor's French valet; and Marion and Gertrude, sophisticated girl friends of Grace.

The players in the cast were Bruce Masonek as Gerald Sumner, Jan Polissar as Budd Woodbridge, Bill Bixby and Jerry Plotkin as Preston, Burkes Hamner and Peter Ralston as Emile, Stan Horn and Carl Scott as Hartley, Jane Sartori as Virginia, Joann Urso and Erin Walsh as Grace, Judy Setzer and Joan Hart as Marion, Nancy Gates, Marilyn Keena, and Jackie Hughes as Gertrude, and Leslie Gottschamer as Mrs. Woodbridge.

United Nations Fall Varieties

Colorful, star-studded, and laugh-filled, adequately describes Mr. Polland's United Nations Varieties of November 17, 19, and 21.

After the overture "Salute to the United Nations," the lights dimmed and the auditorium curtain rose promptly at 8:00 p.m., with "Let's Go To The Varieties," proving that although many people arrive late they can still fully enjoy the show.

The "Voice That Is Still" consisted of a father, Gerald Levin, losing his voice and exchanging notes with his friend, Bruce Masonek.

"The Hungry Five," played some brassy melodies, interspersed with side-splitting jokes. Six gorgeous girls danced to the graceful "Continental," created by Patsy Speer.

A three-scene play, "Speed," shows a business man who goes to work at 9:00 p.m. instead of 9 a.m. A poor, down-hearted, ragged couple with a starving baby finally have some good fortune in "Grave vs. Gay."

Magic-man, Bob Fischer, presented some "Mysteries in Magic," with a mystifying umbrella and disappearing scarves. "Dancing Doll" from Copelia was then performed by ballerina Roberta Hamilton.

A beautiful "moon" and colonial costumes inspired romance between a bashful actor and a moon-gazing actress in "On The Lot." The colorful "Bavarian Laendler" and "Italian Quadrille" were performed by gayly dressed folk dancers and "Songs of the Nations" were sung by the Lowell choir.

Bill Bixby, former plumber, became a doctor and Leslie Gottschamer, a Shakespearian actress, tormented her victims as a massuese in "Changing Professions."

The soft and sweet music-minded Modernaires gave the setting for the graceful and glamorous Joann Urso's Hawaiian Dance, accompanied by Eddy Brand and his marches.

Hollywood-bound Bob Thein and Sue Cardinal sang a long-to-be-remembered duet, "Make Believe." Delightful and talented Patsy Speer did some of her famous "Baton Bewitchery" and Bill Bixby, Lloyd Kahn, John Lodmell, and Ray Perkins were the popular 'Uncalled Four,' a singing quartet.

The unique and vivid Peruvian Dance was done by Miss Boehm's modern dancers.

Last, but not least, was the impressive and colorful "Parade of Nations" by the Big Sisters, and for the climax, Miss America held up the shining gold letters "PEACE."

The Lowell Records The Month

What's the news around Lowell this term?

To find this out, pick up an issue of the "Lowell."

"From Z to A" and "The Indian Sign," written by the Fall and Spring editors, gave good viewpoints regarding the activities of the students, the spirit at the rallies and games.

The "Totem Pole" reveals all private doings 'round the Reservation.

"Out of the Past" brings back news of the alumni, while "Redskins Round the Reservation" tells news of present Lowellites.

The calendar on the first page tells what events are coming up and when.

Zena Abers and Al Stein took top credit as Fall and Spring editors, respectively.

Assisting them were the able editors, Bob Green and Ed Bordin.

Business managers Arnie Cohn and Jim Crilly kept the money situation well in hand.

Up to date sports news was recorded by the sports editors, Al Stein and Stan Shalit.

Other members of the staff included: N. Arndt, M. Golden, A. Katz, N. Wasson, Y. Montano, E. Pandell, F. Piro, J. Sartori, S. Shalit, M. Valoria, J. McDonald, J. Alioto, P. Bakalar, F. Berger, A. Blumer, C. Bolles, K. Cohn, P. Connolly, J. Erbentraut, N. Figel, S. Gospe, C. Haugen, S. Horn, B. Ott, R. Passer, R. Rouda, and E. Schlesinger.

The Red & White Sums Up The Year

Hear ye! Hear ye! Step right up and buy the greatest book in Lowell's history! Yes, it's finally arrived after months and months of feverish endeavor — padded cover and all!

With great pleasure, your year book staff proudly presents to you, your 1952 RED & WHITE.

The center ring is room 133; the ringmaster, Mr. Patterson with his youthful male apprentices: Lloyd Kahn, Gail Moss, Henry Hermann, and Charlie Green.

The female trapeeze artists include: Natalie Fleisher, Lauretta Fox, Judy Bechtel, Sue Benjamin, Pat Adler, Yvonne Kramer, Joan Conlan, Anne Kopelk, and Lois Bernstein.

Bev Peterson, star bareback rider is enthusiastically assisted by Carole Rosenthal and Shirley Greenberg.

In the third ring, clowns: Joan Lovering, Beverly Swope, and Nancy Wasson are entertaining the kiddies.

Watching this tremendous performance from the front row are: Fall Red and White editor, Kay Takakuwa; Spring editor and Fall business manager, Bernie Gould, and Spring business manager, Barry McCrea.

Two rows back Sports editors Gary Friedman and Don Kahn are spotted energetically eating peanuts.

We find our faithful school photographer, Carl Kress, kneeling amidst the sawdust busily photographing the lions in their spectacular act.

We hope you enjoy the product of our 'Greatest Show on Earth' as much as we have enjoyed presenting it to you in the form of your 1952 RED AND WHITE.

"And this picture will go here, staff"—S. Benjamin; J. Bechtel; your Fall Red and White editor, K. Takauwa; and P. Adler—in the upper left hand corner, from left to right. I think it's funny, too, Lloyd! In upper right, from left to right, Red and White Spring editor—B. Gould. Also B. McCrea, G. Friedman, L. Kahn, and J. Conlan. Does it really look hopeless, Henry? Lower left, left to right: H. Hermann, G. Moss, and C. Green. What's your trouble, Joan? Center, left to right: J. Lovering, B. Swope, N. Wasson, and A. Kopelk. Glue, anyone? Lower right, left to right: N. Fleisher, C. Rosenthal, B. Peterson, L. Bernstein, and L. Fox.

Dances Important To Lowellites . . .

Dreamy music, a dimly-lit dance floor, and starry-eyed couples mean only one thing, our Lowell dances.

Gayly decorated with cardboard football players, the girls' gym was the setting for the "Pigskin Pageant" on September 22.

"Starlight Serenade," our first outside school dance was held at City College Lounge October 5. Silver and blue tallies carried out the theme, and music was provided by Leonard Auletti's orchestra.

"Ladies' Night" was the theme for the traditional Twirp Dance October 27, the one chance for the gals to grab their dreamboats. Block L tallies, the Lowell dance band, and a packed girls' gym made this something to remember.

Round, gold, moon-faced tallies were right in keeping with "Harvest Moon" held at the California Club on November 9. A "moon-lit" room and Charlie Steven's band, what could be more perfect?

Our most unusual and decorative event was the "Mad Hatter Dance," in the girls' gym, which was decorated with imaginary characters wearing fantastic hats. The date was November 30. Purple and pink hats with legs represented the tallies. Chapeaus ranged from plaid berets, snow caps, and war bonnets to smoked hams, dishes, and Christmas trees.

UPPER LEFT—FRONT ROW (L to R): S. Rymes, B. Green, J. Bertie, L. Chin, J. Lowrey, R. Rouda, K. Dencker, J. Malfanti, M. Feinstein, C. Haugen. BACK ROW: B. Brody, B. Hammerstad, N. Peterson, J. Pollissar, B. McCrea, C. Green, N. Blumenthal, A. Axelrod.

They Keep Photographers Busy

As always, Seniors are confident, Freshmen are green, Sophomores are eager, and Juniors are — well Juniors are Juniors!

Put them all together and we have a wonderful group of kids. This is exactly what happens at a Lowell dance, and this is the reason our dances are always a big success.

This term was no exception. We opened the season with a novelty dance called the "Twin Twirl." It required couples to wear something alike. Then came the ever-popular "Twirp Dance." This dance always proves to be a lot of fun, because it gives the girls a chance to choose their fellas'.

The Senior Exclusive was one the Senior class may well be proud of. It took place in the lovely Room of the Dons in the Mark Hopkins Hotel. It was a sell-out, and one of the best Senior Exclusives we have ever had at Lowell.

The first outside dance of the term found many of our Lowell Indians at the Ariel Club. Lots of fun was had by all.

Yes, our Spring dances were wonderful, and will surely be long-remembered.

Lowell Indians Are Friendly Tribe

At school or vacationing the activities of Lowell students are varied, as you can tell by the pictures above.

Whether sitting in the court eating your lunch, thinking about the coming dance, sun bathing in your back yard, or taking a dip at Yosemite we always have many different things to do

Practically everywhere you go familiar faces are seen, talking over the back fence, at parties and dances, or at your favorite show.

All in all, Lowell students are very friendly which, is shown when they will go out of their way just to say, "hello."

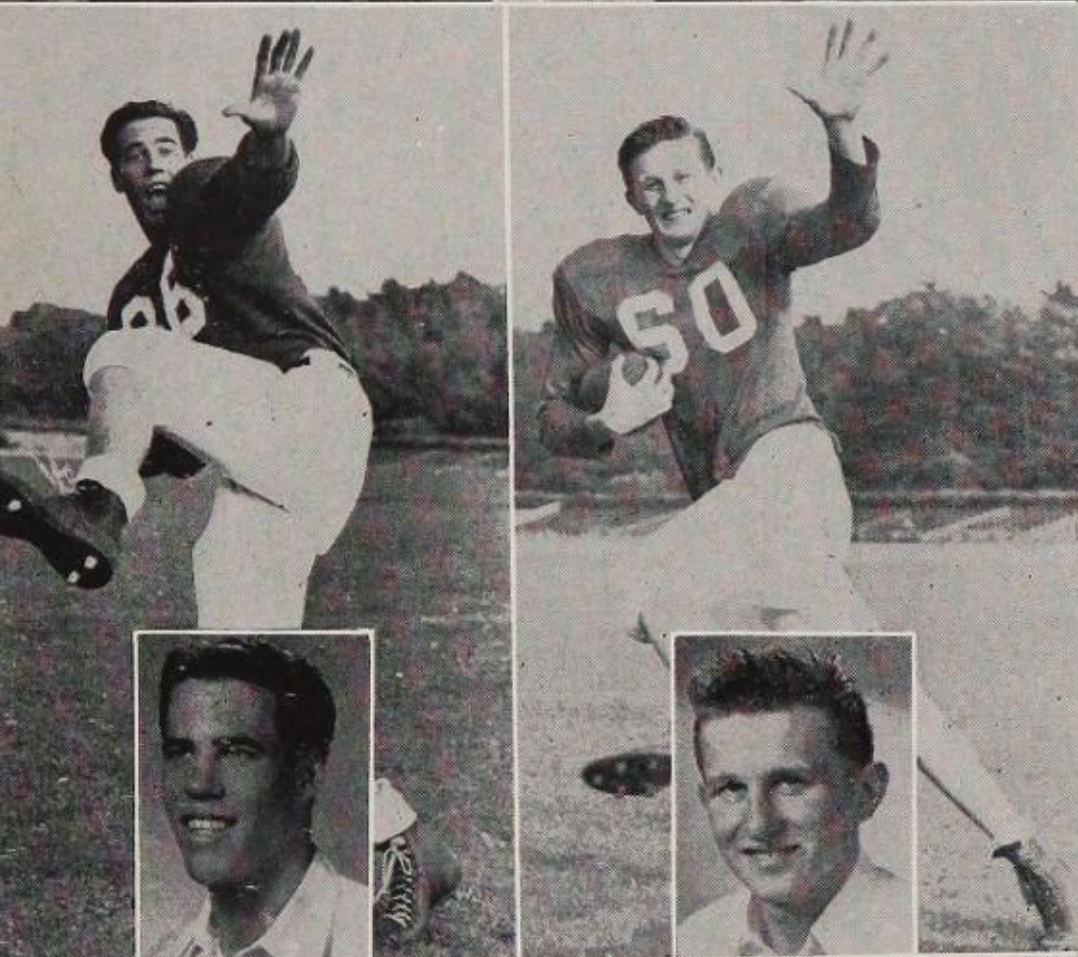

Sports

Football

"A First Year Man" is our excellent head coach Bill Feiling who took over the coaching job from fabulous Mike Voyne. Coach Bill, a Stanford grad, has led Lowell to its best season since 1947. Congratulations to you on your first year success.

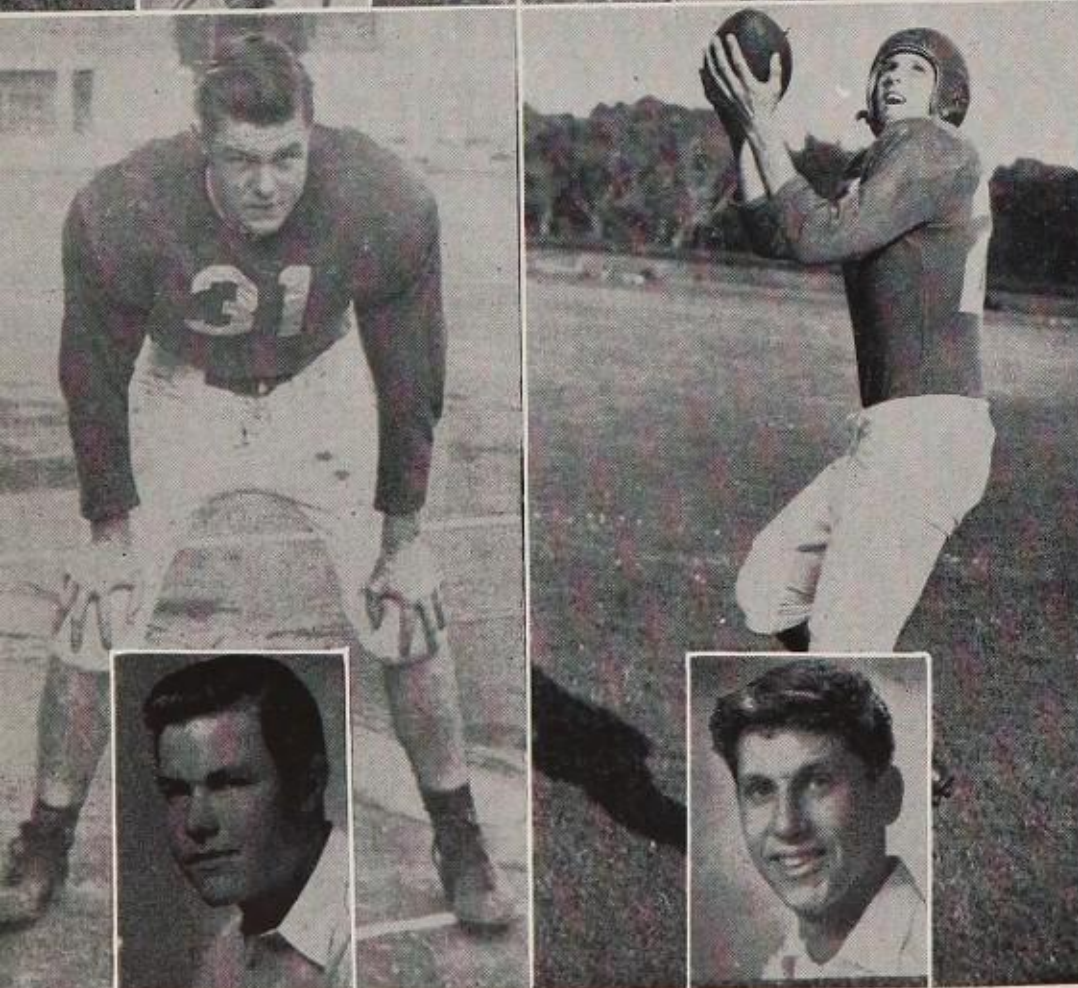

"Uncle Miltie" (Permission by R.M. to use this title), seen on T.V. Tuesday nights, is also our assistant coach. Mr. Milton is a former Lowell and S. F. State star fullback. "Uncle Miltie" handles the J.V.squad and is Varsity backfield coach.

"Scamperer" Bob Hutchins is a good halfback. Bob, up from the J.V.'s, did a creditable job in first year of varsity. He is a member of the track and J.V. basketball teams. Plans to attend California.

"The Mad Russian," who else but our outstanding defensive halfback Vlad Chulanseff? Vlad hurt his neck in the Saint Ignatius game this year but he will be O.K. for next year. Look for Vlad to star in the future.

"The Southern Gentleman", William "Magnolia" Mallory, is North Carolina's contribution to Lowell's team. An outstanding linebacker. He plans to go to University of North Carolina where he'll major in agriculture.

"Chicken" — Michael Leaskou. "Chick," as he is known to his teammates, is an outstanding pass-catching end. Mike has one more year of ball. He then is headed for Stanford.

Football

"Shifty" refers to "Shifty" Sanford Haber, a sophomore who made a pretty good showing for himself last season. Sanford, fast and shifty, is sure to be a standout in the next two years.

"Brains" is short for Pete Kistler, our outstanding quarterback. Our student body president is a C.S.F. member and in the Block "L". You will see and hear plenty about Pete at Stanford in the future. Plans to be a doctor.

"G.W.," short for George Washington or Ray Cooper. Ray, who played quarterback and defensive half, is a rough little kid. He is sure to be a standout at State College. He is also a pole vaulter.

"Shy-Guy" John Pope is a shy, pleasant guy well-liked by the team. John was hurt in mid-season this year, but he will return next season. He is also a member of the track team.

"Moose" Arnie Cohn is quite a B.T.O. about Lowell. He held up the center of the line with muscle, not weight. Arnie was picked on the "Honorable Mention" All-City team. Plans to go to College of Pacific.

"Dumb, Dumb," commonly known as James Fleming. Jim played well all season. He weighs 220 lbs. with muscle to match his weight. He plans to attend California.

Gary Friedman
Andy Stone

Ek Mahl
Norm Somoza

Jim Stone
Don Kahn

"Gluefingers and Y.A." are Gary Friedman's well-earned nicknames. Gary is a wingman, a track standout, and a member of Block "L". He made the 2nd string All-City team. Headed for Stanford.

"King of the Jungle" is our outstanding right guard "King Kong" Andy Stone. Andy was one of our standouts last season. He is also a trackman. "King", made first string All-City defensive guard. Andy plans to attend the University of California.

"Mr. America", Muscles himself, Ek Mahl, is our Block "L" Vice President. Ek was placed on the 1st string All-City team. He has great potential, being fast and big. Plans to go to Stanford.

"Whirling Dervish", or Norm Somoza, Lowell's hip-swinging halfback. A very tricky and fast back. He was placed on the 3rd string All-City team. Norm has the second best rushing record in the League. Plans to go to College of Pacific.

"Fats", who else but James Stone our first club fullback? He was hurt early in the season. James has had a streak of bad luck with injuries at Lowell, but he is a fine college prospect.

"Bruising" is Don Kahn's trade. Don is a small, but bruising left guard. He is on the track team, is a Big Brother and Red & White sports editor. Don plans to go to California. He wants to become a lawyer.

"Blinky," our young replacement for Jim Stone, Charlie Travers made a good showing for his first year.

"Sailor Boy" is Baby Barry McCrea. "Davy Jones" played right tackle and was at times a stand out. He has another year.

"Pretty Boy" or "Tyrone" are Don Schaller's well-earned nicknames. "Tyrone" played left end. He will be in there next year.

FIRST ROW (L to R): P. Kistler, G. Friedman, E. Mahl, A. Stone, M. Agorastos, D. Kahn, B. McCrea, D. Schaller, N. Somoza.
 SECOND ROW (L to R): R. Hartnett, D. Dewey, J. Dahl, R. Cooper, H. Greenberg, J. Stone, A. Cohn, H. Harguleas, V. Chuhlancheff, O. Cook, M. Leaskou, B. Brennan.
 THIRD ROW (L to R): D. Glafkides, M. Suyuiasu, L. Kahn, J. Fleming, J. Spalding, R. Nason, T. Lindstrom, D. Melville, B. Masonek, D. Guthrie, J. Polk, G. Swartz.

Football Has Fair Season

FOOTBALL RESULTS

The 1951 football season was the most successful football season Lowell has had in the last four years. In his first year of coaching, Bill Feiling's Cards finished in fifth place with a record of three wins and four losses. This, to the unknowing, may appear to be a sad picture, but one has to only recall '48 (1-5-1); '49 (2-5-1); and '50 (2-4-0), to realize the terrific improvement of the Lowell Indians.

BALBOA — SEPTEMBER 22

In the first prep football pageant in the history of the A.A.A., consisting of five twelve-minute games, Lowell tasted defeat at the hands of a brilliant Balboa eleven, 13-0.

Lowell's band took first place honors as the "best band" and our rooting section received an "honorable mention" rating. Over 12,000 attended the Kezar pageant.

GALILEO — SEPTEMBER 27

Playing its initial game under new head coach Bill Feiling, Lowell romped over a mediocre Galileo team 31-6. The Indians scored three quick times in the first quarter to take an 18-0 lead.

Lowell's all-around play was brilliant. Outstanding play of the afternoon was a 58 yard run by Norm Somoza. Pete Kistler's passing was terrific.

MISSION — OCTOBER 3

Lowell found Mission too tough to handle in their second league game and was defeated 25-7.

Despite the margin of three touchdowns, Lowell turned in a creditable performance. Mission outgained the Indians by only 12 yards, 198 to 210 and 13 first downs to 11. Pete Kistler accounted for Lowell's lone touchdown by passing 18 yards to "Whitey" Schaller.

The Indians should feel no disgrace in losing to the Bears. Mission ended the season in 2nd place, losing to Poly in the finals by 6 points.

LINCOLN — OCTOBER 11

In their third league game, Lowell took it on the chin again, 20-7. Two Indian fumbles early in the game were every costly, as Lincoln capitalized on both to take a 13-0 lead. Another Mustang pass made it 20-0 at the half.

The second half was a completely different story with the Indians dominating the play most of the time. Norm Somoza ran 24 yards for Lowell's touchdown and Andy Stone kicked the conversion. Pete Kistler's passing and the play of end Gary Friedman were outstanding.

WASHINGTON — OCTOBER 19

The fourth game of the season was by far the best Lowell played. The Indians, inspired by linebackers Harry Greenberg and Andy Stone and end Gary Friedman, upset the favored Eagles 6-0.

The only touchdown of the game occurred in the second quarter when Lowell marched 90 yards in 13 plays, with Pete Kistler's 7 yard pass to Gary Friedman accounting for the six points.

Lowell's line, both offensively and defensively, completely outplayed the Eagle line. Ed Mahl did terrific blocking on offense, while guard Don Kahn and Co-Captain Arnie Cohn were defensive stalwarts.

1. Norm Somoza, 25, picks up a large piece of yardage in the Washington game. 2. Co-Captain Ek Mahl, 95, leads team to field in Prep Pageant. 3. Mike Leaskou, 22, catching a T.D. pass in the Sacred Heart game. 4. Sanford Haber, 37, for a gain in the Poly game. 5. The center of Sacred Heart's line is opened by Mahl.

POLY — OCTOBER 27

The 1951 Lowell-Poly Big Game was the same old story of Poly having too many guns. Outscored and outplayed, but inspired, the Indians were at times seemingly helpless as they lost to Poly 38-14.

Lowell's two touchdowns came on Pete Kistler's pass to end Gary Friedman for 21 yards and Norm Somoza's 5 yard run. Another Kistler pass to Mike Leaskou for 65 yards was the longest gainer of the game.

Outstanding Lowell players were Bill Malory, Harry Greenberg, Don Kahn, Vladimir Chulantseff, and Arnie Cohn.

SACRED HEART — NOVEMBER 1

In as thrilling a football game as was played all year, Lowell defeated Sacred Heart 30-27.

The Indians made the only solid defense stand of a sizzling offensive duel in the final seconds of the game by stopping Sacred Heart on the Lowell four yard line.

Mike Leaskou turned in an outstanding performance. He caught two touchdown passes from Pete Kistler and did some fine running. Arnie Cohn, Andy Stone, Harry Greenberg and Don Kahn also played creditable football.

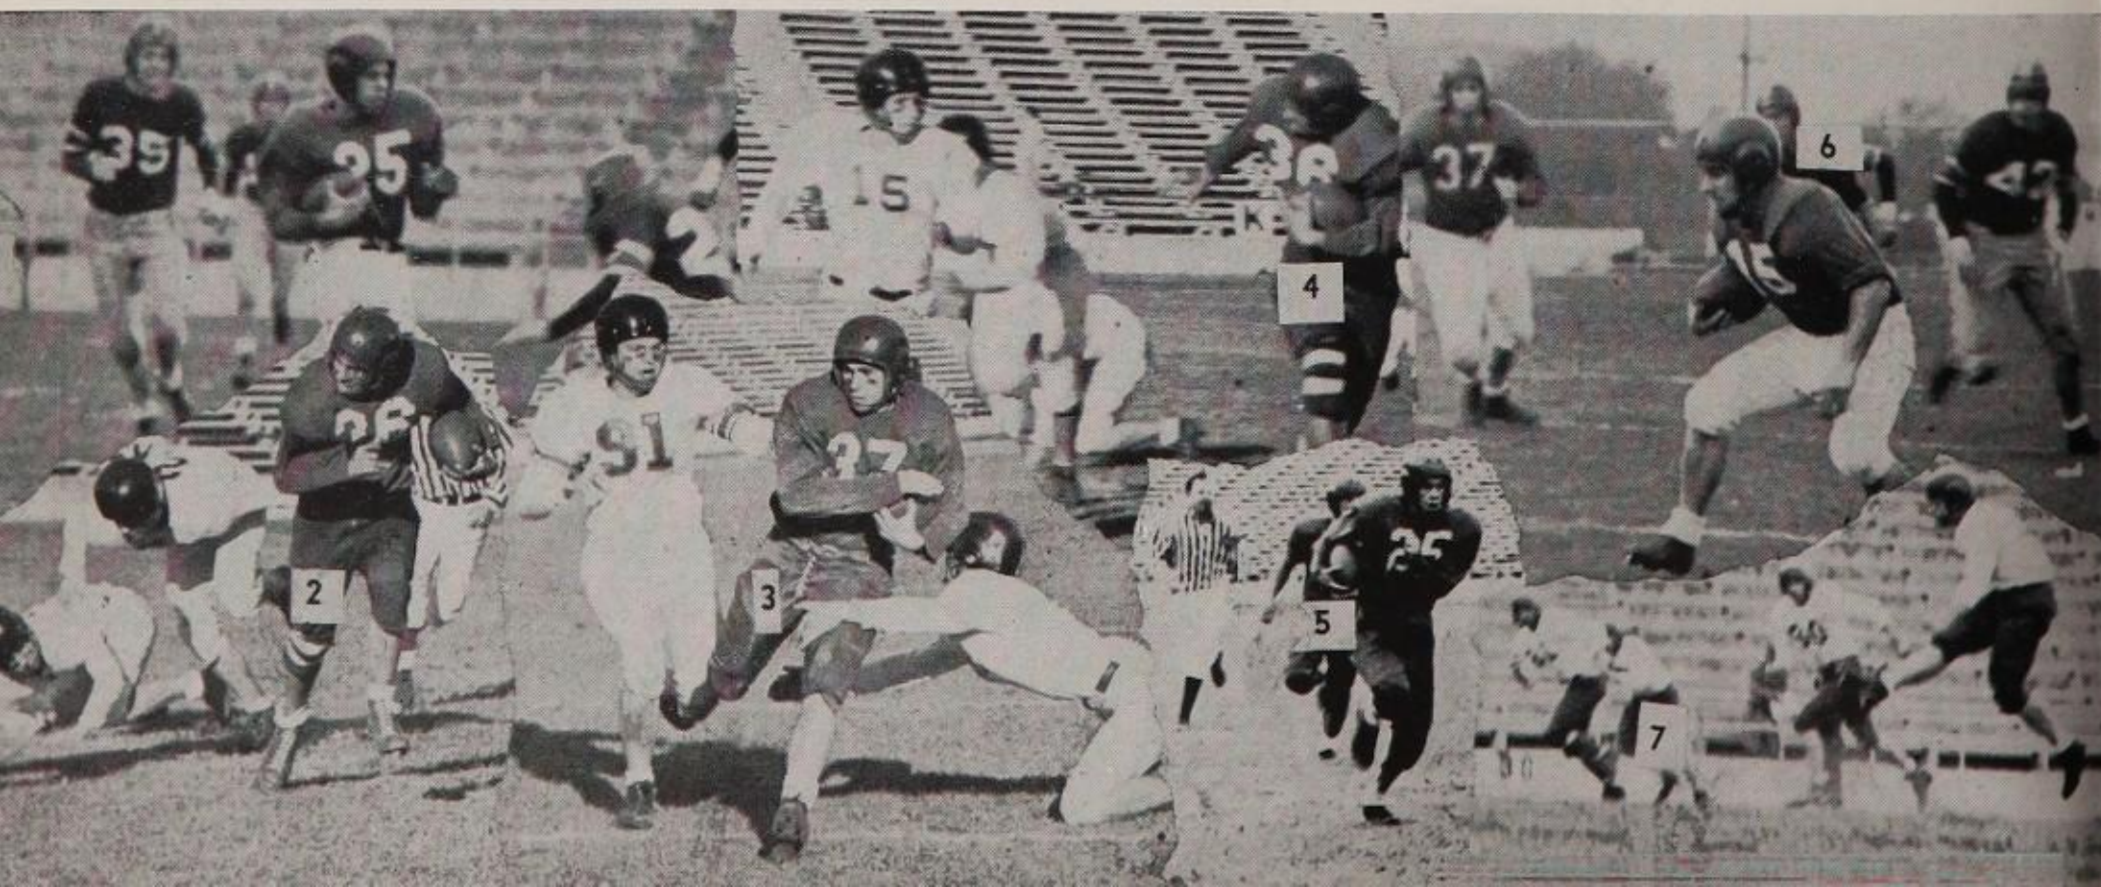

SAINT IGNATIUS — NOVEMBER 7

Despite the great all-around play of end Gary Friedman, Lowell climaxed its 1951 season by losing to Saint Ignatius 18-12.

Friedman's performance was highlighted by his sensational touchdown passes. One to Mike Leaskou for 45 yards and one to Don Schaller for 40 yards.

Lowell ended the season in fifth place with 3 wins and 4 losses.

1. Somoza takes off around end against S. I. 2. Hutchins breaks away against Poly. 3. Haber being trapped in Poly game. 4. Hutchins about to be tackled by Poly's cross. 5. Somoza in the clear. 6. Kistler carries against S. I. as Haber comes up to block. 7. Schwartz kicks off for Indians.

Junior Varsity Has Poor Season

JUNIOR VARSITY

All eyes were on our Junior Varsity!

First came the Mission Cubs. They fell easily after three blows of the powerful red ax. The surge for victory came when they met Lincoln. The rolled over them showing no mercy for the poor Mustang.

Then came the day!

Washington, who was really up for beating the Mighty Red Machine, dealt the Cards a severe blow by completely dismantling the totem pole with a 36-6 victory. It was truly a sad day for Lowell. Trying desperately to get back on their feet, they expected to beat Sacred Heart, but only came out with a tie.

Our once-mighty Machine was now falling readily, dropping their next game to S. I., 19-7. The Big Red Machine was now a ramshacked "heap." Well, it happened again, only this time to our cross-the-park rival, Poly. They handed us our 3rd defeat.

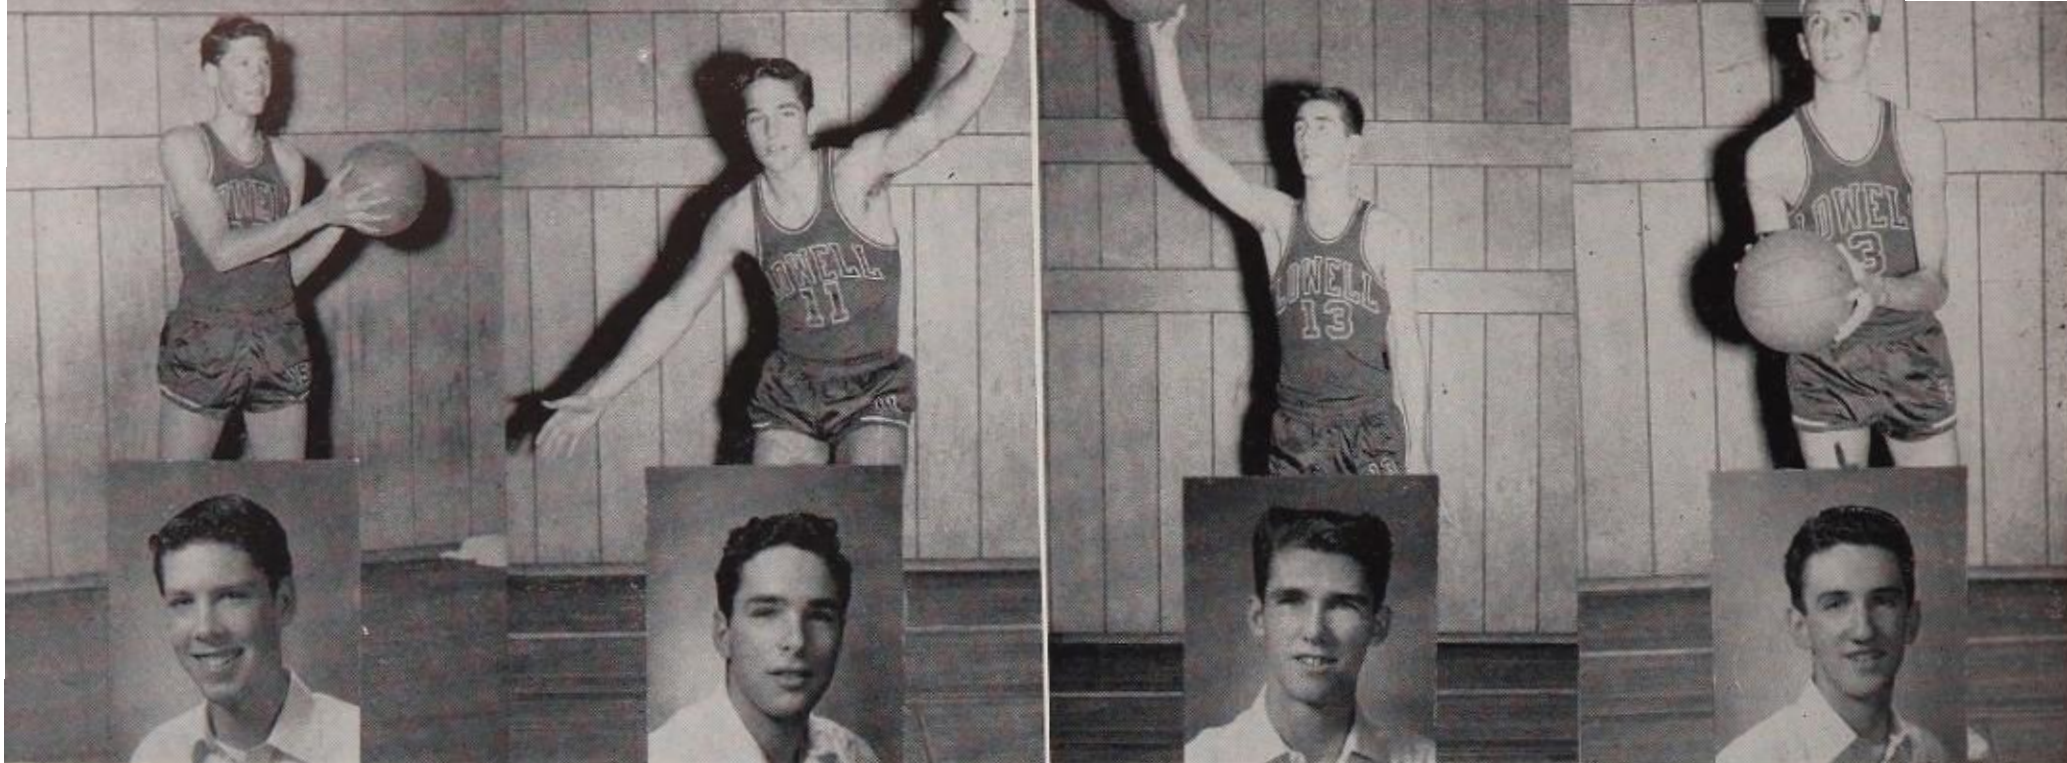

Two weeks later our J.V.'s met Sequoia in a non-conference game, they also beat us 6-0. Our once-glorious beginning ended in a dismal record of defeats.

The team was led by high scorer, Tynan, who scored 25 points. Other stand-outs were Tilden, Orear, Thomas, Strauss, Coplin, Gainey, and Kuhn.

These men will fill the vacant varsity positions next year. Let's hope this little "put-put" becomes a big, well-rounded Red Machine.

1—Mission. 2—First String Team. 3—Poly game. 4—Rooters. 5—Friedman catching a pass in the Poly game. 6—Coach Feiling. 7—Haber in S. H.

"BREAKING THEM" . . . dates, not records, is All-City FRANK HESS. Frank, one of the outstanding ball players in the league, was third in the scoring race. He plans to go to college in Washington or Oregon.

"HARVEY'S COUSIN" . . . JERRY "the peanut salesman" JACOBY is an outstanding ball player. "Harvey's Cousin" has another season, and should be a standout.

"GOALS GRIDER" . . . CLARENCE GRIDER, who came to Lowell from Roosevelt at mid-season, is sure to be one of San Francisco's greatest prep basketballers.

"SPEEDSTER" . . . Big DICK HERRERIAS was a mainstay on the club. When Dick was hurt the team fell. He plans to attend California.

Indian Cagers Take Third Place

The Red and White cagers, with a 6 won, 3 lost record, ended the regular season with a smashing upset victory over favored Mission on February 21. This put the Indians into the semifinals, where they lost in a nip and tuck thriller with the Poly Parrots on February 26. With the help of Frank Hess, who secured a first string all-city berth, the Lowells made a worthy showing to keep Lowell's basketball reputation in high standing.

WASHINGTON — JANUARY 3

The Indians started the season January 3, by losing a one-sided affair to the Washington Eagles, 43-31. The game was even more one-sided than the score indicates, with the Eagles leading by as much as 25 points at one time.

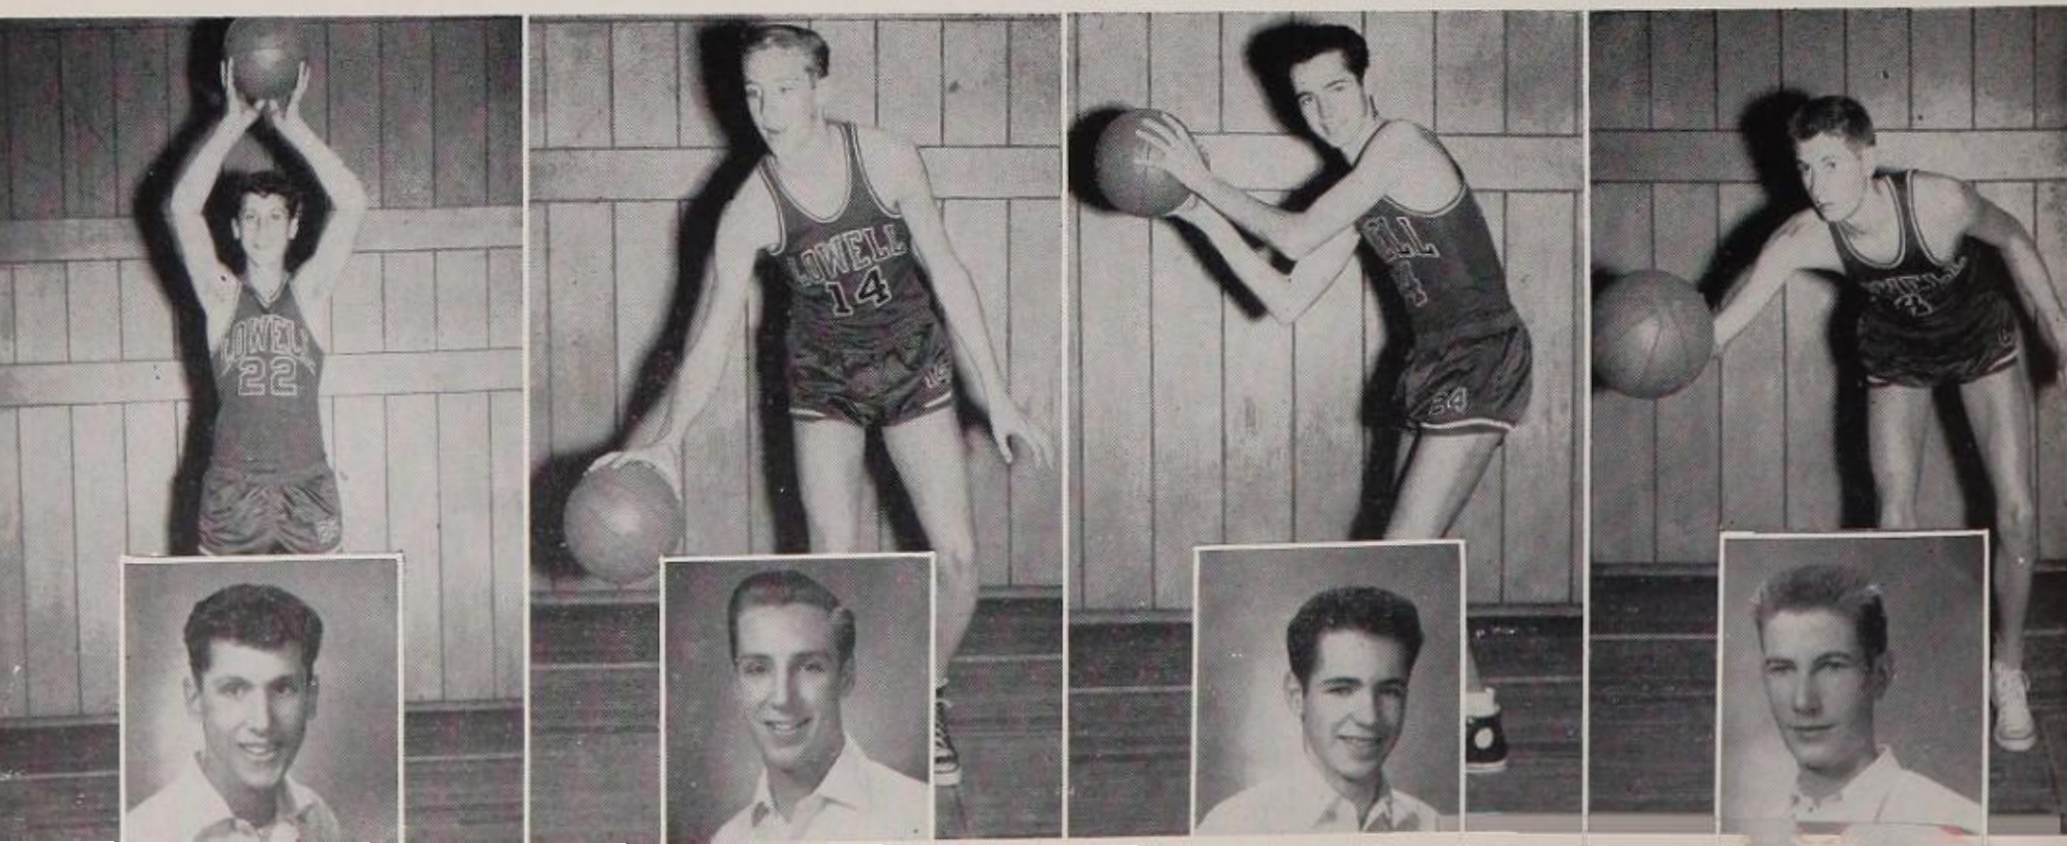

Lowell failed to make a field goal until the Eagles had run up an early 18-1 lead. The half-time score was 25-8. The Indians played better ball in the second half, but, nevertheless,

"ODD BALL" . . . MIKE LEASKOU, who shoots one of the oddest balls in the league, has one more season. With his jump-shot he was a good choice for All-City.

"THE PRIDE OF SCOTLAND" . . . BOB McGROUTHER, our sharp-shooting center. As the clan goes, McGrouther goes, and so does Lowell's basketball team. Bob plans to attend Stanford.

"WRONG WAY" . . . BILL McCUBBIN who will never live down the bucket he made in the wrong basket during the Commerce game. Bill is a junior and big things are expected of him next year.

"TIGER WILBUR" . . . GREG WILBUR, who followed in his brother's steps, was a good reserve for the varsity. "Tiger" plans to attend Stanford.

Make Playoffs: Lose To Poly couldn't come close to catching the Eagles. High point man for Lowell was Dick Herrerias with 10 points, while Jim Moya, Prep of the Week, scored 18 for the Eagles.

SAINT IGNATIUS — JANUARY 7

The Lowell Indians, paced by Frank Hess' 19-point performance, overwhelmed the Saint Ignatius Wildcats with a second half splurge, 38-28.

The Wildcats got off to an early lead, but Lowell closed the gap to 18-17 at the half. Under the guiding hand of Coach Ben Neff, the Indians pulled away clear in the third quarter and were never again headed. Jerry Jacoby, 8 points, and Dick Herrerias, 7 points, were outstanding for Lowell.

POLYTECHNIC — JANUARY 11

The third game of the season was the traditional Poly game. It was a hard-fought game all the way, with the favored Indians finishing on the short end of a 33-30 score.

Under the leadership of Frank Hess, who scored 12 points for high point honors, the Indians left the floor at half time with a 18-17 lead.

In the final two periods Poly's control of the boards meant the difference. Outstanding for Lowell were Hess, Leaskou, and Herrerias.

LINCOLN — JANUARY 15

Riddled in the early moments by Lincoln, Lowell's cagers pulled out in the stretch to keep their playoff hopes alive, 40-33.

After butter-fingering the rebounds in the early stages, the Indians settled down in the third period and were in command the rest of the way.

Mike Leaskou played his best defensive game of the season by posting 11 points. Herrerias followed with 10 points to his credit.

SACRED HEART — JANUARY 24

The Lowell varsity flashed to its third win of the season with a decided victory over the fighting Irish of Sacred Heart.

Hess, Herrerias, and Leaskou were high scorers with 12, 10, and 9, respectively, as the rest of the red shirts amassed the needed points to win.

The Sacred Heart team started a late rally that was almost enough to completely close the gap as the game ended 36-35.

GALILEO — JANUARY 30

With the addition of Clarence Grider, sensational sophomore wonder boy, Lowell soundly trounced Galileo at Kesar Pavilion, 40-25.

The game was hard fought during the first quarter, but when the Indians warmed up after the game got under way, the Lions were snowed under. Coach Benny Neff substituted freely in the fourth quarter, cleaning the bench.

Grider led his newly-acquired team mates with 12 points to his credit. As always, Frank Hess, Dick Herrerias, and Mike Leaskou played outstanding ball.

Against Galileo, a weak team that has failed to win a game this season, the Indians showed their own great improvement.

COMMERCE — FEBRUARY 8

In the Commerce game, Lowell's cagers, making use of the fast break, survived the Bulldogs in the final stretch, 47-42.

The Red Indians ran to a comfortable 27-19 score at half-time, and then almost went under as the Bulldogs surged back to close the gap to 43-42 with two minutes to go.

Dead-eye Frank Hess poured through 16 points to save the game. Big Bob McGrouther also did outstanding rebound work on the boards.

BALBOA — FEBRUARY 12

The Balboa Buccaneers upset the Lowell five in a late game rally, as the Bucs went to their sixth victory.

The teams entered the game with identical records in previous games. The Redmen led in the scoring late in the third quarter when the Bucs began their rally which caused the upset.

The Indians didn't come out empty-handed, as Hess and Grider starred, each adding 8 points to their totals.

The final score, 35-29.

MISSION — FEBRUARY 21

In the Mission game, the stage was set for a star. Tony Psaltis, Mission's high-scoring ace, was making a bid for the scoring record. Psaltis scored only 6 points, but the fans got their star — Frank Hess, who bucketed 19 points as Lowell trounced Mission, 43-35.

Mike Leaskou, the Indians' rugged junior, nettled Psaltis all through the game, and deserved a large assist for the upset.

The game was typical of the entire season. "As Hess goes, so go the Indians." Hess sparkled, and the other Lowells, Jacoby, McGrouther, and Grider did likewise.

POLY — FEBRUARY 26

The team couldn't click to get into the scoring department as Poly's Parrots triumphed in a close semi-final battle.

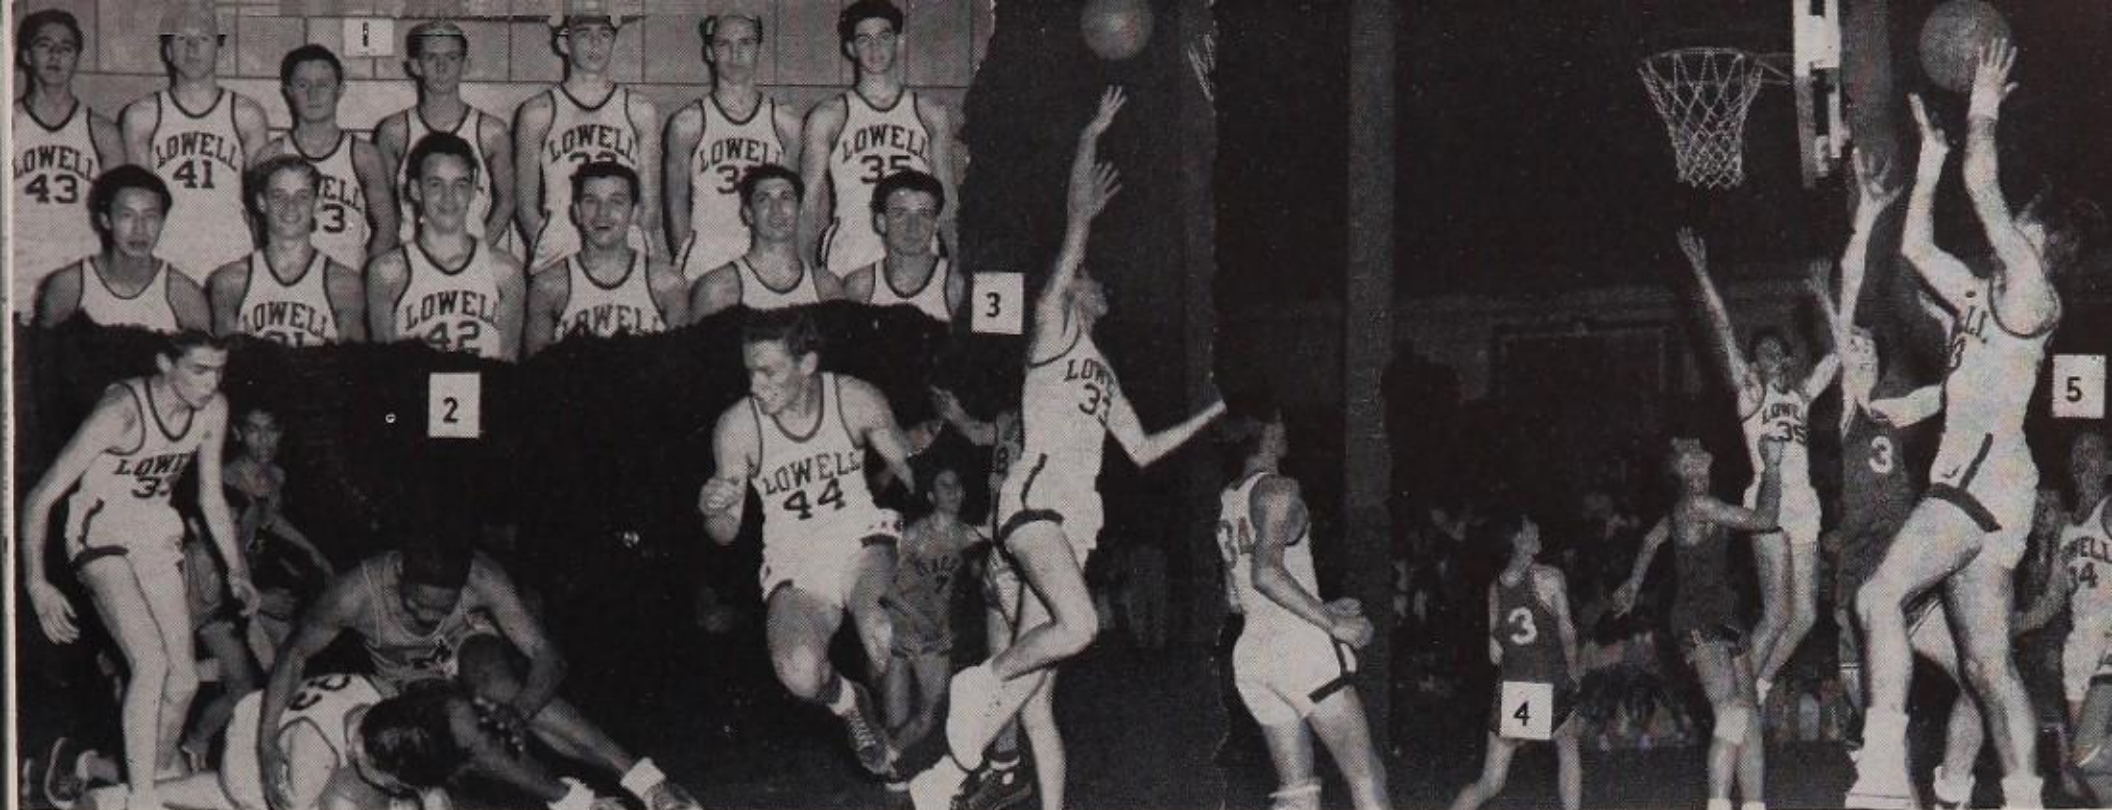

Neither team showed superiority. All through the third period of the game there was uncertainty, as each team took turns scoring.

Finally, Poly pulled ahead 29-25 with a scoring rally that proved fatal to Lowell's championship hopes. Hess swished the last two points as the gun went off, and the game ended 29-27.

130lb. Basketball

Boasting fine personnel and an outstanding practice season record, Lowell's 130 lb. cagers finished the rugged A.A.A. league race with a seven and two mark. This gave them a second place in the league, and a playoff berth.

In their semi-final game with S.I., the Indians were paid back for an earlier season win over the Wildcats. The final score ended our title hopes: S.I. 35—Lowell 32!

Highlights of the year were wins over Sequoia's P.A.L. champs, and a very good San Mateo squad, during the practice slate. In the league, the Cards beat Washington's champs—the Eagle's only league loss—and went six straight games without defeat before losing to a red-hot Commerce club, 37-35. The Card's only other league loss came to Mission, 26-16.

110 BASKETBALL

When the whistle blew ending their last game November 9, Coach Anino's papooses finished their season with 3 wins and 6 losses.

The midget hoopsters started this year with flying colors, beating Balboa 25-21 October 8, Commerce 36-19 October 11, and Lincoln 28-22 October 16.

Bad luck caught up with Lowell's tens in their game with Saint Ignatius October 18. They lost their first game, 21-17.

The rest of the season was pretty dismal, with losses to Mission 23-22 October 23, Sacred Heart 25-21 October 25, Washington 27-24 October 30, Polytechnic 31-9 November 5, and Galileo 35-32 November 9.

Promising players were M. Axt, L. Dashiell, Y. Mummehara, L. Taylor, R. Tsugita, T. Tsuyuki, and T. Watanabe.

120 BASKETBALL

Although the 20's didn't win the championship, they had a fairly good season with 5 wins and 4 losses.

Paced by such stars of tomorrow as B. Paratore, D. Kawamoto, M. Bodden, D. Sakuma, B. Yamabe, T. Barnum and D. Mosely, the team got off to a good start.

Lowell's junior hoopsters beat Commerce 25-23 October 8, Lincoln 27-25 October 11, Sacred Heart 23-21 October 16 and Saint Ignatius 28-19 October 23 for 4 straight wins.

A strong Balboa team gave Lowell her first defeat October 25, by a score of 38-20, followed by losses to Mission 27-23 October 30, and our traditional rival, Poly, 38-29 November 5.

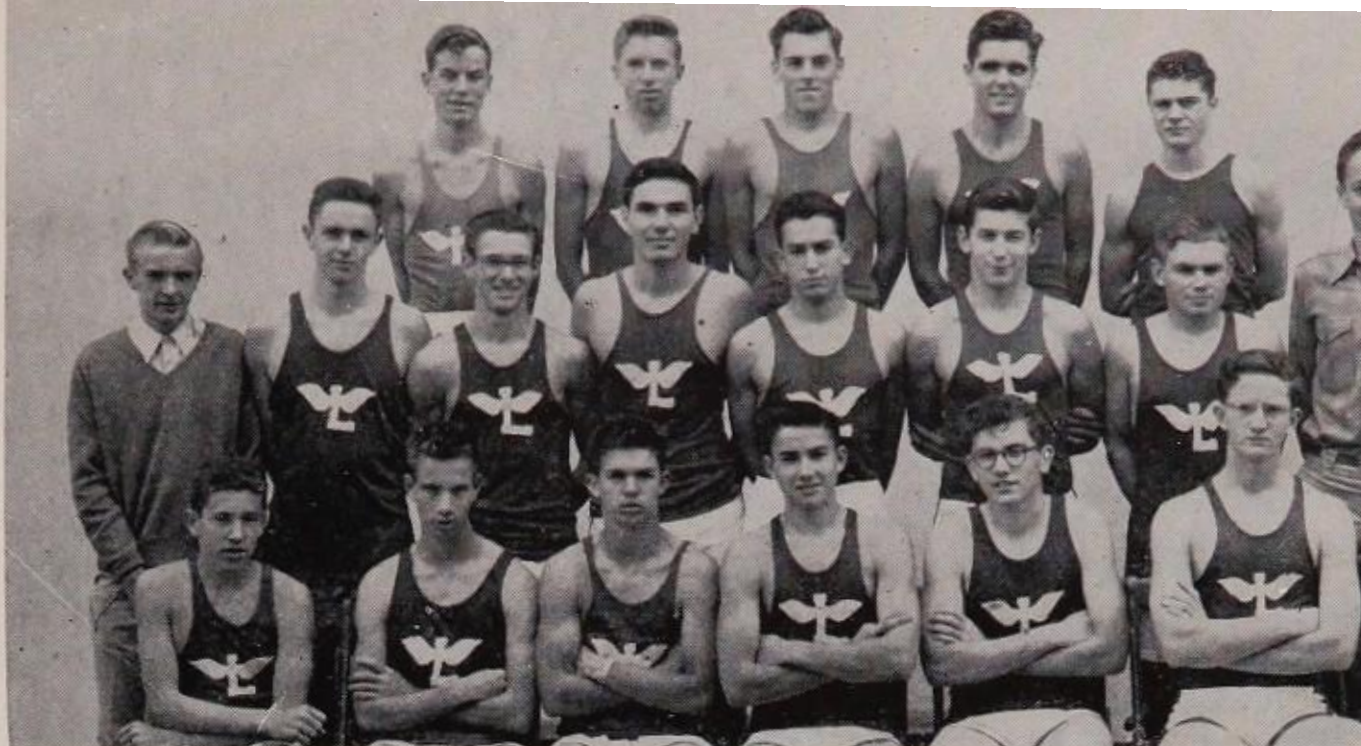

There was one more bright spot in the season. Lowell over Galileo November 9, 41-13.

Lowell's formerly superior Cross Country Team dropped another step in city ratings this year.

After taking a first in 1949 and a second in 1950 they dropped to a lowly third place this season.

The City meet was called off twice because of heavy rains, but was finally run November 29. Poly took first, Washington second, and Lowell wound up in the third spot.

Star on this year's team was Lloyd Kahn, who switched from football to track for the City Meet. He ran in the first ten. John Brazier placed fifteenth. Other members were Jim Lester, Dick Hynes, Jack Risbrough, and John Scarborough.

St. Ignatius forfeited their meet to us. In a three-way meet with Tamalpais and Drake we placed second. Jefferson fell to our stampeding herd, as did Washington, 28-30. The Cross Country team was coached by Mr. Anino. Meets were run at the Old Stadium.

Soccer Team Places Seventh

Completing the season with one win, one tie, and six losses, the soccer team ended up in seventh place. Mission took the championship.

Lowell almost had a one-man team in Ricardo Wassmer, All-City star, who scored five of the team's seven goals. Stan Shalit was a standout on defense.

Ricardo led the team in its only win by scoring all three goals against Saint Ignatius and beating them 3-0. Ricardo also scored the tying point in the Commerce game, the score being 1-1.

The team, led by Stan Shalit, made a good showing in the Lincoln game despite the score of 7-0. Our rival, Poly, dumped us 5-0, and we lost a close one to Balboa 3-2. The champs, Mission, took our club for a 5-0 ride. We lost to Galileo 8-0, such a score being due to the fact that our star, Ricardo, was unable to play because of a referee's decision.

Sports Tribe Comes Home

Lowell's Fall sports — football, soccer, basketball, and cross-country, made a showing worthy of all former Indian athletic teams. The football team, which barely missed the playoffs, was led by all-city selections Ek Mahl, Andy Stone, and Gary Friedman.

Under the new leadership of coach Bill Feiling, Lowell defeated bitter rival Washington in a 6-0 thriller, the lone touchdown a result of a pass from quarterback Pete Kistler

The booters were led by Rich Wassmer and Stan Shalit. The cross-country team, led by John Walter Brazier and Lloyd Kahn, was hurt by the ineligibility of Greg De Gear. The marathoners, however, managed to finish third in the grueling all-city competition, behind rivals Washington and Poly.

The Red and White Varsity cagers, led by all-city flash Frank Hess and versatile Mike Leaskou, made the championship playoffs, only to lose to Poly in a nip and tuck contest. Highlight of the season was Lowell's smashing upset over highly-touted Mission, where Hess poured through 19 digits to quench the Indian's thirst for victory.

The 130 basketballers started off the season with a loud bang in upsetting Washington, only to lose to S.I. in the playoffs. The lightweights were headed by all-city Al Holder, Paul Rosenthal and Al Stein.

In four of the five fall sports, Lowell's teams ended up on the top. At the time this book went to press, no all-city competition had been completed, but the track, swimming, tennis, and golf teams were all favored to cop championships. The Redskin baseballers, never in the past a top team, appeared destined for one of its best seasons in years.

events. Dave Fractenberg and Dick Hines took the quarter milers; Bob McGrouther and Lloyd Kahn paced the 1/2 milers; while Pete Reider and John Brazier headed the milers. Bernie Gould, Gary Friedman, and Danny Glafkides lifted the weights, while Phil Fehlen set a new school record in the high jump with 6'1".

In a practice meet between the University of California Freshmen and the S.F. prep all stars, Lowell outscored all other schools. The Indians' strength lay in the middle and long distance Lowell's baseball team, lacking only depth, featured such stars as Jerry Jacoby, Weldon Cole, Bill Mallory, and Marvin Keyes. Slow to start, Coach Drysdale's ball club was rapidly picking up momentum at the time this book was printed. In a practice game against Drake of Marin, pitcher Jacoby hurled a sensational no-hitter.

Baseball Best In Years

Lowell baseballers, headed by pitchers Bill Mallory, Weldon Cole, Jerry Jacoby, and Clarence Grider; catcher Marv Keyes; fielder Phil Delucchi; short-stop Harry Stamatis; third baseman Bob Banks, look forward to its most successful season in years.

In pre-season practice games, the Redskins boomed over 5 out of 7 opponents, including victories over Menlo, Atherton, Drake and Half Moon Bay. They lost in a close contest with S. F. State College, 2-1.

Highlights of the season were when Jerry Jacoby hurled a no-hitter against Drake; and when Marv Keyes, sensational catcher, accomplished the feat of getting 2 hits out of 2 times at bat, facing Sacred Heart's phenomenal pitcher, Jim Gentile.

The regular season started off with two losses, against Galileo and Poly. In the third game due to the sensational playing of short stop Stamatis and catcher Keyes, Lowell prevailed, 5-4. At the time this story was published, only these three games had been played.

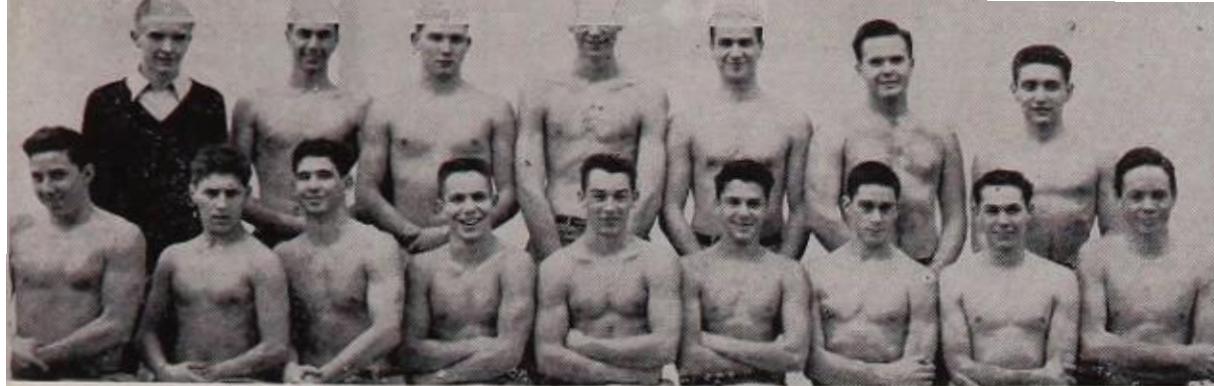

The Indians, slow starters, were rapidly picking up momentum at the middle of the season, and were picked to finish with a bang. Two outstanding basketballers, Mike Leaskou and Clarence Grider, will play up to all-city par next season after experience.

Mermen City Title Favorites

Lowell's varsity mermen, sparked by Lee Blum, Bill Floyd, Dave Murphy, Jim Fisher, Mike Barnato, and Lionel Schmitt, were again favored to cop the city title for their Coach Feiling. At the time this book went to press, the city meet had not been run off.

Backstroker Bill Floyd unofficially shattered the 100 yard backstroke record twice in practice meets. Bill has turned in a best of 1:5:4, as compared to the city record of 1:6; thus it appears that the record will fall. With Floyd, Murphy, and Blum swimming the medley relay, another record may be doomed.

The doubtful 130's, led by Crow, Melmon,

Cohn, and Bransten lack only depth, but will be strong contenders for the crown. Last year's 120 lb. all-city diver, Dan Hone had not as yet decided whether to dive varsity or 130's.

The 120's appear to be sure-fire champs, headed by Bowen, Hammerstad, Sommers, and prankster Zelayeta. Bowen and Sommers look like all-city material.

The Sequoia practice meet was highlighted by the clownish antics of diver Bill Zelayeta. Unfortunately, Bill attempted a few dives of which he was not capable, and, to the delight of the bloodthirsty crowd, landed askewed in the H₂O.

S. I. MEET — MARCH 24

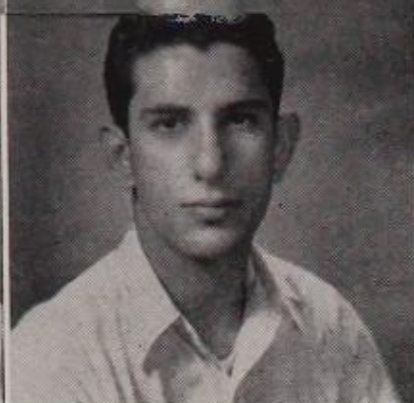

The Red and White cindermen opened the season with a decisive victory over St. Ignatius. Herrerias skimmed over both high and low hurdles in first place and Gould heaved the shot 48 feet. Muto, despite a hampering leg injury, won the century, while Fractenburg flashed to a 52:9 quarter mile. Long-legged McGrouther set a goal for the rest of the preps to aim at, with a 2:05½ mile. The outstanding performance of the day, however, was tiny Reider's 4:47 mile.

GALILEO MEET — APRIL 3

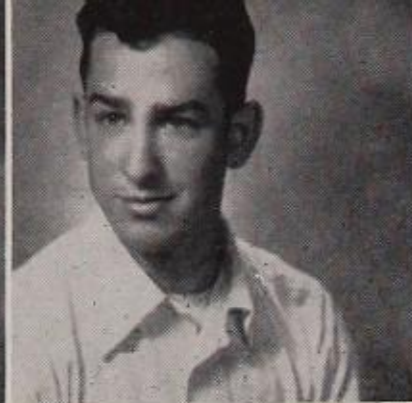

"Like leading lions to slaughter" best describes the Galileo meet. Our Indians boomed over the Lions, 105½ - 7½. Highlight was Fehlen's measured high jump of 6'1", a new school record. McGrouther out distanced Haber and Hines in the 440, Brazier won the ½ mile, and Kahn topped the milers. Carlson and Guthrie turned in good performances in the sprints. Gould bettered his previous shot-put best, with 48'11".

POLY MEET — APRIL 14

Despite rival Poly's upset expectations, the Cardinals chalked up their third victory. Fractenberg bounced back from a low ebb to best the quarter milers and Kahn paced the $\frac{1}{2}$ milers, closely followed by Todd. Friedman flipped the discus to the tune of victory, edging Glafkides: the coming Washington - Lowell meet.

COMMERCE MEET — APRIL 18

Taken unexpectedly by a flashy duo of Commerce sprinters, the Indians again found their strength in the quarter, $\frac{1}{2}$, and mile events. McGrouther topped the quarter milers, Kahn won the $\frac{1}{2}$ mile and Reider took the mile. Herrerias bounded over the hurdles and Fehlen leaped 6 feet in the high jump. The Bulldogs gave Lowell their closest race to date, 70-43.

Cindermen Come Close To Champs

We did it in 1950—Lowell 57, Washington 56. In 1952 the figures were reversed — Lowell 56, Washington 57.

The track meet of April 23 began with an upset. The Eagles took the discus, with Lowell taking second and third places. In the mile Bob McGrouther gave a great performance to win, and Pete Reider nipped the Washingtons to take second. Brazier was fourth.

Favored Dick Herrerias took the high hurdles for the Indians, but by only one foot. Washington was second and Phil Fehlen was third.

The broad jump was one of the meet's hot-spots, with $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches separating first and fourth places. The Eagles tied for first with 20 feet, and Lowell's Carlson made $19\frac{1}{2}$.

In the pole vault the Eagles got a surprise. Their star pole man missed at 8 feet and we picked up 8 points to their one. Lindstrom was first and Nieland and Frick tied for second.

The Geary Blvd. boys swept the 100-yard dash, gaining nine points. In the 220 Lowell's Fractenberg was nosed out of second place by 2 inches. The Eagles picked up more points.

Herrerias took the 180 low hurdles, but Washington gained another second and third. Fractenberg copped first for the Indians in the 440, but the Seagulls picked up another second and third.

Phil Fehlen led the Red & White to one two in the high jump with a highly regarded 6 foot $1\frac{1}{2}$. Lloyd Kahn pressed Washington's man, but not enough in the 880 to win. Eagan took a third.

Gould threw 47 feet for a first in the shot, and Travers went 44 feet $10\frac{1}{2}$, but it was not enough to outdistance the Eagles' Kaplanis for one two to win the meet. Washington swept the relay by 10 yards.

Czars of Courts

The tennis team looks forward to another championship again this year after taking 42 of 52 championships.

With such stars as Larry Axtell, Frank Golder, Clay Bradley, Bill Winston, and Roger Bohne, the tennis team is very strong.

Coach Jim Livingstone also had a good number of fine reserves to round out his team in Jim Crilly, Dick Firestone, Dean Goodrich, and Peter Sah.

Axtell who is ranked high in California tennis circuits, is Lowell's top star. He is an almost sure threat to cop the singles crown in the A. A. A. Frank Golder is one of the next best netters in the city and Clay Bradley is also ranked high.

The teams record so far is 3 wins and no losses in beating San Rafael High School 4-1, San Mateo High School 6-1, and also topped San Mateo Jr. College 5-1. All of these teams are very good.

This story went to print before the regular season started.

GOLF

Lowell's golfers, headed by Bill Mallory, Roger Bohne, Howard Marguleas, and Craig Callahan appeared destined for championship again in 1952. This book was published before the season came to a close, but after pre-season wins over Serra and the Stanford J.V.'s, the Red and White "fore" men seemingly cannot miss the title.

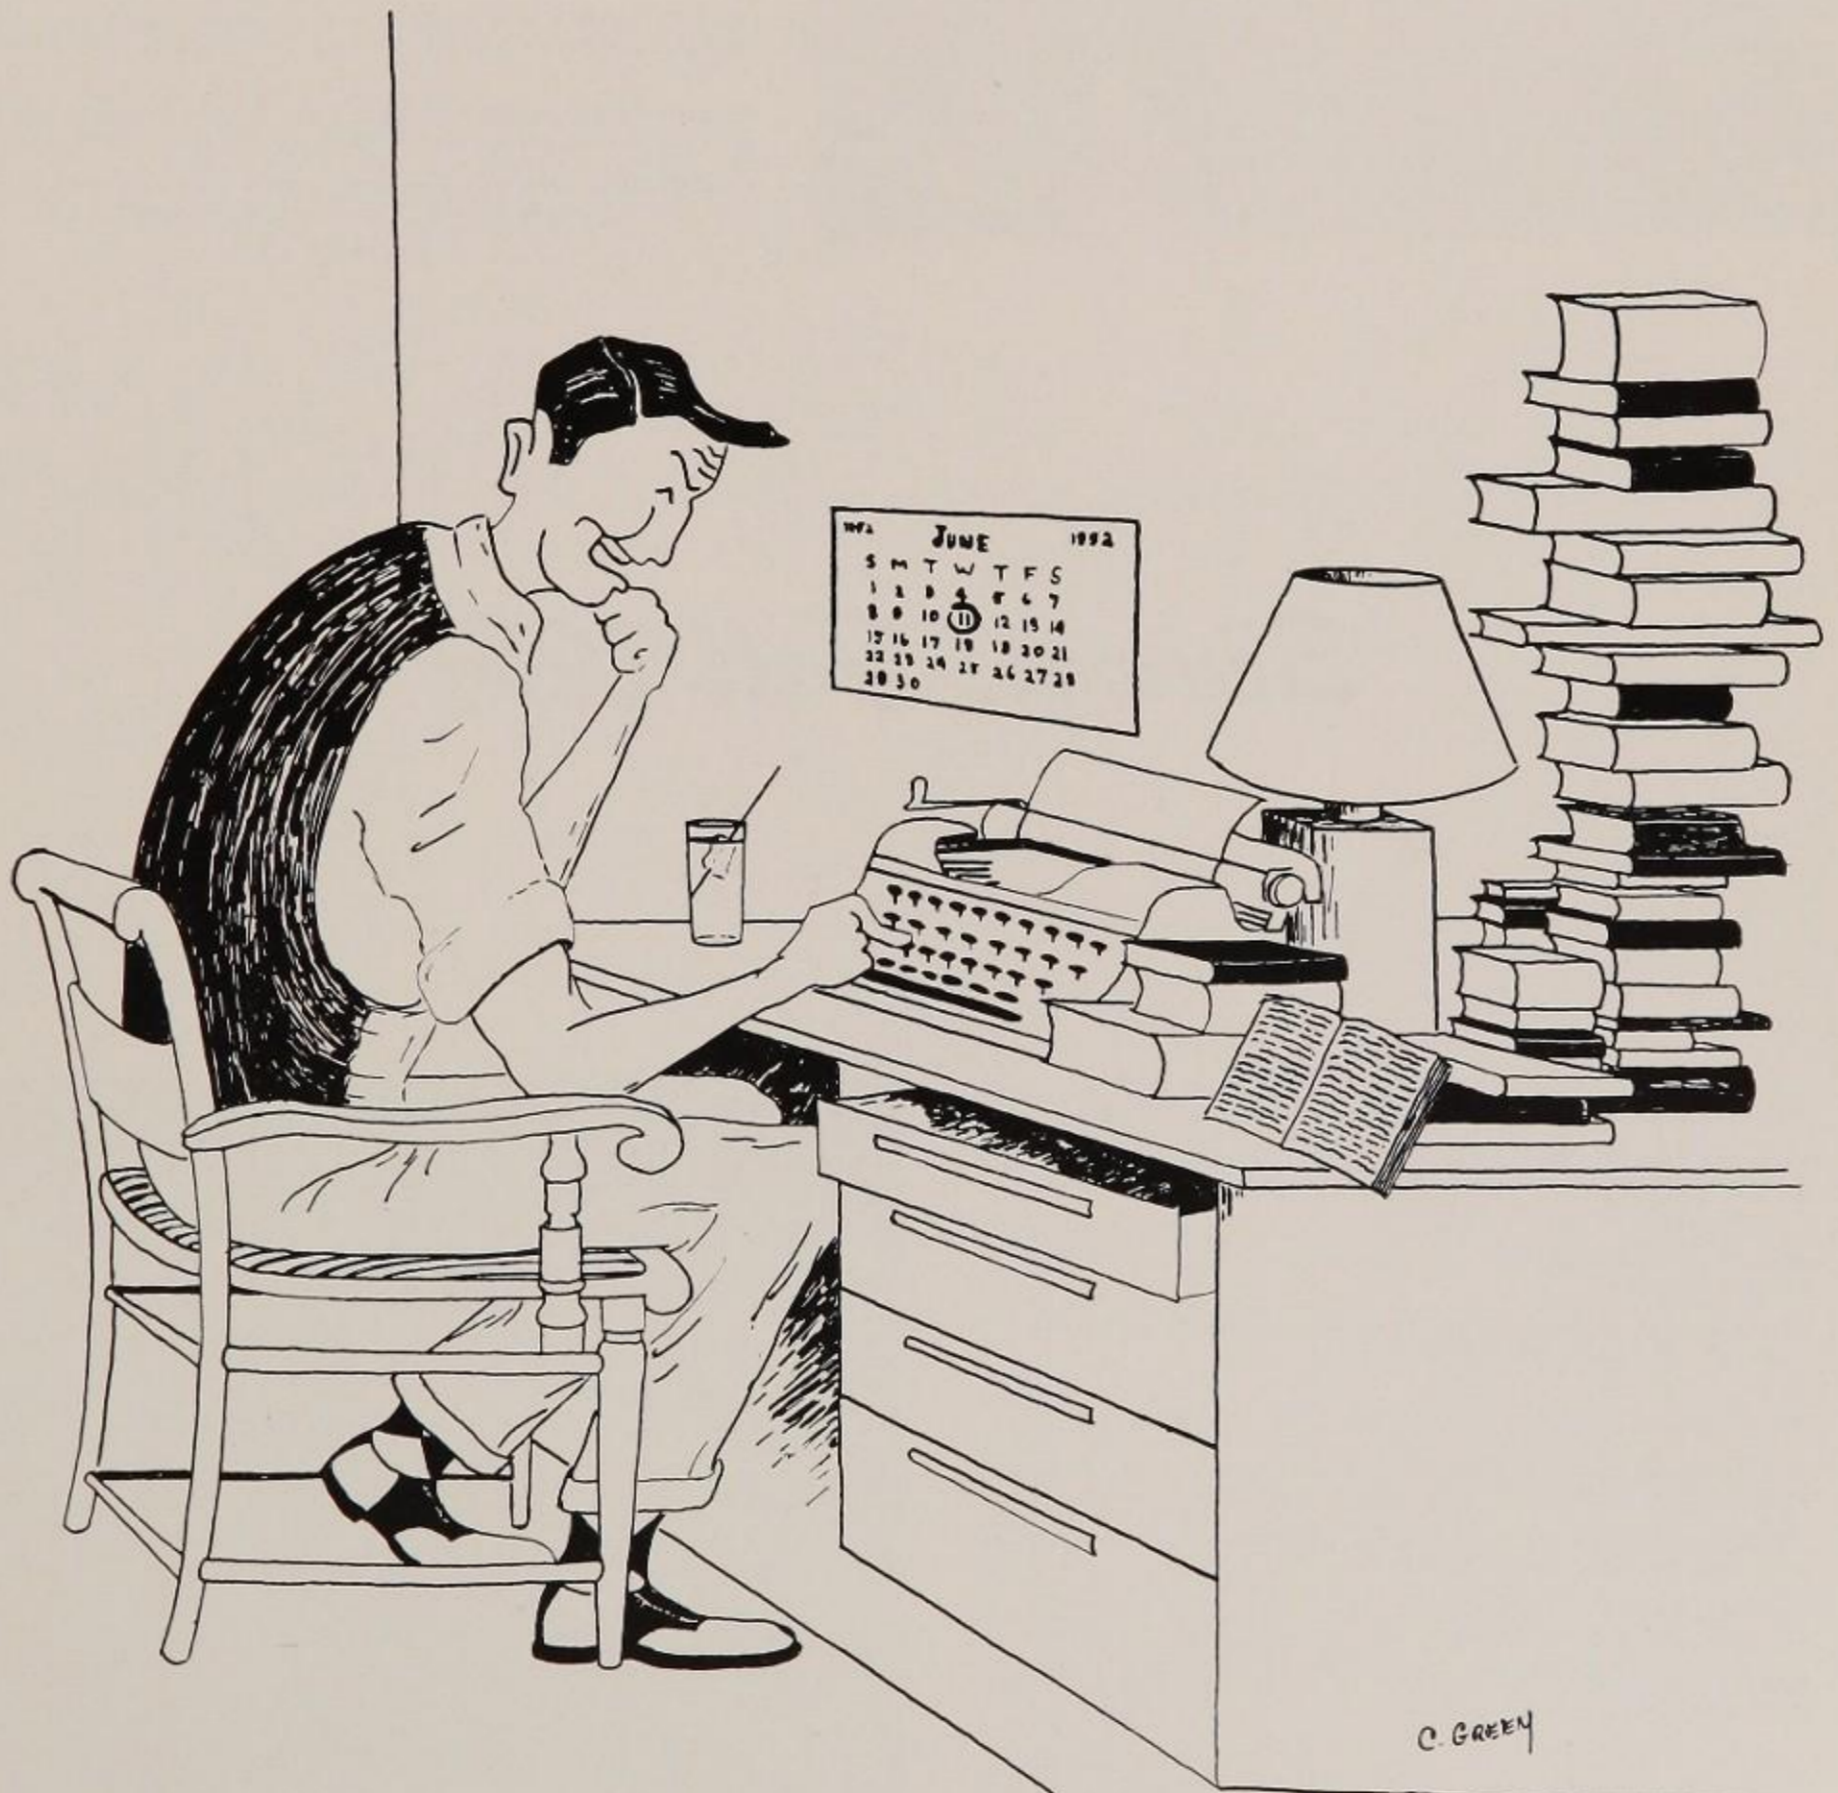

Morley Meyerson and Paul Rosenthal are two strong veterans and should aid Coach Jim Livingstone's cause. As far as the season has gone to date, Mallory is Lowell's only sure-fire entrant in all-city competition. The two best players from each school are entered, and Lowell's other representative was not determined.

Prom is Top Social Event

The long-awaited Senior Prom is here at last! This dance is the finale to four wonderful years at Lowell. It is an occasion to which we look forward from the beginning of our Freshman year.

This term the Prom was held in the beautiful Room of the Dons in the famous Mark Hopkins Hotel on January 11. The couples dressed in formals and tuxedos, danced dreamily to the music of Walt Tolleson and his orchestra.

After the dance, which ended at 12 o'clock, many of the students found their way back to the steps of Lowell to sing the traditional songs, as well as the Lowell Hymn, for the last time. From here the couples slowly drifted away to different parties.

As usual the Senior Prom was a big success. It was well worth the four year wait.

Lowellites Have Great Friendship

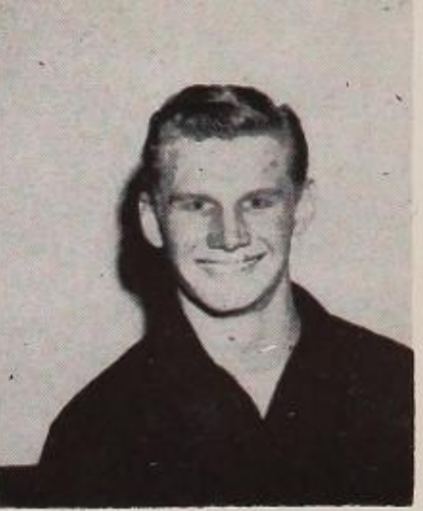

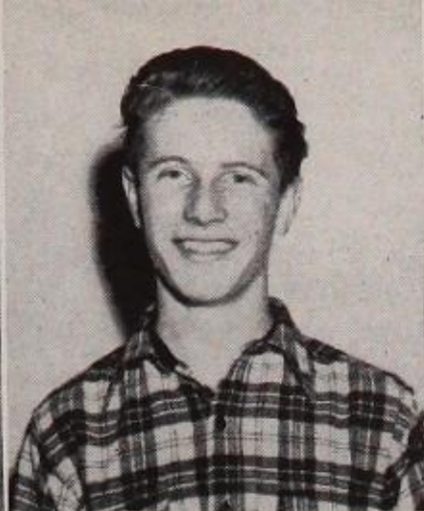

Throughout the school year Lowell Injuns are found having fun on and off the Reservation.

Some of our Braves and Squaws rush off on week-end trips to the mountains and the cold cold snow; others preferred beaches and all the sun that goes with them. The rest of the Injuns just had a good time right here at home.

Seen above are casual shots of the "guys and dolls" who have put aside all thoughts of tests and grades, and are engaging in their favorite pastime—having fun.

Although the trips to the snow, the beach, all the rallies, school dances, and good times in the Court help to make our high school days happy and carefree, everyone looks forward to that wonderful day of graduation and the receiving of their diplomas.

LIKEABLE . . . that is the only way to describe Fall Prexy PETE KISTLER. He was on Scroll and L, Big Brothers, and a star football player.

"GOLDEN BLOND" . . . is KIRSTEN DENCKER, Fall Vice Prexy. She was on Shield and L, Big Sisters, Rally and L-4 Dance Committees.

POPULAR . . . with everyone was JIM CHANDLER. President of the H-4 Class, Jim was also on the L-4 Dance Committee and a CSF member.

"VIVACIOUS" . . . is COLLEEN McELROY. This cute little blond was known for her good disposition and friendly "Hi's." Colleen was President of the Student Council.

ALL AMERICAN ATHLETE . . . is Lowell's grid and track star, EK MAHL. Ek served Lowell as a Big Brother and as Veep of the Block L.

Hall of Fame

TO UNCLE SAM . . . goes Lowell's gift, FRANK PIRO. He was commander of the ROTC unit, a Big Brother and member of the Scroll.

ALL THROUGH THE DAY . . . KAY BRESLAUER was busy being H-3 Vice-President, President of the Girls' Block L, Shield member and a Big Sister.

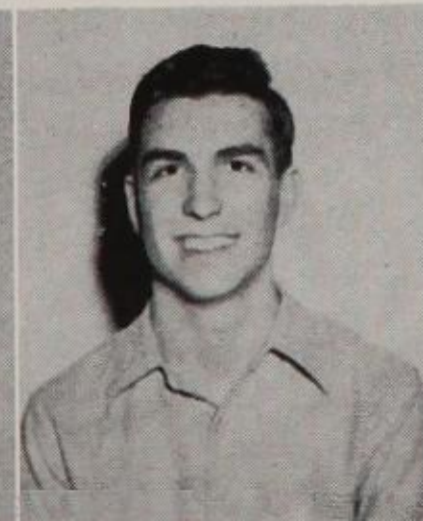

SMILING THROUGH . . . All of her many activities while at Lowell, ZENA ABERS was Editor of the Lowell, on the Block L, Shield, and a Big Sister.

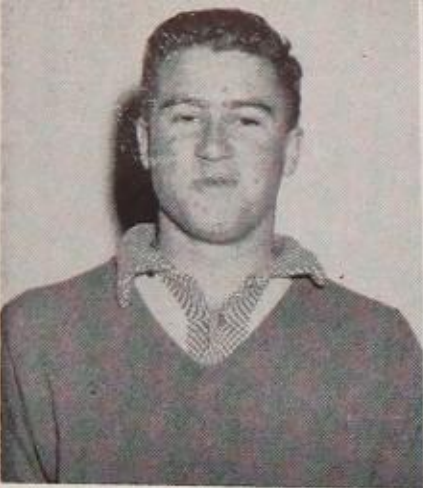

A BORN LEADER of the band has been GEORGE SHELDON. George was also President of the Scroll, a Big Brother, and on the Block L.

"PERSONALITY PLUS" . . . is another name for PATSY SPEER. Patsy was Head Girls' Yell Leader, Vice President of the Shield, and worked in Mrs. Harrison's office.

HIGH JUMPER . . . BARRY GILBERT was an outstanding man on the track team. He was also assistant yell leader and veep of the Silver Spikes.

ACTIVE . . . SHIRLEY McVEY participated in the Block L, Big Sisters, H-3 Dance and Carnival Committee. Shirley was Editor of the 1951 Red and White.

ANOTHER SAMMY SNEAD . . . is BUD BRODY. An outstanding member of the golf team. Bud was also a Big Brother and on the Block L.

A WOMAN DANIEL WEBSTER . . . is YVETTE MONTANO, champion Forensic student and President of the Society. She also was on the Lowell Staff and Dance Committee.

SHY GUY . . . describes pleasant JOHN SCHWABACHER, president of the CSF. John was an ROTC officer and took part in audio-visual aids.

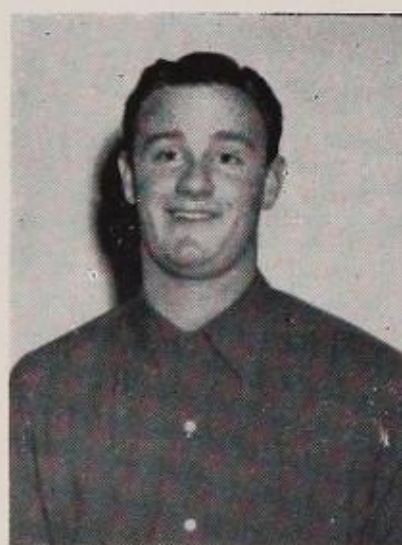

UNFORGETTABLE . . . is JOANNE AXELROD. Joanne was President of the Shield, a Big Sister, on the Rally Committee, and a member of the Block L.

ATHLETE OF THE YEAR . . . was RICHARDSON AXTELL, excellent tennis player and also active in Cross-Country. His major was Math.

Their Personalities Helped Too

LADIES' MAN . . . JIM STONE was President of the Block L, on the Scroll, and participated in track and football; also on the Low and High 3 Dance Committees.

"ON THE BALL" . . . is the only term to describe bowling manager, PAT ADLER. Pat was a Block L member, and served Lowell in the gym and on the Red and White.

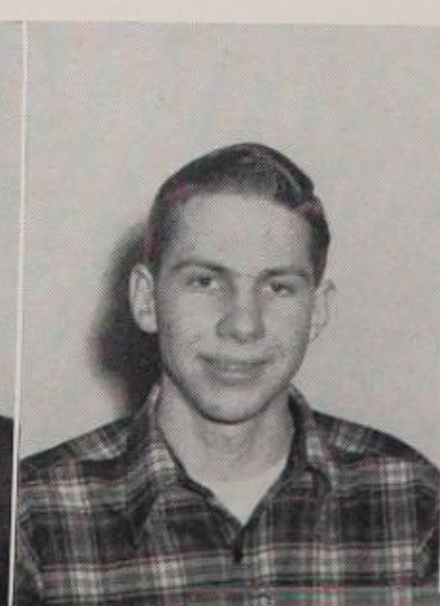

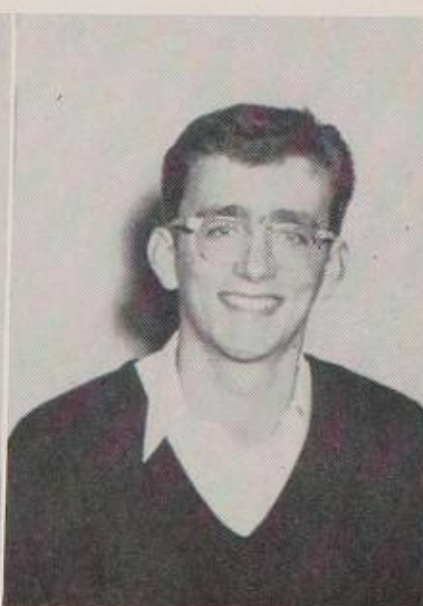

LIVELY . . . CHRISTINA SUTTI was a Chairman of the Big Sisters, a life member of the CSF, on the Shield, Block L, and on the L-4 Dance Committee.

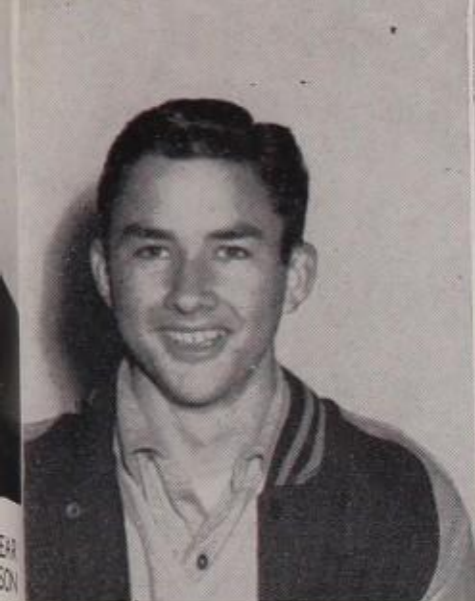

The logical place to look for "SCATTERBRAIN" or, President RAY PERKINS is in Mr. Monroe's office. Ray's winning personality won him four successive student body offices, topped by president.

SMILING THROUGH . . . those blue eyes is MARTHA HOAGLUND, President of the Shield. Martha's sweet personality has made her an active student at Lowell.

PHANTOM OF THE OPERA . . . CHARLES ROSEKRANS was prexy of the Scroll. Lanky Chuck's grandiose fame stemmed from the many parties which he threw at his house.

SWEET N' LOVELY . . . is CLAUDIA CASSIDY. Her many activities here have given her a good background for her future career as a social welfare worker.

"ENCHANTING EYES" . . . or JOHN "they-can't-cut me" BRAZIER was president of the Silver Spikes. John plans on going into naval work as he is tired of being continually ratted on.

HAPPY GO LUCKY . . . best describes vivacious MARLENE AXELROD. She could usually be found in Miss Harrison's office with one of her many casual sayings.

"LAUGHING BOY" . . . MIKE BARNATO, a Kleenex salesman, was V.P. of the Block L. Aside from futilely tinkering with his antiquated rattletrap Ford, Mike starred on the swim-team.

"BEAVER" BEV McDOWELL, so noted for her fondness for nibbling on pencils, was vice-prexy of the high senior class. Bev always managed a cheerful "hello" for everyone she met.

A BRAIN . . . is HERB HYMANS, the witty Spring President of the CSF. A life member of the CSF, he placed fourth in the city Hearst History Contest.

Maintain Lowell's Great Spirit

UKELELE IKE . . . "Honolulu Harry" or LLOYD "UKE" KAHN is an All-City swimming star and also on the track team. Lloyd will not go more than 10 feet without his favorite instrument, so it looks like he will carry it with him to Stanford.

"GOOD TIME GIRL", or ROZ SWARTZ was the spark plug of the Block L Dinner Committee. Roz and her circus pet could be seen walking in the park every morning, munching bananas.

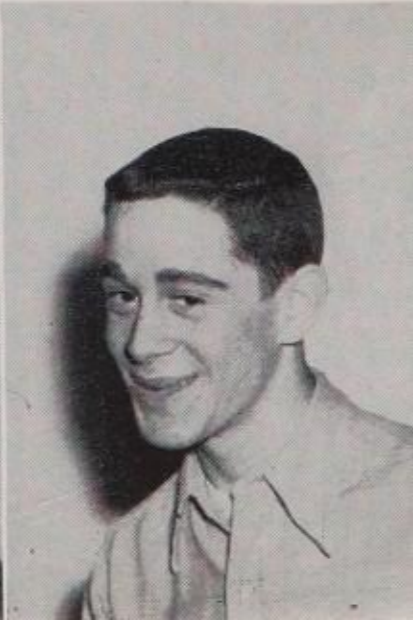

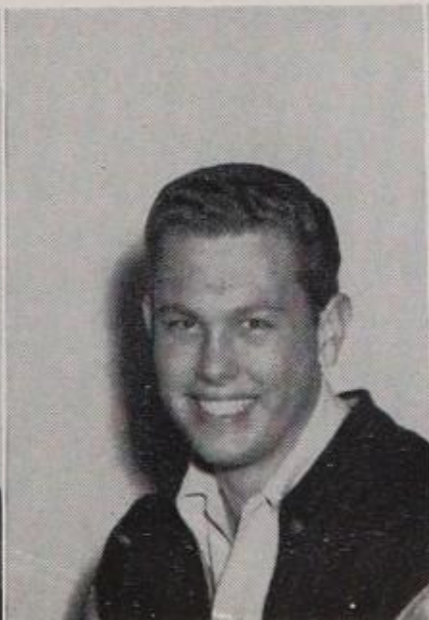

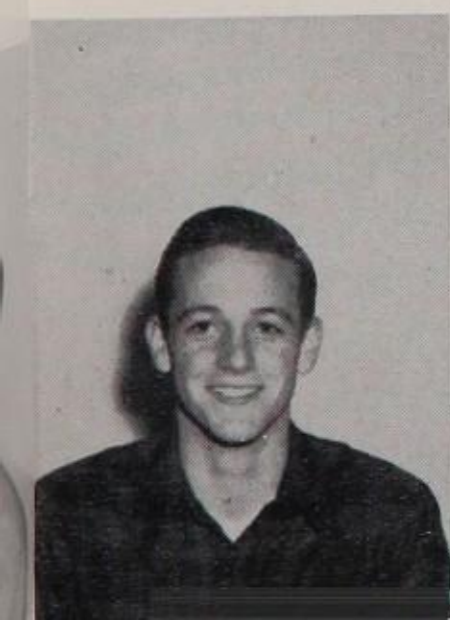

"TYPICAL TEEN-AGE" . . . is KEN BERRY, the L-4 President. Ken's favorite expression, "climb", along with a clever campaign slogan, won him the job of L-3 Secretary.

GOOD SAMARITAN . . . LENA ANTONGIOVANI plans to cure the world as a nurse. And she'll probably succeed, too. She's always given a helping hand to confused Lowell newcomers.

"Twinkling Eyes," or "Jolly Cholly" Chuck Jones was the money-maker of LHSSA. The street in front of Chuck's house has become a city-wide speedway.

UNDECIDED NOW . . . that's our Block L President, JUDY SETZER. Although quite active in dramatics, Judy is still uncertain about making that her career.

"YOU BUCK," or long-haired BOB BRANSTON was Head Yell Leader while at Lowell. Bob continually had trouble keeping his hair out of his eyes.

If you have ever attended a Lowell basketball game and saw a tiny blue streak flashing through opponent's legs and leaping high to score, you have witnessed "GIANT" AL STEIN, Editor of the Lowell.

"TINY MITE" BOBBIE KOPPICH was the L-12 Vice President. If you should ever have any trouble finding popular Bobbie, look down and she'll probably be there, or at her Hillsborough mansion.

HONEY SUCKLE ROSE . . . our revolutionary confederate from the deep south was a baseball and football standout. Aside from his antipathy for Y a n k e e s, "Magnolia" BILL MALLORY scored with the girls.

"CHEETAH" . . . BOBBIE DEBS was on the Block L and a Big Sister. All boys keep on your toes when Bobbie and buddy Roz approach you with that shy twinkle in their eyes.

SLOPPY . . . DON KAHN was President of the Student Council and a Big Brother. Noted for his allergy to H₂O, he has never failed to make a sparkling appearance in the court.

We And They Gained By Active

IF YOU'RE WALKING ALONG and are suddenly tied in a triple Nelson arm-lock, your assailant is probably GARY "Rippling Muscles" FRIEDMAN, an All-City footballer and prexy of the Block L. If Gary lifted his face from the wrestling magazines long enough, you would notice a week's growth of red beard.

"LOWELL'S SWEET-HEART" was amiable SUSIE RYMES who was on the Student Body Dance Committee and GAA. A University of California fraternity man and ex-Lowellite was the main reason for Susie's lateness to classes.

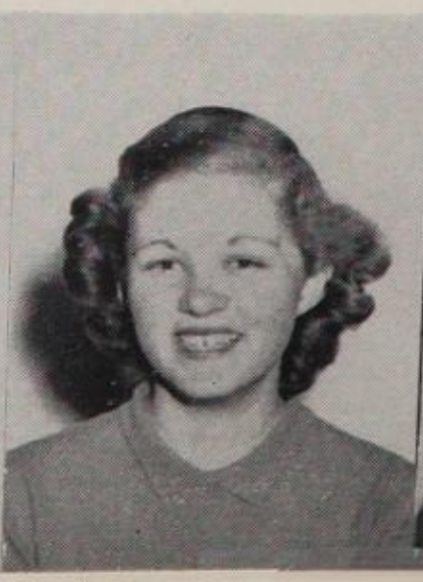

"PHONEY" . . . KEN MELMON, or the only guy at Lowell with a private phone. Between phone calls, Ken got a little homework done and made the CS Federation.

USUALLY, along 9:00 P.M. "BOUNCY", BEV COLE was on the other end of the afore mentioned wire. Bev was a Big Sister, on the Block L and GAA.

"SPIDER" . . . DICK "I'll be O.K." HERRERIAS, Lowell's track score tabulator, was a star hurdler and on the Scroll. Dick was noted for his calculative coolness and worry-free disposition.

MISS VITALITY . . . might well describe fun-loving PENNY FLETCHER, former GAA prexy. Dimpled, blue-eyed, Penny often relates stories of her pet kitten.

BRILLIANT . . . describes JAN POLISSAR, student body Secretary. He spent many hours of his time coaching students who aren't as lucky as he.

JIM "I love sophomore girls" FLEMING was so called because of fondness for newcomers to Lowell. Jolly Jim was on the H-4 activities committee and was treasurer of his class.

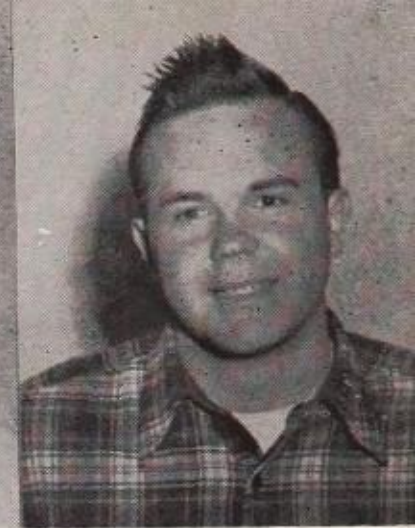

PARTICIPATING IN ACTIVITIES . . . seems to be more or less of a habit of popular CAROL WALLACE. You will soon see Carol around the Stanford reservation.

A WINNER . . . for Northern California in the Hearst History Contest was BERNIE HAAS. The popular H-4 President was often seen helping struggling students with their homework.

"LITTLE TOAD," or vivacious ONA TRAGERMAN, was on the H-4 activities Com., and Block L. Ona's many friends are speculating as to when she will ever run out of energy, but that time is a long way off.

"COURT JESTER," . . . "DEACON Q. DUCK," or "QUINCY R. PLUMBOG" . . . are some of the handles attached to shy, likeable DON THAYER. Don, who was L-4 Secretary, was one of the most popular guys in the graduation class.

Participation In Lowell Affairs

BERNIE "when I hit 50 feet I'll apply for an athletic scholarship" GOULD was chief of the Red and White. Bernie's oft-cut hairdo is not a total loss, as he has demonstrated by putting his head to work shining shoes.

"SLEEPY TIME GAL" . . . JACKIE LOWREY was the Vice Prexy of the LHSSA. Jackie was noted for her clever speeches at rallies, which she always managed to have well prepared.

OLD RELIABLE . . . CHARLES FULLER, was ROTC Regimental Commander, hopes to continue at West Point. Dependable Charlie was a Big Brother and on the Executive Board.

"THE INVERTED FISH," or backstroker BILL FLOYD, was on the Block L and Scroll. Long-legged Bill was an All-City swimmer two years in a row.

HARD WORKER . . . describes DALE TABER who plans to be a Lab. Tech. Although interested in science, she has found time to participate in many many school activities.

"DEADLY" was Lowell's All-City sharpshooter, FRANK "I thing I'll break that date" HESS. Frank would have been able to devote more time to sports if he did not have to lead John Brazier around to keep him out of trouble.

SWEET KID . . . describes popular MARY JANE TALBERT. She likes people and wants to be a social worker, although undecided as to what college to attend.

Thanks

We, the editors of this year's Red and White bring our book to a close with a page of thanks to many people who helped us meet our deadline.

So, Thanks to you, Lowellites:

Miss Harrison, use of the the office files; Mr. Wurm, for stopping our business manager from embezzling our Red and White funds; Carl Kress for many group pictures; and Charles Green and Barry McCrea, for all the great division pages.

And, Thanks, also, to:

Mr. Anderson of Calmar Press, our patient printer; Mr. Rogers of Ben Key Company, for our terrific cover, Mr. Viales, for all the individual and registry pictures; and to Mr. Patterson, our adviser and friend.

To each of you Lowellites and to each of you staff members it is your book as well as ours.
